In order to encourage early closing during the hot summer months and to show their usual appreciation of the movement, messrs. henry & co., grocers and liquor merchants, will close their store at 7 o'clock every evening, commencing on Monday, June 19th, except Saturdays. The hearty co-operation of the customers of the firm is needed to help the clerks enjoy an extra hour's recreation in the cool of the evening. By a little thinking, orders can be sent in a little earlier in the day, and the firm will guarantee that the goods are delivered promptly.

REQUIEM MONTH'S MIND.

At St. Peter's Cathedral this morning, a requiem Month's Mind Mass was celebrated at 8 o'clock for the repose of the soul of the late Rev. The reverend gentleman was well known in Peterborough and much beloved and respected. At the mass Rev. Father Fitzpatrick of Young's Point, was celebrant with Rev. Father Scanlan as deacon and Rev. F. O'Sullivan, subdeacon. His Lordship Bishop O'Connor assisted at the mass and gave the absolution.

WHAT DAY SHALL IT BE.

Shall we Celebrate Dominion Day on Saturday or Monday.

This locally important matter has not yet been decided.

However, the matter will be settled to-night at a special meeting of the Board of Trade to meet with business men and manufacturers to discuss the matter and arrive at a decision. It is to be hoped that there will be a large attendance so that the result arrived at will represent public opinion pretty unanimously ,and so that there will be no clash of dates. We owe it to the day to unite solidly in worthily celebrating it.

At to-night's meeting a petition, signed by almost every business man on George street, will be presented asking that the holiday be observed on July 3rd.

THE TOWN COUNCIL'S SPECIAL MEETING.

POLE TAX FOR ELECTION TRANSMISSION.

Another Meeting Called for this Evening at Nine O'clock to finish up Some Matters of Importance.

At a special meeting of the town council held last evening, there were present Mayor Davis and Aldermen Denne, Langford, Hall, Neill, McWilliams and Sawers.

Communications were received and dealt with as follows:

From D. W. Dumble stating that a committee from the Board of Trade wished to meet the council in reference to Trent Valley Canal matters.—Referred to the Joint Committee.

From Joseph Green and others asking that Stewart street be graded between Park and Perry streets.—Referred to the Board of Works.

From the township of Douro, asking the town to assist in keeping the boundary line in condition between the town and township.—Referred to the Board of Works.

From the secretary of the lacrosse club asking that members of the town police force be allowed when off duty to attend the matches and assist in keeping order on the P.A.A.A. grounds.—The request of the club was granted.

From the town solicitor, stating that in the recent appeal of Willison against a conviction by Magistrate Dumble on a charge of keeping a junk shop without a license, the plaintiff had won his suit, Judge Weller holding that the by-law was bad. Mr. Edwards suggested the passage of such a by-law as would meet these cases.—Referred to a Committee of the Whole Council.

From Dennistoun, Peck & Stevanson, asking for information regarding the particulars in which Mr. Bogue had not lived up to the conditions of his contract for the construction of sewers—Referred to the Committee of the Whole, upon the statement being made by Alderman McWilliams and Langford, that Mr. Bogue had appropriated the stone from the sewer to his own use.

From M. P. Kennedy, asking for sewerage connection. — Alderman Sawers opposed the granting of the request as did Alderman McWilliams, the latter stating that the discharge from the cattle yards would block up the sewer. Continuing he referred to the high handed action of the commissioners in allowing Mr. Kennedy to establish a cattle market on a lot which had been refused to him by the council.

Aldermen Sawers and McWilliams moved that the request be not granted.

Aldermen Langford and Hall moved in amendment that the matter be referred to the market committee.

The amendment was carried on the following division:

Yeas—Mayor Davis, and Aldermen Langford, Hall and Neill—4.

Nays—Aldermen Denne, McWilliams and Sawers—3.

From W. M. Jones, asking permission to place a boat house on the town lot near the power magazine.—Referred to the Property Committee.

From the Separate School Board, stating that Dr. F. J. Moher had been appointed as a representative on the committee to consider the question of the establishment of a free library. —Referred to the Special Committee.

From the Board of Education, stating that W. H. Hill will represent it on the above committee.—Referred to Special Committee.

Accounts were received and referred to the Finance Committee as follows:

Councillor McWilliams introduced a by-law bringing into face the former by-law, governing the matter of taxing electric light and power companies for the placing of their poles on the streets. The by-law received two readings and was then referred to the Board of Works for consideration.

Alderman Langford fathered the by-law authorizing the execution of a contract with the Hamilton Bridge Works for the erection of the metal work of bridges over the creek on Sherbrooke and Dalhousie streets. The by-law received its several readings and was passed.

Moved by Aldermen Denne and Langford, "That the treasurer be authorized to issue cheques for the stones ordered by the council on the certificate of the Engineer.—Carried.

Alderman Denne brought in a resolution fixing the date for the observation of Dominion Day on July 3rd.

It was decided that the matter should be left in abeyance until to-night's meeting of the council, the Mayor stating that the picnic in St. John's [illegible] grounds had been announced to take place Saturday on the understanding that the day would be celebrated on the First.

Alderman McWilliams [illegible] that although absent from the last meeting he had learned that Alderman Langford had been appointed to the position of chairman of the Board of Works. When the question of a chairman had come up previously, the committee had decided that it was best to appoint a man who had no experience in connection with the streets and he asked if the council had been converted or not. He thought it was only fair to Alderman Langford for the council to state whether or not they had appointed him as one whose experience would be valuable.

Ald. Hall stated that he had proposed Alderman Langford's name because he thought he was competent and because the Mayor had too much to do to attend to this work and his regular duties as well.

The council then adjourned until 9 o'clock to-night.

SPORTING PASTIMES.

Interesting Items of Local and General Interest.

BASEBALL.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir,—The Baseball Club announces, both a morning and an afternoon game with Cobourg on the first of July. Cobourg undoubtedly has a strong team, but would it not have been wiser to have secured a Toronto team for that occasion in view of the fact that two big excursions from the City are coming to Peterborough on that day? A ball team coming down on the train with the excursionists would advertise the game and a big gate would be the result, at least this is the experience of the lacrosse team in respect to the matter. We know that Cobourg has a strong team, but what does Toronto know about Cobourg? The management of the ball team may contend that the Toronto teams cannot be relied upon to live up to their agreements, and frequently have disappointed the Peterboroughs. This may be the case with the teams of which the local baseball club has had experience, but the question arises, "Have the Peterboroughs been in communication with the right kind of teams?" It is doubtful if they have, but a game negotiated through the Sporting Editor of one of the Toronto morning papers could assuredly be regarded as a fixture. Such matters as these should be decided by the Executive which, I understand, has never been consulted. The ball team complains of drawing small crowds, and it is probable that they will continue to do so until the arrangement of games is never concluded until the matter has been carefully considered by the Executive, before a decision is reached. If the Executive, as at present constituted, is thought to be unable to discuss these matters intelligently, no time should be lost in electing a new committee.

Having the best interests of the game at heart, I cannot but regret the downward trend of financial affairs in connection with the baseball team, which is this year composed of such excellent material. The manager, I understand, has had to dip deeply into his purse already, and when affairs take a turn of this kind it is hard to stop the leakage, unless prompt action is taken to devise a means of increasing the patronage awarded the game. The team is all right, but the question is "How to make the public aware of this fact." Call your committee together, gentlemen, give all the members two or three days' notice, so that no other engagement may interfere with their attendance; then get down to business and discuss these matters.

Yours truly,
OLD SPORT.

LACROSSE.

Both teams had a great workout last evening in preparation for the Senior game with Markham on Friday, and the Junior game with Hastings on Monday.

McClellan's work at inside home is greatly admired. He is sure of a place on the Senior team before the season is much farther advanced.

In order to bring a big crowd with them to Peterborough on Friday next, Markham has decided to hold its Civic Holiday on that date. A one dollar rate has been secured.

Vic. McWilliams had the misfortune to strain his back while practicing last night. It is to be hoped that the injury is but slight. He gives great promise of being up to the standard of Senior work.

The Executive meets on Wednesday evening to pick the senior team for the Markham game. With such a number of fast men to pick from their task will be no easy one. The team chosen for the occasion will not, of course, necessarily represent the Seniors throughout the season, as some of the best men will not round into perfect shape until later in the season on account of being unable to turn out regularly to practice. Only members of the Executive will be in attendance, but not one of those entitled to be present should absent himself on such an occasion.

Lewis arrived on this morning's train from Sherbrooke and will practice with the team to-night. Burns and Bogart will be here in the morning. Burns is a big fellow standing over six feet in height.

President Stark, of the Canadian Lacrosse Association, will be a spectator at Friday's game on the P.A.A.A. grounds. Mayor Davis will face the ball at 2.30 p.m.

THE WHEEL.

Milburn has accepted Mosier's challenge to race him Friday evening. He will ride 1-2 mile and 1 mile unpaced and 2 miles paced.

A meeting of the Cresscent riders will be held at 8 p.m. Thuraday evening for the purpose of forming a club. The meeting will be held at the Crescent store, George street.

Discovered by a Woman.

Another great discovery has been made, and that, too, by a lady in this country. "Disease fastened its clutches upon her, and for seven years she withstood its severest tests, but her vital organs were undermined and death seemed imminent. For three months she coughed incessantly, and could not sleep. She finally discovered a way to recovery by purchasing of us a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, and was so much relieved on taking the first dose that she slept all night; and with two bottles has been absolutely cured. Her name is Mrs. Luther Lutz." Thus writes W. C. Hamnick & Co., of Shelby, N. C. Trial bottle free at James Lynch's drug store. Regular size, $1 and 50c. Every bottle guaranteed.

TWO LADIES TESTIFY.

Speak in the highest terms of Laxa-Liver Pills.

Everywhere the ladies are discarding the old-fashioned harsh laxatives and cathartics for Laxa-Liver Pills.

These little fellows are so easy to take, act so gently, without any griping, weakening or sickening, and are so adapted to the constitution of the most delicate, that they have in truth become the "ladies' favorite medicine."

Miss Alina Goguis, Cape Bald, N.B., says: "I had an attack of liver trouble and indigestion last spring and decided to buy Laxa-Liver Pills. They had a more lasting effect than any remedy I ever took, and I believe them to be the best medicine for liver trouble that is to be found."

Miss Ellen Whalen, Niagara Falls, Ont., says: "I had dyspepsia for two years, and took various remedies, but none of them suited my case like Laxa-Liver Pills. They cured me promptly and effectually."

Laxa-Liver Pills always cure biliousness, sick headache, dyspepsia, constipation, heartburn, water brash, catarrh of the stomach, coated tongue, bad breath, sallow and muddy complexion, etc.

As an "after dinner" pill they are most valuable, removing that full or bloated feeling and preventing indigestion.

HE KNOWS MORE NOW.

A Little Story Showing What a Hard Teacher Experience Is.

It is understood that a certain young man in Chicago is willing to accept at a moderate salary any position requiring close application, a high order of intelligence and a meek and uncomplaining spirit. He has learned that he is only a unit in the sum of human existence, and that it does not pay to try to "bluff" others into a contrary belief.

He had worked six months for a long established insurance company, fulfilling his duties, as he had reason to believe, with entire satisfaction to his superiors. He knew that the head bookkeeper had referred to him as a "bright young man," and that his fellow clerks regarded him with respect. The manager smiled cordially when he met him and addressed him familiarly by his Christian name. Altogether he felt remarkably secure in his position.

One morning he walked into the manager's room and asked if he could speak to him a moment.

"Certainly, Herbert. What is it?" said the manager, wheeling around in his chair and beaming kindly through his spectacles. "Nothing serious, I hope."

"Well, sir," said Herbert, "I wanted to tell you that I intend to leave you the first of next month."

"Why, is that so?" said the manager. "Well, well, well! You don't mean to tell me that, Herbert!"

"Yes, sir," said the young man firmly. "I find that I am getting $4 a week less than any man in the office who is doing the work I am. I have got to have a raise or quit the first of the month."

"Oh, no, Herbert, you won't do that," said his chief, thrusting his thumb into an armhole of his waistcoat and smiling in the same genial and benevolent way. "No, no; you won't do that."

"I have quite made up my mind," said Herbert.

"Oh, you've made up your mind, have you?" said the manager. "Yes, yes, but you won't quit the first of the month, Herbert; you'll quit right now and right here. You can tell the cashier to make out an order for your wages to the end of the week and send it to me, and I'll sign it. That's all, Herbert. Good day."—Chicago Record

Bewildering Results That Followed a Photographer's Mistake.

A well known attache of the Hollenden hotel has a maid servant in his household whose complexion would make Erebus look like early twilight. Some time ago this dusky maid determined she would have her picture taken. She wanted a number of copies to send to 'Rastus and her other friends, and she had a personal desire to see how her looks had improved since the last photograph.

Nothing would do but she must patronize a leading photographer. So one day, attired in her Sunday go to camp-meeting clothes she visited the studio, looked pleasant and was assured that the photographs when finished would be promptly mailed to her address.

In due course of time the package arrived, and the delighted girl hurried back to the kitchen to open it.

A few moments later one of the other members of the household heard a dull thud, accompanied by a wild crackling. She hurried back to the kitchen, and there was the maid sitting flat on the floor, having evidently tumbled from the coal box, grasping a photograph in either hand and wearing a smile of ecstatic delight.

"Looky dat, missy," she cried, "looky dat! Did yo' evah see anythin mo' beautiful in all yo' bo'n days? Wonder what 'Rastus'll say to his baby now? But, oh, missy, I'se mos' 'fraid dat fotumgrapher has done got me jes' a hill might too'pale!'

She held up the photographs.

They were unmistakably the likeness of a white girl.

At about the same time a Euclid avenue belle was opening a similar package. There was a smile of delightful anticipation on her face as she drew forth the contents of the envelope. Then she gave a wild shriek and toppled back in her chair. The face that smiled up at her was black!

"It must be the effect of some dreadful chemical change," suggested the horror stricken mother.

"Chemical rubbish," cried the daughter, "those are not my pictures."

Of course you see how it was. The pictures were mixed up by the Butteroup whose business it was to package them up.

IT WAS A NEAT JOB.

The Surgical Operation That Was Performed by the Skipper.

The retired sea captain got reminiscent with me the other day.

I was telling him I supposed that in the old days the skipper had to be all things to his crew.

"That's right!" said he. "Why, you never knew what was coming up next. A skipper had to be able to preach a funeral sermon. He must also be able in the next minute to whale the eternal stuffing out of a sailor that talked back. And, more than that, in case he knocked too much stuffing out of the man he had to be able to put it back again.

"That is to say, the sea captain that wanted to be considered as anyways up in the king row had to be able to do a good job as a surgeon or a doctor.

"Why, one time I remember a sailor fell clear from the main top to the deck. By good rights the fellow ought to have been killed. But he struck a rope or two in his fall and got off with a broken leg. But that leg was broken worse than a sailor's pledge when he gets shore leave.

"They carried the man down into my cabin, and I found the bone sticking right out through the flesh.

"There was no use talking—the leg had to come off. And I did it. You never saw a better piece of surgery. I took up the arteries, made the flaps, sewed the edges, and the mate, who had been in the hospitals more or less and had watched operations there, said that he didn't see how one of the regulars could possibly do any better. I took my time about it, never slighted a thing, and I felt pretty proud of the job when the fellow was carried down to his bunk."

"I don't blame you a bit," I broke in. "How long was it before the man was able to be around again?"

"Oh," said the skipper carelessly, "the man was deader'n a spike in Tophet the next morning. I couldn't help that, of course. But I did as neat a job on his leg as you ever saw in all your life."—Lewiston Journal.

He Fooled The Surgeons.

A Mark Twain Story.

Apropos of the Portuguese reis (pronounced rays), when Mark Twain visited Fayal some years ago one of his companions invited him to dine, with eight others, at the principal hotel in that happy island. As soon as the cloth was removed and the wine placed on the table the host called for the bill, which amounted to 21,700 reis.

"Go, leave me to my misery, boys!" ejaculated the unhappy man. "There isn't money enough in the ship to pay that bill. I am a ruined community. Landlord, this is a mean swindle. Here's $150, and it's all you'll get. I'll swim in blood before I'll pay a cent more."

The landlord looked surprised, but immediately had his little account translated "into a language that a Christian could understand," when it was found that, at the rate of 1,000 reis to a dollar, the demand actually amounted to $21.70. More refreshments were ordered forthwith.—Cincinnati Commercial Tribune.

A Penalty of Knowledge.

"It seems to me," remarked the high browed theorist, "that people positively resent education. A man who is more than ordinarily wise is usually left to himself as much as possible."

"Perhaps you are right," answered Miss Cayenne. "When a man knows such a very great deal he makes one apprehensive. There is no telling when he may be going to sit down and try to tell it all."

THE HANGING SWORD.

Do you know the story of Damocles in the ancient mythology—the man who lived with a sword continually hanging above his head, suspended only by a single hair? Many a woman of the present day is like Damocles. She is living with a constant menace of danger hanging over her head because of some weakness or disease of the special organism which makes her a woman. It may seem comparatively slight and trivial at first but any instant it may develop into a serious and dangerous complaint, totally unfitting her for all the duties and responsibilities of a true womanly career.

"I suffered very much with female weakness and other ailments for more than two years, when I wrote to you for advice," says Mrs. Anna Willy, (Michigan House), Northville, Spink Co., So. Dak., in a letter to Dr. R. V. Pierce of Buffalo, N. Y. "After carefully following your advice and taking six bottles each of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and 'Golden Medical Discovery' I am now a well and happy woman. I have also taken several vials of your 'Pleasant Pellets' which did me a great deal of good. I shall always recommend your medicine wherever I go."

Women who would know how to avoid the dangers to which they are exposed at every critical stage of their physical development should read that grand book The People's Common Sense Medical Adviser by R. V. Pierce, M. D. It contains over one thousand-pages profusely illustrated with engravings and colored plates. It is a complete medical library in one volume. More than half-a-million copies were sold at $1.50 each. But a free copy will be sent handsomely cloth-bound for cost of customs and mailing, 50 one-cent stamps; or strongly paper-bound, 21 stamps. Address, Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

THE SMART YOUNG MAN.

He Played a Trick on His Girl, but She Got Even.

One day a smart young man got a long piece of ribbon paper out of a stock ticker and wrote a letter on it to his girl. As he wrote he rolled the paper up so that the outside of the roll contained the closing remarks of the letter, which were:

"Of course you will not repeat what I have told you in this letter about Helen. It was given to me in strictest confidence, and I wouldn't think of telling any one except you." To find out what this was the girl was compelled to unwind the letter and wind it up again, starting at the end. But she could find nothing in it about Helen, although she read it twice very carefully and looked along the back from one end to the other. And it was a most bothersome letter to read.

She brooded over that letter several days planning her revenge. At length she came to a decision. She got a large square piece of cardboard and started her letter in the very center of it, writing in an ever widening circle. Her very first sentence was: "Dear Jack: If you persevere in reading this letter, you will find in it something you greatly wish to know. If you do not read it, you will never know it." There was something he did wish to know and only she could tell him, so he buckled down to it. At first he turned the paper around slowly as he read and in a few minutes almost toppled over with dizziness. He rested and tried it again, but was compelled to stop, for his eyes burned and his head ached. After another rest he placed it on the floor and stooping over, walked slowly around it, reading as he went. The first evening he was compelled to stop before he had half finished it and before he had come to the desired information.

The following night he tackled it again, and in the course of an hour's work, as hard as any he had ever attempted, he came upon this sentence almost near the end: "This is what I wanted to tell you. Don't ever again try to be funny with me—I can get even with you every time."

The young man didn't finish the letter, but he vowed to himself that he never would try to be funny at her expense in the future.

RIFLES FOR THE CARLISTS.

Lord Ashburton's Yacht Fire Fly, Carrying 4,000 Rifles, Seized.

Madrid, June 19.—Official confirmation has been received here of the seizure of the yacht Fire Fly at Arcachon, a popular summer bathing place, 35 miles by rail southwest of Bordeaux, France, with 4,000 rifles, said to have been intended for the Carlists. It is claimed the Fire Fly belongs to Lord Ashburton, who is looked upon as being the representative in England of Don Carlos, the Spanish pretender.

A well-known Carlist who has been interviewed on the subject, said: Even if 4,000 rifles have been seized, 8,000 have already entered the country.

The rifles are of the Chassepot pattern. The Fire Fly arrived at Arcachon from Dartmouth, England.

WEAK AND.... PUNY CHILDREN

Become Strong and Healthy by using Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Food.

Children are frequently left weak and sickly as an after result of measles, scarlet fever, etc., and in this state are easy prey to nervous disorders, rickets, spinal disease, or consumption, diseases which do not affect robust, healthy children.

The blood is weak and watery and the nerves improperly nourished. Feed the blood and nerves with Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Food, and the pale, pinched faces will soon become rosy and plump, and tiredness and weakness will give way to strength and animation.

Mr. E. W. Day, 6a Close Avenue, Toronto, writes: "My eldest daughter, aged eight, became very much run down. Her fretful, nervous, sleepless condition greatly alarmed her parents. She was taken from school, and in spite of the best nursing, the thin, weakened, bloodless face grew painfully worse. Fortunately we used Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. An improvement became apparent in a few days, it continued, and in a few weeks she returned to school built up anew, and greatly to our joy fully restored to health."

Mr. Tarte Tells When Government Can Do It to Advantage.

CONTRACTS OR DAY LABOR.

The Question Discussed in the House of Commons on Monday—Mr. Foster Says Tendering Is a Bulwark Against Official Extravagance — Canal Projects - Questions and Answers.

Ottawa, June 20.—The chief topic of discussion before the House yesterday was brought up by a motion by Mr. W. F. Davin, asking for copies of all orders-in-council respecting the letting of contracts without tender, passed since the Government came into office. The discussion afforded an opportunity for Mr. Davin to make an attack upon the Government for having introduced the system of constructing certain public works by the day-labor system. Mr. Tarte made a vigorous and forcible defence of the course pursued by the Department of Public Works and some other departments. He asserted that under the day-labor system work had been and could be done cheaper and better and the workmen were better treated than by contractors. Mr. Foster followed up the attack upon the day-labor system, and advocated the tender and contract system as a bulwark against extravagance in public expenditure and on the line of public morals. The Government offered no opposition to the motion, and the papers will be brought down. The Ottawa & Georgian Bay Canal project was also discussed, and the debate again adjourned.

Questions and Answers.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier, in reply to Col. Prior, said that the Government had under consideration the question of bringing in legislation this session constituting the full court of the Supreme Court of the Province of British Columbia, and an appellate court for the Yukon district.

Col. Prior was informed by Mr. Blair that the Government had made no direct expenditure on the harbor at Quebec since 1870, but advances to the amount of $3,745,519 had been made to the Quebec harbor commissioners, no part of which had been repaid, and the sum of $1,805,115 was also due for interest.

In reply to Sir Charles Hibbert Tupper, Hon. Mr. Sifton gave the names of the officers in the public service in the Yukon district who had given bonds, and said that a complete list of the officials was being made to ascertain which of them had given bonds and which of them had not.

In answer to Mr. Graham, Hon. Mr. Blair said that Messrs. Pope and McKenzie were the valuators for the Government to value land along the Lake Balsam section of the Trent Valley Canal. No complaints of unfairness had been made in connection with these valuators and only two of the landowners had refused to accept the compensation offered them for their land.

In reply to Mr. Graham, Mr. Blair said that the total amount paid by the Government to F. D. Moore, barrister, of Lindsay, for conveyancing and other expenses in connection with the purchase of land for right-of-way along the Balsam Lake section of the Trent Valley Canal, was $559.43.

In answer to Mr. Quinn, Hon. Mr. Blair said that the payment of the plebiscite accounts in Montreal rests altogether with the Auditor-General. All claims made by the returning officers in Montreal have not been paid, some of the items being held in suspense, awaiting explanation, and some having been disallowed on the ground that they are not legitimate charges. The total amount claimed was $9,924.60, of which $8,560.01 had been paid, $1,290.09 disallowed and $74.50 suspended for further information.

Motions for Returns Passed.

Copies of all papers, etc. in connection with the dismissal of John Hearns, caretaker of a public building in Napanee, were ordered, as asked by Mr. Wilson.

An order was granted Mr. Foster for a return showing:

1. The combined engine and mileage totals and that of the Intercolonial Railway for each month from March 1, 1898, for all terminals, bridges and other leased portions of the Grand Trunk Railway as contemplated in the third and thirty-third sections of the schedule to bill No. 138.

2. The amounts for (a) maintenance and repairs, and (b) for all other operating expenses incurred by the Grand Trunk Railway Company and the Intercolonial Railway Company each month since March 1, 1898.

3. Copy of returns and information made under section 8 of said schedule for each month from March 1, 1898.

Mr. Dupuis, for Mr. Monk moved for a copy of all correspondence between the Government and the Boards of Trade of the Dominion in regard to the passing of an insolvency law. Carried.

Contracts or Day Labor?

Mr. Davin moved for an address to His Excellency the Governor-General for copies of orders-in-council respecting the letting of contracts without tender, passed since June 23, 1896.

In support of his motion he said there was a growing tendency on the part of the Government towards letting of contracts for large works without tenders, and also a growing disposition to have extensive works carried out by day labor under departmental control without any tender whatever being invited. The public accounts, as shown by the Auditor-General's report, and the debates in committee of supply on the estimates last session and this session, during the two years ending June 30, 1898, showed that immense sums had been expended without tenders being invited and very extravagant prices paid in some instances. The $40,000 lighthouses the Department of Marine and Fisheries was building, the Edmonton bridge, the repairs to the western block, Ottawa, the dredging at Coteau Landing, the stone and iron fence along one side of Major's Hill Park, and other works showed how large sums had been spent without tenders being called for. A strong-minded Minister might, through the letting of contracts without tender, commit a Government to a course which the majority of his colleagues may not approve of, and the result would be that no matter how glaring the wrong was, the Government and the majority of the ruling party in Parliament would feel bound to support the Minister. It would be a safeguard if all orders-in-council authorizing work without tender should be forthwith published in The Canada Gazette. With regard to works which were done by day labor, they should always be authorized by order-in-council.

Mr. Tarte's Reply.

The Minister of Public Works (Mr. Tarte) said that the question of doing work by contract or by day labor was a fair one for discussion, and he felt as if he could deal with it in an impartial manner, as he did not consider it a question of party politics, and also because in the present state of his health it was quite possible that unless there was a considerable improvement he might not be able to remain long in his present position. With regard to dredging, he considered that letting the work by tender was by no means so satisfactory as having the work done by the Department of Public Works, under the supervision of its officers. Experience had shown him that this was the cheapest and best way. In many instances works were of such a nature that it was impossible to call for tenders, because the works were frequently largely experimental, and it was only after the work had been commenced that any proper estimate could really be made of what was necessary to be done. He took up several of the cases instanced by Mr. Davin, and defended his action in each case, and said that he had acted after consultation with the proper officers of his department, and in the manner which seemed both to them and to him to be most in the public interest. He was very much in favor of the Government doing as much of its own work as possible, without the intervention of contractors at all. The work had to be done by day labor, and the Government had to pay for the labor and a larger amount for supervision and for profit for the contractor than if the work was done directly under the departmental supervision. He said that the workingmen employed by the Government were treated better than if employed by contractors, to whose interest it was that they should get the work done as cheaply as possible and charge as much as they could, so as to make the largest possible profit, while the principal aim of the Government, if the work was done directly by the department, was to get the best work done that could be done, and allow the workingman a fair wage. He instanced the repairs to the west block after the recent fire, and said they were of such a nature that they could not be let by contract, and he invited inspection of the work, as he thought it would convince any competent judge that better and more satisfactory work could not be found anywhere, and he did not think that the cost of doing it by day labor was as great as it would have been if the work be let by contract.

After Mr. Mackay and Mr. Poupore had spoken,

Mr. Foster's Criticism.

Hon. Mr. Foster said he agreed with Mr. Tarte that the question of the method of expending public money was one which should be dealt with outside of party lines, but at the same time he thought the statement of policy, as outlined by the Minister of Public Works, was inadequate. It did not appear from the Minister's remarks that he was in favor of contract by tender, but, rather, that he favored doing the work by day labor. He thought the Minister of Public Works should employ his ingenuity to make contracts more stringent, so that defaulting contractors should suffer immediate penalties. All things considered, the tender system was the best in the interests of the country, and the Government should make a clean statement of its policy with regard to it. He alluded to the power the use of day labor put into a Minister's hands at election time.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier said he thought the Opposition was inconsistent in attacking the Government without having the return asked for brought down. It would be time enough then to declare the policy of the Government.

After some further discussion, the motion passed committee. Mr. Casey followed after recess.

Private Bills.

After recess a number of private bills were advanced a stage, amongst them the act to incorporate the Niagara, St. Catharines & Toronto Railway Company, which was reported after it had been amended in committee by reducing the bonding power to $15,000 per mile, and stands for third reading.

Mr. Flint asked if the Government would fix a date for the discussion of his prohibition resolution.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier said he would do so after the redistribution bill was disposed of.

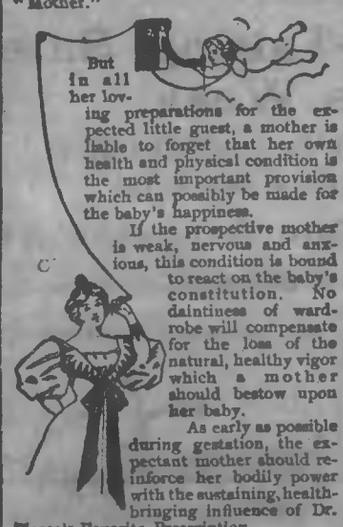
Mr. Casey then resumed the discussion of Mr. Poupore's motion for papers relating to the Georgian Bay Canal, speaking in support of the scheme, and was followed by Messrs. Mackie, Edwards and Davin in the same strain, the debate being adjourned by Mr. Broder.

Mr. Richardson's civil service bill was read a second time, the Premier observing that, while he would consent to the second reading, he did not thereby commit himself to the principle of the bill, but he objected to the House going into committee with so few members present.

The House adjourned at 10 o'clock.

THE MESSAGE OF LOVE.

There is no message which brings more gladness to a true woman's heart than the sweet assurance that a little one is coming to bless her life and call her "Mother."



But in all her loving preparations for the expected little guest, a mother is liable to forget that her own health and physical condition is the most important provision which can possibly be made for the baby's happiness.

If the prospective mother is weak, nervous and anxious, this condition is bound to react on the baby's constitution. No daintiness of wardrobe will compensate for the loss of the natural, healthy vigor which a mother should bestow upon her baby.

As early as possible during gestation, the expectant mother should reinforce her bodily power with the sustaining, health-bringing influence of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

It gives natural, healthy vigor and elastic endurance to the organs specially concerned in motherhood. It makes the coming of baby perfectly safe and almost painless. It gives nerve-strength to the mother and vital hardihood to the child.

It is the only medicine devised by an educated physician specially to overcome all weaknesses and diseases of the feminine organs. Its sale is greater than the combined sales of all other medicines for women. This fact shows the unbounded confidence which women place in Dr. Pierce. He has been for nearly thirty years chief consulting physician of the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, of Buffalo, N. Y. During this time he has achieved a world-wide reputation for his successful treatment of the most obstinate ailments peculiar to women.

"I have taken three bottles of 'Favorite Prescription'" writes Mrs. Laura B. Chamberlain, of Estes, Pike Co., Mo. "Two before confinement, and one after. I feel that the medicine was all that saved my life. I was not able to do any work, could only sit up part of the day when I began to take it. I had only taken a few doses when I began to improve. I have a ten pound boy. Got through in a few minutes, and with but very little suffering. Baby is seven weeks old and I feel stouter and better than I have in four years. I heartily recommend Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription to all women in such cases."

"I can cheerfully recommend your valuable medicine, the 'Favorite Prescription' to suffering females," writes Mrs. Val Lofever, of 306 S. Division Street, Mount Vernon, Ohio. "About four years ago my health began to fail. I went to the best doctor in the city, and he said I had ulcerations of the uterus. He gave me local treatment for seven months. I got better, but not well, and as soon as I stopped taking his medicine I got worse, and was not able to do anything. I felt miserable. Had such bearing down and shooting pains. My back ached so bad I could hardly sit up or lie down. So I wrote to you, and began taking Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. In a week's time I began to improve and I kept on with this treatment. People commenced to make remarks about how much better I looked. I told everybody what I was taking. I had gained twelve pounds by the time I had taken the second bottle of 'Favorite Prescription.' I took five bottles and then I felt as well as I ever did in my life. Quite a number of my friends are taking your medicine. I told a lady about a month ago about the 'Favorite Prescription.' She took one bottle and she said she never had any medicine to do her so much good in life. She wrote to her sister and told her to get some and take it.

"I cannot say enough to praise your medicine. My husband and I both thank you for what it has done for me, as we had paid out about $60.00 for medicine and local treatment, and $5.00 worth of your medicine has cured me."

The newly-wedded wife, above all other women, needs a good medical book. Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser fills this want. It contains over 1000 pages and 300 illustrations. Several chapters are devoted to the physiology of the organs distinctly feminine. Send 31 one-cent stamps, to cover cost of customs and mailing only, to the World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N. Y., for a free copy, paper-covered. If cloth binding is wanted send 50 stamps.

A PRESSMAN'S STORY.

Mr. Parnham Tells How Dodd's Kidney Pills Cured His Lumbago.

Toronto, June 19.—The story of the escape of the Globe pressman, Mr. Jno. H. Parnham, from the agonies of Lumbago, by using Dodd's Kidney Pills, is unusually interesting.

Mr. Parnham writes to the Dodd's Medicine Co., Limited, thus: "I am proud to testify to the wonderful efficacy of Dodd's Kidney Pills. About eight months ago I was attacked by severe pains in my back. I consulted an eminent physician, who said I had Lumbago, and told me to take Turkish baths. These did me no good.

"A friend advised me to try Dodd's Kidney Pills. I did so, and one box cured me. My back has never troubled me since."

PUBLIC CONFIDENCE.

The individual who fulfils his promises gains public confidence, and thus holds one of the strongest levers to success. The same is true of institutions, and in this connection the SUN LIFE ASSURANCE COMPANY OF CANADA, has a record in which it can take a pardonable pride.

Instead of over-estimating the profits on its investment policies, the management of the Company has wisely based the calculations on the proper earning power of money, having due regard to contingencies that are bound to arise. As a result of this the holders of matured Endowment policies are from time to time being agreeably surprised, and not disappointed, in the results of their policies.

The following letter speaks for itself and bears the eloquent and substantial evidence of the fact that the Sun Life of Canada keeps faith with its policy holders:

To the District Manager:—

DEAR SIR,—I beg to acknowledge with thanks receipt of cheque for twelve hundred and sixty-four and 95/100 dollars ($1264.95) from The Sun Life Assurance Company of Canada to cover Policy No. 18002 on my own life.

This amount represents a return of all premiums which I have paid to the Company and three hundred and thirty-four and 80/100 dollars ($334.80) besides, or about 4½ per cent. compound interest on my investment. In addition to this the Company has carried my risk for thirteen years for nothing, all of which is very satisfactory.

How Old People May Be Healthy and Happy.

Paine' Celery Compound Will Surely Banish Their Ailments and Troubles

It Preserves Health and Prolongs Life.

The most successful and popular physicians of our times are those who can banish the ailments and distresses of men and women in old age.

Three-fourths of all the aches and pains that make old age miserable arise from retarded circulation. The slow blood is choked with accumulations of waste matters that produce rheumatism, neuralgia, sciatica and lumbago. Sluggish circulation speedily produces digestive disturbances, and unlooked-for complications arise that in the majority of cases prove fatal to old people.

Paine's Celery Compound is a precious boon to those advanced in years. Soon after its use is commenced there is noticed an increase in the blood supply, which is pure, ruddy and active in its coursing through the body. The brain becomes clear, digestion is easy and natural, the heart does its work with regularity, nerve force is acquired and flesh is built up.

If old people desire health and strength to meet the enervating and trying weather of midsummer, they should build up at once by the use of Paine's Celery Compound. Mr. John Holdsworth, Claremont street, Toronto, says:

"I was taken sick last summer, and was in bed for five weeks or more, and my physician was attending me all the time. My case was pronounced to be weakness of the heart and old age, for I am now seventy years old.

"I kept getting worse until my recovery was considered hopeless. One of my relatives recommended me to use Paine's Celery Compound, which I did with good results. After the first dose I felt relieved, and after a few days I was able to leave my bed and walk around. I used four bottles, and found your medicine to be a most excellent remedy, as I am now quite well. I hope other sufferers will receive as much benefit as I received."

CELEBRATION OF THIRD ANNIVERSARY

OF THE OPENING OF THE NEW Y.M.C.A. BUILDING.

Address on Christian Unity by Rev. H. Symonds — Programme of Vocal and Instrumental Music.

The third anniversary of the opening of the Peterborough Young Men's Christian Association was fittingly honoured last night, when an entertainment, consisting of vocal and instrumental music, was rendered, and a short address on Christian Unity delivered by Rev. H. Symonds, of St. Luke's church.

While the attendance was not an exceedingly large one, it was an appreciative one, and the audience fully enjoyed the choice selections that were rendered by the various artists.

The chair was occupied by Dr. Scott, a member of the Board, who in opening the proceedings, paid a high tribute to the untiring zeal of the Ladies' Auxiliary, which organization had done so much towards paying off the debt on the building, and if they continue their hard work, as he had no doubt they would, he expected to see the local Y. M. C. A. completely by this time next year. They were also indebted to the Ladies' Auxiliary for the excellent programme which was about to be rendered. He took this opportunity to thank them for their faithful work.

The first number on the programme was a piano solo, Les Sylvains, Chaminade," by Mrs. (Dr.) Torrance. The selection was rendered in a very pleasing manner and called forth much applause.

Mrs. A. G. Parker rendered a vocal solo, "The Garland," which delighted the audience very much. Mrs. Parker was accompanied throughout the evening by Mrs. Torrance, whose artistic work did much to enhance the various vocal numbres.

"The Carnival," was the title of a well-rendered vocal solo by Mr. Morphet. He was accompanied by Mr. C. J. Rodgers.

Miss Belleghem rendered a selection in fine style, the name of which was "Rejoice Jerusalem and Sing."

The next number on the programme was a short but interesting address by

Rev. H. Symonds,

on Christian Unity.

The speaker prefaced his discourse with a few remarks of apology for so often, as he thought, speaking on this subject to a Peterborough audience, but in view of the deep interest he took in the matter he would ask their indulgence for a short time to-night. Mr. Symonds then went on to explain the real meaning of Christian Unity, and in doing so pointed out that we should realize the fact that Jesus Christ is the head of not only ourselves but of our thoughts, therefore we have one aim in common to obey, as far as possible, His word. While Jesus Christ did not Himself preach Christian Unity, He no doubt intended that there should be unity in this respect, and that that unity should have no bounds. We may form various social societies, and these societies may have bounds, but the society of Jesus Christ is broad enough to admit of everybody.

We are told that our Saviour came preaching the word of the Kingdom of God.

We must realize the Kingdom of God as a society. Whilst many may live in different communities and have different views on various matters, the society of the Kingdom of God is large enough to admit of all. Those who were honest in their beliefs though they differ, still may be members of this grand society.

So as in the acts of the Apostles, it is recorded that those who believed in a certain doctrine had things in common. Christian Unity should be a society to encircle all.

In explaining what unity is the speaker pointed out that unity does not necessarily mean uniformity. We have many different nations, it was pointed out and have many different forms of government but we could still have those and have more unity. What may be adapted to the more ignorant and innocent or Africa not be adapted to us, so also in the manner of teaching the word of God. One man perhaps might be greatly helped along by the ritual of a church while to others it was not wanted. There never can be uniformity in the manner in which we worship. While he would be pleased to see everybody worship in the same manner as he himself does, still he knows that it cannot be attained and he respects their views just the same. Christian Unity as he would like to see might be illustrated by the manner in which our Provincial Governments carried on their affairs.

The school departments were in the hands of the local government for the simple reason that what would be satisfaction to the people of Ontario would not be satisfaction to but how ridiculous would it be if Canada were engaged in a war against another nation for each province to conduct its own campaign. So also when we come to consider the question of sending missionaries to Christianize the uncivilized people of the world he considered that the present system while it may not be hindering the work it would be greatly helped if some sort of convention of delegates from the various religious bodies would discuss this matter and have the work of missionaries carried on under one management. The speaker pointed out that there could be many other questions settled in the same manner.

In conclusion Mr. Symonds referred to the very appropriate place the Y. M.C.A. was for speaking on such a subject as it was a practical illustration of the success of how the various denominations could get along harmoniously together.

Miss McDougall rendered a piano solo in a most delightful manner and was compelled to respond once more.

Mrs. Parker gave two more selections which were much enjoyed by the audience and Mr. Morphet sang "Answer" in excellent style.

The entertainment was brought to a close by singing God Save the Queen.

WAR WITH THE BOERS

Obstacles That May Stagger Military Experts.

A CAPTAIN OF LANCERS TALKS.

Lord Cecil Douglas Compton, in South Africa for Five Years, Suggests Problems of Strategy, Transport and Supply That Will Have to Be Overcome in Case of Hostilities.

Chicago, June 21.—Lord Cecil Douglas Compton, an English captain of Lancers, after a brief stay in Chicago, left for the east last night with his wife. Lord Compton served in South Africa for five years. He knows the Boers and their country, and has considered both critically from the standpoint of a military officer and student.

He spoke of the Transvaal problem merely as a military man. He said: "There are motives of fair play and humanity which make Great Britain exceedingly reluctant to interfere in South Africa by force. But it is only candid to say that considerations of a military character also operate to make us chary about rushing into a campaign which must present the most formidable obstacles and involve questions of transport, supply and strategy that might stagger a military expert.

"In the first place the Boers of the Transvaal are magnificent fighters. Their history has proved it, and they are fully up to their standard to-day. They are expert marksmen, born rough riders, such as your cowboys, and their courage and tenacity is undeniable. Individually they are as good military stuff as the world possesses. They also are thoroughly convinced of the justice of their cause, and would die to a man at the order of Oom Paul.

"But aside from their morale and their fitness, the Transvaal country is one admirably adapted for the purpose of defences. It is inland, with large uninhabited spaces. An army invading it must have a distant base and its supplies must be brought up through a semi-tropical country under the most disadvantageous conditions. Cape Town is a thousand miles from the Vaal River, and if an attack were to be made from Natal there would be mountains to work through and much tropical growth.

"The question of transportation would be serious. We would need thousands of mules, which must be brought from South America. The ocean distance and the adverse climate will kill animals by thousands and the actual work would entail even greater losses.

"There is a question of strategy as well. The Boers would be difficult to hit in a mass. Indeed, they might not be mobilized in an European sense at all. In an arid, rocky country, filled with splendid shots, with no real objective point to capture, with a disaffected or actively hostile population on your flank or rear, the conquest of the Transvaal would be one of the most arduous undertakings we ever entered upon. In my opinion no less than 60,000 would be required. Your own Philippine war is not so difficult."

THE STRIKE SITUATION.

More Serious Rioting in the City of Cleveland—Non-Union Men Knocked Senseless—One Man Shot.

Cleveland, O., June 21.—Cars were running during the day on all lines opened by the Street Car Company since the strike. At 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon the special committee of the City Council appointed to try to settle the street car strike met the representatives of the strikers and the company. Pending preparations of the formal statement a recess was taken.

Riotous disturbances broke out about noon. A crowd boarded a Wade Park avenue car near Lindus and Anndale avenues and beat the non-union motorman into insensibility. The conductor deserted his car and fled. Another Wade Park avenue car was stoned and one on the Euclid avenue line was attacked. Many women were on board and shrieked with terror as the stones crashed through the windows. One woman fainted.

At the corner of Wilson avenue and Quincy street one man was shot and others had narrow escapes. The passengers escaped as best they could when the stones began to fly, but the conductor and motorman were struck repeatedly. The latter drew a revolver and fired three times into the crowd. He then put on all speed and ran his car out of the mob's reach. George Berg, jr., a striking conductor, was hit in the leg by a bullet. No arrests were made.

The crew of Scoville car No. 224 was badly beaten by ten men at 11 a.m. The car was on its way down town. At Wilson avenue one man got on, and at every crossing thereafter one or two more men boarded the car until there were ten passengers. While Harry C. Clark, the conductor, was taking up fares he was struck on the head from behind by a coupling pin in the hands of one of the passengers. Several of the other men then jumped on him and pounded him into insensibility. The others turned their attention to the motorman, John Clark. He was hit on the head and body and sank to the floor in an unconscious condition. At Hackman street the men all left the car. A block further on Clark recovered sufficiently to shut off the current and bring the car to a stop. After a short wait it was run back to the barn. Both men were badly hurt.

THE HESPELER STRIKE.

The Weavers Will Present Mr. A. W. Brodie With an Ultimatum.

Hespeler, Ont., June 21.—The strikers of the A. W. Brodie woollen mills held a meeting in the council room last night to discuss the advisability of forming a union. The strike trouble was talked over and it was decided that a committee should call on Mr. Brodie this morning and present him with the written terms the weavers had come up to, and for the committee to await the proprietor's answer. The warpers also are out of work, the beams being all filled up, while present indications point to the whole manufacturing concern being closed down.

Parrott's Hangman Gets a Mask.

Hamilton, June 21.—Sheriff Middleton does not expect the Government hangman, Radcliffe, to arrive here in time for the hanging of Parrott on Friday morning and he has engaged a Toronto man to do the job. Yesterday afternoon he purchased a league baseball catcher's mask from Billy Carroll, the sporting goods man, for the use of the hangman, who fears Parrott may strike him when he goes to pinion his arms. The mask will be covered with leather from the eye holes down, so he cannot be recognized by the spectators. The sheriff has decided to admit only one reporter from each of the newspapers in the county, and a number of physicians. No other persons will be allowed to witness the execution. Parrott has asked to have four ministers present, and this request will be complied with.

The Arrival of Dreyfus.

Paris, June 21. — The approaching arrival of Dreyfus at Rennes is causing an influx of foreigners there. The hotels are besieged with applicants for rooms, which command immense prices. Dreyfus is expected to reach Brest early in the morning, and precautions have been taken to prevent anybody from seeing him either at Brest or at Rennes.

The Figaro says it understands Dreyfus will arrive at Rennes June 30, and that he will be landed elsewhere than at Brest.

Soda Fountain Exploded.

Pittsburg, Pa., June 21.—Andrew Hammer, sr., 55 years old, was yesterday morning charging a soda fountain at his place of business No. 184 Beaver avenue, Allegheny. The carbonic gas tank exploded. FIRST OF JULY ON A SATURDAY.

Dominion Day to be Observed According to Statute.

MARKET TO BE HELD FRIDAY

The Board of Trade and Council Consider the Matter of What Day to Celebrate as Dominion Day—The Latter Body Decides That Saturday is the Day.

The Board of Trade held an open meeting last evening which the merchants, manufacturers and citizens generally were asked to attend in order that the question might be discussed as to whether Dominion Day should be celebrated on Saturday, July 1st, or Monday, July 3rd.

The chair was occupied by Mr. John Carnegie, President of the Board, and amongst those present were noticed: Ven. Archdeacon Casey, Robert Fair, H. LeBrun, R. McWilliams, R. B. McKee, Robert Kerr, McFarlane Wilson, M. L. Henry, H. Stock, Alex. Gibson, G. H. Giroux, B. Shortly, John Nugent, W. Cressmen, J. W. Butcher, J. Sutcliffe, John Hall, R. H. Fortye, as well as many others.

The chairman explained the object of the meeting and called upon Mr. Fair for his views on the question. Mr. Fair stated that he was opposed to the holiday being changed from Saturday until Monday for many reasons amongst them being that a few years ago when the Queen's birthday fell on a Saturday, he with some others undertook to have the holiday changed from Saturday to Monday on account of Saturday being a market day. A petition was to this effect by the merchants and the Mayor declared the Monday to be a holiday. The consequence proved to be that the stores did not close on either day and the experiment was a failure. Dominion Day should be treated the same as Christmas or New Year's Day. The country people attending market next Saturday could all be notified that the holiday was to be observed on the First of July and asked to attend market on Friday previous. Another reason Mr. Fair had against having the holiday on Monday was that the cheap fares on the railroads did not cover that day. Many too, had made arrangements to be away for Saturday and Sunday, never thinking that they would be a move made to change the day. Any change would prove a disappointment to many.

Mr. Macfarlane Wilson on behalf of the signers of a petition asking for the holiday to be observed on Monday, stated that the business men were almost unanimous in thinking that it would be to the best interests of the town to change the day to Monday. The merchants did not see why they should be called upon to sacrifice the business of the best day in the week when the holiday could just as well be observed some other time. Seconded by Mr. Robert Kerr, he moved the following resolution:

Owing to the fact that Dominion Day this year falls on Saturday, the principal business and market day of this town, be it hereby resolved that His Worship, the Mayor, be requested to proclaim Monday 3rd July as a public holiday, to be observed by the business houses and manufacturers of the town of Peterborough, instead of Saturday, July 1st, believing it will be to the advantage of the town generally, as well as a more profitable one for the merchants and more convenient for the farming community.

Mr. Kerr, in speaking to the motion, stated that he had been one of those who had gone around amongst the representative merchants and that with the exception of three all had signed it willingly.

With The Petition

Mr. H. LeBrun stated that he considered himself a representative merchant being in business for many years in Peterborough, yet he had not been asked to sign the petition. He could not understand why he had not been called upon as hitherto he had always been with the majority in any movement for the benefit of the town. He remembered when a holiday was changed in this manner and the result was the worst Saturday's business he had ever had.

Messrs. Harry Stock and Myles Henry moved that no action be taken in the matter and that the holiday be observed on Saturday, being the First of July.

Mr. Stock acknowledged that the petition represented the great majority of the business men but stated that a petition asking just the opposite would have been as readily signed had it been taken around first. Saturday was the legal holiday set apart by statute. Excursion rates were good for that day only. Manufacturers had said that if they did'nt close Saturday they would keep open Monday too. If an attempt was made to make a change there might be no holiday at all. The loss of the trade would make no difference in the year's business. The working classes would not be able to get out of town at all on account of the raise in the rates and the holiday was intended as much for them as the merchants. The big industries would not close on Monday.

Ven. Archdeacon Casey was next called upon and rose to explain that every First of July for many years a picnic had been held to assist in the support of St. Joseph's Hospital and this year it was proposed to have one as usual. He thought he was using every precaution when he asked the Mayor some time ago whether there was any liability of the date of the observance of the holiday being changed. He had been assured by Mr. Davis that there was nothing to fear on this point, as no one had ever mentioned such a thing. The arrangements for the picnic had then

WEDNESDAY, JUNE 21, 1899.

A MID-ONTARIO CATTLE MARKET.

SOME OF THE LARGEST STOCK RAISERS OF THE SECTION.

In Peterborough and the northern part of Northumberland county there is a big increase in the number of calves this year.

"I should think the increase must amount to one-third in the section about Campbellford," said Mr. Bonnycastle. "What about the effect of this increase, taking the continent as a whole, on beef prices? Well, an American authority has estimated that it will be impossible to bring the number of cattle in America up to the normal level, no matter how great the increase of production, short of ten years. I am inclined, however, to think this an exaggeration. I should think five years nearer the mark."

Speaking about cheese production, Mr. Bonnycastle said: "Most of the calves about here will be pretty well on in a short time, and then there will probably be a considerable increase in cheese production."

In some sections the increase in cheese production anticipated by Mr. Bonnycastle, will be a long time in coming. In several parts of Ontario unusual difficulty was experienced last year in getting cows in calf. One such section extends from near Frazerville, south-west of Peterborough town, to near Westwood, several miles east.

"The supply of milk at Frazerville factory," said W. T. Davidson of South Monaghan, was on Thursday 1,000 lbs. below the supply on the same day last year. This falling off is not entirely due to the increase in the number of calves in the country. It is largely because the calves are not here yet. Great difficulty was experienced in getting cows in calf last season—particularly during the period of drouth. I have eight cows that are not in yet, and some of my neighbours only have one or two out of five or six."

"The same state of affairs prevails towards Westwood," said John Lancaster. "A great many cows missed about here. Nearly half my own herd are away late. Some attribute failure to breed to the smut in the grass during the period of drouth."

Beginning to Think of Butter.

Although there is not much evidence of a disposition to change from cheese to butter in Peterborough some of the more thoughtful farmers are already beginning to look in that direction.

"I would prefer to see butter production going the year round," said the Mr. Davidson already quoted. "If a thoroughly efficient system of transportation could be provided so as to enable the dairymen of our butter to compete in the best possible condition, the tendency in this direction would grow. Of course no matter how good our system of transportation," he added, "we would still have difficulty to encounter the product of our winter fed cows in competition with the butter made in Australia [illegible] fed on grass the year round.

Even this difficulty could, however, be largely overcome by the adoption of the same system of [illegible] as followed by Swiss dairymen. [illegible] of the O. A. C. A ration made up of a mixture of ensilage and pulped roots, bran and cut clover and chaff—and prepared the day before—has as Mr. Rennie himself had said, "all the succulence of June grass."

Why Turnips Are Fed.

Turnips are, despite the warnings and entreaties of cheese and butter makers, largely used in Peterborough. They are fed in the section about South Monaghan and Fraserville," said Mr. Davidson. "We have made a practice of feeding directly after milking and have never known any evil effects to follow."

The temptation to use turnips is certainly strong.

"They are so much more easily handled than mangels," said Mr. Davidson. "To begin with, you do not have to plant them so early as mangels, and so can get rid of one crop of weeds before the turnip seed is put in. Then, the harvesting involves very much less labour. With mangels you have to pull and top by hand. With turnips the practice here is to top with a hoe and then pull out by dragging a harrow over the field. No, the bruising does not seem to hurt them. I have seen turnips split in two, and still the keeping quality was not affected. A gang of three men will top three or four acres in a day, and a team, with a harrow, will go over a lot of ground in the same time."

John Lancaster, west of Westwood, says the same system of harvesting has been practised in his section for forty years.

Sugar Beets Coming In.

Still, although there are so many advantages, so far as handling is concerned, in favour of turnips, farmers in dairy sections are not acting wisely in using these roots for the production of milk. As one of the best authorities on dairying in dairying in Canada said at a recent convention: "One dairymen in 100 may use turnips without ill-effect, but the other 99 will not. And the improper use of turnips by one patron is enough to reduce the value of the output of a whole cheese factory or creamery."

Notwithstanding the hold that turnips still have on the dairymen in some sections, better classes of roots are making way. John Brackenridge near Westwood, has planted an acre of sugar beets this season for the first time, and in several other localities experiments are being tried in the same direction. It will be remembered by Sun readers in this connection that Mr. Wilson, U. S. Secretary of Agriculture, recently attributed the excellence of Danish butter very largely to the extensive use of sugar beets by the dairymen of Denmark.

Mr. Brackenridge besides being one of the largest hog feeders of the province, is also extensively engaged in dairying. He keeps thirty cows, mostly Ayrshires. From 24 last season he received $700 in cheese money. His farm is peculiarly well adapted for stock raising, as two branches of a considerable river cross his place. He has been successful in crossing Jerseys. In his herd are three fine cows, the product of an Ayrshire-Jersey cross. These are giving about 60 lbs. of milk per day each, and testing 5, 4 1-2, and 4 per cent. butter fat. "These cross's give about as big a flow as the Ayrshire," says the owner, "and the milk is very much richer."

In the Cheese Factories.

At the Peterborough Cheese Factory, of which Mr. W. S. Wood is proprietor, the supply of milk is a little less than it was at the same time last year. The reason for the falling off is attributed by Mr. Wood to the increase in calves. "There are," he says, "about double the number that there were last season. Dairying has been our principal industry in this section so far," he continued, "but there is danger now, owing to the high price of cattle, that people mat go to excess in beef production. We made about 95,000 lbs of cheese last year. "No," he added, "we did not suffer much from drought last summer. June was an extra good month with us, and even in July there was not much shortage in pasture."

J. W. Belleau of the Ormond cheese factory at Hastings also speaks of the falling off in the supply of milk, owing to the increase in the number of calves that are being raised. He has put in a butter plant, but does not expect to use this except during the winter season.

Something New in Silos.

James Moore of Hastings, has something out of the ordinary in the way of silos. The building is 19 by 20 feet. There was first put up a frame studwork, on a stone foundation. This was boarded on the outside with rough lumber. Tar paper was then put on over the boards, and over this again was put siding. The frame work was then boarded up on the inside with rough lumber, and next to this was put a brick wall. It was found that the brick caused the corn near it to mould, and the second season the brick was covered with water lime. Since then the silo has given perfect satisfaction. It has been up for about nine years, and should be good, with occasional repairs, for four times nine years. Mr. Moore, however, is not satisfied with the shape of the building. "The round tub is," he says, "more satisfactory. The building cost me $400, but I could put up one equally good for one-half the expense."

A considerably larger silo was put up by Mr. Rennie at the Model farm silo is of cement, with metal roof, and the cost was only $1.60 for each ton of silage the building will hold, and the cement silo is there for keeps.

Discovered by a Woman.

Another great discovery has been made, and that, too, by a lady in this country. "Disease fastened its clutches upon her, and for seven years she withstood its severest tests, but her vital organs were undermined and death seemed imminent. For three months she coughed incessantly, and could not sleep. She finally discovered a way to recovery by purchasing of us a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, and was so much relieved on taking the first dose that she slept all night; and with two bottles has been absolutely cured. Her name is Mrs. Luther Lutz." Thus writes W. C. Hamnick & Co., of Shelby, N. C. Trial bottle free at James Lynch's drug store. Regular size, $1 and [illegible]. Every bottle guaranteed.

YOUNG'S POINT

(From our own Correspondent.)

The farmers are well pleased with the present condition of the gardens. The orchards also look well in this locality as the owners used sprayers for destroying the caterpillars.

The water is extraordinary high here for this season of the year, and a great many cellars are still flooded.

The steam boats start their regular trips from Lakefield to Stony Lake on Monday the 19th June, meeting the morning and evening trains from Peterborough.

Mr. John McPherson is at the Point, and has taken the contract of veneering the Presbytery of St. Mary's church. He will commence operations this week.

Mrs. Walter Young is still in Montreal.

The councillors and a number of other gentlemen interested in the welfare of the roads visited the Point and Burleigh last week. They intend spending some money on the road between here and Burleigh, and we hope they will look after that portion in the Point, which has been fenced up completely, and which was the main road for forty years.

Miss M. Weir of Peterborough, is visiting friends here.

The following guests are registered at the Kearney House: Messrs. John Spies, W. Young, Rochester; Mr. and Mrs. Harry Lower, Rochester; Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Tyler, Brockton; Mass.; Mr. George E. Prospectors and Miners.

Should take with them a supply of Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry.

It would be a wise precaution for those who are going out prospecting or surveying this summer, or who intend working in a mining camp, to provide themselves with a supply of Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry.

Diarrhoea and Dysentery are great foes of miners, prospectors and surveyors.

Oftentimes they get wet and chilled, have to drink impure water or eat food that is not the best.

Far away from drug stores and doctors it is a serious matter to be seized with cramps and colics and prostrated with diarrhoea or dysentery.

Many an hour of agony has been endured, and many a life sacrificed, which could have been saved by Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry.

It has a wonderful record of over 40 years of cures to its credit, and has never been known to fail even in the severest cases.

There are many worthless and dangerous imitations, some of them even called "Wild Strawberry," being put out on the market by unscrupulous manufacturers, so see that the full name, Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry is on every bottle you buy.

Samuel Bayley, an 18-year-old lad employed in Barchard & Co.'s box factory at 194 Duke street, Toronto, met a shocking death on Tuesday evening while at his work. Bayley was engaged in removing sawdust from underneath the saws, and not thinking that the saw was running, or forgetting his danger, he reached his head up and came in contact with the rapidly revolving saw. His head was completely cut in two down as far as his ears, severing the skull and crushing the brain. He lingered from 7 o'clock until 9.30, when death ended his sufferings.

The Souvenir Range
With Aerated Ovens.

In "Souvenir" Stoves and Ranges the Fresh air is taken over the oven doors (see cut) and passes through a circulating-flue underneath a plate which is attached to the top oven plate, thus becoming heated, after which it is discharged into the oven.

The heated fresh air then creates a literal whirlwind in rotating from the top to bottom of oven, carrying all the impure air out of the oven, at the exit provided, and replacing it continually with heated fresh air.

The air being heated before entering the oven, the temperature is not lowered. The vitiated air passes off into the flues' carrying with it all odors and gases given off by the cooking food.

We carry a large stock of "Souvenir" and "Happy Thought" Ranges—the best stoves in Canada.

A LIBERAL RECRUIT.

Mr. Bethune, Victoria, N.S., Confesses Liking the Laurier Policy.

WHY HE CHANGED HIS COMPANY

Mr. McDougall Asks the Question in the House—Mr. Fielding and Mr. Bethune Answer Him—The Stationery Supply—Members Complain of Its Quality—The Militia Supplementary Estimates.

Ottawa, June 21.—Before going into supply yesterday afternoon members of the Opposition had some questions to ask the Government, and one of these questions, which had for its subject the action of Mr. Bethune of Victoria, N.S., who was elected in the Conservative interest in 1896, but who this session crossed the floor and took a seat on the Government benches, gave rise to a sharp debate. Replying to a question, the Premier said he had no further announcement to make with regard to the negotiations for a settlement of the Alaskan boundary. Respecting the Pacific cable, Sir Wilfrid announced that Mr. Tarte and Lord Strathcona would represent Canada in a new conference between the agents of the colonies and the Imperial authorities, and that Sir Sandford Fleming would be associated with the Canadian representatives as an expert.

Dr. Landerkin moved a suspension of the rules to permit the introduction of a private bill. Sir Charles Tupper urged that the stage of the session had arrived when resolutions of this kind should not be passed unless some good reasons were given.

Dr. Landerkin replied that the committee were convinced that there was good reason for suspending the rules in this case, and the motion passed.

The Solicitor-General introduced a bill respecting the jurisdiction of the Exchequer Court as to railway debts, which was given first reading.

Complaining of the Stationery.

A discussion took place upon a motion by Mr. Gibson (Lincoln and Niagara) on a report of the printing committee, in reference to the question of stationery supplied to the House of Commons. Mr. Gibson said there had been complaints as to the quality of stationery supplied to the members of the House, and the committee was willing to take up the matter and assume responsibility, and appointed a sub-committee for that purpose, but it was found that the Speaker claimed it was a matter within his jurisdiction. He advocated the regulation of this matter by a committee of the House as a practice which had been found very satisfactory in the Senate.

Mr. LaRiviere supported the report of the committee, and said that the Speaker had directed the clerk to obtain stationery supplies without tender from a firm in Toronto, which promised to supply stationery equal to sample, but did not carry out the promise.

Mr. Bergeron said that the clerk, when examined by the committee, stated that he had been instructed by the Speaker to purchase stationery from Warwick Bros. & Rutter. The stationery, Mr. Bergeron added, was very bad, and very many complaints were made, and he approved the report of the committee.

Mr. Sutherland thought it only just to the firm named to state that there was no complaint against the stationery manufactured or supplied by them. The complaints made were in respect to the envelopes, which were supplied by another firm. Many members of the House, however, were under the impression that the committee on printing was responsible for the quality of the stationery furnished to members, and the committee agreed unanimously that it would be a solution of the matter to place control in its hands.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier said the question was one that ought to be determined by the committee. Mr. Foster contended that the committee had gone as far as it could, but found that the Speaker regarded it as his duty to control this matter.

The Premier said he was not prepared to pronounce an opinion offhand, but as there was an evident conflict of jurisdiction he suggested that the matter be again considered by the committee and a conference held with the Speaker.

After some further discussion, during which Sir Charles Tupper agreed with the view expressed by the Premier, Mr. Gibson accepted the suggestion that the report be referred back for a conference with the Speaker.

After Sir Wilfrid Laurier had answered the interpellations of the Opposition on the interminable Alaska boundary and the Pacific cable question,

Another Liberal Recruit.

Mr. McDougall (Cape Breton) brought up the question of the position of the hon. member for Victoria, N.S. (Mr. Bethune), who had crossed over to the Government side. He said he thought it was necessary that the House should learn something more about the way in which that hon. gentleman had been induced to forsake the Conservative party. He wanted to know why it was that the County of Victoria did not have a representative who would exercise all the privileges of a representative, including the control of patronage.

Mr. Fielding said in reply that the hon. gentleman seemed to entertain the opinion that if the member for Victoria did not control the patronage he did not represent the county. On that basis of reasoning Cape Breton was not represented, because the hon. gentleman and Sir Charles Tupper did not now control the patronage for that county, and he assured the hon. gentleman that that the Government had not the slightest idea of allowing them to control even the smallest amount of it. He could understand the reason for Mr. McDougall's anxiety, as when he lost control of the patronage of that county he lost the only weight he ever had in the county, and the only hope he ever had of again representing a constituency in the House. As to the "mysterious" means by which Mr. Bethune crossed the floor of the House, the Opposition would have to apply to that hon. gentleman himself. But he would do that gentleman the justice to say that he had given the Government a loyal and independent support, and he desired to thank him for it and to acknowledge it, and it did the hon. gentleman credit that he had given that support freely and did not ask to control the patronage, and was perfectly aware of the fact at the time he gave the Government that support that the patronage of the county would be controlled by hon. gentlemen who had been associated with the Liberal party in the county.

Sir Charles Tupper, Mr. D. C. Fraser and Mr. Gillies having spoken,

A Simple Explanation.

Mr. Bethune explained that he came over to the Liberal side because he liked it better. (Cheers.) He thought he aided the interests of his constituency by being on the Liberal side of the House, and he knew that he met with the approval of two-thirds or even nine-tenths of the electorate of his county by being on that side. If Mr. McDougall doubted that, let him resign his seat, as he was willing to do, and contest it again. (Hear, hear.) He was on this side also because he liked the policy of the present Government. He thought it was very much the same as what he advocated when soliciting the suffrages of his constituents. There were changes, but they were for the better, they were for the expansion of trade and for the advancement of every interest belonging to Canada. Mr. Bethune, in conclusion, stated that he had never asked for the patronage in his county; he, in fact, refused it. He said that he had never been asked how he was going to vote on the Yukon bill. When he saw that the bill was a good one he decided to vote for it. Sir Charles Tupper had said he wanted to speak to him, and he waited until nearly 5 o'clock in the morning, but Sir Charles never spoke to him and had never spoken to him since. He would support the Government while he found them true statesmen, advancing the interests of the country.

The House then went into supply on the militia supplementary estimates, which occupied the rest of the afternoon and the evening session.

The House adjourned at 12.30.

THE OLD WAY

Of Treating Dyspepsia and Indigestion by Dieting a Dangerous and Useless One.

We say the old way, but really it is a very common one at the present time, and many dyspeptics and physicians as well consider the first step to take in attempting to cure indigestion is to diet, either by selecting certain foods and rejecting others, or to greatly diminish the quantity usually taken—in other words the starvation plan is supposed by many to be the first essential.

The almost certain failure of the starvation cure has been proven time and again, but still the moment dyspepsia made its appearance a course of dieting is at once advised.

All this is radically wrong. It is foolish and unscientific to recommend dieting to a man suffering from dyspepsia, because indigestion itself starves every organ, every nerve and every fibre in the body.

What the dyspeptic wants is abundant nutrition, which means plenty of good, wholesome, well-cooked food, and something to assist the weak stomach to digest it. This is exactly the purpose for which Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are adapted, and this is the method by which they cure the worst cases of dyspepsia, in other words, the patient eats plenty of wholesome food, and Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets digests it for him. In this way the system is nourished, and the over-worked stomach rested, because the Tablets will digest the food, whether the stomach works or not. One of these tablets will digest 3,000 grains of meat or egg.

Your druggist will tell you that Stuart's Tablets are the purest and safest remedy for stomach troubles, and every trial makes one more friend for this excellent preparation. Sold for 50 cents for full sized package at all drug stores.

A little book on cause and cure of stomach diseases mailed free by addressing F. A. Stuart Co., Marshall, Mich.

THE LEGISLATIVE TOUR.

Hon. E. J. Davis Advises Increased Colonization Road Grants for Algoma.

Port Arthur, June 21.—The touring legislators enjoyed open-handed hospitality at Port Arthur, going via Port Arthur, Duluth & Western Railway. They visited the West End silver mine, which is running night and day, and turning out silver concentrates to be treated at Omaha and Newark, N.J., smelters. They visited Kakabeka Falls, which rival Niagara in wild magnificence, and took in three construction camps on the Ontario & Rainy River Railway.

During the public reception at the Northern Hotel last night, Mayor Marks presented an address of welcome, and speeches were made by Hon. G. W. Ross, W. H. Hoyle, James Conmee and John McKellar, ex-Mayor of Fort William.

Hon. E. J. Davis, in his speech, said he believed every member of the Legislature should vote for increased colonization road grants for Algoma.

Minister Ross on Algoma.

Fort William, Ont., June 21.—Speaking at the reception to the touring legislative representatives here last night, Hon. G. W. Ross made the strongest statements yet made in favor of aiding Algoma. He said he had seen enough to convince him that the Legislature should henceforth hand every energy to the completion of the Ontario & Rainy River Railway, which would open up the country undoubtedly rich in iron and gold, as well as agricultural belts. He favored the establishment at Fort William, Rat Portage and other points, of Government assay offices like that at Belleville, for the benefit of prospectors. He said he hoped soon to see smelters erected in this district, near the source of supplies of raw material, as well as at Hamilton and other eastern points. He likewise spoke in favor of the Legislature making liberal grants for colonization roads to open up the agricultural and mineral areas.

During the day the party had their eyes opened by the visit to fine farms and grazing lands near Thunder Bay.

The visitors were entertained last night at Kaministiqnia Hotel, where Mayor C. W. Jarvis tendered an address of welcome.

WAS IT A BREACH OF THE MEDICAL ACT?

AN IMPORTANT CASE AT THE POLICE COURT.

A Local Druggist Charged With Prescribing Medicine to Patients—Detective McPherson Laid the Information.

At the police court this morning John Nugent was charged with a breach of the Medical Act, R. S. O., 1897, in that he for gain practised medicine.

The information was laid by Criminal Detective Jas. McPherson, of Toronto, who has been in Peterborough for some time trying to hunt up evidence to substantiate his charge.

County Crown Attorney Wood appeared for the prosecution, and Mr. W. A. Stratton appeared for the defendant, John Nugent.

The first witness was James McPherson, who styled himself a criminal detective. He testified that he had come down from Toronto on Saturday last, and went into Mr. Nugent's drug store the same day, and told defendant that he was a traveller and would like to get something for a sore leg which he was suffering from. He told Mr. Nugent that his leg had been itching very much and asked what he could take to cure it. He stated that he was taken into a back room by Mr. Nugent and the sore spot was looked at, after which Mr. Nugent gave him a bottle of medicine to use on the leg. For this he had paid 40 cents. He had also been advised by the accused to take some opening medicine. Mr. Nugent had labelled the bottle, etc. Witness admitted to Mr. Stratton that he had told Mr. Nugent that he was a traveller selling a certain line of goods, and also said that in business as a detective he had to tell lies. He would not admit that he pulled up his pants leg without Mr. Nugent asking him. He had only spoken to one witness with reference to what evidence said witness would give. He had been in the detective business for forty years.

Robert Gobeen was a Crown witness, but he failed to reveal anything very damaging against the defendant. He is engaged at the Canadian General Electric works, and has known Mr. Nugent for about one year. Witness testified to getting medicine on several occasions from the defendent during the last six months, the last occasion being about two months ago. He had a receipt from Dr. Chase's receipt book, and had the prescription filled. Asked by Mr. Wood if he had ever got anything else witness could not say that he did. After he had used the Chase's medicine for a while, which was for a rash on his face, he told Mr. Nugent that it did not appear to be doing him any good. The accused then gave witness something else; it may have been in the same bottle and it may not have been. After using the contents of this bottle he took it back and had it filled several times. He could not say whether it was Chase's receipt or something Mr. Nugent himself had gotten up that the bottle contained. He went to a doctor about one month ago with the same trouble. Witness was pressed very hard by Mr. Wood as to whether there was a label on the bottle, but he would not say that such was the case. He paid fifty cents each time he had the bottle filled.

Hattie Fanning was the next witness and she merely told of her sister being sick with the grip in January when witness went to Mr. Nugent to get something for it. She was given a bottle of medicine by Mr. Nugent with the directions written on the bottle for which she paid him. Mrs. Deacons and Mrs. Kingscot were also placed in the box and gave evidence.

This closed the case for the prosecution.

Mr. Stratton submitted that no case had been made out. He contended that a druggist has a right if the purchaser tells him his complaint and asks for a remedy to inform him what remedy he has for such complaint and to sell him; but if the purchaser takes upon himself the responsibility of determining the symtoms of his own case and what trouble he is suffering from and the kind of medicine he requires to relieve him from the suffering, he is not asking the druggist to advise him; that the distinction between a medical doctor and a druggist was that a druggist is not entitled to ascertain from intending purchasers the symptoms and diagnose from them the disease and then prescribe a remedy. He also contended that there was no evidence of "practising" medicine; that the word practise inferred the doing of an act more than once and that in this case there was only one case produced, that of Doctective McPherson and even this one contradicted, and for the purpose of contradiction the doctective's testimony he put the accused, Mr. Nugent, in the box.

The defendant then went over the circumstances connected with the purchasing of the bottle of medicine by Mr. McPherson. McPherson had come in to witness' drug store and asked to see Dr. Nugent, to which witness replied that he did not know of such a man. He did not invite McPherson into his back office and the complainant volunteered the showing of this sore part on his leg. He did not ask to see it. The mixture he gave him was his own mixture which he keeps in stock all the time but happened to be out of same on that day and prepared the medicine while McPherson waited.

Mr. Stratton then made a short argument on behalf of his client in which he referred his worship to several important cases bearing on the sent charge.

Magistrate Dumble reserved judgment.

A CHAPTER ON FISH SUPPLY.

Mud Lake Indians Object to Extension of Close Season.

MERITS OF THE MATTER PRESENTED.

Existing Conditions und Interest of Fisheries Demand Extension—Another Letter From Mr. Kennedy—"Izak Walton" Casts His Fly.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Sir—At a meeting of the Mud Lake band of Indians held at Chemong on the 17th day of June, 1899, it was moved by L. D. Taylor and seconded by Birt McCue that Inasmuch as J. R. Stratton,, Esq., M. P.P., has induced the Minister of Marine and Fisheries to favourably consider the changing of the close season for bass and lunge, and the Examiner in advocating the change has made statements which are contrary to the facts, and which are injurious to our interests and unjust to us as a people, we desire to set ourselves right.

First, the statement that "the Indians in the fall of the year stake out all the beds where the fish congregate during the winter" is quite untrue. The Indians do not stake out the fish beds, though they would be within their rights if they did.

It is said we build "Fishing Shanties" over the holes, and being thus protected from the weather we fish continually." This statement has not even the shadow of a foundation in truth.. We never built "fishing shanties." No such thing was ever seen in these parts, nor do we fish continuously.

It is further stated that the fish "being hungry bite freely and are caught by the sleigh load. This is a statement so much at variance with the truth that it is astonishing that anyone could make it. The fish never bite freely until after the first of April, and we do not think the best of fishermen average 25 cents per day during the winter season.

The statement is made that "sleigh load after sleigh load of fish leave Stony Lake, etc." As far as we know or are concerned this is false. We do very little fishing in Stony Lake, either winter or summer,, and we do not believe that our people have caught one sleigh load there by winter fishing in the past ten years, even if all were put together.

It is further said that we are "subjected to the importunities of those who pose as our friends, who purchase our fish at 3 or 3 cents a pound to sell at a large profit" and that therein lies the "material foundation for some of the friendly interest" in our welfare "so loudly expressed." This statement is as void of truth as all the others.

Mr. Kennedy has not traded in any way with the Indians for the past five years, and when he did we never received less than at least twice the price named, and he is not now even living on the reserve, and last winter we received from 6 to 9 cents per pound for our fish, or an average of about 7c for the winter.

And we protest that we are not the cause of the depletion of fish in these waters.

We believe from experience and observation that the depletion is due to the destruction of spawn and fry every spring, caused by the flooding of our flat shores where the spawn and fry are left to perish when the water goes down in May, and to this cause and the excessive fishing by the hundreds of sportsmen and summer visitors is due the depletion of Stony Lake, for the Indians do very little fishing there, and we request that the secretary send copies of this resolution to the Peterborough papers and to the Hon., the Minister of Marine and Fisheries. Carried unanimously.

W. J. McCUE, Secretary. JOSEPH IRONS, Chief.

Chemong, June 17th, 1899.

The above needs a little comment. In the first place Mr. Stratton never influenced, or tried to influence, the Minister of Marine and Fisheries to extend the close season. He simply forwarded as requested, a resolution of the Stony Lake Cottagers' Association. That is the extent of his action in the matter. It is denied that the Indians stake out the fishing grounds, etc., but as a matter of fact an Indian in Stony Lake in October to an enquiry as to what he was doing replied that he was staking out the fish-beds for winter fishing. In regard to fish shanties being erected by Indians—they are erected by some, while others cover their heads with blankets to protect them from the cold. No one has urged that any one person fishes continuously in winter, but there are enough parties from time to time engaged in fishing to make the capture of fish practically continuous. The Examiner's informant, who resides at Stony Lake, asserts and reiterates that sleigh load after sleigh load has been taken from this lake in winter. Anyone who wishes to know of the extent of winter fishing has only to ask a local dealer and he will discover that from three to five hundred pounds of fish, caught in the lakes adjacent to Peterborough are placed on the market per week. The fish may or may not bite freely till after April 1st, but the fact remains that they bite freely enough to contribute very seriously to the depletion of the waters.

For some inscrutable reason Mr. Kennedy's name has been introduced into the resolutions printed above. Nobody has accused him in connection with this little controversy of anything like what the resolution defends him from. So that a consciousness of guilt or something of that kind may have influenced the producing of a whitewashing resolution which, if not procured by Mr. Kennedy himself, is plainly intended to exculpate him from a charge which has only been made by implication in the resolution. In fact Mr. Kennedy's opinions and theories regarding fish, crop out in the whole series of resolutions, which, though ostensibly the action of the Indians, give evidence of really being otherwise inspired. "The voice is Jacob's voice, but the hands are the hands of Esau."

But the whole matter is capable of being placed on a higher plane. It resolves itself into the question of the preservation of the fish supply of our northern waters, and into a justification of the action of the Ontario Government in modifying by order-in-council the law relating to our fish, so as to preserve them from extinction. A section of the order-in-council making this change may be quoted.

"No person shall take, catch or kill in any of the waters of this province by angling or by other means whatever FOR THE PURPOSES OF BARTER OR SALE, from the 1st day of December to the 15th day of April (June) both days inclusive, any black bass or Oswego or large mouthed bass, without a license first had and obtained; provided that nothing in this section shall prevent a bona fide settler, residing within five miles from the place where such fish are caught, from taking not more than twelve bass in any one day for the domestic use of himself and his family.

There is nothing in this bearing hardly upon or calculated to deprive a settler or Indian of a natural food supply, since 12 bass a day constitute a pretty liberal bill of fare for the average family, especially when another section of the order in council quoted provides that any bass less than ten inches in length shall be returned to the water, so that if a settler takes bass up to the limit allowed by law he will have a daily supply of at least twelve pounds of bass for the use of himself and his family. The amended regulations do not deprive settlers or Indians of a food supply, but they do prevent the wholesale slaughter of fish to place upon the market, and thus go a long way to closing up one of the most fruitful sources of depletion, which if allowed to remain open would soon lead to the complete extinction of the fish in our northern waters. The change in the law is in every way desirable. It is a necessity to prevent the complete destruction of our fish — to prevent overfishing at the wrong season from destroying an important food supply for settlers and Indians, and also legitimate summer fishing. We have yet to find any person who will say that the new regulations are not proper regulations. Mr. Stratton does not claim any credit for the modification of the law; he was only the medium through which the reasonable request of the Stony Lake Cottagers' Association reached the Government; but if he had been responsible he feels that he would not have done any injury, but on the contrary, on the long run, a benefit to the settler and the Indian, and a distinct benefit to the interests of legitimate sport. The abundant fish in our abundant and beautiful waters are a gift of Divine Providence, intended for the good of all people, and all the people should share in them, and that this should be brought about regulations must be made to protect them and maintain the species. The new regulations provide for an ample supply of fish for the food wants of the settler and Indian, it is therefore no more than fair that others should be considered. Our lakes have been visited by hundreds of tourists and residents of the country, who have appreciated the beauties of our lakes, enjoyed the fishing and other sport, and in the process spent a large amount of money, of which the settlers themselves have received no little share. These lakes are not made merely for the sun to shine upon, but, in addition to the food production, for the proper enjoyment of the people. The fishing is one of the chief sources of enjoyment, and it is very proper that it should not be permitted to be destroyed. The farmer during a hard summer's work desires a day off; the merchant desires an occasional holiday; the hard working mechanic, cooped up in a stuffy shop, deserves a day of recreation, and others similarly situated wish to enjoy an occasional off day, and they will enjoy it all the better if they can have a reasonable expectation that if they cast a line in the lake there is some probability that there will be a fish at the end of it. The new regulations, we believe, generally meet the wishes of the people, because they protect the interest of all, the settler and the Indian as well as the legitimate sportsman. The former are allowed a sufficient daily catch for food supply, and the sportsman is restricted in the catch he may make. The object is protect and preserve the fish so that the supply shall not be exhausted.

Evidence in Rebuttal.

Further proof that the amanded fishery regulations are in the public interest is afforded in the following paragraph from Saturday Night, which corresponds fully with popular opinion in general on the subject:

"The new Ontario law prohibiting anglers from depleting the fishing grounds of this country, while it may irritate pot hunters and excite the opposition of those who have been the greatest enemies to legitimate fishing, should receive the support of every sportsman in Ontario. Some years ago some of the best fishermen in this province, passed a resolution, at Niagara I think it was, in which the views incorporated in the new law, were set forth as vigourously as possible. At that time, in conjunction with others who take an interest in angling, I strongly supported the principles upon which the new law has been based. As the settler is amply protected and permitted to catch enough fish for his own use, every sportsman who loves to hear the click of the reel and the running out of the line should feel grateful to Hon. A. S. Hardy for going so thoroughly into the necessities of the case. Angling is one of the sports which attract to Ontario a great many sportsmen who are welcomed as long as they fish in a sportsmanlike manner. Our waters also attract men and associations of men from the other side of the national line who have no idea of what is sportsmanlike conduct when fishing. They kill all the fish they can, no matter whether they be large or small, and I am not the only one who has seen piles of these fish rotting along the shores. The swift punishment of these butchers of the finny tribe will teach them something. Adherence to the new laws will not embarass those who fish for sport. On all sides I hear nothing but praise of Hon. Mr. Hardy's measure.

BASS AND 'LUNGE FISHING.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Sir—Your statement that "all the stop logs are taken out in January and remain out until the water reaches its normal level" rather took my breath away, as I had been informed otherwise.

I took the same means to verify your statement that you used in trying to find out how many fish I sold in Peterborough, and the result was I found you are correct for once, and your statement that "it is generally thought that there could be some improvement made along this line" will also be a little out.

But although this fact relieves the government from blame, it in no way affects the force or truth of my contention that the chief cause of the depletion complained of is due to the artificial conditions established by our canal system, with its locks and dams.

To contend otherwise is to say that a given volume of water will pass through a narrow, obstructed channel in a shorter time than it would take to pass through a wider and unobstructed one.

The material placed in those narrow water stretches to form those locks and dams causes the waters from the spring freshets to rise to a far greater height and to be much longer in running away than if it was not there, and therefore, from this cause a much larger area of our flat shores is flooded for a longer period, thus forcing the bass and 'lunge to go out and spawn on those drowned lands, where the spawn and fry are left to perish when the water recedes to its normal level.

The proof of this contention may be seen in the millions of spawn and fry that even "ignorant" cads like me may see every spring along our flat shores.

And since we desire to retain our canal system I suppose the annual destruction of our fish can only be prevented at such points as the government may be able to maintain the water at flood height without injury to mill powers and other interests until the fry are able to go back into deep water. And if this were done the 'original abundance" would soon return at these points in spite of the Indians and winter fishing. Your statement that this contention "will not hold water," and the way you draw conclusions without adducing the first particle of proof is evidence, I think, that nature has endowed you with a liberal supply of that "ignorance" you attribute with so much "bounce" to others.

Your fishy intimations about my "interested friendship for the Indians," "nominal prices," and "large profits," are on a par with the rest of your statements and are quite as far out. I do no trading with the Indians directly or indirectly. And now, Mr. Editor, I agree with you that this subject is not only "pretty well" but fully "beyond further controversy." Thanking you for your space, etc., I am,

Yours respectfully,
A. E. KENNEDY.

The chief point at issue in this matter is that the fish in our lakes must be preserved, and naturally associated with that is the proper way of protecting them. If winter fishing, by which fish are caught by the sleigh load, is the best way, then by all means it should be continued. But if, as is the case, extension of the close season and rigid enforcement of the law, both as regards settlers and sportsmen in the interests of both, is the best way, then the new regulations should be loyally received and lived up to. We have no wish to bandy words or hard phrases with Mr. Kennedy, or any one else; our aim from the beginning has been to promote the interests of our local fisheries and help preserve the supply, and it is a source of gratification that the efforts of the Stony Lake Cottagers' Association has been in its proportion instrumental in the adoption of amended regulations that will be for the good of all classes interested, because if some such measures had not been taken there would soon be no fish for anybody to take.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir—I have been much interested in the letters lately appearing in the Examiner with regard to the close season for bass and maskinonge and the best means of protecting them. I consider your proposition to close the season on the 1st of December the best means of protecting our fish, as there are more bass caught during the winter months than in all the rest of the season, a fact which can be proved by the books of our local dealers, the month of March being the heaviest month because the bass are then on their spawning grounds and should not be disturbed, much less taken for barter and sale. I was very much amused in reading Mr. Kennedy's letter to notice his great interest in the protection of the fish and also his great interest in the poor Indian. Now, Mr. Editor, could you inform me whether this is the same Mr. Kennedy whom Overseer Breeze brought before Police Magistrate Dumble for selling fish that had been illegally caught, and was fined $5 and costs, $7.50 in all, who dragged an important member of his family into court to try to prove his innocence, but without success, even after telling the greatest fish story of the season. He stated in the witness box that fish had been carried to his place with a string and, after lying frozen on his floor three days had come to life and started to kick and flop on the floor. I suppose as they belonged to the greatest kicker on earth they couldn't help it. That was his way of getting around the fact that fish could not be marked after they were dead. The Indians said that he bought all the snared fish that they brought, and his opponent in business could not get any fish from them, because he was honest enough not to buy fish caught in an illegal way. The public should not, therefore, pay much attention to a man with such a record, if he is the same man as the writer of the letters I referred to above.

Yours truly,
IZAK WALTON.

THE STRIKE THAT WAS.

The settlement of the strike of the trackmen is satisfactory it is to be hoped to all parties concerned. The details of the financial advantages gained by the men, are not made public, but that their demand will be pretty fully met is probable from the justice and moderation of their claims from the conciliatory spirit in which the Grand Trunk management accepted the kindly mediation of Sir Wilfred Laurier, through Mr. James Sutherland, M.P., and the accommodating character of Mr. Hay's communications to the strike committee. The trackmen have gained an important point in securing recognition by the management of their organization, and the outcome may be considered a victory for consultation and conciliation. All the men who have not been guilty of acts of violence, will be taken back on application in the usual way and any that are refused employment are to have appeal to the general superintendent and general manager with free transportation to headquarters to present their case

The Grand Trunk must feel gratified by the knowledge which the strike has brought out that it possesses a staff of trackmen, of manly independence, and sense of their rights which make them valued employees, who will, in discharge of their duties respect the rights of the great corporation to which they will give as they have given, faithful service. The trackmen are deserving of the highest praise for their excellent behaviour under which would be strong provocation to men of less robust, upright and law-abiding character, and have richly earned the hearty sympathy which the public of all classes so universally accorded them. It is probable that the relations between the company and their trackmen will in future be much better than they have been in the past.

THE NIGHT CLERK'S STORY.

A FACE LIKE CHALK.

A very bad attack of the Grippe one year ago last winter left my system in a very weak state and my nervous system completely unstrung. After getting over the dangerous stage of the disease I naturally expected to gain strength, but, unfortunately, did not do so. On the contrary, my blood became weaker. I daily lost strength and vitality, and my nervous system became so weak that it was a constant source of suffering both day and night. I lost appetite, the sight of food nauseated me, the weak state of my system caused shortness of breath and unnatural action of the heart, such as fluttering and violent palpitation, and my face was like chalk. I was in this condition and constantly getting weaker when I b gan taking Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills. I had read the books they distributed and their advertisements in the papers, and thought, "Well, I have taken so much medicine without benefit it is useless to spend any more money. However, I finally made up my mind. It is a forlorn hope; I can but try. If I am not benefited I will not be hurt. So I bought one box and received great benefit therefrom, so continued their use, and to-day am a well man in consequence; my blood is strong, my face has the ruddy hue of health, my appetite has returned, I sleep well, I have not the slightest indications of nervousness or heart trouble, and from a sick, weak, nervous man Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills have transformed me in six weeks to full health and strength." I am yours very truly,

(Signed) WILLIAM WILLARD,
Night Clerk Grand Central Hotel,
Peterboro.

Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills are sold at 50c. per box, 5 boxes for $2.00 at druggists, or mailed on receipt of price by THE DOCTOR WARD CO., Limited, 71 Victoria Street, Toronto. Book of information free.

ONE INDIAN SHOT ANOTHER.

Violent Wind and Hail Storm Near Stockton, Manitoba.

Winnipeg, June 20.—The Attorney-General's Department received word yesterday afternoon from Lac Seul of the shooting of an Indian in the territory north of that point. An Indian, whose name is not given, was supposed to be going windigo, or, in other words, insane, and a member of the tribe, named Chooseman, shot him as a duty. He has not escaped and is not yet arrested.

A very violent windstorm from the west passed over Stockton, Man., yesterday, accompanied by rain and hail, covering a strip of territory about one mile in width. Rain fell in torrents and hail to the depth of six inches covered the ground. Some of the hailstones measured an inch in diameter. Trees were stripped of both leaves and young branches, and crops in the path of the storm were probably destroyed. No accidents are reported.

A PRESSMAN'S STORY.

Mr. Parnham Tells How Dodd's Kidney Pills Cured His Lumbago.

Toronto, June 19.—The story of the escape of the Globe pressman, Mr. Jno. H. Parnham, from the agonies of Lumbago, by using Dodd's Kidney Pills, is unusually interesting.

Mr. Parnham writes to the Dodd's Medicine Co., Limited, thus: "I am proud to testify to the wonderful efficacy of Dodd's Kidney Pills. About eight months ago I was attacked by severe pains in my back. I consulted an eminent physician, who said I had Lumbago, and told me to take Turkish baths. These did me no good.

"A friend advised me to try Dodd's Kidney Pills. I did so, and one box cured me. My back has never troubled me since."

Creditors Are Principally Farmers.

Cornwall, Ont., June 20.—L. W. Howard, who for a great number of years was manager of the Molsons' Bank at Morrisburg and resigned that office a year or so ago to open a private bank at Chesterville, is in financial difficulties. A run was made on him on Thursday, and he was compelled to close up. An informal meeting of local creditors was held Saturday, and a general meeting will be held on Thursday, when it is conceded Mr. Howard will make an assignment and present a statement of his affairs. One local firm here alone, Leitch, Pringle & Cameron, have claims amounting to more than $12,000. The creditors are principally farmers.

Killed by a Woman Cyclist.

Toronto, June 20.—While returning home last night, after a hard day's work, Mrs. Lizzie Smith was knocked down by a lady cyclist and sustained internal injuries from which she died a few hours later. The woman on the wheel did not look to see what she had done, but quickly got away. Coroner Johnson has issued a warrant for an inquest.

RIOTS IN THE LEEWARD ISLANDS.

Montserrat for a Time in the Hands of the Mob.

Kingston, Jamaica, June 20.—Advices received here from Antigua, British West Indies, say there has been a recurrence at Montserrat, Leeward Islands, of serious riots in the northern district, extending to the capital, Plymouth, over the old excise duty collections, which occasioned the riots last year. The people have been openly rebelling against the police abuse of the domiciliary search law. The police were overcome and the island was for a time in the hands of the mob. The chief Government officials were confined in their houses until the arrival of the British cruiser Talbot changed the conditions. After a sharp conflict between a detachment of marines and the rioters the ringleaders were arrested.

There has also been a continuation of the troubles in the French island of Guadaloupe, where 27 more or less disastrous incendiary fires have occurred on the plantations since the burning of Point-a-Pitre, each preceded by an anonymous threat to the Governor, protesting against a continuation of the protection of immigrant labor on the plantations by the military.

B.C. LABOR PARTY IN ARMS.

Demand That Local Legislature Ignore the Japanese Bill Veto.

Vancouver, B.C., June 20.—The labor party in British Columbia are very indignant at the demand of the Dominion Government which compels the Provincial Government of British Columbia to rescind legislation prohibiting Japanese working in mines in British Columbia. Their agitators in Vancouver say that in another generation, unless British Columbia is allowed to legislate in her own interests, and if the head tax of Chinese is not made exclusive, there will be nothing left for white people in British Columbia. With this sentiment prevailing the Vancouver Council passed a resolution, in which they desired the British Columbia Legislature to ignore the Dominion Government's demand. As the labor party dominate the Government in the Canadian Pacific Province at present, no doubt the request of the Labor Council of Vancouver will be granted.

Halifax for Next Assembly.

Hamilton, June 20.—At the Presbyterian General Assembly yesterday, college matters, temporary preachers and changes in the rules were the subjects discussed at the morning sederunt. Halifax was the place chosen for the next meeting of the General Assembly.

During the afternoon the foreign mission committee was instructed to make a grant not exceeding 400 rupees, exclusive of fees and Government grants, to the high school and college at Indore, India. It is felt that this will remove the friction that at present exists. The Sunday school report showed 2,500 schools, 19,000 teachers and 160,000 pupils.

A $10,000 Fire.

Toronto, June 20.—One building was totally destroyed by fire and another badly scorched last night of the Toronto Glass Company's premises. A pile of dressed lumber was also consumed. The contents destroyed were valued at $5,000 and the loss to the buildings will be about the same amount.

He Fooled The Surgeons.

All doctors told Renick Hamilton, West Jefferson, Ohio, after suffering 18 months from Rectal Fistula, he would die unless a costly operation was performed; but he cured himself with five boxes of Bucklen's Arnica Salve, the surest pile cure on earth, and the best salve in the world. 25 cents a box. Sold by James Lynch, druggist.

MR. J. E. BARBER WILL SIT.

Tories Had No Evidence to Offer on Which to Unseat Him.

Milton, June 20.—John R. Barber is the undisputed local member for Halton. The Tories' petition against him was yesterday dismissed by Mr. Justice Osler and Mr. Justice Falconbridge here. J. W. Elliott, for the petitioner, John Whaites, said he had no evidence to offer. The court asked Frank Denton, counsel for the respondent, if he desired costs. "I have no instructions to ask for costs," returned Mr. Denton. The petition was therefore dismissed without costs.

A Woman Deserted Her Child.

St. Catharines, June 20.—A woman called at the Sheehan House on Saturday evening and spent the night there with her infant child. Early Sunday morning she left the hotel, and was seen about the Grand Trunk depot with the child in her arms, which was crying bitterly. She awaited her chance, and when no person was looking her way left the child on the waiting bench and decamped. Chief Cumming was notified, and he had the child sent to the Protestant Orphans' Home, the matron having consented to take it.

Marching-in Day.

Niagara, June 21.—Yesterday was marching-in day. The 9th Field Battery came in on the Corona at 1. The M.G.R. brought in the Hamilton and St. Catharines Field Batteries late in the afternoon. Early in the evening the 46th arrived by the Garden City from Port Hope; the Lakeside brought in the 40th from Cobourg, and the Argyle the 16th from Picton. The 45th and the 49th came in later in the evening by boat.

A Deadly Danger.

Many a man who has the seeds of disease planted in his blood dreams away his time in fancied security with a deadly danger coiled upon him ready to strike its fangs into his very vitals.

"Should a man think he has consumption," you ask, "just because his appetite is poor and he is losing flesh and he has a little cough and a general feeling of weakness and incapacity?"

No: that doesn't necessarily mean consumption, but it means that the system is being steadily undermined; it is losing force and vitality; it is being tainted with bilious poisons that the liver hasn't power to throw off and any day that which is now only a probability may suddenly develop into a certainty.

"My wife had hemorrhage of the lungs. She had ten hemorrhages, and the people all around here said she would never be well again," said Mr. W. A. Sanders, of Hera, Mason Co., W. Va., in a very instructive letter written to Dr. R. V. Pierce of Buffalo, N. Y. "But she began to take Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and she soon began to gain strength and flesh. After taking ten bottles she was entirely well. Should you think this will do you any good to publish, just use it, and if any one disputes the merits of this almost omnipotent medicine they may enclose self-addressed envelope with stamp, and I will answer the same as written in this letter."

But the time to use this medicine is now while the little weaknesses are slowly breaking you down. Awaken in time and throw off the deadly danger before it strikes you in a vital spot. This glorious "Discovery" will give you appetite and digestive power, pure blood and solid substantial strength.

Write to Dr. Pierce about your condition. He will send you good, professional advice, free of charge.

ITS REVERSE NEVER CUT.

The Great Seal of the United States Still Remains Unfinished.

Half a dozen state department clerks were talking. Incidentally the great seal of the United States was mentioned. The old clerk spoke up, and the younger members of the group listened with interest, for when the old fellow talked, which was very seldom, his remarks were well worth hearing. "Speaking of the great seal," said he, "do any of you happen to know that the seal of our country is in an unfinished state? No? Well, I thought not," and the old clerk smiled patronizingly.

"In 1782, June 20 was the exact date, the Continental congress adopted a seal. This same seal was later adopted by the First congress of the United States. Now, a design was adopted for both the obverse and reverse of the seal. With the former we are all familiar or ought to be, but the other remains uncut to this day. I don't know why it is so and have never heard any one attempt an explanation. The design adopted for the reverse of the seal is an unfinished pyramid. In the zenith there is an eye in a triangle surrounded with a glory or sunburst. On the base of the pyramid appear the numerical letters MDCCLXXVI. Over the eye are the words 'Annuit Cœptis" and under the base 'Novus Ordo Seclorum.'

"The pyramid signifies strength and duration. The eye over it and the motto allude to the interpositions of Providence in favor of the American cause. The date underneath is that of the Declaration of Independence, and the words under it signify the beginning of the new American era which commenced from that date.

"Now, some of you young men who have plenty of time go to work and find out why the reverse of the seal of your country has not been cut, as provided for by congress."

The CHARM OF BEAUTY

Not in the Features so much as in the Grace and Vitality of a Healthy Body--Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve and Blood Pills make Women Beautiful.

There's a certain charm of beauty in the graceful, elastic movement, and clear complexion of a healthy woman in which the features do not play an important part.

The pale, sallow complexion and dull leaden color of the skin, dark circles under the eyes, headaches, pains in the back and sides, dull eyes, weakness, nervousness, despondency and low spirits are symptoms of weak, watery blood and improperly-nourished nerves.

No woman can be beautiful until the blood is enriched and the nerves strengthened. Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Food is a food for the blood and nerves.

Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Food restores the energy and strength to a run-down system. Note your weight before using them, and the increase week by week as the brightness returns to the eyes, the color to the cheeks and the form rounds out with firm, healthy flesh, the natural result of rich, pure blood and a healthy nervous system.

RAILROAD.... KIDNEY

A Disease Peculiar to Railroad Men, which is readily Cured by

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

Did it ever occur to you that most railroad men die of kidney disease?

Such is the fact, however, and the disease is known among railroaders as "railroad kidney."

The first and most marked symptom is a weak, lame and aching back. You may think at first that you are only tired; but as this trouble increases day by day, kidney disease, with all its terrors, is fast claiming you as a victim.

Mr. Geo. Cummings, for over 20 years engineer on the Grand Trunk running between Toronto and Allandale, says: "The constant duty with my work gave me excessive pains in my back, racking my kidneys. I tried several remedies until I was recommended by my fireman, Mr. Dave Conley, to try Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. Two boxes have completely cured me and I feel to-day a better man than ever. I recommend them to all my friends."

PASSING OF THE NIGHTCAP.

Our Catarrhal Troubles Are Largely Due to Its Abandonment.

"If the American people would only put on nightcaps when they go to bed, there would not be near so many cases of catarrhal trouble as there are now," said a Chicago physician. He continued: "It is well known that as a nation the percentage of catarrhal complaints is greater among us than in any other nation in the world and that there are more cases among men than among women. The reason for this disproportion is the absence of nightcaps and the habit of smoking in the open air. Women, if they smoke at all, do not do so in the open air, and if they do not wear nightcaps they are in a measure protected by their heavier heads of hair. Men, on the contrary, habitually wear their hair close cut, are careless about the temperature of the rooms in which they sleep, and while all the rest of the body is carefully protected the head may be exposed all night to a zero temperature and that at the very time when nature is at its lowest ebb and can do the least to protect itself. If we would begin by nightcapping all our children and induce them to keep up the habit in later years, within a generation or two catarrh would be a comparatively rare disease in the United States.

"Englishmen and the people of the continent know an American by two things—his liberality with money and his habit of hawking and spitting. They cannot understand the latter, as catarrh is an unusual complaint abroad. But nightcaps are not. They are a recognized part of the night toilet throughout Europe, and to this is due the freedom of the people there from a distressing complaint.

"Who ever sees a nightcap in this country? But in England it is so much a matter of course that its great writer, Dickens, frequently mentioned it in order to give the proper touch of realism to his creations." — Chicago Inter Ocean.

A ST. THOMAS CASE.

The Entire Population Talking of the Dodd's Kidney Pills Cures.

St. Thomas, June 12.—The great wave has reached St. Thomas. The cures wrought by Dodd's Kidney Pills are numbered by hundreds here, and the entire population, almost, is talking of them.

Michael Holleran, a farmer living near here, told our reporter, "Dodd's Kidney Pills saved me from an untimely grave." He was cured of Diabetes, of an aggravated type by a few boxes, after his doctors had failed to even relieve him.

So it goes. Everyone who has used Dodd's Kidney Pills has been cured. Bright's Disease, Diabetes, Paralysis, all diseases of the kidneys and the blood yield to their power. They never fail to cure these ailments.

The Gun Barrels Grew.

In the early days in the northwest, when the Hudson Bay company laid the foundations of great fortunes by trade with the savages, and a gun paid for as many beaver skins as would reach to the muzzle of it, the skins packed flat and the gun held upright, it was alleged that the barrel of the weapon grew and grew with each successive year until the Indian, after he had bought it with the peltry, had to borrow a file and cut off a foot of useless metal.—San Francisco Argonaut

CRAZY KING LUDWIG.

PATTI ONCE THREW HIM INTO A FRENZY OF MADNESS.

He Frightened and Enraged the Great Diva by His Strange Whims, and When She Finally Sang For Him It Drove Him Wild.

When Patti was in the first heyday of her fame, Ludwig II, the mad king of Bavaria, set his heart on having her sing for him at his private auditorium in Munich. He wrote letter after letter, begging, imploring, offering extravagant sums of money, but Patti resolutely refused to go. She had heard too many stories of Ludwig's freaks, his curses and his unreasonable commands, and she was desperately afraid of him. But at last the king offered her a sum so enormous that it seemed ridiculous to refuse it. Then the singer plucked up courage and started for Munich. When she and her maid alighted at the station, not even a carriage was there to meet them, and they had to inquire the name of the best hotel and call a cab like any ordinary travelers. That was the first shock to the diva's nerves and temper. After luncheon she started out to see the town and incidentally to examine the posters announcing the great honor conferred upon the citizens of Munich by a visit from Europe's greatest singer. Not a mention of her name could she find in the town. She rushed back to the hotel and told her maid to pack the trunks.

Just at that moment a resplendent officer was announced. He saluted her and delivered a letter from the king. The letter stated curtly that his majesty would await her at 7 o'clock precisely in the Royal palace, where his singer in ordinary, Mme. Fischer, would give her further directions. Mme. Fischer would also sing with Mme. Patti the duets which his majesty wished to hear. A programme was inclosed. Patti burst into tears of rage.

"I have never been treated so brutally," she said. "I shall leave at once. Tell the king so. I will not sing—never, never, never!" The officer pleaded with the irate prima donna. She must not disappoint the king. His majesty had been wild with excitement ever since he knew she would come and had not slept for three nights, so great was his joy at the prospect of hearing her.

"Besides," added the officer, "you know our king is—is—is—"

"Crazy," snapped Patti. "Yes, that's very comforting, isn't it? I don't know why I ever came." Just then she caught sight of a postscript she had not read:

"The king commands Mme. Patti to appear in pure white, without any color whatever, and not by any means to wear a satin gown, but soft wool. Silk is painful to his majesty."

"His majesty will have to be pained. I have no white woolen gown except my peignoir. Go tell the king I shall wear red velvet."

"Red!" groaned the officer. "Oh, no, no! Red sends his majesty into fits. If you appear in red, he will scream and have convulsions. Oh, do be patient, madame! I will bring Mme. Fischer to you. She understands the king's nerves. She will explain."

He fled from the room, and, shortly after, Mme. Fischer appeared upon the scene. She soothed Patti into good humor and also attacked the white wool peignoir and transformed it into a most becoming Greek robe.

Before 7 the royal carriage arrived at the hotel and Patti went to the palace. She was led through dimly lighted rooms and corridors into Ludwig's private theater, which was in utter darkness save for the moonlight that entered through the windows. Patti stood upon the dark stage, while an orchestra, somewhere out of sight, began a soft prelude. Through the gloom she could just make out a white face in the royal box opposite the stage. Not another auditor was in the great hall. The whole thing was most uncanny, and Patti felt cold shivers creeping over her. She shook with nervousness and fear, and when she should have begun her aria not a sound could she make. She opened her mouth, but her throat was paralyzed from nervous terror. There was a pause. The king sprang up and leaned forward out of the box, his white face gleaming in the moonlight. The violins repeated the prelude. Patti gathered herself together and made one heroic effort. Her voice rang out into the great empty place, and the king sank back into the dark box.

Patti, though badly scared, made the effort of her life and finished the aria from "La Traviata" triumphantly and stood flushed with victory. Dead silence. Not a sound came from the gloom before her. She went off the stage in a temper. His majesty might have given some sign of approbation. Mme. Fischer was behind the scenes, and Patti waited with her for the signal to sing the next number. A messenger appeared at the door. His majesty had had enough music and had gone to his apartments. For a moment Patti stood stunned. Then she laughed. The rudeness was so colossal that it was funny. Mme. Fischer took the diva to supper and then home.

The next morning Mme. Fischer called at the hotel once more, accompanied by the court chamberlain, who bore the promised check, an autograph letter of thanks from the king and some jewels of great value. Mme. Fischer's explanation of the concert fiasco pleased Patti more than the jewels. King Ludwig, she said, was in one of his maddest moods, wild with regret, cursing himself and cursing Patti. He had walked the floor all night, groaning that he was a traitor, for Patti's voice had so ravished his senses that for one moment he had gone over to Italian music and had been false to Wagner—to Wagner, the one musician who alone had satisfied his majesty's soul.

"That was better than having bored him," added Patti, shrugging her shoulders.

Hunting Marsh Hogs.

"Hunting wild marsh hogs is an exciting but somewhat dangerous pastime in southern Texas," said C. L. Fielden of that state. "In the swampy lands along the gulf these wild hogs have their habitat, and to hunt them if is best to have several companions and numerous dogs that understand the ways of the ferocious porkers. The dog will find the game for you, bay it and hold it in check until you can take a shot or two. Then everything depends on your aim. If you succeed in piercing a vital part with your Winchester bullet, all is over except dragging the carcass to some convenient point where it can be handled.

"But dangerous is your position if your aim is a trifle defective and your shot only wounds the animal. Some good and true shooting must be done instanter then by you and your comrades, or else an infuriated boar will be rending you with his tusks. I have seen more than one of these old boars shot through the body 20 or more times and in that condition fight man and dog until several balls had been fired into his head.

"In the marshes there is no possible way of escaping an attacking wild hog except by killing him. The hunter can make no headway through the tall, rank grass and boggy soil, and there are no trees that offer him refuge. For these reasons he is compelled to kill his game when once it is flushed or become himself a victim. In the fall of the year these marsh hogs are fat, and their flesh is of a very pleasing flavor."—Washington Post.

BERMUDA ONIONS.

Reasons Why They Are So Popular In American Markets.

"Nowhere perhaps in the world are onions grown to such a state of perfection as in the Bermudas," said a wholesale produce merchant to a writer recently. "The balmy climate and rich soil of these islands, together with the careful methods of cultivation, have combined to produce an onion that, for size and flavor, is peerless. The vegetable will average from one-half pound to one pound and a half in weight. It is always sound, juicy and crisp, and these good qualities are so well appreciated by Americans that about 800,000 crates of the onions are annually shipped to the United States.

"Preparations to supply the markets of this country every spring with the vegetable are made early in January, and when gathered in March and April the onions are carefully selected and packed in crates, weighing, when filled, 160 pounds. The onions are then taken to the general receiving wharf, where they are subjected to a rigid inspection by government officers. If the quality of the produce is not good and any imperfect or decayed specimens are found, the farmer is made to pick the goods over and replace them. The onions are then passed by the inspector, and when the crates have been closed and marked by the shipper they are loaded on board a steamship, which, after a voyage of 48 hours, lands them, principally in New York. Here consignments of from 4,000 to 5,000 crates, each containing 150 onions, are received semiweekly. The vegetable is usually sold by the weight and is worth about 5 cents per pound retail."

FIRST OF JULY ON A SATURDAY.

been completed and the event advertised to take place on Saturday, July 1st. It was impossible at this late date to make any chnage. Dominion Day was created for the purpose of keeping alive feelings of patriotism and would naturally be supposed to be celebrated on whatever day it fell upon. The merchants were rather hard on their clerks. They refused them their weekly half holiday a short time ago and now did'nt want to let them have Dominion Day. No extra business would be done on Saturday as people put aside thoughts of business on holidays. He felt that a grave injustice would be committed in changing the date of the holiday.

Mr. Fair stated that in conversation with some of the merchants they had stated that they would not have signed the petition if they had thought the matter over first.

Mr. R. B. McKee coincided with Mr. Fair's views of the question.

The president asked for the opinion of members of the Board only. Six voted for keeping open on Saturday and five for observing the holiday on that date. As the majority was so small no report was sent to the council of the decision.

THE COUNCIL MEETING.

On the adjournment of the Board of Trade the council went into session with Mayor Davis in the chair, the other members present being Aldermen Best, Denne, Langford, Neill, Corkery, McWilliams and Sawers.

Alderman Neill presented the petition from the merchants regarding the changing of the date of the holiday from July 1st to July 3rd, stating that it was signed by 95 per cent. of the business men. One of the principal reasons for advocating the change was that if the holiday was held on Saturday, that day's business would be lost and in Peterborough Saturday was worth more than any of the other five days of the week. Every marchant depended on the Saturday trade to finance his business. The speaker then moved that the day be observed on Monday.

Mr. Robert Fair opposed the changing of the holiday from Saturday until Monday on the same grounds, as he used before the Board of Trade.

Mayor Davis stated that Ven. Archdeacon Casey had spoken to him some time ago asking if there was any idea of changing the date. He had told the Archdeacon that no one had mentioned the matter and that he would therefore be fully warranted in announcing the date of St. Joseph's picnic as Saturday.

Ven. Archdeacon Casey

made a few telling remarks along the line of his arguments used before the Board of Trade. He represented to the council that the interests of the entire population should be considered in preference those of the small proportion represented by the merchants. He made a strong plea for the working men and the clerks who had made all their arrangements to spend the holiday away, but would have to stay in town if it was held on Monday, when the fares were not reduced. In concluding his remarks the Archdeacon stated that he would like to see any council in the United States attempt to change the date of the fourth of July celebration and surely Canada was as patriotic as the United States.

After other speakers had repeated their remarks as given before the Board of Trade. Mr. Macfarlane Wilson stated that he had signed the petition for purely business motives but as the change of dates would effect other interests he was satisfied to see Saturday observed.

Alderman Neill stated that it gave him great pleasure to withdraw the petition which he had presented at the request of the merchants. He had not known that the change would effect so many other interests, but was pleased to withdraw a petition which he felt might work an injustice.

Ald. Denne stated that on Saturday next all the farmers attending the market would be notified to the effect that the following Friday would be a market day.

The Property Committee

through its chairman, Alderman Sawers, reported as follows:

1. In reference to Mr. Kennedy's application for a connection with the Rink street sewer, as Mr. Kennedy does not state for what purpose he wants the connection, or how he proposes to use it, your committee with the information it has at present cannot recommend that it be granted.

2. That as your Committee does not think it advisable to have a boathouse near the powder magazine they cannot recommend that Mr. [illegible] Jones application for permission to erect one there be granted.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

JOHN SAWERS,
Chairman.

Alderman Sawers moved the adoption of the second clause of the report only, stating that the council might as well face the music at once and tell Mr. Kennedy that under no circumstances would he be given connection with the sewer.

Alderman McWilliams moved that the report be amended to read that Mr. Kennedy be not given permission to make a connection with the sewer. The speaker stated that the council had gone to the expense of sending a deputation to Toronto to find out if cattle markets were a nuisance, and on finding that they were, the council had refused to grant Mr. Kennedy permission to establish a cattle market on the town lot. The Commissioners had seen fit to override the council's decision, and now the council would be justified in taking any course to block the scheme.

Alderman Langford thought that the report was all right. Mr. Kennedy in clause 1, was refused permission to make the connection, and what more was required? He thought that Aldermen McWilliams and Langford were talking to the back benches.

Alderman Sawers replied that he had given expression to the same views the night before when there was no one in the benches.

Alderman McWilliams stated that there was no one in the council who talked to the back benches more than Alderman Langford. Concerning himself, no one could say that he was afraid to speak out his mind on any and all occasions.

Alderman Langford — "Kennedy can compel the council, on sanitary grounds, to let him make connection with the sewar."

Alderman McWilliams—"Alderman Langford is wrong. Kennedy doesn't own that property; the town owns it, and of the owner of a property no tenant could make a connection with a sewer."

Alderman Best drew the attention of the council to the fact that the commissioners had not as yet given Mr. Kennedy three months' notice to leave the premises, as they had promised. He stated further that if Mr. Kennedy was given connection for the cattle yards the sewer would be blocked, as it was not large enough for this purpose. The whole sewerage system of the town would be destroyed if anything of the kind was permitted.

Alderman Langford accused Alderman Best of going back on the report after he had favoured it in committee.

Alderman Best—"You are the man that does the shuffling."

On motion of Aldermen Langford and Sawers, it was resolved "That we ask the Commissioners to give H. P. Kennedy notice to remove from the town lot in three months."

The bylaw amending the bylaw respecting the tax on electric light and power poles, received its third reading and was passed.

Alderman McWilliams asked for an explanation of a bill for $20 paid at the last council meeting to meet the expenses of valuators sent to Toronto to valuate the Rubber Company's premises. He was chairman of the Manufacturers' Committee, and knew nothing of the matter. The council had found fault with Alderman Davidson for lending the stone crusher. Alderman Davidson was chairman of the Board of Works at the time, but in this case Allderman Neill, who was not even a chairman, had taken upon himself the authority to send two valuators away on a trip. Seconded by Alderman Sawers, he moved that the treasurer be requested to make a detailed statement of all moneys spent in connection with the Rubber Co.—Carried.

Alderman Neill claimed that he was justified in sending the valuators to Toronto as the industry was a valuable one and Peterborough had come very near securing it. The Mayor had endorsed the expenditure.

The Mayor and Aldermen McWilliams, Langford and Denne, will go with the County Council to Chemong Lake bridge on Thursday.

Contractors Kennedy & Wade will appear before the Board of Works to have the question of extras settled.

First Session.

The morning and afternoon sessions were occupied by the work of the Woman's Branch of the Association, the chair being occupied by Mrs. Hunter of town.

The proceedings were opened with devotional exercises, after which reports from the different Circles and Bands throughout the district were read, and showed the work to be in a very healthy condition, much progress being made.

The reports were adopted, and the morning session closed in due form.

At 2.30 o'clock the afternoon session opened.

Mrs. Mowry of the Park street Baptist church, tendered an appropriate welcome to the visiting delegates. She hoped that the present convention would not only be entertaining but a profitable one as well.

Miss Quinn of Lakefield, made a short but suitable reply, which was followed by a vocal solo by Miss Hutchinson of the Murray street church.

Miss Ada Aldridge read a very interesting paper on Band Work, in which she made a splendid argument for the organization of such Bands among the younger scholars of the Sunday schools. The system had worked admirably in the United States and in other parts of Canada, and the same good results could be obtained here.

A discussion that took place on "Circles and Bands," in which a number of the delegates took part.

Mrs. Peer, of Norwood, read a paper on "Home Missions," outlining the work done during the past year by the field supported by the Woman's Home Missionary Society, showing the work to be most successful.

Miss Benson of Bewdley followed with a paper on Foreign Missions, in which the satisfactory work being done in India and other places, was cited.

Miss Roberts of town, gave a very interesting address on Indian Missions.

"Mission Work as a Means of Unity in the Local Church," was the subject that came up next for discussion, and which was led by Mrs. G. K. Martin.

In response to the invitations and greetings from sister societies, Mrs. J. D. Tully of St. Andrew's, and Mrs. McPherson, of St. Paul's church, Peterborough, tendered the greetings of their respective churches.

The election of officers was the next order of business, and resulted as follows:

President—Mrs. Dr. Hunter, Peterborough.

Vice-President—Mrs. Peer, Norwood.

Director—Miss A. Walton.

Evening Session.

The evening session which commenced at 8 o'clock, was the opening of the general convention, the chair being occupied by Rev. O. C. Elliott, pastor of the Park street church.

The nominating committee submitted the following nominations:

Moderator—Rev. R. Wallace, Belleville.

Secretary—Rev. P. K. Dayfoot, Port Hope.

Nominating Committee—Major Caswell, C. Baker, E. B. Hinman, R. A. Patterson, Rev. D. Walton, and Rev. W. Kirkpatrick.

Resolution Committee—W. Peer, Rev. J. Bastow and Rev. W. A. Gunton.

Obituary Committee—Rev. Mr. Bridgeman, D. R. Mann and W. A. Walton.

The above list was adopted by the Association.

After singing a hymn and offering prayer the chairman, introduced the Rev. Robert Wallace of Belleville, the moderator of the Association, who assumed full charge of the proceedings and will continue to do so until the end of the convention.

The moderator, Mr. Wallace, in assuming charge of the convention expressed his pleasure at being present at the convention and as a visitor to Peterborough. He called upon Mr. Gillespie of Park street Baptist church to tender the formal welcome to the delegates.

Mr. Gillespie in doing so said he did so not only on behalf of the congregation of Park street church, but on behalf of the Baptists of the town of Peterborough as well.

Mr. V. H. Cowsett in replying expressed the hope that when they left Peterborough, it would be with fond memories of Christian fellowship.

Miss A. Walton,

the director of the Woman's Branch of the Association, submitted her report for the year, which showed that there are sixteen circles which have to home missions, 197; contributions to home missions, $239.51, which includes $12.10 given to the Northwest Indians.

Contributors to foreign missions 212; contributions to foreign missions $291.04.

The number of Visitors taken was 262 and the number of Links 144. The number of bands in the Association is 10 which includes one new one at Bewdley. The number on the roll for these bands is 331. The amount of money raised for home missions is $36.01 and the amount for foreign missions $156.50. The total money received from circles and bands is $723.-06 which is $60.81 less than last year.

Mrs. Hunter submitted the following report on mission bands:

We feel that mission band workers did not take prompt avantage of the time given to circles and bands for discussion of methods of work. We think our bands are a very important part of our work and as we have some young workers and leaders of bands with us for the first time, we could not let this opportunity pass without expressing our appreciation of what has been done and our hope that the coming year may show that our Association is going forward in this Branch of The Work.

Our bands are pledged to the support of two missionaries in Quebec, about six hundred dollars being promised for this object. We hope our younger workers will take a more prominent part on our programme for next year and come up prepared to take part promptly.

Mrs. Dr. Scott rendered a vocal solo very nicely after which Rev. Mr. McEwen, Superintendent of Home Missions, delivered a very interesting address. We did not come here to deliver addresses, the speaker claimed, but to strengthen each others hands by free discussion. He commended the Association on the great success which had attended their efforts during the past ten years. During that time there had been eight chapels erected and about ten churches organized which was remarkably gratifying. He regretted the change which had taken place during the last twenty-five years in the manner of bringing hearts to God and in Christianizing the world. He considered there was too many fine churches and organs and too little of the honest appeal to the Almighty. He had been pleased to note the encouraging reports which had been presented at the various conventions throughout the province and predicted a prosperous year for the Baptist church.

The speaker gave a list of the churches that had been organized during the last twelve months throughout Ontario which was most encouraging. Turning his attention to the vast track of land in Northwestern Ontario waiting occupation, he regretted that there was not more effort being made to bring the word of God nearer the miners and prospectors in that region.

Rev. W. A. Gunton who has spent several years in British Columbia preaching the word of God, gave a very entertaining address on the religious situation in the big western province. Its inhabitants by no means consists entirely of miners but of people of all employment. The population was made up of many nationalities however, and the speaker dwelt at some length on the difficulties that had to be contended with to teach them the word of God. He had a poor opinion of the Chinese but considered the Japs made good citizens. He warned the people of the great danger there was in purchasing mining stocks from agents who travel around at such business and explained how that more than one clergyman had got badly mixed up in such affairs. He himself had been offered big inducements to let his name be used in such affairs.

In conclusion the speaker made a strong appeal for money to carry on missionary work in the west.

Government's Policy Regarding a Telegraph to the Yukon.

A PRIVATE COMPANY'S CLAIMS.

Charges That the Government Had Broken Faith—Mr. Blair's Answer—The Prime Minister Explains the Government's Position — Dilatory Line Prospectors' Sudden Energy.

Ottawa, June 22.—Despite the strong counter-attraction of a circus with three rings and a grand central stage the attendance yesterday was fairly large. So far as the business done is concerned, all the members might as well have been at the circus, for it was after 11 o'clock last night before the House got into supply. Nearly the whole day was spent in discussing the action of the Government in constructing a telegraph line into the Yukon. Col. Prior said that the Government had broken faith with the Northern Commercial Telegraph Company, which had proposed to lay a cable from Victoria to Skaguay. In this position he was backed up by half a dozen Conservative speakers. Mr. Blair and the Premier replied, showing that the company had been dilatory in starting work; the Government had taken up the matter and were constructing an all-Canadian line so connect with the British Columbia telegraph system at Quesnelle. The House sat until a late hour. Several private bills were advanced a stage last night, the Niagara, St. Catharines & Toronto Railway bill receiving a third reading.

No Brewery Licenses Issued.

Sir Henri Joly, in answer to Mr. McInnes, said the Government had not issued any brewery license for the Atlin Lake district, and had no intention of doing so. The Government was not aware that there were any breweries in operation in the district, nor that any brewery plant had been imported.

In reply to Mr. Foster, the Minister of Militia said that some of the majors of field batteries had been asked to resign, on the ground that they are commanding officers whose term of office has expired.

To the further question, "Are the field artillery majors, as field artillery majors of a brigade, less efficient, or why should they alone not succeed by seniority to be lieutenant-colonels?" the reply was made, "There are no regulations."

On motion of Sir Hibbert Tupper, the return containing the accounts of Chief Engineer Coste's trip to the Yukon were referred to the public accounts committee.

On the motion to go into supply, Mr. Davin regaled the House with a series of articles from The Winnipeg Tribune with reference to Mr. Douglas' grain bill.

Mr. Sifton defended his course with regard to the bill.

These Telegraph Companies.

Col. Prior brought up the matter of the Northern Commercial Telegraph Company, and the Dawson City and Victoria Telegraph Company, and spoke at considerable length to the effect that the Government had granted charters to these companies, and had encouraged Mr. Roach, the promoter of the former company, to go on with the work when he applied to the Minister of Railways last October, and yet had allowed the Minister of Public Works to commence the construction of a Government line to Dawson, which would practically kill both companies. He also charged the Government with suppressing part of the correspondence, as two letters from the Premier, which he read, were not included in the return.

Hon. Mr. Blair explained that the Government was very anxious to have the telegraphic communication established with Dawson City, and when approached by Mr. Roach in October he did not hesitate to encourage him, but told him the project must be taken up in a businesslike way and pushed. Nothing more was heard of the Northern Commercial Company until after the announcement was made that the Government would build the line itself. The letters written to Mr. Roach were confidential and their publication by him in the London press showed he was untrustworthy and no gentleman.

Sir Charles Tupper, in a very vigorous speech, strongly denounced the Government's policy, and claimed the action of the Government in first encouraging the company and then starting a line of their own would seriously affect the credit of Canada in the British money market and deter investors from embarking in Canadian enterprises.

The Premier Reads the Letters.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier explained that the two letters omitted from the return were private letters from himself, but he had no objection to reading them and he did so. Dealing with the merits of the case, he said that the idea of the Opposition seemed to be that the public interests should have been sacrificed for the benefit of the company. He thought otherwise. He detailed the circumstances of the case, saying that Mr. Roach's scheme involved the laying of a cable, which would land on what was claimed as United States territory, and he thought the people of Canada would support him in preferring an all-Canadian land line, owned and controlled by the Government. Nothing whatever was heard of Mr. Roach and his scheme between Oct. 6, last year, and April 11, this year, six months, and nearly a month after the Government had announced that the line would be built as a public work. It was of the utmost importance that telegraphic communication with the Yukon should be opened this year, and when nothing had been heard of the company for over five months, the Government decided to build the line, and he was pleased to be able to say that it would be completed this year. He characterized the whole debate as a tempest in a teapot.

Mr. Foster and Mr. N. Clarke Wallace repeated the charges of breaking faith on the part of the Government, and the House went into supply shortly after 11 o'clock.

In Supply.

Two items in the Inland Revenue supplementary estimates were passed.

Mr. Clancy called attention to the fact that wheat buyers still test wheat by weighing only one-sixteenth of a bushel, instead of a bushel, as the law required.

Sir Henri Joly promised to instruct his inspectors of weights and measures to call the attention of those interested to the law.

The customs supplementaries were then taken up, and good progress was made with them.

The customs estimates were disposed of by 1 o'clock, when the supplementary vote for public works in the Yukon was taken up.

On the item of $26,000 for improvements to the Yukon and Lakes Rivers, Mr. N. Clarke Wallace asked if Mr. Charleson mentioned in connection with the work was the "man who had disgraced Canada" in connection with the engagement of men for the Crow's Nest Pass Railway.

Mr. Fielding said he did not know.

Mr. Wallace said that the answer was given with Mr. Fielding's usual flippance and impertinence. This was declared out of order, and a heated discussion ensued. Mr. Wallace appealed, saying the word "impertinence" was not used in an offensive manner.

A division was taken at 1.30 a.m. and the chair was sustained by 89 to 10. Mr. Wallace withdrew the word, but expressed the hope that Mr. Fielding would no longer humbug the House.

$20,000,000 MORE FOR DEFENCE

Mr. Davitt Protests Against Expenditures at Halifax, Bermuda and Jamaica—The Trouble in the Transvaal—Cape Town Garrison Ready to Advance—Khalifa Again in Fighting Trim.

London, June 22.—When the House of Commons went into committee yesterday on the military works loan bill, the Parliamentary Secretary of the War Office, Mr. George Wyndham, moved a resolution authorizing the introduction of a bill providing a loan of $20,000,000, repayable in yearly instalments, for defence works, barracks and rifle ranges at home and abroad.

He explained this was merely a continuation of the policy laid down by the Military Works Loan Act of 1897, and pointed out that all British seaborne commerce converged at a point between Cape Clear and Ushant, necessitating strategic harbors of refuge, all of which must be defended by heavy guns. In this manner and on other works, he explained, it was proposed to spend $5,000,000, and on barracks the sum of $13,850,000 was to be spent, of which sum $8,375,000 would be expended on the present barracks. The balance would be devoted to the expenses of the new stations, and Weihaiwei would absorb $650,000.

Mr. Michael Davitt, Irish Nationalist, opposed Mr. Wyndham's resolution, saying he objected especially to the expenditures at Halifax, Bermuda and Jamaica as being altogether unnecessary, "because, at present, the Governments of Great Britain and the United States are engaged in exchanging diplomatic love messages; yet these proposed guns were pointed at their Anglo-Saxon cousins. If the Government was sincere in its professions of love and friendship, it was acting perfidiously and insincerely in making these fortifications on the Atlantic coast."

The resolution was adopted by a vote of 241 to 66

The capitalization is $125,000,000, of which $55,000,000 is 7 per cent. cumulative preferred stock and $70,000,000 common stock.

Observance of the Sabbath Was the Subject for Discussion.

Hamilton, June 22.—Sabbath observance was the subject of debate at the General Assembly yesterday morning, when the consideration of the report of the committee on church life and work was resumed.

The committee's recommendation under this head was "That the observance of the Lord's Day be made the subject of instruction from the pulpit as occasion requires, and that continuous and determined effort be put forth to preserve it in its entirety from the encroachments that are being made upon it."

Our Criminal Population.

Ottawa, June 22.—The annual report of the Minister of Justice on the penitentiaries of Canada was laid on the table yesterday afternoon by Solicitor-General Fitzpatrick. St. John's, Nfld., June 22.—The gravity of the situation arising out of the French assertion of territorial rights on the treaty coast is increasing steadily. Commodore G. A. Gifford, commanding the British squadron in Newfoundland waters during the fishing season, conferred yesterday on the subject with the Governor, Sir Hugh McCallum, and the Colonial Cabinet. As a result of the conference strong representations were wired to the Imperial Government, urging vigorous action to maintain the rights of the colony. An answer is expected to-day.

THE ONTARIO BANK.

In another place in this issue is printed the report of the annual meeting of the shareholders of the Ontario Bank, held on Tuesday, June 20th, which must be eminently satisfactory to the shareholders themselves, the management, and the public, to which the excellent showing made gives proof of the abiding character of the era of prosperity that is upon the country. The bank's prosperity is indicated, in the first place, by the expansion of its operations, new branches having been opened at Fort William and at Tweed, and by the fact that a net profit of $103,177.09 is to be recorded; the rest account has been strengthened up to the $110,000 mark, of which the large sum of $25,000 was added the past year. The balance to the credit of profit and loss has increased by nearly $20,000—from $22,243.49 to $40,360.58. The earnings also permitted of the reduction of the bank premises account by $5,000, and the reserve of $5,000 for officers' guarantee fund. The current loans and discounts total $6,372,115; municipal and other debentures, $1,371,132, and call loans, $433,284. Altogether the Ontario Bank closed a most prosperous year on Tuesday, and it is no surprise that the gratification of the shareholders at the luncheon that followed the business meeting, expressed in the hearty honour, of the health of the General Manager, Mr. Charles McGill, indicated the chief element in its cause—excellent management. The local patrons of the bank will join all concerned in the congratulations the occasion calls for, and feel that if all the local managers and staffs give such courteous treatment and satisfactory service to their clients, as that extended by the local manager, Mr. W. D. Parker and his obliging staff no surprise need be felt at the popularity and prosperity of the Ontario Bank.

A CONVERT TO LIBERALISM.

When a Government wins bye-elections and adds to its strength as the Laurier Government has done since 1896, by replacing supporters of the Opposition, it argues well for the efficiency of their administration and the popularity of their progressive and truly national policy. But additional force is given to their claim to public confidence when a member of the Opposition, elected to oppose the Laurier Government, convinced that that Government is doing well for the country and applies a better policy than the party with which he is associated, deliberately transfers his political allegiance. This is the case with J. L. Bethune, M.D., M.P., the representative of Victoria, Nova Scotia. It appears that Dr. Bethune went over to the Government in the vote on the Yukon bill, and has since given the Government an independent and loyal support. Sir Charles Tupper, one of the leaders of the Opposition, and the nominally recognized leader, was indiscreet enough to put up one of his supporters to inquire as to why Dr. Bethune had changed his seat and when the latter gave the reasons, Sir Charles doubtless wished he had "let sleeping dogs lie." Dr. Bethune said:

"I support this administration because I believe the Government is composed of true, honest and manly statesmen, and I shall continue to support them as long as I find them acting as they are. (Cheers.) I believe they will advance the best interests of the Dominion; I think that is their intention, and under these circumstances I do not see anything disgraceful in supporting them. A large majority of the people in my county are pleased that I do support them, as time will show. (Applause.)

Thus it is seen that Dr. Bethune has changed his political allegiance on the highest grounds, that of patriotism—to support an administration that is advancing the interests of the country and not from motives of personal interest, since he has refused the patronage of his constituency. The change of seat of Dr. Bethune is a tremendous straw—like a British Columbia pine—to show the way the political wind blows. In taking this step he has doubtless been influenced by the fact that his constituents, who elected him in 1896 to oppose the Government, by a majority of 172, are changing their opinion and coming to "like the Laurier Government" better than the Opposition. Dr. Bethune declares that "two-thirds or even nine-tenths of the electorate of his riding approved" of the step he had taken. Sir Charles and the Opposition can find no grain of comfort in the situation, whatever hypothesis they adopt to explain Dr. Bethune's "defection," as they call it. If they accuse him of changing seats from a desire to be on the winning side, that's very cold comfort, indeed. If fear of being defeated in Victoria is urged, it argues a change of public opinion in Nova Scotia, Sir Charles Tupper's own province, which deeply darkens the prospects of the Opposition winning in another general election. If Sir Charles cannot keep the "magnetic thrill" in comfortable circulation in his own countryside, how can he expect to win elsewhere? Apart from Dr. Bethune's personal relation to his change of seat, his crossing the gangway has an important political significance—showing how the wave of popular feeling in favour of the Laurier Government is growing in volume, and showing that the disintegrated Opposition is becoming more shaky every day. The Laurier Government is growing stronger because it is the growing time, and because it is worthy of the support of the people. The people desire a good government, and they know a good thing when they see it.

OUR MANITOBA LETTER.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

Seeding in this Province commenced about April 17th, becoming general about one week later. Prospects of a good harvest this year based on the conditions of the soil, led many farmers to sow much stubble land, and plough and sow other lands which otherwise might have been summer fallowed. This, coupled with the fact that we have had much rain and two heavy snow storms during May, has greatly prolonged seeding operations, and the first of June found many farmers with much land to sow. The first week in June wound up "spring" work generally.

The soil being heavy in this country demands much moisture at the start. Never was the land in better condition for crops to get a start than it was this year. All along so far we have had frequent showers, and on one occasion, the first week in June, we had a down pour of rain lasting three days. To-day, June 10th, it is raining lively. All the farmers wear broad smiles, as they are now assured of a fair crop, and if frequent showers continue, they know that they will have a repetition of the 1891 crop, which in most districts averaged about 45 bushels of wheat to the acre. The rainfall so far this year has been greater than that of any year since 1891.

A slight frost fell in the low districts on the night of June 7th, but was so slight that no damage is reported—not even to the small fruit. Concerning fruit, it is generally believed in the east that we must go without or import it. Such is hardly the case. True apples are a failure here, with the exception of crab-apples, which in good years are abundant; but small fruits thrive much better here than they do in a more tropical climate. Gooseberries, strawberries, currants—red, white and black—and raspberries, wild and tame, are found in all parts of the province, and yield large crops. The native berry is the saskatoon, a fruit somewhat resembling the black currant in appearance, but having a sweet taste instead of acid. These berries grow bushes ranging in heighth from a few inches to ten feet. They grow everywhere. Wild cherries and plums do well here, but the climate is too severe for tame varieties.

All these fruits are in blossom now, and promise well. In about two weeks more they will be free from the danger of frost.

The prairie grass this spring has been somewhat slow in picking up, but is fine at present. This grass does not stand grazing like timothy or clover. It takes in the neighbourhood of six acres here to pasture a horse for the season, while I suppose two acres of cultivated grass will pasture a beast. Many farmers are trying Brome grass and all experiments have proved successful.

Ranching, especially in the North-west Territories, is a paying industry. Dressed meat is hard to procure at any price, and local butchers are forced to send 50 and 75 miles for animals, and lucky they are this year if they get them. A poor quality of meat, indeed, is retailed at 15c per pound. Yearlings, stockers, are sold at $15, and good ones higher.

Horses are selling high, good Canadian horses bringing as high as $175, and large broncbos sell at about $100.

I have related certain truths and facts to you, but I must give you the whole truth. Just between you and me, the mosquitoes are as thick as the blades of grass, nearly as large as bees, and as hungry as wolves. It is by no means an uncommon sight in the scrubby districts to see pails of fire—smudges—hung to the end of the pole, and people driving along the road sometimes carrying a road scraper in which they have a smudge. The dip holes and sloughs which dot the prairie are the breeding places of this winged pest, and as we have plenty of such places this year we may expect to battle against mosquitoes for two months yet. Many men wear nets over their faces, but they are close and suffocating. Plenty of mosquitoes means plenty of rain; rain means good crops; good crops mean good times—where is the chance to kick.

The "breaking season" has fairly set in. The ground being damp at present "breaks" easily, and much of the prairie land will be darkened this year. There is one serious drawback—feed is very scarce. Oats are selling at 55c, hay at $15 per ton. Hay is procured in this country from the low lands. If a man has none on his own place, he can procure a permit to cut from Government or C. P. R. lands at 25c per ton for his own use and 50c per ton for barter or sale. There will be plenty of hay this year if it can be cut.

Organization meetings are being held in all districts throughout the Province, and both political parties are vigorously pushing the work preparatory to the next general elections.

The present Liberal Government has strong claims on the support of the western people. During their administration the elevator monopoly has been brought pretty nearly to its proper basis; freight rates have been materially reduced; new lines of railway have been pushed through, or are under construction; immigration has more than doubled. Enthusiastic gatherings greet the Reformers everywhere. I suppose you are aware of the fact that Martin of Winnipeg—if opposed, which is doubtful—is bound to have an easy victory. In about a month's time you will hear from me again, and I trust that I will be able to give you as good a report of things in general, and crops in particular, as conditions justify me in doing this time.

The Souvenir Range

With Aerated Ovens.

In "Souvenir" Stoves and Ranges the Fresh air is taken over the oven doors (see cut) and passes through a circulating-flue underneath a plate which is attached to the top oven plate, thus becoming heated, after which it is discharged into the oven.

The heated fresh air then creates a literal whirlwind in rotating from the top to bottom of oven, carrying all the impure air out of the oven, at the exit provided, and replacing it continually with heated fresh air.

The air being heated before entering the oven, the temperature is not lowered. The vitiated air passes off into the flues' carrying with it all odors and gases given off by the cooking food.

We carry a large stock of "Souvenir" and "Happy Thought" Ranges—the best stoves in Canada.

A Private Postal.

Grafton & Co. are using some very attractive private postal cards to advertise their new summer stock. The address side is printed in red, blue and silver which makes a very striking combination. At the right side appears a helmsman's wheel with the spokes omitted. This space is used for the stamp. At the left hand side appears a large Canadian pennant with seven smaller ones underneath. The wording "private postal card" appears on the large pennant and the letters G.R.A.F.T.O.N. appear on the smaller pennants, one to a flag. Scrollwork bearing the name Grafton & Co. is placed between the large flag and the helmsman's wheel.

During the Summer months, and in sympathy with our clerks, who need an extra hour's recreation, our store will close every evening at 7 o'clock, except Saturdays and evenings before a holiday.—HENRY & CO.

FIVE TRAMPS IN COURT.

They Appeared Before R. S. Davidson J. P. This Morning.

Five hard-looking tramps came up to answer to the charge of vagrancy which was preferred against them at the police court this morning. They gave their names as George White, John Blake, Alex. Garnett, David Stinson and Fred Howey. They were all arrested at a late hour last night.

In the absence of Magistrate Dumble the bench was occupied by R. S. Davidson, J. P.

Garnett is a one-armed man and made a successful appeal to be let off. He claimed he had money upon his person, and that he had a wife and family to keep, and with only one arm to do it with. He was given his freedom. Howey was not so successful in his appeal for liberty, but was given 20 days; Blake received 40, and White 30. Stinson, who claims to come from the township of Ops, was given ten minutes to get out of town.

Work is in progress to-day connecting the Brown memorial fountain in Central Park with the water works mains. The monument has been standing for about 13 years and all that time the mouth of the bronze lion in the eastern panel has been as dry as any as the eye socket in the skull of one of the Pharaohs. It is high time therefore that the fountain was put to use.

WEDDING BELLS.

Nuptials of Miss Lillie F. Stenton and Mr. Fredrick B. Griffin.

At 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon the residence of Mr. George Stenton, 472 Park street, was the scene of a very pretty wedding, when his second daughter, Lillie, was united in marriage to Mr. Frederick Griffin, of town, in the presence of a considerable number of the friends of the contracting parties, Rev. J. G. Potter performing the ceremony.

The parlours were tastefully decorated with pink and white flowers. The bride looked charming in a dress of white Swiss muslin, trimmed with chiffon, valanscienes lace and ribbon, carrying a bouquet of white carnations, and was assisted by her sister, Miss Ada Stenton, who was also attired in white muslin, with lace, chiffon an dribbon trimming, and carried a bouquet of pink roses.

Little Miss Eva Stenton performed the duties of maid of honour, and was dressed in rose pink cashmere, carrying a basket of cut flowers.

The groom was supported by his brother, Mr. James Griffin, while Master Gerald Stenton, nephew of the bride, acted as page, also carrying a basket of cut flowers.

The wedding march was played by Miss Maud Curtis, of Otonabee, cousin of the bride.

Congratulations were extended to the young couple, after which an excellent supper was served to about 50

The presents to the bride were both numerous and costly. Many were received from a distance, among them being a cheque from the groom's uncle, Mr. S. J. Griffin, South Dakota.

The happy couple left on the 5.20 train for the west. Returning Mr. and Mrs. Griffin will take up residence at No. 356 Sherbrooke street.

WHEN WILL THEY "CATCH ON?"

There's Money for Merchants in Many Visitors to the Town.

Several of the excursionists (they were of course ladies) that visited the town yesterday, were seen on George street loaded down with parcels of goods purchased at the local shops. If they had happened to strike the town on a bargain day it would have required a furniture van to get their purchases to the railway station. When will our merchants get a grip of the idea that it would pay them big dividends to organize an association whose business would be to bring excursions to town, and engineer big days to attract big crowds, who would spend big money? Dominion Day is at hand, and there's nothing beyond a picnic, which expects local patronage from town and vicinity, to attract a single visitor to town. Why is it thus, gentlemen of the counter?

Do you require a stimulant? If so, patronize The Spot Cash.

IS IT "SLIM JIM?"

The Hero of the Curtis Cut Battle in the Toils.

Mr. John Montgomery claims that one of the tramps in custody at the police station is the notorious "Slim Jim," the hero of the famous Curtis Cut battle.

It will be remembered that three of the tramps engaged in that sanguinary encounter were caught, two of them being handcuffed together and the third, after being braceletted, was handed over to the care of constable Billy Brien. This latter tramp was the leader of the gang and got away from Brien. Afterwards he is suspected of being one of the gang which had the row with a train crew near Bowmanville, when Col. Sam Hughes brought down two of them with his rifle.

If Mr. Montgomery's identification can be substantiated, the police have evidently made a most important capture.

DEATH OF W. M. GREEN.

PLEASANT PIANO RECITAL.

By the Pupils of the Misses Hurley the Well Known Local Pianistes.

Last evening the Misses Hurley entertained their friends and the parents of about twenty-five or thirty of their pupils at a delightful pianoforte recital at their residence, Hunter street, corner of Stewart. The audience was as large as the capacity of the rooms would permit and that all present were delighted was inevitable from the very creditable reflection the excellent presentation of the programme by the pupils afforded, of the careful training they had received. It is very easy to drill one or two show pupils up to fair executive proficiency but to present a class of say, twenty-five, varying in capacity and application, with a uniform exhibition of good style is, as Kipling might say, another story. The programme represented every grade from the rudimentary to Rossini and Paderewski and the pupils as a rule acquitted themselves with great credit to themselves and their painstaking teachers. Some might be selected for special mention, but as musical jealousy develops very early in life, it would hardly be safe to discriminate. The following is a copy of the programme presented so pleasantly:

Duet (2 pianos) — Rossini — Misses E. Rackham and L. Hurley, M. Bradburn and K. Hurley.
Solo—Old Kentucky Home—Miss Helen O'Brien.
Solo — Vesper Hymn — Miss Alberta Gooding.
Solo—Dream of Youth—Sartorio —Miss Lenore Sanderson.
Duet (2 pianos)—Under the Lindens — Hiller — Misses N. Coughlan and V. Clancy, F. Waller and P. Stanger.
Solo — Minuet — Paderewski — Miss Daisy Tenney.
Solo—Ah che la Morte (Il Trovatore) — Verdi—Miss Louisa Lachsur.
Solo—Rustic Dance—Miss Helen Davidson.
Solo—Tarantelle—Godfrey — Miss Mattie Robertson.
Solo—Kelvin Grove—Miss Minnie Reid.
Duet (2 pianos)—Merry Skater— Zitterbart—Misses M. Frosts and M. O'Shea, S. Pilling and N. Pilling.
Solo—Mazurka—Miss Pearl Lundy.
Solo — The Mill Wheel—Smallwood—Miss Huldah Dobbin.
Solo—On the Heath—Behr — Master T. Leveque.
Solo — Serenade — Chaminade — Miss Katie Graham.
Solo—Only a Faded Flower—Miss Ethel Oliver.
Solo—Lady Betty—Seymour Smith—Miss N. Coughlan.
Solo—Amoretten—Lichner — Miss Mona O'Shea.
Duet (2 pianos)—Goldfish —Goerdeler — Misses P. Lundy and E. Ackerman, H. Sanderson and L. Sanderson.
Solo — Tarantelle — G. Ludovic—Miss Vivian Clancy.
Solo — In the Twilight — Lange —Miss Hazel Sanderson.
Duet—Le Petit Carnival — Streathy — Misses Mary Young and L. Hurley.
Solo—Carnival de Venise — Miss Effie Johnson.
Solo— Wanderer's Song—Behr — Miss Nelly Coughlan.

Variety was given the programme by a recitation, "The Flower Girl," given in character and charmingly represented too, by Miss Alberta Gooding.

The vocal duet by Mrs. T. H. Martin, (soprano) and Miss Lillie Hurley, (contralto)—"The Reign of the Roses" —by Caroline Lowthaine a seasonable tribute by the way to June, was indeed a pleasure to hear. The blending of voices and the expressive treatment of the selection were worthy of the hearty applause with which it was received.

The hearty singing of "God save the Queen" by the pupils brought a pleasant evening to a close and the Misses Hurley were most cordially congratulated by the guests.

LACROSSE.

The Executive of the Lacrosse Club met last evening when the following team was chosen to represent the Peterboroughs against Markham on the P.A.A.A. grounds to-morrow afternoon: Goal, F. Dobbin; point, Horace Lewis; cover point, John Brown; defence, M. McDonough, R. Glover, James McCabe; centre, E. G. Bogart; home field, Lionel King, Jack McCabe, George Lipsett; inside home, Arthur J. McClelland; outside home, A. A. Hollingshead; spare man, Victor McWilliams.

Mr. Joe Begley will act as field captain and it is expected that every member of the team will obey his instructions to the letter.

Peterborough never put a stronger team in the field than will cope with Markham to-morrow. All are fast men in the best condition and one of the greatest games ever played on the P.A.A.A. grounds will be witnessed. Mayor Davis will face the ball at 2.30 p.m.

Don't forget the Junior game against the Hastings team on Monday. The Saniors beat Hastings by 5 goals to 2 and the Juniors are going to do their best to show that they are as fast as the Seniors. The ball in this match will not be faced until half past three or four o'clock.

Bogart is decidedly the best man the Peterboroughs ever played at centre field. He understands how to play the position and strengthens the team greatly.

GOLF.

In the third round for the Culverwell prizes the following draws have been made:

'99 Players.

Mrs. R. S. Davidson vs. Miss L. Dennistoun.

Miss G. Dennistoun a bye.

Club Players.

Miss G. Dennistoun vs. Miss Fair.
Miss Jessie Fairweather vs. Miss L. Hall.

Both rounds to be played off by Saturday noon.

FOOTBALL.

The Y.M.C.A. football club will cease to practice during the hot months. The work of the past season has been very good. Under the able coaching of Capt. McPherson the men have developed wonderfully. They will eagerly await the opening of the fall season, when the citizens of Peterborough will have an opportunity of seeing more of the game. A lot of time was lost in the past season through the lack of knowledge of the game but this difficulty is a thing of the past now and all that will be required in the fall now will be hard practice. It is to be hoped that games will be arranged with Toronto and other strong teams. The fall work will be looked forward to with interest.

THE WHEEL.

Messrs. McPherson & Young, the local agents of the Brantford bicycle, have arranged to have the champion trick rider of the world, give exhibitions here on Thursday, Friday and Saturday. The performance will take place in the window of the George street store, and on George street.

Milburn and Davidson challenge the Canadian General Electric Club to put two riders in a pursuit race against them on the Nicholls Park track any day before June 28th for any suitable prize.

A PRESENTATION

To Mrs. J. G. Potter of Life Membership in the W. F. M. S.

At a meeting of the St. Andrew's church Auxiliary of the Women's Foreign Missionary Society held Tuesday evening Mrs. (Rev.) Potter was the recipient of a pleasant surprise, when the members of the Auxiliary presented her with a certificate of life membership in the Women's Foreign Missionary Society. This life membership was secured on payment of a fee of $25 by the local Auxiliary. The following address, which expresses the relations existing between the Auxiliary and Mrs. Potter, accompanied the certificate:

To Mrs. Potter, Peterborough, Ont.,

Dear Mrs. Potter,—Ever since you came among us as our minister's wife you have won our respect by your gentle manner and kind words, and as we have known you better in connection with our work in the different societies, our hearts have been filled with love and esteem for you. We, the officers and members of the W.F.M.S. of St. Andrew's church, wishing to extend to you an expression of our love in a more substantial manner than by words, take much pleasure in presenting you with this certificate of life membership, and our earnest prayer is that you may be long spared to labour in the Master's vineyard—a work of love to you—and when our labours here are ended we may all meet around the throne of God in Heaven.

Signed on behalf of the W.F.M.S., MRS. ALEX. STEWART, President.

June 20th, 1899.

Mrs. J. D. Tully read the address and Miss Forsythe made the presentation.

Mrs. Potter acknowledged the kind gift and the feelings expressed in suitable remarks.

Mr. Parnham Tells How Dodd's Kidney Pills Cured His Lumbago.

Toronto, June 19.—The story of the escape of the Globe pressman, Mr. Jno. H. Parnham, from the agonies of Lumbago, by using Dodd's Kidney Pills, is unusually interesting.

Mr. Parnham writes to the Dodd's Medicine Co., Limited, thus: "I am proud to testify to the wonderful efficacy of Dodd's Kidney Pills. About eight months ago I was attacked by severe pains in my back. I consulted an eminent physician, who said I had Lumbago, and told me to take Turkish baths. These did me no good.

"A friend advised me to try Dodd's Kidney Pills. I did so, and one box cured me. My back has never troubled me since."

12 ELECTED CHIEFS.

Chosen Unanimously by the Iroquois at St. Regis.

THE INDIANS DISAPPOINTED.

Thought the Election Was Good "for Life," Instead of for "Three Years Only"—There Was No Trouble, But Mr. MacRae, Indian Department, Was Prepared if There Had Been.

Cornwall, Ont., June 22.—Twelve Indian chiefs were elected at St. Regis on Wednesday for a period of three years. The poll was opened at 10 o'clock by Indian Agent George Long, but there was no business transacted until the arrival at 3.30 p.m. of Mr. MacRae of the Indian Department.

When the vote was counted, 137 were in favor of the 12 elected, and none against, but when the poll closed, and the red men found their chiefs were only elected for three years, and that the Government had carried their point, and that they were practically in the same position as before the recent trouble, they were a sadly disappointed and crestfallen lot of Iroquois. They claim they were told they could elect chiefs according to the old custom, viz., for life.

In anticipation of trouble, Mr. MacRae had an armed body of constables at Hogansburg awaiting orders to come on to St. Regis in case hostilities should break out, but fortunately their services were not necessary. Whether or not the arrangements of yesterday are satisfactory to the Iroquois time alone can tell.

THE SAN JOSE SCALE.

The Commission Took Evidence in Niagara on Wednesday—A Claim Made for Canada's Northern Climate.

Niagara, Ont., June 22.—The San Jose scale commission continued its sessions yesterday morning. Among the witnesses examined were Inspector Robert Thompson, St. Catharines; W. H. Lee, Virgil; Inspector Joseph Healey, Niagara; James Robinson, Niagara; Alf. Ball, Niagara, and L. M. Nelles, Niagara.

All the witnesses were against the working of the act. It was claimed that the climatic conditions of Ontario were sufficient in themselves to kill out the scale. Furthermore, if this was not true, yet the scale had progressed so far that even the drastic measures in vogue could not overtake it; for it is to-day not only prevalent in Niagara district, but also all over Ontario, in nearly all fruit orchards. The fruit men here claim that the act was the outcome of urgings from fruit men in St. Catharines and Grimsby districts, who gained by the destruction of the Niagara trees.

It was suggested that a county tax of one mill be placed upon all fruit trees in a district so that an adequate compensation could be given to the owners of destroyed orchards. As it now is, a tree is valued by the inspectors at $2, and the owners get but 50 cents when it is cut down as being infected with the scale. It is claimed that such a tax would be just, because those whose orchards were not decimated would be gaining by the lessening of the limit of supply.

In the afternoon the commissioners, accompanied by Stenographer Yates, drove through Niagara Township and inspected the work of devastation. They were met by many fruit men whose orchards have been shorn. Some had tears in their eyes, so sad were they that the orchards that had taken years to cultivate should be cut down in a day at the behest of the Government. One man said his orchard was worth $7,000 two years ago. It had a mortgage upon it of $3,500. To-day he would willingly give it away to anyone who would assume the incumbrance.

This morning the commissioners go over to Youngstown to see how the scale fares there. To-morrow night they go to St. Catharines, and thence to Grimsby. Next week they will be in Essex and Kent Counties.

Niagara is characterized as being opposed to the act, St. Catharines is divided in opinion, while Grimsby lauds the act to the skies.

Since the commission began its work, the blasing of trees and the hauling of them from the ground has ceased, though the inspecting still goes on. For the time being the act is suspended. It is not generally known, but it is a fact, that had a commission not been appointed, a test case would have been made of the act by the fruit men.

Late last night Joseph Greene, reeve of Niagara Township, was examined. He was satisfied to have the inspection go on, but thought the compensation should be larger. He raised the question of compensation for small fruits that were destroyed under the act. He thought the scale was being kept well in hand.

Discovered by a Woman.

Another great discovery has been made, and that, too, by a lady in this country. "Disease fastened its clutches upon her, and for seven years she withstood its severest tests, but her vital organs were undermined and death seemed imminent. For three months she coughed incessantly, and could not sleep. She finally discovered a way to recovery by purchasing of us a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, and was so much relieved on taking the first dose that she slept all night; and with two bottles has been absolutely cured. Her name is Mrs. Luther Lutz." Thus writes W. C. Hamnick & Co., of Shelby, N. C. Trial bottle free at James Lynch's drug store. Regular size, $1 and 50c. Every bottle guaranteed.

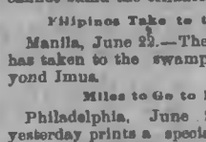
Bouncing the Baby.

A fond mother once asked the witty Charles Lamb "how he liked babies?" The stuttering wit promptly responded: "Boi—boi—boiled, madam!"

Fortunately for the world, most men and women love babies, and the home that is without one is never truly happy. The old bachelors like Lamb are the only men who do not care for babies, and the woman who hopes to make her husband happy without undergoing the ordeal of maternity, hopes in vain. If women only knew, there is no necessity for dreading the pangs of motherhood. If a woman is really healthy in a womanly way, her trial will be insignificant. There is one great remedy that prepares a woman for almost painless child-bearing. It is Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It gives strength, vigor and virility to the special organs that bear the burdens of motherhood. It cures all weakness, inflammation and ulceration. It banishes morning squeamishness and other discomforts. It insures a healthy, bouncing baby. Thousands of once barren homes bless this remedy for the innocent laughter of happy childhood. Honest medicine dealers sell it and will not substitute some inferior preparation. Read what one woman says:



"I was taken sick two years ago and tried almost everything but could get no help," writes Mrs. T. C. Blashfield, of Brimfield, Hampden Co., Mass. "Your 'Favorite Prescription' did me a great deal of good. I was suffering with falling of the womb and could scarcely walk, now I am so much better off that I can walk quite a distance. It was your medicine that helped me. You have my best wishes and thanks, and may God be with you to do all the good for the poor suffering people that you can. If I hear of anybody sick I will recommend them to write to you, and I will tell what you have done for me."

OUTLOOK IN THE PHILIPPINES.

Americans Cannot Stand the Climate—Where Aguinaldo's Strength Lies.

San Francisco, June 22.—Dr. Charles A. McQueston, who was on the staff of General E. S. Otis, and who was health officer at Manila, has returned home, invalided by the climate.

Captain McQueston is of the opinion that it will take from 100,000 to 150,000 soldiers to properly subdue and hold the islands. He also says that the peace commission was an absolute failure, and that its work from the start was without effect. He strongly supports the military government of the islands.

"Unless troops, thousands of them, are sent to the aid of our men there they will be driven back into Manila in the course of the next few months, during the rainy season. The American soldiers simply cannot stand the climate."

DESPERADOES AT AVENING.

A Gang of Four Carried Revolvers and Fought the Constables.

Creemore, Ont., June 21.—Four suspicious-looking characters, armed with revolvers, tried to take possession of the Feltis House at Avening last night. When interfered with they began firing at all parties within range. Chief Turner of Creemore was telephoned for, and left at once for Avening with three assistants. Upon their arrival there they proceeded to arrest the men, but they offered a desperate resistance, and many shots were fired. The constables were successful in arresting two of the men, but the other two escaped, and made for the railway track, firing as they ran, and are still at large. The captured men were brought to the lock-up here, and will appear before Magistrates Hood, Mackie and Kitson this morning.

The CHARM OF BEAUTY

Not in the Features so much as in the Grace and Vitality of a Healthy Body--Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve and Blood Pills make Women Beautiful.

There's a certain charm of beauty in the graceful, elastic movement and clear complexion of a healthy woman in which the features do not play an important part.

The pale, sallow complexion and dull leaden color of the skin, dark circles under the eyes, headaches, pains in the back and sides, dull eyes, weakness, nervousness, despondency and low spirits are symptoms of weak, watery blood and improperly-nourished nerves.

No woman can be beautiful until the blood is enriched and the nerves strengthened. Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Food is a food for the blood and nerves.

Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Food restores the energy and strength to a run-down system. Note your weight before using them, and the increase week by week as the brightness returns to the eyes, the color to the cheeks and the form rounds out with firm, healthy flesh, the natural result of rich, pure blood and a healthy nervous system.

Face cut and facsimile signature of Dr. A. W. Chase on every box of the genuine. 50c. a box, all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

RAILROAD.... KIDNEY

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

Did it ever occur to you that most railroad men die of kidney disease?

Such is the fact, however, and the disease is known among railroaders as "railroad kidney."

The first and most marked symptom is a weak, lame and aching back. You may think at first that you are only tired; but as this trouble increases day by day, kidney disease, with all its terrors, is fast claiming you as a victim.

Mr. Geo. Cummings, for over 20 years engineer on the Grand Trunk running between Toronto and Allandale, says: "The constant duty with my work gave me excessive pains in my back, racking my kidneys. I tried several remedies until I was recommended by my fireman, Mr. Dave Conley, to try Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. Two boxes have completely cured me and I feel to-day a better man than ever. I recommend them to all my friends."

THE WAR ON SAN JOSE SCALE.

First Meeting of the Commission Was Held at Niagara.

Niagara, Ont., June 21.—The San Jose scale commission began its session here at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Dr. James Mills of Guelph was in the chair. Prof. Dearness and W. H. Bunting are his coadjutors. A number of witnesses were examined. There were present: J. H. Benn, W. H. Lee, Major James Hiscott, T. H. Watt, Charles H. Wilson (Youngstown), G. B. Wilson (Virgil), Rev. N. Smith, Alex. Muir, C. A. F. Ball, J. H. Hutchinson, John Freel, William MacFarland, Thomas A. Stuart (Niagara).

J. H. Benn was the spokesman of the party that complained of the Scale Act. He read a prepared statement, claiming that the Government had no right to enter a man's property and destroy his trees. He advocated more compensation than an average of 50 cents a tree. He claimed that the destruction of the trees injured the value of the land. Furthermore, he argued that the "yellows" and "rose leaf," two other pests, were more injurious than the scale. He believed in leaving the matter alone to the care of each fruit grower.

In the evening the other side of the question was taken up. The witnesses testified to the benefit the act was doing, but favored more compensation.

The session goes on to-day.

A ST. THOMAS CASE.

The Entire Population Talking of the Dodd's Kidney Pills Cures.

St. Thomas, June 12.—The great wave has reached St. Thomas. The cures wrought by Dodd's Kidney Pills are numbered by hundreds here, and the entire population, almost, is talking of them.

Michael Holleran, a farmer living near here, told our reporter, "Dodd's Kidney Pills saved me from an untimely grave." He was cured of Diabetes, of an aggravated type by a few boxes, after his doctors had failed to even relieve him. So it goes. Everyone who has used Dodd's Kidney Pills has been cured. Bright's Disease, Diabetes, Paralysis, all diseases of the kidneys and the blood yield to their power. They never fail to cure these ailments.

His Death Instantaneous.

Toronto, June 21.—A horrible accident, in which John Nicholl was electrocuted, occurred yesterday morning about 11 o'clock, near the corner of Conduit street, Toronto Junction, and Dundas street, in the city. The accident was caused by the water sprinkler running off the track at this point and the fatality happened in trying to get it on to the track again. John Gilroy, John Nicholl and J. R. Thompson made a circuit with a big iron lever, and, as the trolley had not been disconnected from the wire, the electric current of full strength passed along the lever held by the three men. Nicholl was in the middle, and never moved again. The other two had their hands burned and were thrown to the ground and stunned by the shock. An inquest will be held. Deceased was 37 years of age, and leaves a wife and family.

Lightning Freaks.

Kingston, Ont., June 21.—Lightning yesterday morning struck the belfry of St. Luke's Church, partly destroying it and a portion of the interior walls. The dwelling of Charles Parks, west of the city, was also struck and set on fire, but the downpour of rain extinguished the flames.

Edward McCabe, a farmer residing a few miles from the city, while walking through his dining room, suffered from an electric shock. He was knocked down and rendered unconscious.

VOTED FEDERATION.

New South Wales at Last Agrees to the Proposition.

THE MAJORITY OVER 21,000.

The Struggle Against Australian Confederation Most Acute in New South Wales—Sydney Voted in Favor—The Result Received in That City With Great Enthusiasm—News by Cable.

Sydney, N.S.W., June 21.—The Australian colonies voted yesterday on the federation question. The struggle was most acute in New South Wales. Incomplete returns in this colony up to the present show 100,084 votes in favor of federation and 78,289 against it.

Sydney Votes for It.

Sydney, N.S.W., June 21.—The referendum on the federation question has resulted in 11,045 votes in favor, as against 10,551 opposed, in the city of Sydney. In the suburbs the voting was 84,488 in favor and 25,048 opposed, and in the country districts the returns, now practically complete, show 65,597 for federation, as against 44,085 opposed. The result has been received here with great enthusiasm, and the federation leaders are applauded and eulogized on all hands.

The Natal Volunteers Ordered to Get Ready for Active Service.

London, June 21.—The Cape Town correspondent of The Daily Mail says: The Natal Volunteers have been officially ordered to hold themselves in readiness for active service.

Vladimir's Frosty Reception.

St. Petersburg, June 21.—Grand Duke Vladimir, who was recently sent to Finland to inspect the troops there, was received unfavorably, even with hostility. Popular irritation in Finland over the Government's scheme to Russianize the province is daily becoming more pronounced.

British Colonies Still in It.

Berlin, June 21.—The committee on the commercial proviso between Germany and England has rejected the Agrarian amendments to the measure. These provided that the English colonies be excepted from the benefits of the provisorium.

How to Get Plump and Rosy.

Nature meant every woman to be plump, rosy and well developed, and if she has become pale, weak and nervous. Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Food will restore and revitalize the wasted nerve cells, make the blood rich and pure and give new vigour and elasticity to thewhole body. For ills peculiar to women there is no remedy so successful as this great food cure of Dr. A. W. Chase. At all dealers.

A Sure Enough Cynic.

A philosophic man, who has been reading protests against certain fashions which threaten to overtake long suffering womankind, says:

"Oh, well, there are too many people in the world anyway. If women clog the pores of their skin with powder, throw their internal organs out of place by wearing high heeled shoes, further complicate matters by lacing and then fall sick and die, there will be more room for the survivors. A good many years ago a faint lemon complexion was fashionable. It could be acquired by copious drafts of vinegar. Much vinegar is unwholesome. What matter? Hundreds of silly girls died of their vinegar potations. Who shall say that their early death was not better than that they should live to hand on their empty headedness to ten times their own number of little fools?"

After all, perhaps the gentleman is not quite calm enough to be called a philosopher.

Taking No Risks.

A Columbia Heights woman, who is exceedingly fond of animals, had an odd experience with one—or two—while waiting at a city railway station for a belated train.

In the seat next to her sat a small dog, who evidently belonged to an elaborately dressed woman in the seat just beyond.

He was a friendly little dog and looked up at the Columbia Heights woman with a wag of his tail, which was an outward and visible sign of a desire to make friends. She leaned down and patted him on the head.

His elaborately dressed mistress immediately reached out and took her precious pet into her lap.

"Pardon me," said she apologetically, "but my dog is not allowed to kiss strangers."

He Fooled The Surgeons.

All doctors told Ranick Hamilton, West Jefferson, Ohio, after suffering 18 months from Rectal Fistula, he would die unless a costly operation was performed; but he cured himself with five boxes of Bucklen's Arnica Salve, the surest pile cure on earth, and the best Salve in the world. 25 cents a box. Solid by James Lynch, druggist.

Cromwell's Vision.

It is said that one day, when Cromwell was but a mere lad, as he was lying on his bed in a melancholy mood, a gigantic specter appeared to him and said, "Thou shalt be the greatest man in England!" Health says it was a dream. Lord Clarendon and Sir Philip Warwick speak of it as a vision. But whether dream or vision it made a profound impression on the youth, so much so that his father requested Dr. Beard—Oliver's schoolmaster—to flog him severely for "persisting in the wickedness of such an assertion." The flogging only deepened the impression. He told his uncle Stuart of the prophecy and was warned that it "was traitorous to relate it." But when he had seated himself upon the throne of England he frequently spoke of the occurrence and was fully persuaded in his own mind of its prophetic and supernatural character. —Amelia Barr in Harper's Magazine For April.

They Will Raise a Million.

Hamilton, June 21. — The General Assembly decided yesterday to celebrate the end of the century by raising $1,000,000. The report of the committee appointed to consider the century fund project was in favor of it, and the report was adopted. A large and influential committee was appointed to superintend the raising of the fund.

Rev. Dr. Campbell was appointed agent of the century fund and he accepted, promising to give the position his best efforts. The salary will be $9,000 or $2,500 a year.

Gloom was cast over clerical circles last night when it was learned that one of the representatives to the Synod of the Diocese of Toronto, Rev. H. B. After returning from a walk to the residence of Mr. Harry Hutchinson, 317 Sherbourne street, he suddenly fell and expired. The deceased clergyman formerly resided in Markham, and a few years ago removed to Unionville.

A NEW INVENTION!

The Newcombe Piano Has It.

It consists of a Patented Practice CLAVIER or STOP which diminishes the tone when required and saves wear on the Piano; it also does away with the old way of having to press down the pedal with the foot in order to soften the tone when running the scales or practicing. Oftentimes the young pupil on the piano cannot press down on the pedal without throwing themselves out of the proper position when they should sit erect. This invention in the NEWCOMBE PIANO will enable children to begin two years earlier on the piano. In addition to the above, the NEWCOMBE PIANO is the finest made in Canada. Children often complain about practicing; they like it if they have a NEWCOMBE PIANO. 1898 styles are gems of art, containing every late improvement; they possess that beautiful full sweet tone which lights the singer, and so pleases every musical ear. Organs of every description at Wholesale Prices.

Big Bargains now on hand in slightly used. Upright and Square Pianos of the various makes taken in part exchange for the famous NEWCOMBE PIANOS. Every NEWCOMBE PIANO has a new registered scale and the warranty is cast in the plate. The following new pastors were then introduced: Revs. J. Bastow, T. H. Cornish, C. M. Carew, A. L. Hoddeston, C. J. Bridgeman and J. E. Moyle.

Instead of reading the details of the church letters, the clerk presented a digest, giving an outline of the work done, and money raised, after which Rev. Mr. Cowsert and Rev. Mr. Carew read the manuscript letters.

The annual sermon was preached by Rev. Mr. Watson from II Cor.

Reports were then received from the secretaries of the Home and Foreign Missions, the Grande Ligne, Manitoba and Educational Funds, and the following report was adopted after which, on motion of Rev. Mr. Watson and Mr. Bradley the report was closed.

The matter of [illegible] was referred to the Committee on Resolutions.

This concluded the afternoon's session's work.

The Evening Session.

The evening session opened at 8 o'clock, and the building was crowded to the doors.

Prof. John Russell of Woodstock College, delivered a very able and interesting address on Educational Institutions. Prof. Russell is an old Township of Cavan boy, and although he is yet quite young, has succeeded in winning his way to a prominent position in the educational institutions in connection with the Baptist Church. He claimed that it was hardly necessary for him to dwell on the necessity of education, as everyone was of one mind in that regard. Not only should our pastors be educated, but everyone connected with the church. Nor should he be asked to preach on ministerial education, as it was only too apparent to all that this was a necessity. What the speaker desired to touch on was the work of the Woodstock College in particular, and he wished to urge upon them the necessity of assisting as far as in their power that institution. Prof. Russell dwelt at some length upon the advantages of this educational institution, which he considered one of the best places to be found for a young man to obtain an education. It was much superior to the ordinary High School, inasmuch as it included religious training in addition to all the usual scientific subjects. While our High Schools contain all the necessary training, as far as the State is concerned, still he considered that Woodstock College was superior to those in regard to a fundamental education for one intending to enter a ministerial life. The speaker also touched on several other educational institutions in connection with the Baptist Church, among them being Moulton College for ladies. He closed by advising all those who who wanted a good moral and technical education to consider the advantages offered by such an institution as the Woodstock College.

The Moderator then extended the hand of fellowship to Rev. W. Peer and Mr. Welch, representing the new Havelock church. In doing so the Moderator expressed the hope that the new church which would be the birth place of many souls, and the congregation the means of doing much good in the Master's vineyard.

"Help and Hindrances to the Spiritual Life of the Church" was the subject which Rev. J. Bastow took, and on which he delivered a very able address. The hindrances were many, the speaker claimed, both inside and outside of our churches, and which arise from ignorance of our responsibilities, as well as from various other causes. The greatest hindrances come from the invisible world. Not one particle of what God promised would not be fulfilled, therefore he encouraged his heart by this magnificent outlook. The speaker claimed that during his long career in the ministry he had been particularly fortunate in settling churches over little differences of opinion and troubles, which gave him an opportunity of [illegible] to set aside the hindrances of a church is to consider what should be of each church. Making disciples is the greatest task set to any church, but, perhaps, more particularly to the Baptist church. There were many churches in the states that do not pretend to aim at the conversion of the people, and some years ago in the great cathedrals of London there were not as many converted to Christ as there was in Mr. Spurgeon's church alone. There is now, he considered, too much artistic music and too much eloquent preaching, with too little time spent on the real conversion of souls. We should be alarmed if weeks and months passed without conversions, and we should set ourselves about to accomplish this task.

When the converts are taken into the church we should seek to develop the Christian character of the church members. It may be a slow and tedious process, but we must be patient and persistent. It is desirable that all members should cultivate the capacity of not only bringing members into the church, but also cultivate the Christian characters. The spirituality of the church will be promoted by encouraging the individuall brotherly love of the members. The spirit of jealousy and hatred would disappear with this spiritual love. There must be work, and there is work, for every member of the church, and yet there is a great difficulty in getting the members to realize this. There should be energy put into prayer, into the business affairs, and into the missions. There also needs to be development in benevolence.

No one could be God-like without giving. It was difficult indeed to get people to comprehend that God has a claim on a certain proportion of our incomes. It becomes the duty of every minister to preach boldly and honestly on the principle of giving in aid of the church. It is hardly necessary for him to say anything in regard to recognition of the holy spirit's presence as that was only too evident. The preacher closed by asking them to be steadfast and earnest in work of the Lord and they would be ably rewarded.

Dr. Weldon, one of the professors of McMaster University, delivered a very interesting address on ministerial education. After making a few preliminary remarks in which he appealed to the Baptists for money for the ministerial aid fund, the speaker gave a very enthusiastic account of the manner in which this money was spent, and the manner in which ministerial students are alloted their work. When Senator McMaster endowed the university which bears his name, he provided for the professors' salaries and superintendents' but did not make any provision for the maintenance of ministerial students, and the speaker claimed he in doing this, as it made the churches take an interest in this line of work, which perhaps they otherwise would not have. Regarding McMaster as a whole he need not speak as the recent reports at the general convention made that matter clear to everyone. The principal object of McMaster was that it should be Christian. Where, the speaker asked, was there a college that took one day each month entirely for the students and professors to come together and pray and discuss missionary matters. More time is given to the study of the English Bible in McMaster than any other college on the continent. No matter what course a student may choose to take, he is compelled to take a two years course in the Old and New Testament. The ideal of McMaster University was in trying to train up young men to master all the questions and difficulties which he may have to contend with, and they were making great progress in this line. He urged upon the parents the necessity of sending their children to such institutions as Woodstock and Moulton colleges. He closed by making an urgent appeal for contributions to the ministerial funds.

The session was closed by singing the doxology.

WALDECK - ROUSSEAU

Manages to Form a Government for La Belle France.

REVISIONIST WAR MINISTER.

The Dreyfus Case Has Revolutionized Affairs in France With a Vengeance—A Fact to Wonder at in Gallifet's Appointment — Career of the New Republican Premier.

Paris, June 23.—Yesterday afternoon the announcement was made that Senator Waldeck-Rousseau had completed the formation of a Cabinet. The Senator, accompanied by the new Cabinet Ministers, proceeded to the Elysee Palace at 6.40 p.m. to present his colleagues to President Loubet.

M. WALDECK-ROUSSEAU.

The new Cabinet of France, as organized, is as follows:

Senator Waldeck-Rousseau, President of the Council of Ministers and Minister of the Interior.

M. Delcasse, Minister of Foreign Affairs.

General the Marquis de Gallifet, Minister of War.

M. de Lanessan, Minister of Marine.

M. Monis, Minister of Justice.

M. Caillaux, Minister of Finance.

M. Millerand, Minister of Commerce.

M. Leygues, Minister of Public Instruction.

M. de Crais, Minister of the Colonies

M. Jean Dupuy, Minister of Agriculture.

M. Pierre Bandin, Minister of Public Works.

The appointment of General the Marquis de Gallifet as Minister of War is an extraordinary example of the way in which the Dreyfus case has revolutionized political conditions. For years past the General has been the bugaboo of the extremists, not only because of his monarchical sympathies, but on account of the rigorous manner in which he took part in repressing the Commune. His entry into the Cabinet is undoubtedly due to his attitude towards the Dreyfus case, which has been thoroughly favorable to Dreyfus, although he holds that the proclamation of the prisoner's innocence should not include placing the responsibility of the apparent judicial blunders upon the general staff. Senator Waldeck-Rousseau entered Parliament from Rennes, where he once practiced law.

M. Waldeck-Rousseau was born at Nantes, Dec. 2, 1846. After practicing law at Rennes he became a member of the Paris bar. He was elected to the Chamber of Deputies in 1879 and was Minister of the Interior in the Gambetta Cabinet, 1881-82, and in the Ferry Cabinet, 1883-85. He was re-elected in 1885, retired from politics in 1889 and was elected Senator in 1894. In politics he is a Republican and a revisionist.

BOERS PREPARING TO FIGHT.

Transvaal Government Will Make a Stubborn Fight.

London, June 23.—The Daily Mail yesterday morning says an extremely brisk business is being done at Lloyd's in war risks at daily advancing rates.

The Kolnische Zeitung of Berlin publishes a despatch from The Hague asserting that Dutch official circles are aware that the Transvaal Government is preparing to make a most stubborn defence in the event of war with Great Britain, and is arming in the most complete fashion. According to this information, Pretoria has just ordered 25 quick-fire and several heavy-calibre guns for fort artillery from the Kruppa.

Kruger Kneels a Little.

Pretoria, June 23.—In accordance with the promise made by President Kruger to Sir Alfred Milner, British high commissioner for South Africa, at the recent conference in Bloemfontein, capital of the Orange Free State, the Transvaal Executive has finally decided to increase the representation of the gold fields in the Volksraad. The Government will probably give six members, instead of two, the present representation.

WAR MISSILES.

The Hague Conference Considers the Projectile Question, and Prohibits Entirely the Use of Explosive Bullets.

The Hague, June 23.—After short sessions of the sub-committee of war and navy of the peace conference, at which reports by Major-General Den Beer Poortugael of the Dutch delegation and Count Soltyk, the Austrian naval expert, were respectively adopted, the first committee met to discuss the same in the above order. The delegates declared in favor of any state using any new explosives or new inventions for ordnance, Russia and Bulgaria alone refraining from voting.

The question of dumdum bullets was discussed by Major-General Sir John Ardagh of the British delegation, who declared that Great Britain did not desire to use any projectiles inconsistent with the principles of modern war, and that dumdums should only be used against an uncivilized foe.

Explosive Bullets Prohibited.

The convention finally resolved in favor of prohibiting the use of bullets which easily flatten out in the human body, such as explosive bullets, bullets in a hardened case, which does not entirely cover the point, or bullets with an incision. The British and American delegates alone voted in the negative.

The use of any new explosives in projectiles from balloons was prohibited for five years.

The question of restraining the introduction of new types of rifles was deferred.

Count Soltyk's report was then taken up. It declared that the sub-committee, though unable to agree regarding the proposed abolition of naval rams, submarine boats and the use of explosives, had declared against the use of asphyxiating gases, which the first committee also approved.

DEWEY IN CEYLON.

A Hearty Welcome Tendered the Admiral by British Residents in Colombo—Half a Ton of Tea for His Sailors.

Colombo, Ceylon, June 23.—The United States cruiser Olympia, with Admiral Dewey on board, arrived here at 6 a.m. yesterday from Singapore, saluted the forts ashore, and was saluted by the latter in return.

An aide-de-camp, representing the Governor of Ceylon, Right Hon. Sir Joseph West Ridgeway, boarded the Olympia at 7 in the morning, in order to welcome Admiral Dewey, and Col. Savage, commanding the troops, called at 10 o'clock.

The visits were returned by Admiral Dewey at 11 o'clock.

Afterwards he received a deputation representing the Planters' Association and the Chamber of Commerce, and was presented with a silver casket and an address as a memento of his visit. The presentation of the casket was made on board the Olympia, instead of in the Council Chamber, because the Admiral's doctor had forbidden him to participate in any official function. The delegates also presented a thousand pounds of tea to the crew of the Olympia.

The Admiral, replying to the address of welcome, said he wished he could reply in adequate terms, reciprocating the sentiments expressed. But, he added, he spoke from his heart when he said he deeply appreciated the welcome.

Continuing, Admiral Dewey remarked: "That cheer raised on the jetty when I landed went to the hearts of all of us. We are 14,000 miles from home, but that cheer will be heard in America, although the way in which it has touched me I shall never be able to fully express. The two nations were never so closely allied by mutual sympathy and appreciation as now. The American people realized this during the late war, and you can imagine how all those who were at Manila and met Sir Edward Chichester (commander of the British first-class cruiser Immortalite) and his gallant comrades, hold that feeling very deeply."

The Admiral will remain in Ceylon about a week. He says he had a good voyage from Singapore, and that his health is fairly good.

FIRE BUGS AT KINGSVILLE.

Third Incendiary Attempt to Burn the Town in Three Weeks.

Kingsville, June 23.—At 1 o'clock yesterday morning a dastardly attempt was made by incendiaries to destroy the business portion of the town. The fire was started with the aid of pine boxes at the rear of Dr. Andrew Wigle's and Alex. Burns' business places, which are the only two wooden buildings on the street and in the centre of the block. For the second time this week, by hard work, the fire department saved the town. The only damage done was the scorching of the rear of three stores and the total destruction of an outbuilding containing 50 tons of ice.

The Town Council will offer $1,000 reward for the conviction of the perpetrators. This makes the third incendiary fire in the last four weeks.

A Runaway That Caused Death.

Dunnville, June 23.—A runaway took place in Wainfleet on Wednesday, which has since resulted fatally. Mrs. Jane Priestman, widow of the late John Priestman of that township, with her son Thomas, his wife and two children, went to Dunnville on that day. On returning home they drove through a field, after which Mr. Priestman got out to open a gate to the lane. The horses took fright and whirled around and made off across the field, going against a fence or another gate, and all the occupants were thrown out with violence. Mrs. Jane Priestman, who was a large, heavy woman, received such severe internal injuries and shock that she died from the effects. Mrs. Priestman, jr., is suffering from a broken wrist.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Sir,—As you have truly stated in a recent issue, "The press is looked to for assistance in promoting every movement likely to benefit society." I therefore ask space for a few words respecting the strange doctrines and teachers of the same to which so much attention is being drawn at present. I have been pondering much over that statement of Veritas that the Christian Alliance teaches the pure unadulterated gospel. How many in our town know just what they do teach.. Therefore as many have not an opportunity to read or hear for themselves what the fourfold gospel of the Alliance really is, allow me to quote a few items from a work entitled "How to receive Divine Healing" by Rev. A. B. Simpson, their founder, who says: "It is an awfully sacred thing to have the very blood of Christ flowing in your veins and it would be an awful thing to defile it by contact with the world." No wonder they walk our streets, as a peculiar and holy people, and think themselves above associating with their nearest and dearest friends, who have not attained to a like state. (Here I think we have the true cause of the divisions in families.) Again Mr. Simpson quotes, "For we are members of His body, of His flesh, and of His bones," and says the bones of Christ are for your weak bones. Have you weak knees and limbs? Well, if you cannot stand upon your own bones, you can stand upon the bones of Christ. And in seeking healing, he says, "You must not expect any physical sensation or consciousness of healing, but are to reckon the work done, and go forth boldly, ignoring all symptoms, and proclaiming the work done, in spite of all evidence to the contrary." And Dr. Henry Wilson who is co-pastor with Rev. A. B. Simpson, in speaking of his own healing, also quotes the foregoing passage and says, "My physical being here on this earth, has coursing through it the very life blood that is coursing through the veins of my Saviour in Heaven, my tissue of veins and arteries, sinews and tendons, nay every atom of my flesh is instinct with the very same life, that makes and keeps Jesus a perfect man, entirely whole in body as well as soul." I must be brief so will only state that I have for some time been concerned that the matter of which the Alliance people speak so lightly, namely taking Christ for the body is not the simple matter that many think it, but trusting the Lord for healing. I believe it to belong to a system every bit as pernicious as the teachings of Mrs. Eddy, and even more inasmuch as it is worked in and mixed up with the pure unadulterated gospel.

CITIZEN.

KEENE.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

The Keene contingent of the Farmers Picnic was indeed very small. This perhaps was due to the fact that it was not a "Farmers' Picnic" at all, but just an ordinary picnic.

Will McCauley is progressing very favourably. He is expected to be out in a few days.

Mr. Fair, Mr. C. Bell's successor at the G.T.R. station assumed duties on Thursday last.

The old folks held their annual outing on Wednesday by a trip to Peterborough per steamer, North Star.

It might here be remarked that some people, excursion bound, seem to consider 8 and 9 o'clock is identical. These would do well to consult the face of some good fashioned clock and see that these numbers are marked entirely different to indicate different time. Anyone who keeps another waiting is imposing on the other's time to which he or she has no right. Those who attend the Forester's will know what this means.

Mrs. Ed Dorris is spending a few weeks with her daughters in Albion, N.Y.

The Public School annual picnic last Saturday was in every way particularly satisfactory. The day was an ideal picnic day. "The Mounds" kindly given to the children for the day by Mr. P. Quinn were very beautiful. Both dinner and tea were partaken of and a long list of sports were enjoyed by the children. A great many sailed to the Point and all had the privilege of an unlimited amount of sailing. The pupils wish to thank Mr. Quinn for the point and for the many courtesies shown through the day. They also wish to thank all those who contributed so liberally towards the prize list. The following is a list of the winners:

Girls.

100 yards—Molly Baker, set of buttons; Aggie Campbell, handkerchief.

Handicap—Ettie Edwards, knife; Molly Baker, scissors.

Partners' race—Molly and Bessie Baker, perfume.

Pebble race—Gertie Roach, perfume; Bessie Reid, set of pins; Molly Baker,, prize by Rev. Bushel.

V and III class vs. IV class, V class won by 9 runs.

Boys.

100 yards—James Baker, race game.

Sack race—Gordon Laing, Willie Dickson, jacknifes.

Three legged—Clayton Handbridge, Gordon Laing, purses.

High jump—Gordon Laing, J. Baker, pictures.

Long jump—Clayton Handbridge, watchcase.

Boot and shoe race—Stanley Braden, knife.

Wheelbarrow race—Clayton Handbridge, Gordon Laing, pictures.

Pebble race—Gordon Laing, dominoes; Richard Ernhirst, bank.

Handicap race—Jas. Baker, watch chain.

Mr. McCamus entertained a whole host of young folks in his pretty sailing yacht.

Dr. Shaw took several fine views during the day.

THE GREAT SHOW.

The famous Adam Forepaugh-Sells Brothers' Circus Consolidation, with all its vast and variegated arenic, zoologic and hippodromatic attractions will hold high revel in Peterborough on Saturday, June 24th. The show will be presented here in the same elaborate style that characterized its recent exploitation in New York, Brooklyn and Philadelphia.

The great combine comes here intact—every feat and feature as seen at Madison Square Garden will be shown in this town. The stupendous character of the enterprise is made manifest by the fact that it requires 74 cars of extra length—built especially for Forepaugh and Sells by the Pennsylvania Railroad Company—to transfer the show property. The four largest locomotives ever turned out at the Baldwin factory, Philadelphia, are employed as motive power. One-third more ground is required for the tents than is used by the Barnum-Bailey show. The leading papers of New York, Brooklyn and Philadelphia are enthusiastic in their praise of its novel, numerous and remarkable features. The Philladelphia "Press" in the course of a long and elaborate reviewing notice, said:

"Fifteen thousand people cheered as they never did before at the Forepaugh-Sells Show last night. The great white amphitheatre was packed to suffocation, and still a crowd besieged the ticket wagon, which the police ordered closed at a quarter to 8, so fearful were they that a panic might occur. The surpassing merit of the great combine was fully known here, and all Philadelphia was anxious to pay homage to a management that has created such a stir throughout the country. Those who were fortunate enough to gain admission were abundantly rewarded. Blase showgoers were dumfounded to find that it is still possible to present entirely new and thrilling circus acts. The three rings and huge stage blazed with marvellous and perilous feats during the circus proper, and the races and revels of ancient Rome wrought the people up to a delirium of excitement. Forepaugh and Sells Brothers have scored an unmistakable success here. Never before has a circus establishment given such thorough satisfaction in Philadelphia, and for the first time has one religiously filled its pledges."

ENNISMORE PICNIC STILL IN THE FRONT.

THE ANNUAL EVENT AT TARA GROVE ON TUESDAY.

Speeches by Prominent Men—Amusement for Young and Old—Excellent Concert in the Evening.

The great Ennismore picnic under the auspices of St. Martin's church, for the year 1899, is a thing of the past. At Tara Grove on Wednesday of this week the annual event was held—while it may not have been up to former years in point of attendance, the day was all that could have been desired. The arrangements were most complete and every one present had a jolly good time.

The affair opened in the morning, when the people from all parts of the parish commenced to assemble and by noon the beautiful grounds presented a lively appearance. All kinds of amusements had been prepared for young and old and were readily taken advantage of.

Immediately after dinner the speaking commenced, and as usual on such occasions it was of a very brief nature.

On the platform were Rev. Father Bretherton, Rev. Father FFitzgerald and Messrs. J. B. McWilliams, James Stevenson, George Elliott and Daniel O'Connell.

The chair was occupied by Rev. Father McColl, who extended a hearty welcome to those present, whilst the other speakers did not occupy the attention of the picnicers with any lengthy remarks, but merely expressed their pleasure at being present.

A letter was received by Rev. Father McColl from Mr. J. R. Stratton, M. P. P.., regretting his inability to be present on account of illness, and enclosing a donation towards the funds of the picnic.

Mr. McWilliams touched on the Mud Lake bridge matter and gave much credit to Mr. John Lang, M. P., for the appropriation which had been received from the Dominion Government towards its being re-built. He claimed that it remained with the county to do the rest.

Throughout the afternoon excellent music was furnished for dancing, and the LaBelle Bros. performed some daring slack wire acts.

The following events were run of:

Standing jump—W E Purdue, J Sullivan.

Running long jump—T Hickson, G Gatty.

Hop, step and jump—T Hickson, E Kelly.

Vaulting with pole—W E Purdue, M O'Donoghue.

Putting heavy weight—T Hickson, D Kennedy.

Men's race—G Dotty, M Kelly.

Boys' race, under 15 years—R Davis, J Dolan.

Tea was served about 5 o'clock, after which the dancing was continued until dark.

The committee under whose auspices arrangements were caried out was composed of Messrs. Paul Costello, Wm. Crough, Cornelius O'Connor, P. Crough, John Scollard, Stephen O'Reilly, John Flood and Richard O'Killen.

In the evening a grand concert was given by the children, and which reflected much credit on all concerned.

The chair was occupied by Rev. Father Bretherton, who opened the entertainment in a few appropriate remarks.

The programme was as follows:

The orchestra was composed of Mr. Galvin, banjo; Mr. T. Hickson, mandolin; M. O'Donoghue, violin; Miss K. Scollard, violin; Mrs. Cadigan, autoharp; T. Guiry, accompanist. It rendered excellent music which was much enjoyed by every person.

The children's choir under the direction of Miss McKanna, was composed of Miss Agnes, Lottie, Etta, and Nora Scollard, Maggie Young, Ida Galvin, Lottie, Celia, and Mary Crough, Gertie Moher, Jeito Galvin, Kate and Mary Costello, Lizzie Sullivan, Nellie and Lottie O'Connor, M. Celia Leonard, Celia Guiry, Mary O'Donoughue, Mamie Gannon and Mary Brick and Willie Bell, Ernest Stafford, Ed. Crough, Willie Moher and P. Cadigan.

On the grounds during the afternoon the occasion was taken advantage of by several firms to advertise, and this was done by Grafton & Co., of town in excellent style. Mr. C. Turner was the representative of the firm and distributed all sorts of bargain day literature.

Altogether the event was a most successful one and Father McColl and his energetic committee are to be congratulated on the able manner in which the arrangements were carried out.

A TACTICAL MISTAKE.

The Sending Home of American Volunteers Makes Filipinos Believe War Is Being Abandoned.

Manila, June 23.—The rebels have learned that the American volunteers are returning to the United States, and the Filipino newspapers show they construe this to mean that the Americans are abandoning the war and are encouraged thereby.

The outposts of the Washington Regiment yesterday captured General Pio del Pilar's brass band of 52 pieces, the members of which somehow became separated from the rebel army and came near the American lines without having the means of resistance. Some Chinamen of Manila have filed a claim against the instruments, which, it appears, were leased by the musicians of General Pio del Pilar.

Four of the wounded of the 4th Regiment's recent fight with the rebels have died in the hospital.

THE OLD WAY

Of Treating Dyspepsia and Indigestion by Dieting a Dangerous and Useless One.

We say the old way, but really it is a very common one at the present time, and many dyspeptics and physicians as well consider the first step to take in attempting to cure indigestion is to diet, either by selecting certain foods and rejecting others, or to greatly diminish the quantity usually taken—in other words the starvation plan is supposed by many to be the first essential.

The almost certain failure of the starvation cure has been proven time and again, but still the moment dyspepsia made its appearance a course of dieting is at once advised.

All this is radically wrong. It is foolish and unscientific to recommend dieting to a man suffering from dyspepsia, because indigestion itself starves every organ, every nerve and every fibre in the body.

What the dyspeptic wants is abundant nutrition, which means plenty of good, wholesome, well-cooked food, and something to assist the weak stomach to digest it. This is exactly the purpose for which Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are adapted, and this is the method by which they cure the worst cases of dyspepsia, in other words, the patient eats plenty of wholesome food, and Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets digests it for him. In this way the system is nourished, and the over-worked stomach rested, because the Tablets will digest the food, whether the stomach works or not. One of these tablets will digest 3,000 grains of meat or egg.

Your druggist will tell you that Stuart's Tablets are the purest and safest remedy for stomach troubles, and every trial makes one more friend for this excellent preparation. Sold for 50 cents for full sized package at all drug stores.

A little book on cause and cure of stomach diseases mailed free by addressing F. A. Stuart Co., Marshall, Mich.

INDIAN ESTIMATES.

House Passes the Items After a Brief Discussion.

THE LOG EXPORT QUESTION.

The Lumber Question and Export Duties Referred to the Anglo-American Commission, and Sir Henri Joly Points Out the Inopportuneness of the Discussion—The All-Night Session.

Ottawa, June 23.—Wednesday's session of the House did not adjourn until 6.35 a.m. yesterday, but when the Commons met again at 3 p.m. members were rather better disposed for work, and no time was lost in getting into supply. The estimates for the Indian Department were taken up, and in order that there may be no delay in paying the annuities of the first of July the items were passed after brief discussion. Incidentally the question of preventing the exportation of logs from Indian reserves was introduced by Mr. Bennett, it being pointed out that the practice gave opportunity for smuggling.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier, in reply to Sir Hibbert Tupper, stated that the question of bringing in this session a bill dealing with Chinese immigration is now engaging the attention of the Government.

Thursday's Session.

The Speaker took the chair again at 3 o'clock p.m. yesterday, when a couple of questions were answered, and the House at once went into committee of supply, taking up the supplementary estimates for 1899-1900. A small vote for the geological survey was passed, and then some votes for the Department of Indian Affairs were taken up and discussed at some length.

Mr. Bennett brought up the question of an export duty on logs, and argued that the Government should at least place an embargo on the export of logs cut on Indian reserves.

Sir Henri Joly, without entering into the merits of the case at all, merely urged that as the lumber question and export duties were amongst the matters referred to the consideration of the Anglo-American conference it would be very inopportune to discuss export duties on lumber at the present time.

Dr. Sproule deprecated procrastination in dealing with the question of export duties, and could not see that any good end could be attained by a "waiting policy." He regarded the plea that immediate action might interfere with the proceedings of the Anglo-American conference as a mere subterfuge, and urged the Government to lose no more time, but to deal with the question at once.

Mr. Ives was opposed to dealing with the question at present, and thought its consideration should be delayed until after the Anglo-American conference had concluded its labors. The Ontario law he considered both illegal and illogical, and it ought to have been disallowed when it was passed by the Local Legislature.

After some further discussion, the items in the supplementaries for the Indian Department were passed.

At the request of Mr. Sifton, the supplementaries were then dropped for a while, and the Indian Department votes in the main estimates taken up. Mr. Sifton explained that some of these votes were urgently needed.

A general discussion of the Indian and his development followed, which was participated in by several members on both sides of the House, in course of which Mr. Sifton showed an amount of familiarity with his subject such as is seldom displayed by a Minister.

Mr. Foster said that in view of the fact that very large sums were annually spent in maintaining the Indian industrial schools, he would be pleased if the Minister would fix a day some time for a general discussion of the question of what progress had been made by the Indians, and what became of these Indian children after they left the schools. He would like to know whether they became absorbed in the population, or if they resorted to their nomadic habits.

Mr. Sifton said he would have all the information he could get on the subject prepared for the benefit of the House, and would be happy to adopt Mr. Foster's suggestion of having this whole question discussed.

The Stationery Supply.

On the vote for legislation in the supplementaries some discussion took place about the quality of stationery supplied, as compared with that supplied to the Senate, in the course of which Mr. Foster remarked that the Senate would always have better stationery than the Commons, because they had a smaller number to supply, and a larger vote proportionately than the Commons, and he did not think there was any necessity for either decreasing the vote of the Senate, or increasing that of the Commons.

The Speaker made his promised explanation about the purchase of stationery for the Commons. He said that he had only followed the established practice in purchasing the stationery himself, instead of allowing the printing committee to purchase it. He had thought it best to give Canadian industries a show, and had bought part of the supplies from a Toronto firm, but their had been so many complaints about the quality of the paper that for next year he had placed the order in Scotland, as had been the custom for many years.

Four Children Drowned.

Charlottetown, P.E.I., June 23.—Summerside was the scene of a tragedy which carried sorrow and weeping into three homes and involved the loss of four lives. The victims were four little girls, the eldest 11 years of age, the youngest 6 years, who were drowned within sight of their homes. There were five in the party, which had gone clam digging, the names of the little ones being Bell May Fraser, Laura, Aggie and Janie Gallant, and Daisy Perry. The girls had wandered along the sand bars about the shore for several hours and before they noticed it the tide came in and surrounded them. They immediately started to wade ashore, but only one, Aggie Gallant, succeeded in reaching a place of safety.

The Souvenir Range

With Aerated Ovens.

In "Souvenir" Stoves and Ranges the Fresh air is taken over the oven doors (see cut) and passes through a circulating-flue underneath a plate which is attached to the top oven plate, thus becoming heated, after which it is discharged into the oven.

The heated fresh air then creates a literal whirlwind in rotating from the top to bottom of oven, carrying all the impure air out of the oven, at the exit provided, and replacing it continually with heated fresh air.

The air being heated before entering the oven, the temperature is not lowered. The vitiated air passes off into the flues' carrying with it all odors and gases given off by the cooking food.

Rich Pick-up in Campbellford.

On Thursday evening Mr. H. LeBrun returned from Campbellford, where he has been engaged in completing the purchase of Mr. W. W. Tyrrell's splendid stock of ready-made clothing. Mr. Tyrrell has been Campbellford's most successful clothing merchant for the past six years, but has lately decided to move west. He made a private offer to sell out to Mr. LeBrun, whose firm is rapidly pushing its Campbellford branch to the front. Mr. LeBrun closed out the deal and took the whole stock at 62 1-2 cents on the dollar—a price much below the wholesale figures. Peterborough as well as Campbellford is to enjoy the benefit of these [illegible] bargains, as the sale is now in progress at the City Clothing store, George street. The store is right up to the season, well worth a hundred cents on the dollar, and as "[illegible] is money." These bargains have the right of way, and will be continued through all August sales. JUDGMENT DELIVERED IN QUEEN vs. NUGENT.

THE CASE DISMISSED WITHOUT COSTS.

Little Attention Paid to the Evidence of Detective McPherson—Authorities Quoted.

Magistrate Dumble this morning delivered his judgment in writing in the case of Queen vs. Nugent, which came up for hearing at the police court on Tuesday morning. As will be seen by the judgment the magistrate has dismissed the case without costs. The charge was laid against Mr. John Nugent by Criminal Dectective McPherson, for practicing medicine for gain contrary to the provisions of the Ontario Medical Act, R.S.O., 1897, he not being a registered practioner.

Judgment was given by Magistrate Dumble as appended:

The information in this case charges that John Nugent not being a person registered pursuant to the provisions of the Ontario Medical Act, R.S.O., 1897, Ch. 176 within the space of one year last past, to wit, in or about the 17th day of June, 1899, did for hire and gain and hope of reward practice and profess to practise medicine by prescribing and attending on James McPherson and others, and did give advice and medicine contrary to the form of the statute, etc.

The 49th clause of the Act reads as follows:

"It shall not be lawful for any person not registered to practice medicine, surgery, midwifery for hire or gain, or hope of reward, and if any person not registered pursuant to this Act, for hire, gain or hope of reward, practices or professes to practice medicine, surgery or midwifery, he shall upon a summary conviction thereof before any Justice of the Peace for any such offence, pay a penalty not exceeding $100 and not less than $25.

The information herein does not follow the statute and I think it charges two offences—one practicing and the other professing to practice medicine, by prescribing and attending upon John McPherson and others and did give advice and medicine, etc.

It is not stated to whom the advice and medicine were given.

The evidence of Hattie Fanning, Annie Kingscote and Ellen Eakins, may be dropped as they disclose no offence. Mrs. Kingscote bought a pair of elastic stockings and a box of zinc salve, which she required and ordered. Miss Fanning and Ellen Eakins stated that a friend of each had la grippe and they asked for and got suitable medicine for it. This is no offence for the druggist does not diagnose and determine the ailment and suggest the proper medicine or treatment.

Justice Rose in Regina vs. Howarth, 24 O.R., p. 568 says, "That a chemist or druggist is not entitled to ascertain from the intending purchaser the symptoms and determine from these the disease and prescribe a remedy; but he may, if the purchaser tells his complaint and asks for a remedy, inform what remedies he has for such complaints; and also inform him which in his opinion is the better or best remedy, leaving the purchaser to exercise his judgment as to which of these preparations he may purchase." In the same judgment Justice Rose says: "If one went to a druggist and told him that he had some particular complaint, and asked the druggist if he had any medicine, compounded for such complaint or ailment, and purchased the medicine on the advice of the chemist, that would not be practicing medicine."

Under this interpretation of law, Mr. Nugent committed no offence in selling to these three witnesses.

Then does this evidence of the informant James McPherson or Robert Goheen make a case? We will just deal with Goheen's evidence. He went to Nugent with a prescription from Dr. Chase's book and got it filled. He got Chase's Medicine and Ointment. There is not in his evidence anything to show that Mr. Nugent diagnosed or asked about symptoms. Witnesses' face spoke for itself—there was a visible breaking out and for it Goheen got what he asked for. There was some evidence of another bottle, but witness was not able to show that it was anything different from Chase's medicine. I think this evidence may also be dropped.

Now there remains only the evidence of the criminal dectective. This man is financially interested in the prosecution. He went to the shop with the intention to trap Nugent, bringing with him his itching palm and itching leg and a lying tongue. He admits he has to lie to accomplish his ends. He shewed his useful sore leg which he said itched and Nugent gave him a bottle and a brush to paint the leg with. No medicine for the leg was labeled for a rash and witness says it was good. He paid for it 40 cents.

The question of what is practicing medicine is not clearly defined. If one may tell his ailment and get from the druggist the proper medicine, surely a man who says his leg itches and exhibits the itching member may be sold the proper wash for the rash. Practicing and professing to practice medicine should be proved by something more than was proved in McPherson's case. One single transaction of a very dubious nature, sustained by the unsupport of testimony of a professional dectective working for his own pecuniary interest can hardly prove the charge as laid in this information.

I do not feel called on to make a conviction where there is so much doubt; I therefore dismiss this charge without costs.

As judgment was asked at the close of the informant's case I do not refer to the evidence for the defence—the onus of proof lies on the informant and in this case he must succeed on his own evidence or not at all.

AT MIDDLTON'S SCHOOL HOUSE.

The Entertainment Last Night Was a Grand Success.

The strawberry festival which was held at Middleton's school house, in Smith, last night, was one of the most enjoyable events that has taken place in that section of the country in some time.

The affair was attended by a great number of people from all section of the township, and the programme was thoroughly enjoyed by all.

The following programme was rendered:

Instrumental music ... Boyler family
Recitation ... ...Miss E. Darling
Duet ... ... Misses N. and W. Courtney
Recitation ... . Miss M. Hamilton
Trio ... ... "Three Old Maids"
Recitation .... Miss A. Downer
Presentation.....An address and chair to Mr. James Middleton.
Recitation ... ... Miss White
Limelight views ... ... Mr. Stubbs
Instrumental music ... Boyler family
Recitation ... ... Miss Livingston
Solo .... Miss Courtney

The chair which was presented to Mr. Middleton, the energetic superintendent, was a very handsome one, and the address was as appended:

Mr. James Middleton,

Dear Teacher and Superintendent,—We, the pupils and teachers of Union Sabbath School, Smith, wish to show in some slight way our appreciation of your services as teacher and superintendent for the last number of years. You have spared neither time nor care in keeping our school running, sometimes, too, under very trying circumstances, and, we are sorry to say, with very little help.

Every Sunday, no matter how much you are in need of rest you are to be seen in your place, and always with a very cheerful countenance. You may not see much fruit of your labours now, but we hope and trust that when it pleases God to take you to the home prepared for you in Heaven you shall then see by the bright crown you shall receive, that they have not been in vain.

Please accept this chair as a slight token of our love and regard for your services. We know that it does not in any way repay you for what you have done, but we hope that for many years you may enjoy its comforts, and by so doing, remember that with it came the love and respect of the whole community with which you are connected.

We will all join in wishing you a happy future, and we earnestly hope that you may be spared to fill the office of teacher and superintendent for many years to come.

Signed on behalf of the school,—
WINNIE REID,
MABEL ELLIOTT.

Mr. Middleton made a very suitable reply in which he thanked the Sunday school for the kindly manner in which they had treated him.

The affair broke up about half past ten o'clock.

WEDDING BELLS.

Nuptials of Miss Edythe Fitzgerald to Mr. Robt. Davidson

A very pretty lawn wedding took place on Tuesday evening, June 20th, at 7 o'clock, at the residence of Mr. John S. Fitzgerald, Smith, when his daughter, Miss Edythe, was united in marriage to Mr. Robert W. F. E. Davidson, also of Smith, by the Rev. A. C. Reeves, B. A., of Lakefield. As the strains of Mendelssohn's Wedding March, played by Miss M. White, pealed forth, the bride, supported by her father, descended through an aisle formed by two prettily-decked bridal chains held by Messrs. Braden, Fitzgerald and Robert Mann, and took her position under a magnificent evergreen arch, from which was suspended a floral wedding bell.

The bride was assisted by Miss Jessie D. Symington of Port Dover, and the groom by Mr. J. Walter Fitzgerald, of Trinity Medical College, while little Miss Kathleen McKibbon acted as maid of honour.

The bride was elegantly attired in a costume of cream nun's cloth, with the attending bride's veil and orange blossoms, and carried a shower bouquet of Marchal Neil roses.

The bridesmaid looked charming in white muslin, with mauve trimming, and carried a bouquet of pink roses, while the little maid of honour was dressed in cream silk and carried a bouquet of pink carnations.

After the congratulations were over the young couple and guests proceeded to the dining room, where a sumptuous wedding dejeuner had been prepared by Long Bros., of Peterborough.

The guests numbered about seventy-five, and the presents were varied, numerous and costly. The bridegroom's present to the bride was a handsome gold brooch and to both the bride and bridesmaid a silver-mounted tortoise shell hair comb.

THE JUNE SESSION OF THE COUNTY COUNCIL

TRENT VALLEY CANAL ASSOCIATION BEFORE THE COMMITTEE.

Grant to Entertain Montreal Delegates Discussed—No Action Taken.

SECOND DAY—WEDNESDAY.

The council went into session in the afternoon to receive a deputation from the Children's Aid Society, asking for a grant. The deputation consisted of Ven. Archdeacon Casey, Rev. D. O. Crossley, Rev. S. J. Shorey, Messrs. J. J. McBain, president of the society, J. H. Burnham, and R. M. Denniston. Mr. McBain first addressed the council urging the giving of a grant on the grounds that the society relieved the county of expense by taking care of children left uncared for and destitute who would otherwise have to be assisted by the municipality. Ven. Archdeacon Casey pointed out how worthy the society was of aid for the excellent work it was doing. Rev. D. O. Crossley endorsed the arguments that had been presented and clearly set forth the claims of the society to receive assistance from the county. Rev. S. J. Shorey pointed out that aside from considerations of philanthropy and the duty of aiding the promotion of a good cause it was wise as a matter of policy to help and encourage a society whose most important function was to diminish crime and vice in the country by preventing it—by removing children from vicious associations and placing them in virtuous households. Messrs. Burnham and Denniston endorsed the remarks made by emphasized the importance of the county assisting the society. The application was referred to the Finance Committee and the council adjourned.

THIRD DAY—THURSDAY.

On again going into session Thursday afternoon, the Council was addressed by Messrs. D. W. Dumble and John Carnegie, on behalf of the Trent Valley Canal, urging that the council join with the Trent Valley Canal Association, the Board of Trade and the Town Council in inviting the members of the Chamber of Commerce, and Board of Trade, Montreal, to take a trip over the route of the waterway. Both speakers spoke to some length on the great importance in interesting Montreal in the the scheme as once the citizens of the metropolis were convinced that the construction of the canal was to their benefit, their influence would be sufficient to insure the completion of the work.

Mayor Davis and Aldermen McWilliams and Hall, representing the town council, were also in attendance to confer with the county council in regard to the matter of meeting the expense of taking the visitors from Montreal over the route.

Warden Hawthorne thought that as this was the last time an appeal would likely be made to the county in the matter, some assistance should be given the Association.

Messrs. Shaw and Eastland moved that the council grant $100 towards the expense which would be incurred.

Councillor Buck stated that he would oppose giving anything.

Councillor Fitzgerald thought that the other municipalities along the line should contribute to this expenditure. The county of Peterborough had already given $800 and he would not advise giving more.

Councillor Peck stated that while he was greatly interested in the canal he did not think that the grant would be a wise one.

Councillor Shaw and Eastland withdrew their motion and the council adjourned.

DISTRICT BAPTISTS ANNUAL CONVENTION.

THE CLOSING SESSION OF THE CONVENTION.

The ninety-seventh annual convention of the Baptist Association of the County of Peterborough, which has been in session for three days, concluded its work yesterday evening, and the delegates returned to their homes satisfied that the convention of 1899, which was held in the Park street church, was one of the most successful in the history of the Association.

Thursday Morning's Session

was opened by devotional exercises, led by Rev. Mr. Kirkpatrick, after which an address on how to increase the effectiveness of the Sunday school was delivered by Mr. L. B. Randall, of Port Hope.

Rev. O. C. Elliott reported for the Young Peoples' Societies, showing that there are seven societies with 247 active and 50 associate members, being an increase of 78 during the year.

Pastor Cowsert spoke on how the young people may help the church, suggesting that they first consider themselves part of the church; second, recognize the other services of the church; third, work on the church committees; fourth, assume special responsibility in church work. fifth, keep themselves informed on the great questions of the denomination.

Pastor Bridgeman discussed how the young people can hinder the church. He spoke of first, the failure to consider themselves as a part of the church; second, the spending of funds independently of the church; third, the holding of services apart from the church; fourth, the lack of spiritual work for saving of souls. The topic of the young people's work was then debated with much interest, the general belief being that the work is destined to prosper, but that some new methods might assist.

Rev. W. Peer, Norwood, then took the floor to introduce the discussion on the financial problem in the smaller churches. He dealt chiefly with the poor churches in the remote settlements. Methods must be adapted to the condition of things. Where the people have little money much cannot be expected from them, but many little attractions can be gotten up by which the church supporters can get assistance from their friends. In this way the poor churches can do more for Christ in proportion to their means than the rich ones.

The Afternoon Session.

The meeting in the afternoon was opened by devotional exercises by Rev. J. E. Moyle of Picton.

An address on the "Canadian Baptist and Book Room was given by G. R. Roberts of Toronto.

Rev. V. H. Cowsert, B. A., delivered an address on "Evangelization," and Rev. J. E. Moyle gave a statement of the work being done in Prince Edward county.

The report of the Obituary Committee was presented by R. Bridgeman. It reported that 16 deaths had occurred during the year, one of which was that of a deacon, and another, one of the oldest members in the association, John Richards, Esq., father of Dr. Richards, of Warkworth.

Mr. W. A. Gaulois presented the report of the Committee on Resolutions.

The First Resolution was that acknowledging the hospitality of the Baptists of the town of Peterborough.

The resolution was as follows:—That as delegates of the church we express our opinion as being that never have we been more lovingly, loyally and abundantly entertained than we have been during these days, by the Peterborough people, and that we hereby tender our sincerest thanks to the members, officers and pastor, of the Park street church and those associated with them in this matter, for all the kind treatment we have received at their hands and which has done so much to make the Association meeting amongst the best, and most successful that we have ever held.

A resolution of regret over the resignation of Mr. Platt Hinman treasurer, was passed and was as follows:

Resolution of Regret.

Whereas our highly esteemed brother, Platt Hinman, Esq., is, on account of failing health, unable to attend the annual meetings of this Association, and has for the same reason resigned his position as treasurer, we desire herewith to record our sincere appreciation of the valued services for so many years cheerfully rendered by our brother to this Association, and we express the earnest hope that in his declining days and Mrs. Hinman may enjoy very richly the presence of the Lord and the grateful love of all his brethren in Christ.

Other Resolutions

that were adopted were on the following subjects:

Family worship, Temperance and prohibition. The use of Tobacco, The work of Evangelizing amongst the French Canadians—Grand Ligne, Christian Literature and the Canadian Baptist, Christian Liberality and Systematic Giving, Thanks to retiring Moderator, Rev. Robert Wallace, National Peace and the good will amongst all English speaking peoples, A strong brotherly commendation regarding Rev. T. Riggs, of Almonte. Regarding Mr. McDiarmid who leaves the foreign missionary secretaryship to take charge of the new Baptist College in Manitoba.

An address by Rev. J. W. Kirkpatrick of Bailliesboro on work in rural communities brought the afternoon session to a happy conclusion.

At the close of the afternoon session the entire assembly gathered in front of the church and were photographed.

The closing session opened at 7.30 o'clock and was well attended.

The moderator, Mr. Robert Wallace introduced the moderator-elect, Mr. L. B. Randall of Port Hope, who in a few brief remarks thanked the Association for the honour they had conferred upon him in electing him to the position they had. He hoped that the coming year would be a most progressive one to not only the Association but to the Baptist church at large.

"The Grand Ligne Mission" was the subject of an able address by Rev. Bowsworth, Field Secretary. The speaker made a very earnest address on the manner in which the work of evangelization should be carried on in this country, but more especially in the French settlements. He made strong remarks on the manner in which the French people were supposed to be carrying on in Quebec and the Ottawa Valley district, and claimed that the work of evangelization was being hindered more than it was being promoted. The speaker gave a detailed account of the manner in which the school in the Grand Ligne in Quebec, showing the high standing graduates of that school had taken at McGill and other such higher educational institutions. Their dominant idea is first evangelization, and then education afterwards to fit them to fight the battles of life. They are also trying to do in Quebec among the English speaking people what our regular missionaries were also endeavouring to accomplish. One of the very unique ways in which they had adopted to attract people to their services was by the use of the gramophone, in which they produced passages of Scripture and sacred songs. They have also adopted the ministerial education system which is on the same lines as that which is carried on in Ontario. He expressed the desire that he should be with them this winter again and closed an able address by thanking them for the manner in which he had been entertained while in Peterborough.

Dr. McDiarmid who has just resigned the position of secretary of Foreign Missions, to assume the position of Principal of the new Baptist College in Manitoba, delivered a very entertaining address on the work that had been done in India and other fields during the last twenty years. He pointed out the great responsibility that rested upon each one of us in carrying on the grand work of Christianizing the people of the far off countries. It was only twenty five years since the first Baptist missionary had landed in India and at the present time many souls had been won to Christ.

In Bolivia their first missionary had landed only one month ago and the very centre of the conflict that has just been in progress, was in the city where was living. In view of this, and the fact that public preaching of the gospel is not allowed by the Government, the work was somewhat retarded; but the missionaries carried on their work on other lines. They had started public day schools and Sunday Schools as well. The speaker claimed that we should take courage at this progress and continue the work with all the more energy.

The forward movement had also been introduced and was meeting with much success. By this movement it was proposed to raise one hundred and fifty thousand dollars for missionary work. This may seem a large sum of money but it really meant only five cents a week for eighteen months among the 40,000 Baptists of Ontario and Quebec. In urging the members of the Baptist churches to help along with this movement he pointed out that what the needs is hopefulness and we will find our work accomplished in due time.

In closing his address the speaker made a few remarks of an explanatory nature as to his resigning the position of secretary of Foreign Missions. It was not he assured them of any lack of interest in the work on his part but he felt that God had another duty for him to perform for which perhaps he was better fitted in accepting the position of Principal of the new Baptist college at Winnipeg.

The Moderator, Rev. Robert Wallace then read to the members of the Park street Baptist church, the resolution adopted at the afternoon's meeting acknowledging the hospitality of the people of Peterborough.

Rev. O. C. Elliott in accepting the resolution on behalf of the Baptist churches, expressed the pleasure it gave the members of Park street church to entertain the delegates. It was he considered one of the most harmonious and enthusiastic conventions in the history of the Association.

Mr. E. B. Edwards asked what the Association had done towards bearing its part of the contributions in the forward movement and Rev. J. Bastow explained that at the afternoon meeting it was decided that each church in this Association contribute a proportionate amount to help along with that work.

The convention was then brought to a close in the usual manner.

A SPLENDID SUCCESS.

Was the St. John's Band Concert and Strawberry Fete.

Last night the beautiful grounds of St. John's church, bathed in moonlight, with a moving mosiac of the bright toilettes of ladies, relieved by the more sober hues of male attire, and the conical snow of the refreshment booths standing out brightly against the level green of the velvet sward, and guarded by the deep emerald of the firs, presented a charming sight.

There was a very large attendance of guests at the band concert and fete, who enjoyed the occasion to the liberal limit the conditions of the occasion permitted. The 57th Battalion Band furnished a splendid programme of music and the refreshment booths, with their tempting wares, waged a thrifty trade. If social enjoyment and the broadening of social lines was the chief object of the gathering, this object was very amply attained, and the incidental financial object was very handsomely met, as the receipts totalled $100.

The credit for the organization and management of a most successful garden party is to be divided amongst the Women's Auxiliary, the King's Daughters, the Girls' Guild, the 57th Battalion Band and the general public, who so liberally extended their presence and patronage.

A CLEAN MAN.

Outside cleanliness is less than half the battle. A man may scrub himself a dozen times a day, and still be unclean. Good health means cleanliness not only outside, but inside. It means a clean stomach, clean bowels, clean blood, a clean liver, and new, clean, healthy tissues and fibers in every organ of the body. The man who is clean in this way will look it and act it. He will work with energy and think clean, clear, healthy thoughts.

He will never be troubled with liver, lung, stomach or blood disorders. Dyspepsia and indigestion originate in unclean stomachs. Blood diseases are found where there is unclean blood. Consumption and bronchitis mean unclean lungs. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery prevents these diseases. It makes a man's insides clean and healthy. It cleans the digestive organs, makes pure, clean blood, and clean, healthy flesh. It doesn't make the flabby fat of corpulency, but the firm flesh of health. It restores tone to the nervous system, and cures nervous exhaustion and prostration. It contains no alcohol to inebriate or create craving for injurious stimulants.

Mr. John L. Coughenour, of Glen Savage, Somerset Co., Pa., writes: "My appetite was unusually poor, and I was as weak and nervous as though I had been starved for months. My heart kept throbbing continually and I was short of breath. Finally I wrote to you for advice and you informed me that I had indigestion and a torpid liver. I did not think your diagnosis was right, but I ordered six bottles of 'Golden Medical Discovery' from you and began its use. After using three bottles I began to improve slowly and soon went to work, and I have been working ever since."

Constipation is the most unclean uncleanliness. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure it. They never gripe.

GRANDPA AND I.

Grandpa and I are beaus.
Lillian has had hers over a year,
And Harry has got one and calls her "dear,"
And mamma has papa, goodness knows,
So there wasn't any for him and me
Until he thought it out, you see—
"Little love, let us two be beaus,"
Says he.

Then in his arms he held me tight
While I smoothed his hair, so fine and white,
And sang him a little lullaby song,
And he thought and thought and thought so long—
Till I patted his head
And softly said,
"You mustn't be lonesome, now we belong."
And then a tear rolled down his nose.
But grandpa and I are the dearest beaus.

No Cure for . . . Bright's Disease

In its advanced stages—The Reason Why—Danger Prevented by the Timely Use of Dr. A. W. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

To understand Bright's Disease is to know that in its advanced stages it is past the reach of human aid. The cells of the kidneys undergo a wasting change, which leaves them dead so far as performing their functions is concerned. Just think of having the kidneys dead. Think of the poisons left in the system when these organs could no longer perform their duties as filters of the blood.

It would be difficult to conceive of anything more dreadful, and yet this is the goal to which every case of neglected kidney disease must lead.

When the back aches, when urinating is difficult or too frequent, when there are deposits in the urine after standing for 24 hours, there is no time to lose in procuring Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

It is not claimed that they will cure Bright's Disease in its last stages. They are an absolute cure for kidney disease, and so long as the kidneys are not entirely wasted away they will give new strength and vigor and enable them to resume their duties of filtering the blood.

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills will stop backache and headache in short order by removing the cause, and will positively prevent Bright's Disease. One pill a dose, 25c. a box. At all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

THE POOR SALESMAN.

One of the Ways He Is Tortured by Exacting Shoppers.

On the shelves of nearly every dry goods store in the city are rolls of goods which have been hauled off the shelves from one to a dozen times a day to be exhibited to possible purchasers. The exacting shoppers have become firmly convinced that such exhibitions of the open ends of rolls cause them to become shopworn. The result is they ask the clerk to cut their order from the inside end. This means the unrolling of the entire bolt for a possible three-quarter yard purchase, but it has to be done.

A fashionably dressed woman stepped into one of the Nicollet avenue stores the other day and asked to be shown some ginghams. On the shelves was a brand new stock of ginghams which had just the night before been taken from the boxes in which they were shipped from the factory. They hadn't been shown to any one except possibly the buyers down east, and then these particular pieces had not been exhibited. Bolt after bolt was shown to the shopper, and finally she picked upon a particularly nice new piece of pink gingham at 20 cents a yard.

"It looks a little shopworn," she remarked as she began to fumble with her purse catch.

"It can't be," replied the obliging clerk. "It just last night came out of the box from which it came from the factory."

"Well, I'd prefer it if you would cut it from the other end."

The clerk groaned inwardly, but proceeded to unroll the 30 or 40 yards of gingham.

"How much?" he asked as he took his scissors from his vest pocket.

"Two yards."

His scissors snapped viciously as they clipped off the goods, and the tone in which he called the cashboy was not of the gentlest, but the shopper, at least, was satisfied.

THE CYNIC.

"Nobody has trouble equal to mine." You can all sign this.

A barber who would cut a man's hair as he wants it cut would get all the business.

When people are pleased, they say nothing; when they are displeased, they grumble.

When a local doctor can't fool a patient any longer, he sends her off to an accomplice in the east.

At first a boy wears his father's old pants, made over. Later the father wears the son's old pants.

The people with cold, clammy hands always insist upon shaking hands every time they meet you.

If some people spent as much time at work as they do in complaining that they are abused, they could buy their critics.—Atchison Globe.

SPRUCE GUM HUNTING.

The Adventurous Maine Woodsmen Who Carry It On.

Although chewing gum of various kinds—pepsin and special digestion aids—can be procured at every city corner from the penny slot machines, nothing has ever taken the place of the genuine spruce, and it still sells at a high price. It cannot be imitated, nor is there any counterfeit which is anything like it. Some of the druggists in eastern Maine have contracts for spruce gum aggregating thousands of dollars. Some of them have "staked" gum hunters and sent them into the woods. Most of the Maine gum finds its way to the city markets that demand for consumption the round, red lumps that gleam with inner fires like the bloodstone. This choice gum is readily sold by the Maine wholesalers at $1.50 a pound.

Gum hunting has many elements like rubber cutting in the tropics, the men burying themselves in the wilds for months. The expenses of the hunter are almost nothing, and the receipts from his quest are likely to be in the nature of a small Klondike find. Some tobacco, a few bushels of beans, some coffee, flour and fat meat, with the game he kills, furnish him bodily fuel for the season, while he will frequently in a single day secure gum that will net him $10 in the market. He is independent, too, with his canoe, his snowshoes and his gun. His canoe will be laid up during the winter, but when the rivers open he will bring down his winter's finds. He is not likely, however, to work any too industriously in gum hunting, but rather to make short days and fish and hunt the balance of the time. A few days' hard work will furnish him a cosy shack in the deep forest near the bank of a stream, and with wood unlimited and a sharp ax he is not likely to suffer, and when a storm is on he does not leave his comfortable camp.

The solitude of the thing would drive many men mad, but the northern woodsman is different from most men. He carries a pack with him at all times, even when hunting, so that should he run across an old gum scar he can take advantage of it without making another trip. When spring opens, he returns to civilization, tough, rugged and hard as seasoned oak, and he may have a pack of gum to the value of several hundred dollars; but long, long before the next season the money is all gone, and probably some one will have to "grub stake" him if he is to go for gum again.

He Fooled The Surgeons.

All doctors told Reniok Hamilton, West Jefferson, Ohio, after suffering 18 months from Rectal Fistula, he would die unless a costly operation was performed; but he cured himself with five boxes of Bucklen's Arnica Salve, the surest pile cure on earth, and the best salve in the world. 25 cents a box. Sold by James Lynch, druggist.

Wind a Memory!

One rainy day in spring an old Yorkshire fisherman returned to his native village after an absence of 15 years and fearfully sought the house which sheltered his deserted wife. Entering without knocking, he seated himself near the open door, took a long and vigorous pull at his dirty clay pipe and nodded jerkily to "t'owd woman."

"Mornin, Maria," he said, with affected unconcern.

She looked up from the potatoes she was peeling and tried to utter the scathing tirade she had daily rehearsed since his departure, but it would not come.

"Ben," she said instead, once more resuming her work, "bring the sen o'er to t' fire an Ah'll darn that hole i' thy jersey. Ah meant doin t' day tha went away, but summat put me off!"—Stray Stories.

HEALTH OF THE PROVINCE.

The Monthly Report of the Provincial Board of Health.

Toronto, June 22.—Yesterday the monthly report of the Provincial Board of Health for the month of May was published. Only 92 per cent. of the total population reported as against 97 per cent. last month. During May there were 1,767 deaths from all causes, against 2,078 for April. There was a decrease in the number of deaths from tuberculosis from April of 37, the total number for May being 230. There were 168 deaths for the same month last year. From April there was a drop in scarlatina from 28 to 17, and diphtheria decreased from 33 to 18. Three deaths were caused by measles, and whooping cough carried away seven, the same number as in April. In typhoid an increase is recorded, there having been 18 deaths, while in the previous month there were 15.

For 30 Years

we have been studying paint—its best composition and its best application. We have only one aim. That is to make the best paint possible. The markets of the world are open to us. If all white lead or all zinc made the best paint it would be wise for us to make it so. But experience shows that a combination of these two substances makes far better paint than either one alone. Therefore, as we are neither white lead dealers, nor zinc dealers, we use enough of each to produce the best result, and with pure oil and the best drier, we make the paints that have made us.

A NEW INVENTION!

The Newcombe Piano Has It.

It consists of a Patented Practice CLAVIER or STOP which diminishes the tone when required and saves wear on the Piano; it also does away with the old way of having to press down the pedal with the foot in order to soften the tone when running the scales or practicing. Oftentimes the young pupil on the piano cannot press down on the pedal without throwing themselves out of the proper position when they should sit erect. This invention in the NEWCOMBE PIANO will enable children to begin two years earlier on the piano. In addition to the above, the NEWCOMBE PIANO is the finest made in Canada. Children often complain about practicing; they like it if they have a NEWCOMBE PIANO. 1898 styles are gems of art, containing every late improvement; they possess that beautiful full sweet tone which lights the singer, and so pleases every musical ear. Organs of every description at Wholesale Prices.

Big Bargains now on hand in slightly used. Upright and Square Pianos of the various makes taken in part exchange for the famous NEWCOMBE PIANOS. Every NEWCOMBE PIANO has a new registered scale and the warranty is cast in the plate. For correct and full information regarding the new invention and NEWCOMBE PIANOS write to our Direct Representative. Easy Prices. Liberal Terms.

THE VETERANS' OUTING.

The Preliminaries Have All Been Arranged.

Mr. John Nunn, Chaplain of the Army and Navy Veterans, who was appointed to make final arrangements for the annual outing of the Veterans, was in town Wednesday.

The annual excursion will take place next Wednesday from Toronto, in commemoration of the 62nd anniversary of her Majesty's coronation.

On the arrival of the Veterans at Peterborough they will be received by the Mayor and the "66 Veterans of town, under the command of Mr. A. P. Poussette, headed by the Peterborough band. They will then march to the public square, where the mayor will deliver a short speech, and at two o'clock will again re-assemble and proceed to the Athletic grounds, where the annual games will be held at 2.30 o'clock.

In the evening a grand concert will be given in their honour in the opera house. It is expected that this gathering will be very large and representative. A special train will leave the union station at 8 o'clock.

THE BAPTIST CONVENTION.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Sir,—In his able remarks delivered before the Baptist Convention a few evenings since, Pastor Bridgeman laid great stress upon the necessity of young people helping the churches, and treated his subject by showing how they hinder it. He said that by going outside the churches, and by spending money outside the churches the work of the churches was set back. He referred to those supposed to be united with and in sympathy with the churches. To whom did he refer?

LACROSSE.

A report from the lacrosse field at 3.10 places the score at even—Peterborough, 1; Markham, 1. It is stated that Markham's tally was a fluke, or hard luck on Peterborough's part.

At 3.30 the score stood two and two; at 3.50 the score was three to three. Lewis the new point of the local team, is putting up a great game.

Later—At 4 o'clock the score stood 4—3 in favour of Peterborough.

The Elms of Ashburnham defeated the Northenders on the Nicholls Park on Tuesday evening, by a score of 3 to 0. The Elms deserve much credit, being the lighter team of the two. The ball was faced at 7 o'clock p.m., the teams lining up as follows:

Elms—Goal, J. Gilman; point, G. Logan; cover point, J. Gorham; 1st defence, S. Tivey; 2nd, F. Conroy; 3rd, W. Primeau; centre, J. Clancy; 3rd home, H. Gilman; 2nd, M. Toole; 1st, J. Primeau; outside, H. Sullivan; inside, O. Mowry.

North-enders —Goal, S. Armour; point, Dave Arsenault; cover point, Dan McCrea; 1st defence, Campbell; 2nd, Simpson; 3rd, Shaw; centre, W. Brisbin; 3rd home, Detcher; 2nd, Long; 1st, Long; outside, Mann; inside, E. Smith.

Field captains—H. Overend and — O'Brien.

Referee—T. Dineen.

The game was fast from start to finish, but the Elms being the faster played all around their opponents.

THE WHEEL.

On account of Mosier having broken his wheel, the race between he and Milburn has been postponed.

On Wednesday night at 7 o'clock on the Nicholls Park track, C. Waller will ride E. Miller two races—one and two miles—for a silver cup.

BASEBALL.

On Wednesday night the Boundary Nine baseball team met and organized for the season, and elected the following officers:

Manager—W. Hagel.
Captain—F. Whaley.
Secretary-treas. — J. Doris.
Committee—W. Whaley, A. Delaire, and C. Kemp.

The team would like to arrange a game for decoration day, June 27th. Average age 16.

PERSONAL.

Mrs. Dr. Kirby and Master Tom of Vancouver, are in town, visiting Mrs. Bradburn, 575 Stewart street.

The Campbellford Herald says:—Mrs R. J. Waller of Peterborough, Mr. Ed. Runnels of the same place, came here during the week to visit their mother, who is very ill.

Mr. Barton Earle, lay delegate representing All Saints', returned last night from attendance on the successful annual session of the Synod of the Diocese of Toronto.

SATURDAY CLUB.

Closing Meeting of Y. W. C. A. Club for Summer Months.

The Saturday Club in connection with the Y. W. C. A. which has met regularly each week during the last three months, has disbanded for the hot weather. The closing meeting on Saturday evening last was most interesting and enjoyable. The reports read told of the successful work done and the prospects and plans for the future show the necessity for the work of the Y. W. C. A., and the power for good it may become. The address of Mrs. Roger, former secretary, giving information gathered regarding Y. W. C. A. work, and boarding houses during her recent European tour, was listened to with the utmost interest and attention. The musical programme, which was appreciated and thoroughly enjoyed, consisted of piano solos by Miss Agar, Mrs. Dr. Torrance and Miss Campbell, and vocal solos by Mrs. Dr. Scott, Mrs. Shorey and Mrs. Seward.

The club desires to thank all who have so kindly contributed to the enjoyment of their Saturday evenings during th epast few months.

Meetings will be resumed in September with greater zeal, it is hoped, and broader plans for usefulness and helpfulness.

Bible classes will be held at 8 o'clock on this and succeeding Saturday evenings during the months of July and August.

Mothers' meetings on Sunday afternoon at 4.15 o'clock as usual.

A SERIOUS OUTLOOK.

Increase of Armed Forces All Round in South Africa.

THE TENSION IS EXTREME.

Rear-Admiral Sir Robert Hastings Harris Has Gone to the East Coast of Africa on the Doris—The Orange Free State Arming—Kruger May Yet Yield Enough.

Cape Town, June 24.—The British second-class cruiser Doris, with Rear-Admiral Sir Robert Hastings Harris, commander-in-chief of the Cape of Good Hope and West African squadrons, left Simon's Bay yesterday for the east coast.

TENSION IS EXTREME.

Business Is Paralyzed at Cape Town and Great Britain Must Act.

London, June 24.—A despatch from Cape Town to The Outlook says: "The tension is extreme. Business is at a standstill, and the general feeling is that England must promptly bring matters to an issue. The league will have no difficulty in preventing meetings supporting Sir Alfred Milner's attitude, the desire being to refrain from embarrassing the Imperial authorities.

"The Orange Government is urging the Transvaal to make further concessions. Many people consider Sir Alfred Milner's franchise proposals are useless without the granting of 12 seats in the mining centres and the right to speak English in the Volksraad. Otherwise it will be impossible to select representative men. Failing these concessions, the Johannesburgers say they prefer a treaty providing security and judicial and educational reforms."

Shropshires Under Orders.

The Shropshire Regiment has been ordered to hold itself in readiness for immediate embarkation for Cape Town.

Mr. Chamberlain Denies It.

Thinks Kruger Will Back Down.

The Standard publishes a despatch from Johannesburg explaining that the adding of four seats to the representation of the gold fields in the Raad will not be a real concession, because the Uitlanders will still be without power to vote. The six electoral divisions will be: Johannesburg, Heidelburg, Boksburg, Krugersdorp, Barberton and another. There is an impression, however, according to The Standard correspondent, that President Kruger may yet yield enough to avoid a crisis.

Bloemfontein, Orange Free State, June 24.—The Volksraad of the Orange Free State has voted £9,870 for the increase of artillery, tents and other military supplies. A resolution was adopted directing the Government to adopt the Mauser rifle as the national weapon. A proposal to vote £32,500 for ammunition was discussed, but the debate was adjourned.

Trade with Cape Town and Johannesburg is at a comparative standstill. The Germans who are in sympathy with the Transvaal are holding meetings at which they adopt resolutions requesting Germany to intercede in behalf of Pretoria.

THEY ARE NOW IN HARNESS.

French Cabinet Ministers Have Trouble in Store for Them.

Paris, June 24.—The new Cabinet Ministers took possession of their offices yesterday morning. The Prefect of Police, M Blanc, had a long interview with the Premier, M. Waldeck-Rousseau, during the day, and it is asserted he handed the latter his resignation.

The Progressive Republicans have held a meeting under the presidency of M. Meline. Considerable diversity of opinion was developed. One faction decided to oppose the new Cabinet, owing to the presence of M. Millerand in the Ministry. The Socialist Deputies are also at variance regarding the entry of General the Marquis de Gallifet in the Cabinet, and a portion of that party has decided to found a new group, to be entitled "Revolutionary Socialistes."

The Meline meeting appointed a committee to confer with the other groups hostile to the new Cabinet for the purpose of organizing a combined opposition to the Government. Notice has already been given of a number of interpellations for Monday next.

FOUR MEN KILLED.

A Shocking Accident in the War Eagle Mine—Drills Struck an Unexploded Charge With Fatal Results.

Rossland, B.C., June 24.—Another terrible accident occurred in War Eagle mine between 10.25 and 10.30 o'clock yesterday morning. Four men were killed, two dying instantly and one a few minutes after being brought to the surface, and one man died in the hospital.

The accident was in consequence of an explosion caused by an overlooked shot in which about two sticks or a little over a pound of powder had been left.

The particulars are as follows: Charles Lee, Mike Griffin, Charles Sturges and Charles Coulson, drill men, and Daniel Green, mucker, were working in the west drift on the 625-foot level, 100 feet from the shaft, having gone to work at 7. Lee and Griffin were working one machine and Sturges and Coulson another. About 30 holes had been put in the face of the drift. The cut hole in which the explosion occurred, was in about 16 inches, and could not have held much more than a couple sticks of powder. It is supposed that concussions of drills started the powder and caused the disaster. The cut hole in question was blasted on Wednesday night, and drilled by the same shift which was at work when the explosion occurred, the hole having been drilled on Tuesday.

The fatal explosion was heard by a number of men working on the same level, though not in the same drift, about 20 feet away. These men understood that an accident had occurred, as this was not the time for firing to take place. They at once ran to the spot to learn what the extent of the accident was. They were met by Coulson, who was the least injured of the party, and who, numb and bleeding, was staggering forward toward them. He told them what had happened, and word was at once sent to headquarters.

The foreman immediately went down with a force of men. The smoke by this time had cleared from the drift, and the four injured men were found lying on the ground covered by broken rock.

This was cleared off, and they were carried to the hoist and taken to the 250-foot level. Two of them only, Griffin and Green, gave any signs of life, and it was evident that they could not survive. They were taken to the surface, where surgeons took them in charge.

Sturges and Lee were found to have been instantly killed and Griffin died while being carried to the hospital. Green reached the hospital alive, but died at 4 p.m. Coulson, who was also taken to the hospital, has a number of bad flesh wounds, especially from the waist down, but is not dangerously injured.

Coroner Bowes will hold an inquest to-day at 2 p.m.

A TRUCE OF THE BEAR

Russian Proposal for Limitation of Armed Forces.

A CUNNING LOOPHOLE IN IT.

M. de Staal, President of the Peace Conference, Read a Declaration Disclaiming Intention to Reduce Armaments, But He Argued for a Standstill—Col. Jilinski's Cute Proposal.

The Hague, June 24.—M. de Staal, president of the peace conference, at a meeting of the committee yesterday morning, introduced the Russian proposals looking to the arrest of armaments, and read a declaration disclaiming all intention of proposing a reduction of the armaments at present. But, he added, he was of the opinion that if a standstill could be agreed upon, a reduction would soon come of itself. All the powers, he explained, had conferred with the Czar relative to the immense evils of armed peace, and he (M. de Staal) now appealed to them to devote their energies towards the arrest of the continual increase in the cost of armed peace, which, he asserted, cost more than a tremendous war.

Wants a Halt for Five Years.

Col. Jilinski of the Russian delegation moved that the powers should enter into an understanding for a term of say five years not to increase the effectiveness of the peace footing of their forces, with the exception of the colonial troops, and not to increase the amount of their military budgets beyond their present figure. The speeches and the resolution were ordered to be printed and circulated, and the discussion was adjourned until Monday.

A naval standstill resolution will be introduced later.

A Russian Trap.

The correspondent of The Daily News at The Hague says: "Several delegates remark that Russia's proposals regarding disarmament contain a trap, since she could increase her troops to any extent in Siberia, which is a colony.

"Capt. Scheine, the Russian naval expert, laid upon the table a proposal similar to Col. Jilinski's, dealing with the navy, but limiting the non-augmentation period to three years, on the ground that three years are enough to build an ironclad."

The correspondent of The Times at The Hague says: "There is not the faintest chance of the Russian proposals being adopted, but it is likely some motion will be carried to the effect that, in the interests of peace and humanity, the conference hopes that, unless an emergency should occur, war budgets will not be increased."

THE EAST EDINBURGH VACANCY.

Unionist Candidate Defeated by a Very Large Majority.

Edinburgh, June 24.—In the Parliamentary bye-election in the East Division of Edinburgh yesterday, to fill the vacancy caused by the death of the former Liberal member, Mr. Robert Wallace, who was seized with cerebral paralysis while speaking in the House of Commons on the grant to General Lord Kitchener, the Liberal and Radical candidate, Mr. George MacCrae, treasurer of the city of Edinburgh, defeated the Unionist candidate, Mr. Harry G. Younger, by 1,930 votes. The voting was as follows: MacCrae, Liberal and Radical, 4,891; Mr. Younger, Unionist, 2,961. Liberal and Radical majority, 1,930.

Goldman's Trial at Henley.

Henley, Eng., June 24.—The Canadian scullers started training yesterday. Goldman went over half the course in 4 minutes 11 seconds. The Canadian eight did the same distance in 3 minutes 52 seconds.

During the day the Canadians did some fast work. Their eight rowed over the full course in 7 minutes 1 second, at an average stroke of 36, which is reckoned a good performance, the record being 6 minutes 51 seconds. The Canadian four did the course in 8 minutes 11 seconds, to the astonishment of all spectators.

Metric System in England.

BRITAIN AND THE BOERS.

President Kruger of the Transvaal is evidently spoiling for a fight, and it seems probable that he will be accommodated. The Imperial authorities recognize that a "scrap" with the Boers will not be a holiday parade by any means. The Boers are well armed, and being splendid marksmen know how to use arms to advantage. The country to be traversed to reach them is very difficult and affords splendid facilities for ambush fighting, at which the Boers are specially expert. But in spite of all these difficulties John Bull will not be deterred from carrying out his policy of protecting his boys—his subjects—wherever they may be. British subjects in the Transvaal are not treated as civilization demands they shall be treated and if President Kruger persists in his discrimination against them he will run into trouble. In the event of war, the British may at first find it up hill work, but it will be seen to that there shall be no Majuba Hill work this time. The British Government has for a long time been quietly acting with reference to the possibility of a brush with the Boers. Everything is ready, plan of campaign and all, in case it is found necessary to resort to the arbitriment of arms to settle the Transvaal trouble. John Bull won't be caught napping.

Considering the imminence of war, a brief sketch of the relations of the Transvaal will not be uninteresting. In 1834 Britain issued a proclamation abolishing slavery in her South Africa possessions. This offended Her Majesty's Dutch subjects and the Boers went north beyond British jurisdiction and locating on the Vaal river—hence the name "Transvaal"—erected a republic in 1852, Great Britain recognizing its independence on the condition that slavery was renounced. But the Boers were poor financiers and the republic became practically bankrupt in 1875. The British put her finances in good shape but failed to overcome the antipathy of the Boers, who rose in rebellion on Dec. 16th, 1880. The British were defeated at Laing's Neck and Majuba Hill owing to the guerilla tactics employed by the Boers, who are splendid bush fighters, delivering a withering fire from the shelter of trees while the British stood up in the open. Though there were sufficient troops in South Africa to crush the Boers the Government made peace. In March 1881 the Transvaal republic was recognized, being granted internal independence, though its foreign affairs were subject to British control; and by the London convention of 1884 the relations between the two were more strictly defined. The discovery of gold in 1885 brought an influx of foreigners or Uitlanders, consisting largely of British subjects who introduced a large amount of capital. The republic was at that time again almost insolvent and the wily Kruger saw in this influx of Uitlanders the means of saving the republic from impending disaster, and he set about taxing the new comers by every conceivable method. In twelve years the revenue of the Transvaal increased fifteenfold. The white population of the country is now estimated at 119,125, of whom 75,720 are Uitlanders. The Uitlanders pay fourteen-fifteenths of the taxes, but they have no voice in the public expenditure, or in the legislation of the republic. They are excluded from all political rights, being even denied the privilege of citizenship. This condition, the British Government will not permit, and the present trouble arises over President Kruger's refusal to grant reforms that will enfranchise the Uitlanders and give them the status of citizenship in the matter of rights that international comety demands.

The Michigan lumbermen have not scored a very great point in getting permission to take legal steps to test the constitutionality of the law of Mr. Hardy requiring all logs cut from Crown lands to be manufactured in Ontario. No matter what the outcome of the test case after it has in turn travelled through the Ontario courts, and the final tribunal, the Privy Council, the law thus questioned is so strongly endorsed by popular opinion, that whatever means are necessary will be adopted to secure to Ontario the lion's share of the benefit from her timber resources. Our good Yankee friends have had too much of our good timber on too easy terms already. Now Ontario proposes to continue to act on the policy adopted in respect to our timber, "what we have, we'll hold."

MAIDENS JUDGED BY THEIR MUSIC.

A Girl's Character Indicated by her Musical Tastes.

(Pall Mall Gazette.)

It is possible, it seems, to judge a woman's character by the music she plays. To those of the male persuasion who are anxious to choose a wife, wisely and well, one who is musical, but who at the same time possesses all the domestic virtues, the following may be useful: If the girl manifests a predilection for Strauss, she is frivolous; for Beethoven, she is unpractical; for Liszt, she is too ambitious; for Verdi, she is sentimental; for Offenbach, she is giddy; for Gounod, she is lackadaisical; for Gottschalk, she is superficial; for Mozart, she is prudish; for Flotow, she is commonplace; for Wagner, she is idiotic. The girl who hammers away at the Maiden's Prayer, and Silvery Waves may be depended upon as a good cook and healthful; and if she includes the Battle of the Prague, you ought to know that she has been been strictly nurtured. But last of all, pin thou thy faith upon the calico dress of the girl who can play Home, Sweet Home.

ON THE WAY TO SCHOOL.

"My mother's always cross in the mornin," said the straw haired boy, rattling half a lath along the picket fence. 'She came down this mornin' and went for the girl because the breakfast table wasn't set, and it ain't supposed to be set till after she comes down."

"I know the way it is," said the red headed boy. "Woman is always that way more nor less."

"Then she went for me," continued the straw-haired youth, "hit me a clip on the side of the head because I hadn't got my hair brushed."

"Wouldn't that jar you!" exclaimed the red headed youth

"Then she sailed into pop. Said he never did nothing but read the newspaper when he was home. He said there wasn't much else to do. She said that was just like him all over, and started to cry. Pop looks at her for awhile, then he sort o' gives it up and grabs his hat. 'Guess I'll get my breakfast down town today,' he says."

"I guess he was pretty mad just the same," said the red-headed youth.

"I guess so," said his friend with the lath.

"What was the matter with her," asked the red head.

"Darned if I know," said the other, "she ain't so bad only in the mornin."

The good lady was simply suffering with Nervous Dyspepsia, which is always more pronounced in the morning. Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets would have cured her. She could have taken one after every meal. Her digestion would then have been perfect and her nerves would have been relaxed and comfortable. Her temper would have been angelic both morning and evening, and Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets would have only cost her fifty cents a box at any drug store.

A Little Seemen.

To be honest: to be kind: to earn a little and spend a little less: to make, upon the whole, a family happier for his presence: to renounce, when that shall be necessary, and not be imbittered, to keep a few friends, but these without capitulation: above all, on the same grim condition, to keep friends with himself—here is a task for all that a man has of fortitude and delicacy.—Robert Louis Stevenson.

IN MEMORIAM.

Of Annie Lang, wife of William Thompson, who died June 11th, 1899, deeply regretted.

Around this happy home the shadow fell
Of death's dark angel, and he hovered there.
Until he entered in and bore away
A cherished one to mansions light and fair."

And friends stood weeping by that bed of death,
Praying the Father, if it was His will,
For to restore this dear one in their home,
To be a comfort and a blessing still.

But it was not to be—the Lord knows best,
And we must say His holy will be done,
And tho' 'tis hard to check the flowing tear,
We trust that she eternal life has won.

And now ,alas! that home seems desolate,
To those she's left behind, who loved her so;
The husband mourns the partner of his life,
All earthly joy seems shattered by the the blow.

The little children miss their mother dear,
Thus early have they learned to feel her loss;
Without a mother's hand to soothe and cheer,
In future year's 'twill prove their heaviest cross.

Her childhood's home is darkened; days seem long
To father, mother, brothers, sisters there,
The circle entered in by death before
Again's bereft, and filled their hearts with care.

But tho' life's pathway now seems dark and drear,
They hope to meet again beyond the grave,
In that land of delight where glory waits
All those who own on earth Christ's power to save.

Tho' gone before, yet still her deeds remain,
Her life unselfish speaks, tho' lips are dumb,
The good seed sown by her in youthful minds
May blossom and bear fruit in years to come.

Trusting in Christ to guide her through the valley,
Trusting him still when dark the shadows fall,
She followed in the light of His dear presence,
Her Saviour was to her her all in all.

And Jesus made her dying bed feel peaceful,
And soft as downy pillows ever are,
He soothed away her anxious thoughts for loved ones
That she must leave; she gave them to His care.

And when at last the silver chord was loosened,
Bright angels bore her spirit up on high
Unto that better land, where safe and happy,
She lives again in "mansions in the sky."

Oh then hearts mourning, trust a gracious Father,
Who doth not willingly afflictions send.
He says "I will not leave thee, nor forsake thee,
Lo, I am with you always, till life's end.

Discovered by a Woman.

Another great discovery has been made, and that, too, by a lady in this country. "Disease fastened its clutches upon her, and for seven years she withstood its severest tests, but her vital organs were undermined and death seemed imminent. For three months she coughed incessantly, and could not sleep. She finally discovered a way to recovery by purchasing of us a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, and was so much relieved on taking the first dose that she slept all night; and with two bottles has been absolutely cured. Her name is Mrs. Luther Lutz." Thus writes W. C. Hamnick & Co., of Shelby, N. C. Trial bottle free at James Lynch's drug store. Regular size, $1 and 50c. Every bottle guaranteed.

Poison Caused Neff's Death.

Galt, Ont., June 24.—John W. Neff, a retired farmer, was found dead in bed at his home in this town on Wednesday, June 7. It was at first thought that death had resulted from natural causes, but an investigation gave reason to believe that it was due to poison. Accordingly a coroner's inquest was ordered. It was, in the opinion of the jury, fully proved that death resulted from carbolic acid poisoning, but whether the acid was taken with suicidal intent or administered by another person the evidence was not sufficient to determine.

TWO-CENT POSTAGE.

The Loss of Revenue Will Be $800,000 Less For Annum Than Was Anticipated From This Cause.

Ottawa, June 24.—At the time of the reduction of letter postage to two cents per ounce, Hon. Mr. Mulock estimated that the consequent loss of revenue would be for the first year about $700,000, but results have proved that the decrease in revenue this year will be but $500,000. The steady prosperity of the country has brought an increase of ten per cent. in the volume of mail matter, and the reduction in revenue for the first six months will be but $235,000, or for the year, making an estimate that will be acknowledged to be liberal, about half a million dollars. Events have proved that the Postmaster-General was not so far in advance of the times as was asserted by opponents, and it is not too much to expect that within three years the equilibrium between the receipts and expenditure in the Postoffice Department will have been restored. In the meantime, the 90 per cent of Canada's population who use the mails more or less are given the cheaper rate, and are assisted at a comparatively trifling cost to the nation in the transaction of their business. The old doctrine of the greatest good to the greatest number seems to have achieved new popularity of late years, and in this case its effects have been all that could be desired.

A TORONTO MAN IS DELUGED WITH LETTERS.

Wrote to People All Over Caanada Asking About Dodd's Kidney Pills Replies Have Been Coming for two Weeks—Still They Come.

Toronto, June 13th.—Replies to the letters sent out enquiring as to the last qualities of certain cures made by Dodd's Kidney Pills during the last nine years, have been pouring in on the gentleman who sent them out this last week. He, it will be remembered, is the compiler of a scrap-book which contains a great many of the thousands of cures by Dodd's Kidney Pills, that have been reported from time to time in the daily and weekly press of this country.

The letters came from all over Canada, and in some cases are from people who were cured as many as nine years ago. All forms of kidney disease are represented, including Bright's Disease, Diabetes, Rheumatism, Heart Disease, Female Trouble, Paralysis, Dropsy, Bladder and Urinary Troubles, Nervous Diseases and Blood Poisoning. Up to the present no reply has been received which showed that a cure by Dodd's Kidney Pills of any of these complaints has ever been otherwise than permanent.

John McDonald, 130 Langlois Ave., Windsor, was reported in January, 1897, as being cured of Rheumatism and Dropsy of two years standing. He had used several remedies to no avail, and finally he tried Dodd's Kidney Pills. After using but one box he was cured. The dropsical swelling in his legs which had been very severe disappeared. Mr. McDonald is well known in Windsor, and several persons vouched for his case at the time. Mr. McDonald's recent letter reads as follows:

Windsor, May 6th.

Dear Sir.—I will gladly send you the information asked for, namely, that I am all right at present, as far as my health is concerned. I used Dodd's Kidney Pills and found them to do all that they are advertised to do.

Yours truly,
JOHN M'DONALD.

RAILWAY RULES BILL.

An Important Amendment to the General Railway Act.

HON. MR. BLAIR'S STATEMENT.

The Railway, Canal and Postoffice Items Up in Committee of Supply—Most of Them Passed—Some Interesting Information About the Postoffice Department—A Number of Private Bills.

Ottawa, June 24.—In supply yesterday a number of items in the supplementary estimates were passed, after full discussion. The Postmaster-General made several announcements during the discussion upon the postoffice estimates which will be of interest to the general public. Negotiations are now proceeding for the reduction of the rates on money orders to the United States, the mail service to the Rainy River district is to be improved, and the interior of the Toronto postoffice is to be remodelled. Many members of the House advocated an increase of remuneration to country postmasters. Mr. Foster, discussing the expenditure for police and militia in the Yukon, demanded the fullest and strongest reasons to justify the Government in continuing the heavy expenditure, and Mr. Sifton in reply explained the many duties which the police perform, and the difficulties of policing and preserving order among the population of a country of vast extent.

Government Railway Rules.

Mr. Blair informed Mr. Clarke that he had notified the labor organizations interested that he would hear any objection the employes might have to the rules to be inaugurated by the Grand Trunk and Canada Atlantic Railways. A reply had been received as to the former, that the employes had no objection to them, but subsequently representations were made that the officers of the organization who made that reply were not empowered by the employes to do so, and accordingly the rules were suspended.

"The present situation is," said Mr. Blair, "that upon consideration it appeared that it might be desirable to amend the general Railway Act so that the railway committee of the Privy Council, subject to the approval of the Governor-in-Council, should be authorized to frame a body of rules, either by itself or through some competent body, for general application to all the roads in Canada that are under the jurisdiction of the Parliament of Canada. That view having been concurred in by my colleagues in the council, I have had drafted a section to add to the general Railway Act, and a bill containing this section is now before the railway committee. It appeared to me that these general amendments were of such a nature that it was desirable the railway committee should discuss them, and make any desirable suggestion that could be incorporated in the bill. The bill is now before the committee. It was read at the late meeting of the committee, but owing to there being a very small attendance, it was suggested that it should remain over and be made the first order at the next meeting, when we are likely to have a larger attendance. That is the position."

On the Supplementaries.

The House then went into supply on the supplementary estimates, taking up the railway and canal items, which were passed after some discussion, in the course of which Mr. Blair said that he hoped to be able in a few days to announce when the Soulanges Canal would be opened for business.

Private Bills Passed.

After recess the following private bills were read a third time and passed:

Respecting the Atlas Loan Company—Mr. Ingram.

Respecting the General Trust Corporation of Canada—Mr. McMullen.

For the relief of Annie Inkson Dowding—Mr. Clarke.

To incorporate the Canada Mining & Metallurgical Company, Limited—Mr. Haley.

The amendment made by the Senate to the bill to incorporate the Canadian Inland Transportation Company was concurred in.

In Supply Again.

The House then resumed in supply, taking up postoffice items, and adjourned at 1.35.

Ontario Government's Log Embargo.

Ottawa, June 24.—In the Senate yesterday afternoon Sir Mackenzie Bowell, on the orders of the day, called the attention of the Minister of Justice to newspaper reports that the Attorney-General of Ontario had granted a fiat to American lumbermen holding timber limits in Ontario, with a view of testing the constitutionality of the law imposing an export duty on logs cut on those limits. Of course, as the Dominion Government had allowed the law, he concluded that they were favorably disposed toward it. He wanted to know if the Dominion was a party to the suit.

Hon. David Mills knew nothing more about the matter than what he saw in the newspapers. The fight was with the provincial authorities.

Sir Mackenzie Bowell remarked that the matter might interfere with Dominion customs rights and he supposed that the Minister meant that the Government would watch events and then act as they saw necessary.

PUBLIC ACCOUNTS COMMITTEE.

Hon. John Costigan Made No Address as to His Son's Case.

Ottawa, June 24.—In the public accounts committee yesterday morning it was arranged that Sir Wilfrid Laurier's examination in the Manitoban elections case should take place next Tuesday.

No further evidence was taken in the Costigan case. Hon. John Costigan decided to make no address, saying he saw nothing in the case but absence without leave and inattention, which had been severely punished by the removal from Winnipeg to Ottawa, causing a loss of $600 a year in his son's income, a serious matter to a man of family.

Three bills were carried in short order by the Senate banking and commerce committee yesterday morning, viz., Hugsen & Erie Loan Company, Canada Permanent & Western Mortgage Corporation, Canada Accident Insurance Company. There was no other business before the committee.

CRUTCHES THROWN AWAY

THE REMARKABLE CASE OF A YOUNG GIRL IN WALKERTON.

For Three Years She Could Only go About With the Aid of Crutches—Had to be Helped in and out of bed—Her Restoration to Health Was Unlooked For.

A couple of Walkerton ladies were recently discussing the case of a friend who, owing to the sudden development of a bad attack of sciatica, had been compelled to take to her bed, when a third lady present, but who was a stranger to the young lady in question, made the remark, "I would advise your friend to take Dr. William's Pink Pills." Asked to give her reasons for making this recommendation she proceeded to give the details of a most remarkable cure that had been effected by Dr. William's Pills on the daughter of her nearest neighbour, a Miss Rebecca Greenhow, and the story as told by this lady, having subsequently been repeated in the hearing of the editor of this paper, we decided to investigate and find out from personal inquiry all the circumstances of this seeming remarkable instance of power of medicine over disease. That evening we called at Mr. Greenhow's residence. Both Mr. and Mrs. Greenhow were at home, but their daughter had gone downt own. "Yes" replied Mrs. Greenhow in answer to a question in regard to the reported cure; my daughter has been cured; I believe Dr. William's Pink Pills saved her life." She then gave the circumstances of her daughter's illness and cure as follows:

"Rebecca is now seventeen years of age. When she was eleven she was attacked with tonsilitis and following this for the next three years she never had a moment free from pain. She began to complain of pains all over her body but chiefly in her back. She became so weak and run down that she was unable to walk without the assistance of a crutch. The doctor said she was suffering from inflammatory rheumatism brought on by an impoverished condition of the system. He prescribed various remedies but nothing seemed to do her any good and finally we decided to try another doctor. He also pronounced the trouble to be rheumatism, but though he gave her bottle after bottle of medicine, she still continued to grow weaker. By the end of the second year she was unable to leave the house and could only move from one room to another by the use of her crutches. We were advised to get her an electric belt, and did so, but although she wore it for a long time it did her no good whatever. During the third winter she became so bad that she had to be assisted into and out of bed, and could not even rise from a chair without assistance. We had given up all hope of her recovery, when a Mr. John Allan, who had been himself similarly afflicted, but who had been cured by the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, advised us to give them a trial. We had tried so many things without success that we hesitated to take his advice, but he insisted so strongly that we finally yielded. The first five boxes seemed to produce no change, but before she had finished the sixth box we were sure we could notice some change, and we felt encouraged to continue their use. From that on she continued to improve steadily, and by the time she had taken eighteen boxes every trace of pain had left her. She threw away her crutches and soon forgot that she had ever needed them. For months past she has been filling a position in the rattan factory and can work as well as anyone. Indeed I do not believe that there is to-day a healthier girl in Walkerton.

Such is Mrs. Greenhow's story of the cure of her daughter through the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills after years of great suffering. We may add that a day or two later the writer called once more at the Greenhow abode in the hope of seeing the young lady herself. This time she was at home and she came into the room. She presented an appearance of the most perfect health. She repeated the story of her sufferings in substantially the same terms as her mother had done, and like her mother, gives all the credit to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

Rheumatism, sciatica, neuralgia, partial paralysis, locomotor ataxia, nervous headache, nervous prostration and diseases depending upon humors in the blood, such as scrofula, chronic erysipelas, etc., all disappear before a fair treatment with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. They give healthy glow to pale and sallow complexions. Sold by all dealers and postpaid at 50c a box, or six boxes for $2.50 by addressing the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont. Do not be persuaded to take some substitute.

U. S. Rails for Russia.

Pittsburg, Pa., June 21.—The Commercial Gazette says: The Carnegie Steel Company has contracted with representatives of the Russian Government to furnish that country with 180,000 tons of steel rails for its immense railroad enterprises in Siberia and China. This, it is said, is the largest order ever placed with one firm in the world, and represents an outlay of between $3,000,000 and $5,000,000. In filling the order 200,000 tons of pig iron will be consumed.

IT'S TOO RISKY

To undergo an operation for Itching Piles when Dr. A. W. Chase's Ointment is a surer, cheaper, easier way to cure.

Cruel, barbarous methods belong to the dark ages of the past. There was a time when a surgical operation was considered the only possible cure for piles. Not so now. Occasionally there is still found a physician who adheres to this dangerous and expensive method, but to every one who still believes in using the knife, ninety and nine recommend the use of Dr. Chase's Ointment.

Dr. C. M. Harlan, writing in The American Journal of Health, said:

"We know that 'Dr. Chase's Ointment' meets all the requisitions of the highest standard of worth, that it will be held in high esteem wherever it is used, and consequently we endorse it to every reader."

By force of merit alone Dr. Chase's Ointment has won its way into this wide, wide world, until it has made the name of Dr. Chase familiar in almost every home, and won for the venerable discoverer the title of "America's Greatest Physician."

Dr. Chase's Ointment has never been known to fail as a cure for piles. It matters not whether blind, itching, bleeding or protruding, Dr. Chase's Ointment is an absolute and perfect cure.

Dr. A. W. Chase's Ointment is the discovery of the author of Dr. Chase's Recipe Book, whose portrait and signature is on every box of the genuine. 60 c a box. All dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

Schooner "Wave Crest" in a Storm.

J. J. Turner & Sons have just got word from their captain that the schooner "Wave Crest" was loaded at Oswego with coal for Hamilton and that she had fine weather until within a few miles of Hamilton when the storm came on and she had to turn sail and run clear to Kingston before she could get shelter as none of the harbours on the north shore has water enough for a vessel to enter in ballast. She carried away her main gaff in the blow and the captain says she behaved admirably.

THE JUNE SESSION OF THE COUNTY COUNCIL

A BRIEF SESSION TO PRESENT REPORTS.

Arbitration re School Sections in Northern Townships—An Opportunity for Amicable Settlement to be Afforded.

FOURTH DAY, FRIDAY, JUNE 23.

County Council went into session. All the members present.

Mr. Forster, chairman, presented the report of the Committee on County Property as below:

The Committee on County Property beg leave to report as follows:

That the matter of the purchase of hose for the use of the Court House building and all necessary repairs to the County Buildings and grounds be left in the hands of the Warden and Chairman of this Committee with power to act.

The report was adopted.

SCHOOLS.

Mr. Eastland, chairman, read the report of the Committee on Schools as follows:

The Committee on Schools beg leave to report as follows:

1. Your Committee recommend that no action be taken upon the petition of Robert Gillies, President of the Peterborough Teachers' Association asking this Council to grant permission to them to hold their annual convention on Thursday and Friday instead of Friday and Saturday.

2. Your Committee recommend that this Council appoint three arbitrators, viz: His Honor Judge Weller, James Coyle Brown, Esq., Public School Inspector, and the Warden of this County, to hear the appeal of Thomas Hull and others from the refusal or neglect of the United Townships of Burleigh and Anstruther to form a new school section by dividing the boundaries of a school section or school sections within the said Townships.

3. Your Committee further recommend that the same persons be appointed arbitrators to hear the appeal of John T. Beech and others from the refusal or neglect of the United Townships of Galway and Cavendish to form a new school section by dividing the boundaries of a school section or school sections.

4. Your Committee would recommend inasmuch as the above appeals are expensive and are paid for by the local parties concerned that all the parties interested in the above appeals make an attempt to amicably settle the differences in question between them without resorting to arbitration and without incurring the costs of such appeal, and in order to allow time for such settlement, your Committee would suggest that the above arbitrators do not undertake their duties before the 20th day of August next to allow sufficient time to elapse to permit the parties to come together, and that the County Clerk be instructed to forward a copy of these resolutions to the petitioners and the respective Councils interested.

5. Your Committee recommend that the report of the County School Inspector be received.

All of which is respectfully submitted. received.

T. G. EASTLAND,
Chairman.

County Council Chambers,

1. Your Committee recommend that the report of this Committee adopted on the 28th day of January, 1899, be amended by striking out that part of paragraph "3" thereof restricting the giving of the printing of the tax sales to the Review or Examiner, and your Committee recommend that the printing of the tax sales be given to the Peterborough Times Printing Company in the usual course, provided they mail to each ratepayer in the Townships of Belmont an dMethuen, Harvey and Burleigh, Anstruther, Galway and Chandos a copy of the issue of their paper containing such tax sales.

THE COAT RECOVERED.

Alderman Best Notified That his Coat Has Been Found.

On Monday the Examiner published an item concerning Alderman Best's loss of his overcoat in Toronto at the Union Station. The sequel is to hand to-day in the shape of a letter from Chief of Police Grasett of Toronto, announcing that the coat has been recovered, and is awaiting him at the police department.

The coat was stolen from the waiting room at the Union Station on Sunday, while Mr. Best was out on the street. It was recovered on the 21st, which fact reflects credit on Toronto's police force.

A PECULIAR ANIMAL.

Mr. Alex. O'Brien's Dog Kills a "Fox-Raccoon."

Mr. Alex. O'Brien, who lives in Otonabee, about three miles out of Peterborough, has a rather peculiar looking animal, which was captured in the woods in that vicinity.

Mr. O'Brien's big collie dog came across the animal, which is believed to be a cross between a fox and a raccoon, and chased it into a small pond of water, where a fierce tussle took place between th etwo animals.

The fox-raccoon finally became exhausted, and was worried to death by the dog. The animal weighs about 50 pounds and is the first of its kind that has been seen around here.

Was as Usual a Big Success.

The annual picnic under the auspices of the Roman Catholic Parish of Douro was held in O'Brien's Grove on Thursday, and was as usual a big success.

The attendance was not confined to the township of Douro, for many persons from Peterborough and other places were in attendance. The usual amusements were provided for those who were there and all had a real good time. The dancing platform was a prominent attraction, and was well patronized. The meals were not the least inviting part of the day's programme, and were ably provided by the ladies of the parish. Rev. Father Keilty deserves much credit for the successful manner in which affairs were carried out.

FOREPAUGH AND SELLS BRO'S.

The Big Circus has Arrived in Town—Grand Street Parade.

The great Forepaugh and Sells Bros.' circus has arrived in town and has pitched tents in the driving park. The morning trains brought in large numbers of people, while many from the country people drove to town.

The procession consisted of the usual attractions of animals and gilded waggons, which together with the music of the bands made the procession well worth going many miles to see.

ABERDEEN ASSOCIATION.

Through the efforts of the local representative of this association, Mrs. C. B. McAllister, another large case of literature has been forwarded to the headquarters at Ottawa from Peterborough.

The aim of the association is to distribute literature among the thinly-settled districts of our Canadian Northwest.

The case contained 1,506 papers and magazines, contributed by the following persons, and the number of papers or magazines contributed: Miss Elsie Davidson, 56; Mr. R. M. Dennistoun, 130; Mrs. C. B. McAllister, 39; Mrs. T. Brooks, 338; Mr. D. Walker, 40; Rev. V. Clementi, 425; Peterborough Y. M. C. A., 478.

Any person having contributions of old literature in the future will send them to the Y. M. C. A.

Quick Work and Hard to Beat.

But it just the way Turner & Sons turn out their orders. This firm received a telegraph order for a 20x40 tent and 7 ft. walls, with poles, ropes, pegs and bags, complete. They got the order at 7 o'clock on Wednesday night, on Thursday they cut it out and shipped it, finished complete, at 7 o'clock Thursday night. This firm also received an order this morning for a 50 ft. tent complete also for a fancy red and white stripe tent to go inside of this. People seem to know where they get the best goods, hence the large number of orders this well known firm receives from all parts of the Dominion, United States, England and South Africa.

Attractions Greater Than Ever Before —Big Time Promised.

This year's annual picnic under the auspices of St. Peter's Cathedral, for the benefit of St. Joseph's Hospital, which will be held as usual on the beautiful grounds of St. Joseph's promises to be even more successful and attractive than any heretofore held.

The amusements will commence at 9 o'clock in the morning and from that until the conclusion of the fire works at night the affair will be most entertaining. A grand lacrosse match will be held at ten o'clock in the morning, between the Maple Leaf team of Campbellford, and the young Shamrocks of town. Much rivalry exists between these two organizations and the match on this date promises to be hotly contested. During the morning numerous races and other such events will be run off. At 12 o'clock a grand dinner will be served when every one who attends the event can rely on being well accommodated in this line. During the afternoon amusements of a similar nature to those that were run off in the morning, will be held whilst excellent music for dancing will be furnished by a first class orchestra. Nor will the entertainment conclude with the afternoon's programme, for at night one of the best display of fireworks that has been set off in Peterborough in many years, will be given among the many kinds of fire works that will be displayed on the grounds will be as follows:

THE SPORTS COMMITTEE.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir,—I understand the Quoits competition at St. Joseph's Hospital picnic is fixed for 9 a. m. As this is one of the important events on the programme of sports, and carries with it a valuable prize, I respectfully suggest that a later hour in the day for it be arranged. Out of town competitors should not be barred, and they cannot be on hand at so early an hour.

Yours, etc.,

MARKHAM WINS FROM PETERBORO'.

A Fast Game of Lacrosse Played Yesterday.

THE SCORE WAS FIVE TO SIX.

A Big Crowd Witnessed one of the Cleanest and Most Scientific Exhibitions Ever Given on the Athletic Grounds.

Once every year it seems to be the luck of the Peterboroughs to be worsted on their own grounds, and yesterday Markham administered the defeat for 1899 by scoring six goals to Peterborough's five, in a senior more than the visitors but they appeared to be deficient in scoring ability.

The biggest crowd of the season witnessed the game which was fought out on its merits. The Peterboroughs seemed to have the best of the play all through and handled the ball far more than the visitors but they seemed deficienc in scoring ability.

The Markham defence could not be enticed away from the flags, whilst the local defence men were led out every time there was an attack on their goal.

Concerning the home players on each team, it was noticed that there was considerable difference in their style of play, Markham plaing a wide combination, which led out the Peterborough defence, as before stated, whilst the Peterboroughs played straight in for the flags from centre rendering the blocking of the Markham goals, a comparatively easy matter.

No faster game was ever witnessed on the athletic grounds and the spectators should have been well pleased. Not one piece of rough play occurred and the only time a man was ruled off during the match was when Tommy Latimer, of Markham, laid down on the ball.

The visitors can attribute their victory to the fact that they were in better shape than the Peterboroughs, although the latter had trained carefully for the contest.

Mr. Thompson Beattie, of Toronto, refereed the game and gave the utmost satisfaction to the players of both teams, who lined up before him in the following order:

Markham—Kelly, goal; Glover, point; Wales, cover; Hamburg, Doyle, Scott, defence; Doyle, centre; Tefft, Querrie, Barlow, home; Lattimer, outside home; Lattimer, inside home.

Peterborough—Dobbin, goal; Lewis, point; Brown, cover; McDonough, Glover; Jim McCabe, defence; Bogart centre; King, Jack McCabe, Lipsett, home; Hollingshead, outside home; McClelland, inside home.

The first game went to the Peterboroughs who seemed to have all the best of the play keeping up a continual seige on the Markham flags. In five minutes Hollingshead scored on a pass from King, McClelland att he same time checking the goalkeeper's stick so sharply, as to prevent him from making a stop.

The next game was a corker, there being 17 minutes of fast play, which tested the staying power of the best of them. Dobbin made one beautiful stop but the game finally went to Markham on a clean shot by Tommy Lattimer.

Each team having one game to their credit prepared for a great struggle, but the tie was broken in one half minute when the ball from the face off passed to Glover, to McCabe, to Bogart, to King and to Hollingshead who scored.

In four minutes more Markham evened the score and in another four minutes were in the lead by one goal.

The excitement now became intense. The Peterboroughs brought Jimmy McCabe from the defence field and played him on the home. The change appeared to steady the work of the home considerably and after nine minutes hard play Jack McCabe evened the score and a great shout went up when Jim scored again for Peterborough in 4 1-2 minutes.

Just a minute later Billy Barlow scored for Markham and the score stood 4-4. Then Markham took the lead once emore and with eleven minutes left to play Jack McCabe tied the score.

Both teams played the fastest kind of lacrosse in endeavouring to score the deciding game and when Lattimer did the trick for Markham there was a great cheer from the supporters of that team which accompanied the twelve to Peterborough.

NOTES.

President Stark witnessed the game and called the Peterborough to win. He still thinks they are the best team and attributes their defeat to the fact that their defence men allowed the visitors to lure them away from the flags, leaving Dobbin unprotected.

Lewis put up a fine game yesterday and won many a cheer. His place however, is further out in the field.

Bogart at centre, showed that he was a fast man and decidedly a strengthener to the team.

The boys think that with a few judicious changes in the team and by careful training they can win from Markham on their own grounds.

About 250 excursionists accompanied the Markham team to Peterborough.

The Juniors expect to have a great game with Hastings on Monday.

A Scorcher!

To-day was a scorcher at Gough Bros., the clothiers. The temperature has been running up pretty high in sales the past few weeks at the wonderful cheap men's store, but to-day was the scorcher of the season. The clerks had to get an early hustle on for by 8 o'clock this morning there must have been about ten times the number of customers than there were clerks. Its hard to say who took in the money to-day, the Gough's or the circus. With a pull in the wholesale markets and the cash to back it up, they command the batteries that break down prices and storm the citadel when bargain opportunities are in the horizon. Its their business to know where and how to get an inside price. They are growing and keep growing—not necessarily in years—but in ideas, pluck and venture. You may not be able to understand how they do business or sell so low; but it don't matter, so long as you share in the benefits.

Your comeing orders will receive the most careful attention and the best groceries, liquors and temperance beverages at reasonable prices are for sale at the Spot Cash Grocery.

THE KENNEL.

Mr. C. B. McAllister's great imported collie arrived from England yesterday, and is indeed a magnificent looking fellow. Concerning him the Manchester Chronicle says:

Mr. C. Wrigley's well-known collie, "Laurel Laddie," again swept the decks at Ashford-in-the-Water, Derbyshire, on Thuraday, winning two firsts and three seconds, including a special for best collie, a special for best dog over 30 pounds weight, and finished a remarkable record by winning special for best dog or bitch, any age weight or breed.

At this show this handsome animal competed in England for the last time as the property of Mr. Wrigley. He has been sold at a long figure (in three figures), and leaves these shores "still winning" for Canada next Thursday. Mr. Wrigley will proceed to Liverpool with him, and put him on board en voyage to his new home at Peterborough, Ontario. Hearty expressions of hope that "Laurel Laddie" may continue his successful career go with him to his new home. Mr. Wrigley will miss his four-footed companion, who has been the subject of his constant care and attention.

"Laurel Laddie" has won 80 prizes, including 40 firsts and specials, a silver cup, three gold and silver medals, and finished at Ashford by winning the president's marble vase, valued at £2 2s.

"Our Dogs," of to-day's date has the following: "Canada has just become the richer, and England the poorer, by the transference of one of our most typical and attractive collies, in Mr. C. Wrigley's well-known 'Laurel Laddie,' (K. C. S. B.), who has been sold for a good figure to Mr. McAllister of Ontario, one of the leading collie enthusiasts. 'Laddie' is by 'Lord Houghton,' by 'Ormskirk Bendigo,' and has won upwards of 80 prizes, including 39 firsts and specials, and one silver cup, in a little over twelve months. He is a rich sable and white, with a phenomenal frill and beautiful chiselling of the head. 'Laddie,' who was recently illustrated on the front page of 'Our Dogs,' sails on Thursday next in the Allan line steamer Tainui, through th eCanadian Express Company Forwarding Agents, Liverpool."

The Prominence of Water at Social Functions.

Bonfort's, the leading American wine journal, says: The popularity of Appolinaris apparently has no limits. It is to be had in practically all parts of the world; and here, as in England, at every social function "The Queen of Table Waters" is brought into evidence. The menus of the Assembly balls given at the Waldorf-Astoria, the Metropolitan Club Dance at Sherry's, as well as the Vanderbilt and Astor balls, and the various large banquets of this winter and spring, establish the preeminence of Apollinaris. While the viands and wines vary, there is one uniform feature about the menus of these social functions, the presence thereon of Apollinaris.

During the Summer months, and in sympathy with our clerks, who need an extra hour's recreation, our store will close every evening at 7 o'clock, except Saturdays and evenings before a holiday.—HENRY & CO.

Toronto Live Stock.

Toronto, June 24.—Receipts of live stock were light yesterday—32 carloads, consisting of 800 cattle, 450 sheep, 60 calves and 600 hogs. The quality of fat cattle, stall-fed, was fairly good, but among the grassers there were some of very poor quality that were not wanted. Trade was fair, with prices well maintained for all grain-fed stock of good quality, but those of inferior quality, especially grassers, were slow of sale at 40c to 70c per cwt. less than the prices quoted below.

PARROTT DIED AS HE LIVED.

Hamilton Matricide Curses His Executioner at Death's Door.

Hamilton, June 24.—For the slaying of his aged mother, Benjamin Parrott was yesterday morning launched into eternity. Parrott died as he lived. His curses while at death's door. His last words were addressed to the hangman after the black cap had been adjusted, and were "You —— I'd like to get a crack at you!"

These words were spoken while Rev. R. Burns was delivering the Lord's prayer and the interruption caused him to stop, and when he resumed he missed the words, "Deliver us from evil," which are always the signal for the executioner to pull the lever. Consequently the hangman waited till the prayer was completed, and then the drop fell. Death was instantaneous. Dr. Chamberlain, inspector of prisons, who superintended the dreadful job, said Parrott's neck was broken by the drop of ten feet.

The hanging was a record-breaker in the matter of speed. It was just three minutes from the time the procession left the corridor till Parrott was pronounced dead. The body was cut down ten minutes after the drop fell, and after a jury had viewed it a post-mortem examination took place. The brain was normal, weighing 50 ounces.

Sheriff Middleton declines to disclose the name of the hangman. Whoever he is, he knows his business. While engaged at his work he wore a heavy false whisker. When the execution was over he disappeared, and when he appeared again the whisker was gone, disclosing a lantern-jawed face, with a heavy drooping moustache. It was said in the jail yard that his name was Thompson, and that he came from Toronto. He is an Englishman, and claims to have done the job before in England.

NEAR THE SOUTH POLE.

Dr. Cook Tells of the Belgian Antarctic Expedition.

New York, June 24.—Dr. Cook, who has returned from the Antarctic expedition, when seen at quarantine, said: "The Belgian expedition was organized in part by the Belgian Government and private subscriptions. I accompanied the expedition as surgeon and anthropologist. Briefly, our itinerary was as follows:

"Leaving Staten Land of the Southern Seas, on January 1, 1898, we proceeded directly for Cape Horn, taking soundings directly south from this point to the South Shetland Island, passing through this group to Palmer Land. We entered Palmer Land through Hughes' Gulf, which we found was not a gulf, but a strait, as long as Magellan and somewhat wider.

"We spent about two weeks surveying Hughes' Gulf, and finally emerged into the Pacific, and proceeded along the west border or coast of Graham's Land, until we entered the main body of pack ice west of Alexander Island. We passed through the pack ice about nine miles south, until we were frozen in. The vessel thus frozen in the pack ice remained fast for 13 months, during which we drifted 2,000 miles to and fro, and finally emerged into clear water at 108 west longitude. We then returned directly to Punta Arenas."

A CARD.

We, the undersigned, do hereby agree to refund the money on a twenty five-cent bottle of Dr. Wills English Pills, if, after using three-fourths of contents of bottle, they do not relieve Constipation and Headache. We also warrant that four bottles will permanently cure the most obstinate case of constipation. Satisfaction or no pay when Wills' English Pills are used.

An Awful Way to Suicide.

Toronto, June 23.—Death was sought by Mrs. William Breckon of 28 Gordon street in a horrible manner four days ago and she died at her home early yesterday morning as a result of self-inflicted injuries. Mrs. Breckon was the wife of a street car conductor and was about 40 years of age. Her mind was deranged and last Tuesday evening she slashed a knife across her abdomen and made a wound through which her bowels protruded. Physicians replaced the intestines and sewed up the wound. Peritonitis set in and the poor woman lingered in pain until death put an end to her sufferings. Her mania was religious.

Midland Carpenter Fell 75 Feet.

Midland, Ont., June 24.—At 3.30 yesterday afternoon John Johnson, a carpenter employed at the Midland Elevator Company's elevator, fell from a scaffold, which he had erected for alterations in the building, a distance of 75 feet, striking a large revolving shaft in the descent. The unfortunate man's head was crushed and his neck broken.

Italian Parliament Prorogued.

Rome, June 24.—Gen. Pelloux, the Premier, yesterday prorogued the Italian Parliament, after three weeks of successful obstruction by the Opposition and many violent scenes without having secured the passage of the Government bills to modify the rules of Parliamentary procedure and to restrict the liberty of the press and freedom of speech.

A ST. THOMAS CASE.

The Entire Population Talking of the Dodd's Kidney Pills Cures.

St. Thomas, June 12.—The great wave has reached St. Thomas. The cures wrought by Dodd's Kidney Pills are numbered by hundreds here, and the entire population, almost, is talking of them.

Michael Holleran, a farmer living near here, told our reporter, "Dodd's Kidney Pills saved me from an untimely grave." He was cured of Diabetes, of an aggravated type by a few boxes, after his doctors had failed to even relieve him.

So it goes. Everyone who has used Dodd's Kidney Pills has been cured. Bright's Disease, Diabetes, Paralysis, all diseases of the kidneys and the blood yield to their power. They never fail to cure these ailments.

THE YOUNG MOTHER

devotes herself to her first child as she never does to another. As child succeeds child she no longer reads them stories, tells them tales at twilight or joins with them in a merry romp at bed time. Does she give her later children less because she loves them less? No. She gives them less because she has less to give. The birth of each child has left her a little more weak, a little more nervous, a little more worn out. She hasn't strength to be their intimate and playmate. What a loss this means, to mother and to children. It is to such mothers, worn with the burden of motherhood and drained of vitality, that Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription comes as the greatest of blessings. The timely use of this remedy prevents the strain and stops the drain from child bearing. Where this strain and drain have been experienced, mothers find that Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription acting directly upon the delicate organs which bear the burden of motherhood, restores them to a normal condition of health and elasticity. Ulcerations are cured. Inflammations are removed. The appetite becomes good, sleep is refreshing, the nerves grow quiet. There is a new brightness in the eye; a new lightness in the step. There has come the perfect happiness of perfect health.

"I began taking your 'Favorite Prescription' in August, 1897," writes Mrs. Mollie E. Grimes, of Flomaton, Escambia Co., Ala., "and took it until after my baby was born. I was in better health than I ever was with any of my other children. I think all women with child should use Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. I suffered everything that flesh could suffer with all the rest of my children, and I was also subject to miscarriage. Now I am the happy mother of a fine baby girl. She was the largest one of all my babies and at the birth I had an easier and shorter time than I ever had. I am stouter and healthier than I ever was."

AGUINALDO IS TROUBLESOME.

The Philippine War Does Not Seem to Be Near Its End Yet.

Manila, June 4.—Aguinaldo does not seem to be satisfied with the attempt of the insurgents to retake San Fernando, and he has taken command of General Luna's army and has massed the largest rebel force yet mobilised, bringing 2,000 men from the Antipolo region. He is exceedingly troublesome. Last night his men wounded two members of the 17th Regiment. General MacArthur's men are constantly on the alert to repel any attacks by the rebels, sleeping upon their arms. The General sincerely hopes that the Filipinos will give him another chance for a battle, for the soldiers really enjoy an opportunity to fight them when they can do so without wading through swamps to catch them.

San Francisco, Cal., June 24.—Four companies of the 24th U. S. Infantry and 150 recruits sailed for Manila last night on the transport Zealandia. The transport also carried an immense amount of provisions and supplies for the army in the Philippines.

Churchill Going Into Politics.

London, June 24.—Lieut. Winston Leonard Spencer Churchill, eldest son of the late Lord Randolph Churchill, has been selected as the Parliamentary candidate for Oldham, in the Conservative interest, to replace the late Mr. Robert Crofts.

Choate Has the Alaskan Agreement.

London, June 24.—The officials of the Foreign Office yesterday morning sent the United States ambassador, Mr. Choate, a formal memorandum, embodying the temporary agreement reached in the Alaskan boundary on the situation.

A Morganatic Marriage.

London, June 23.—The wedding of Princess Marie of Mecklenburg-Strelitz to Count Charles de Jametel was solemnized quietly at the Catholic chapel of St. Elizabeth, Richmond, yesterday. The bride's parents, the Duke of Cambridge, and Prince and Princess Christian of Schleswig-Holstein, were among those present. The marriage has aroused comment, because it is morganatic. The Princess and the Count afterwards drove to the parish church at Kew, where they were re-married according to the rites of the Church of England.

ONLY.

It was only a trill of sweet laughter
That rang through the quaint old room,
That echoed from each lowly rafter,
And banished the stillness and gloom.
But it won from its evil designing
A heart that was sullen and wild,
And a life was redeemed from repining
By the innocent laugh of a child.

It was only a kind word of greeting,
A welcoming word and a smile.
The lips a sweet message repeating,
From a heart that was free from all guile.
And one who was weary with sorrow
Looked up from her vigil of pain
And, filled with new hope for the morrow,
Thanked God and took courage again.
—Anna E. Trent in Good Housekeeping.

Size of Golf Balls.

The Marquis of Lorne told a good golfing story at the dinner of the Wembley club. The queen, he said, once induced Count Schouvaloff, the Russian ambassador, to try a game of golf at Balmoral. The Russian did try, but after innumerable misses he turned round to one of the bystanders and said:

"Ach, monsieur, it would be a very nice game if the ball was ten times larger. Now let us go home."

But what he said in Russian to himself is not recorded.—London Globe.

How the Animals Managed to Get Admitted to the Show.

It appears that one idle day the frog, the duck, the lamb and the skunk started forth together to visit the show. Just what sort of show it was the chronicler doesn't state. Anyway, it was something that the queerly assorted quartet was anxious to attend, and they hopped and waddled and gamboled and trotted toward the big canvas inclosure with delightful throbs of anticipation.

Finally they reached the doortender, the frog leading the line.

Well, the frog had a greenback and passed right in.

The duck had a bill and followed the frog.

The lamb had four quarters and followed the frog and the duck.

But the unfortunate skunk was left on the outside. He had only a scent, and that was bad. Naturally he turned away, feeling pretty blue. As he was slowly going back over the hill he met a hoop snake rolling along at a lively rate toward the show. The skunk greeted him, but the snake did not stop.

"Don't interrupt me," he cried over his shoulder. "I've got to do a turn, and I'm a little late," and he rolled along.

At the top of the hill the skunk noticed another old friend approaching. It was the sardine.

"Hallo!" cried the sardine. "What's the matter?"

So the skunk told him.

"I can guess how you feel about it," said the sardine sympathetically. "I belong to the smelt family myself. But, say, old fellow, you come right back and go in with me—I've got a box."

And the skunk and the sardine went back together.

A PRESSMAN'S STORY.

Mr. Parnham Tells How Dodd's Kidney Pills Cured His Lumbago.

Toronto, June 19.—The story of the escape of the Globe pressman, Mr. Jno. H. Parnham, from the agonies of Lumbago, by using Dodd's Kidney Pills, is unusually interesting.

Mr. Parnham writes to the Dodd's Medicine Co., Limited, thus: "I am proud to testify to the wonderful efficacy of Dodd's Kidney Pills. About eight months ago I was attacked by severe pains in my back. I consulted an eminent physician, who said I had Lumbago, and told me to take Turkish baths. These did me no good.

"A friend advised me to try Dodd's Kidney Pills. I did so, and one box cured me. My back has never troubled me since."

The Woman of It.

Listen to this: A young lady quarreled so violently with her lover about a year ago that she fainted and fell into a cataleptic condition, in which she has remained ever since. Last week she was restored to consciousness, and, on seeing her lover at her bedside (to which he was hastily summoned by the doctors in attendance on the first gleam of her awakening), she at once resumed the quarrel at the point at which it was interrupted a year ago.

This goes to prove the consistency of the sex.—Cincinnati Commercial Tribune.

QUEER REVENGE OF A MAN WHOSE FRIEND WAS MURDERED.

He Took the Bones of the Murderer From the Grave and Hung Them on the Wall of His Outhouse—A Tragedy of the Civil War.

"Morning, colonel."

"Morning, sir," replied the man who was leaning over the fence.

He was a short, thickset man, with a clear and piercing eye, his face shaved smooth, with not the suggestion of a wrinkle; yet his hair was as white as snow. He had a slight southern accent, and his hearty manner of inviting the visitors in and his cordial hospitality were wholly southern. One of the visitors knew him and had told the other that there was a man with a bona fide skeleton in his closet and that the skeleton had a story. It did not require any persuasion to obtain a glimpse of the skeleton. The owner presently led the way to an outhouse, and, opening the door, displayed the skeleton of a man, badly fastened together and hanging to the wall by the neck. The Missourian did not object to telling the story.

"That fellow," he said, motioning with his thumb to the skeleton, "was once an acquaintance of mine, and I liked him so well"—this with a laugh—"that I have kept him by me ever since, so that I can come out and stir him up whenever I feel disposed," and he gave the skeleton a dig in the ribs.

"It was this way," he continued, closing the door on his acquaintance. "During the war I lived in one of the southern states, where I was about the only northern man. They took nearly everything that I had as time went on, killed my stock, killed some of my people and finally announced that they were going to kill me. Nearly all the country was terrorized at that time by a good for nothing chap whom we will call Jim Conner; that was not his name, but it will do—one name is as good as another now.

"When the war broke out, he started in as a sort of independent guerrilla and began a system of looting and killing. I knew him well, and he sent me word that he was coming my way and was going to burn my house and hang me to a tree in the yard. I sent word back that I was ready for him. We heard of him all around—men shot, niggers killed, houses burned—so that the name of Jim Conner became a thing to scare children, not to speak of men. I was always trying to help northern men, and one time had two or three with me, passing them on as occasion offered.

"I had not heard from Conner or his raids for some weeks, when one day he rode into the yard and swore that he was going to burn the house. We had no means of protecting ourselves except by using a rifle, and with that I tried to pick him off from the top story; but he had picked up one of my friends who had been in the field, and they put him on a horse and stood behind him and shot at the windows of the house, at the same time gathering brush with which, they said, to burn the house.

"But no one dared to approach the house, as I was a sure shot. I supposed that they would wait until night and then creep up and burn me out. I kept out of sight and could not believe that they would murder a man in cold blood. But, hearing a shout, I glanced through a bullet hole in the shutter and saw them driving my friend's horse up to a tree—a fine old tree that I had planted as a boy. One of the limbs crossed the drive, and to this they fastened the rope and drove the horse away, leaving my friend dangling there, and I watching the operation totally helpless, while they were looking on.

"Some United States troops finally came along and drove them off and cut the body down, and we joined in the chase. I hunted the gang for weeks, then gave it up, as it was evident that they had given us the slip. After the war I moved to California and came here. I soon heard of a curious character who lived up in one of the canyons the life of a hermit. I never connected his name with Conner, it being more or less common. But when he died one day the story was that he had had a bad record back in Missouri; that he had been a murderer, etc., and it occurred to me that it might be my old enemy, the man I had been after for so many years.

"I can't say that I have a particularly revengeful disposition," said the skeleton owner, "but he had murdered my friend, and I had never given up the hope of finding him and was always on the lookout. The old fellow was alone and homeless, it seems, with no friends, and they had buried him by the side of his hut. I heard of it a few days later and employed some men to aid me in the investigation.

"Conner had a bad saber wound across the face, by which no one could ever fail to recognise him, and when we opened the grave there was the man, while papers which he left showed that he was Conner. I had found him too late to turn him over to the law. So I proposed to hang him where I could keep an eye on him for the rest of my life, and in my will I propose to leave instructions that he shall be left hanging, dangling in the wind, just as he had hanged my friend. I had his skeleton prepared, as no one claimed him, and hung him up as a warning to any of his seed that might follow in his footsteps."

Scrofula.

Another permanent cure by B.B.B. after two doctors failed.

Ask any doctor and he will tell you that, next to cancer, scrofula is one of the hardest diseases to cure.

Yet Burdock Blood Bitters applied externally to the parts affected and taken internally cured Rev. Wm. Stout, of Kirkton, Ont., permanently, after many prominent physicians failed; Cured Mrs. W. Bennet, of Crewson's Corners, Ont., permanently, when everyone thought she would die. Now Mr. H. H. Forest, Windsor Mills, P.Q., states his case as follows:

"After having used Burdock Blood Bitters for scrofula in the blood, I feel it my duty to make known the results. I was treated by two skilled physicians, but they failed to cure me. I had running sores on my hands and legs which I could get nothing to heal until I tried B.B.B. This remedy healed them completely and permanently, leaving the skin and flesh sound and whole."

A NEW INVENTION!

The Newcombe Piano Has It.

It consists of a Patented Practice CLAVIER or STOP which diminishes the tone when required and saves wear on the Piano; it also does away with the old way of having to press down the pedal with the foot in order to soften the tone when running the scales or practicing. Oftentimes the young pupil on the piano cannot press down on the pedal without throwing themselves out of the proper position when they should sit erect. This invention in the NEWCOMBE PIANO will enable children to begin two years earlier on the piano. In addition to the above, the NEWCOMBE PIANO is the finest made in Canada. Children often complain about practicing; they like it if they have a NEWCOMBE PIANO. 1899 styles are gems of art, containing every late improvement; they possess that beautiful full sweet tone which lights the singer, and so pleases every musical ear. Organs of every description at Wholesale Prices.

Big Bargains now on hand in slightly used Upright and Square Pianos of the various makes taken in part exchange for the famous NEWCOMBE PIANOS. SHED SKIN 20 TIMES

Little Boy's Terrible Eczema. Mass of Sores from Head to Foot.

Not an Inch of Body Unaffected. Skin Came off with Bandages.

Screams Were Heart-Breaking. 3 Doctors & Institute no Avail.

CURED BY CUTICURA.

My little boy broke out with an itching rash. I tried three doctors and medical college but he kept getting worse. There was not one square inch of skin on his whole body unaffected. He was one mass of sores, and the stench was frightful. At the time I was induced to try CUTICURA remedies, he was so bad that I had to cut his hair all off, and put the CUTICURA (ointment) on him on bandages, as it was impossible to touch him with the bare hand. In removing the bandages they would take the skin with them, and the poor child's screams were heart-breaking. After the second application of CUTICURA (ointment) I saw signs of improvement, and the sores began to dry up. His skin peeled off twenty times, but now he is entirely cured. I used CUTICURA RESOLVENT for his blood, and a stronger and healthier boy you never saw than he is to-day.

LETTERS ON CHRISTIAN UNITY

NO. 5.

Rev. H. Symonds.

"The reductio ad absurdum of sectarianism, as a philosophy of religion is complete. As a people we have ceased to believe any longer in sectarianism; but the task of doing away with the thing now that it has been saddled upon us looms so large as almost to incapacitate us for effort." —Rev. Dr. Huntingdon of New York.

Dr. Huntingdon, who is an ardent advocate of Christian Unity, in the above words hits the nail square on the head. The general public does not believe in sectarianism, it believes in Unity. At the same time it has no very deep faith in the possibility of Unity. It lacks the courage of its convictions. It is like a body of men who should stand before a dense swamp. They know that somewhere on the other side lies a fair and fertile country. But they do not know exactly where it lies, nor how to get it, and so whilst from time to time they talk about it, they are on the whole content to remain where they are. But some day a few resolute and believing people make the attempt to break a road through the swamp. The rest look on in a critical mood. The explorers make many mistakes, they have to retrace their steps, sometimes they lose themselves, but still they press on—some day they break through every difficulty, and then the multitude that looked on will hasten to take advantage of the benefits won for them by others.

This parable, rough and ready may it be, seems to me to describe the present condition of the world, in regard to Christian Unity. Men believe it is desirable, but they also believe it to be impossible, and when questioned they will tell you that they do not know what it is. Meantime the unifying process is going on. The trees are being cut down, the hills are being levelelled, and the valleys filled up, and the highway of the Lord is being built.

This letter is intended to be practical. The Scriptural testimony has been passed in review, the results of reflection upon the facts of human nature and human history have been set forth. Scripture tells us of "the Kingdom of God," a kingdom which although spiritual need not any the less be visible. Man is a Spiritual being. It is his Spiritual nature that separates him from the beasts. But he has also a body. And that body is more than once used by St. Paul as the figure of the Church. True inward and Spiritual Unity must manifest itself in outward visible shape. The study of history and humanity, again, seem to point to the absolute necessity of a Universal Society. The Family is necessary, the nation is an aggregation of families, why should we pause here: Must there not in like manner be an aggregation of nations, a Universal Society! And therefore I believe that the Family which man did not invent, but which is the necessary condition of his being, and the nation, and finally the Church, are all divine institutions, each of which has its own part and lot in the perfection of the human race.

What are the evils of division? I have read that in Tokio, Japan, there are six divinity schools representing different Christian bodies, and working in entire independence of each other. This seems a strange way of winning Japan to Christ. As a matter of fact Christ takes a secondary place. The Anglicans want to turn the Japs into Anglican Christians, the Methodists into Methodist Christians and so on. Now what do the Japanese themselves think of this. It is not denied that much good has been accomplished. "New Japan" says a competent authority is largely a product of Christian influences." That is good and we put it gladly to the credit of even the imperfect form in which Christianity has come to the Japanese. On the other hand a Japanese writer, evidently a religious man, and one who has come under the influence of Christianity, declares that Japan is to be the saviour of the United States. And from what is the United States to be saved? Our Japanese author tells us that the United States needs salvation from dissensions in religion!

Turn from the Foreign Mission Field to the Home. In the wealthy part of New York churches are thick; in the poor parts the churches are few. The consciences of the wealthy are salved by the establishment of missions among the very poor. But even these are few and far between. But so long as Christianity is competitive this must continue. Probably nearly double as much money as is really required, is spent on the mere machinery of the Church. Meantime the poor have NOT the Gospel preached to them.

I have no desire to exaggerate the evils of to-day. Evils and abuses there have always been. There are splendid men working, and splendid work being done, but the spectacle of religion in such a city as New York, is not altogether edifying. A visitor going to New York would come back with glowing accounts of the magnificent church buildings, the entrancing music, the soul-stirring eloquence. But it would not occur to him to investigate the buildings and the singing, and the preaching in the slums. We may be sure that if Christ came to New York He would go amongst the poor, just as he did 1900 years ago, and we might picture him coming up from the slums, and entering some of the grand buildings around Fifth Avenue, and asking this one and that one, why they spent twenty thousand dollars on this or that religious luxury. And the truth would have to be confesed; and would it not often be this? The church in the next block spent fifteen thousand, and we spent twenty to get ahead of them. If we did not do this we should go behind, for competition is so keen.

Christian Unity would, to a certainty, alter this. Competition is said to have done much. No doubt it accounts for the expenditure of much money. But I, for one, wish to assert positively that I do not believe competition in religion has made people better, but worst. We can get get along without competition. What is needed is co-operation. I find nothing whatever about competition in religion in the New Testament. I find much about co-operation. "We that are strong," says St. Paul, "ought to bear the infirmities of the weak, and not to please ourselves." "Bear ye one another's burdens," he said, "and thus fulfil the law of Christ." "Look not each of you to his own things, but each of you also to the things of others." "Be of the same mind, having the same love being of one accord, of one mind; doing nothing through faction or vainglory, but in lowliness of mind each counting the other better than himself."

These and many similar passages are just as applicable to societies as they are to individuals.

There are then practical evils in the divided state of Christendom. Next week we will try and consider some advantages of unity.

But I must not conclude this letter without a word of thanks to Rev. Mr. Shorey for his kind words to the Foresters regarding these letters last Sunday night in the George street Methodist church. As reported in the Examiner, I find myself in entire accord with his remarks, and later on hope very plainly to show the harmony between us.

Children Cry for CASTORIA.

SOME MILITARY NEWS.

Lieut.-Col. Rogers, of Grafton, late commanding officer of the 40th Northumberland Battalion, has just recovered from a protracted illness.

Major Howard, who died last week in Hastings, was one of the best known military men in this district. He was at one time paymaster of the 57th Battalion.

Mr. Fred Tait, an old Cobourg boy, but for many years a member of the United States navy, has been visiting his former home. He left last week to again join the Battleship Minneapolis.

During the camp at Niagara-on-the-lake some thief entered the tents of Captain Burchard and Lieutenant Roach, of the 34th Battalion, and carried off a ten dollar bill belonging to the former, and a gold watch belonging to the latter.

The regimental band of the 34th Battalion has been changed from Oshawa to Uxbridge.

The City of Rochester must intend having a monster military celebration on July 4th, and the probabilities are that the Canadian militia will be well represented. In addition to the 57th Battalion being invited, the Prince of Wales Rifles, and the 15th Battalion of Belleville have received a like invitation. The Prince of Wales Rifles of Kingston have finally decided to accept the invitation.

The 45th Victoria Battalion is certainly one of the most flourishing rural organizations in the district. Their officers are energetic, and always on the alert to introduce anything that may prove attractive, or add to the comfort of the men. On Monday last a grand military concert was held in the Lindsay skating rink, at which there was a very large attendance. The big building was beautifully decorated for the occasion, and the Batt. band rendered excellent music during the evening. In addition to vocal and instrumental music, there were several exciting bouts between members of the different companies, consisting of "Bayonet vs. bayonet," "sabre vs. bayonet," etc. A grand military promenade was a very attractive number of the programme. The proceeds of the entertainment will be used to provide the men with a few luxuries during their camp at Niagara. Capt. Garnet Hughes, of the Royal Military College, son of Col. Sam Hughes, of the 45th Victoria Battalion, will act as adjutant of that corps during the annual camp at Niagara.

The bugle band of the 57th. is getting into excellent shape under the direction of Prof. Gliddon. The boys had an excellent practice on Monday evening.

The 15th Battalion of Belleville, intend running an excursion to Niagara-on-the-lake while the military camp of instruction is in progress. The trip is finding great favour with the men and will no doubt be a most pleasant one. Colonist sleeping cars will be used and each man will have a berth with plenty of blankets. But one hour will be given to drill, and the balance of the day will be free to the men.

The decision of the officers of the local Battalion to declare the trip to Rochester off for July 4th, while it is to be regretted, in one sense is perhaps the most satisfactory way of disposing of the question. While the people of Peterborough would like to see their soldier boys take in such a trip, still if the ranks are not sufficiently filled to guarantee a creditable showing everyone will agree that it is best to stay at home.

The annual church parade will be held on July 2nd, when it is to be hoped the ranks will be well filled.

The local squadron of the Third Prince of Wales Canadian Dragoons and staff officers will attend divine worship at St. Luke's church to-morrow, when their chaplain, Rev. H. Symonds, will preach to them. Rev. Mr. Symonds was unavoidably detained at home from camp this year, an incident that was greatly regretted by the officers and men of the regiment.

TESTIMONIAL TO SIR WILFRED.

The movement on foot to collect a fund of $100,000 as a testimonial to Sir Wilfrid Laurier, deserves every encouragement. Lord Strathcona, always identified with worty objects, and always distinguished by a princely generosity, has forwarded a cheque for $10,000 to the fund, and promises to double the amount, if necessary. The immediate cause of this appeal to the public-spirited men of Canada is the necessity of instituting an income for the Prime Minister if this country wishes to retain his services. Sir Wilfrid is not a wealthy man, and although he receives that which under ordinary conditions would be regarded as a fair salary, the calls upon a man in his position are boundless; the consequence that unless extra provision is made for him the Prime Minister will be obliged to step down and out to engage in some more lucrative employment than that of helmsman of the ship of state. It is a sign that the affairs of Canada are administered without corruption in high places when the chief man in the Government becomes poor in the service of his country. The same spotless integrity exists in British politics; in several instances public men of Great Britain have received presentations to enable them to continue in harness. It will be generally admitted that Sir Wilfrid has displayed a genius in statemanship. His services to Canada have been substantial and will be of perennial value. Canada cannot afford to lose such a man as Sir Wilfrid Laurier.

"A YOUNG MAN'S CHANCES."

At the Sunday afternoon song service for men at the Y. M. C. A., Mr. J. Redman, a formen member of the Toronto Y. M. C. A., will speak. His subject will be "A Young Man's Chances."

To-night at eight o'clock the secretary will lead in the discussion of the subject, "Persecution." The Saturday evening meetings have been largely attended thus far.

A member from the association will speak at the gaol on Sunday at 9.30 a. m.

CANADA'S U. S. TRADE

Scales of Prejudice Now Falling From American Eyes.

POCKET VIEW OF FRIENDSHIP.

Special Statements of U. S. Trade With the Dominion Prepared at Washington—Some Interesting Figures to Canadians — This Country a Valuable Market, and This People Progressive.

Montreal, June 26.—The Herald has the following special from Washington: The fear that the negotiations of the joint high commission would never be renewed, followed as it was by the gratifying progress accomplished by means of direct correspondence between Washington and London, has led this Government to reflect rather seriously on the bad consequences of failure and the advantages of success. An indication of this profitable state of feeling is found in the fact that the bureau of statistics of the Treasury Department last week prepared a statement showing the growth of the export trade of the United States with Canada. Of course the country would be very sorry to lose the Canadian trade, or to have its value depreciated, and there has been a good deal said recently about the poor policy of allowing Canadian markets to be impaired by reason of petty international bickerings. The danger and folly of maintaining or cultivating national antipathies, which Washington so strongly deprecated, would be reason sufficient to call out the utmost endeavor of both parties to remove all causes of contention, and in addition, both Canada and the United States, if guided by "enlightened self-interest," should spare no effort, it is argued, to establish the most amicable relations and the freest exchange of commodities that is practicable.

Here are some figures that were included in the special statements prepared by the Treasury Department, and they give some idea of the value of Canada's markets to the United States: In 1898 all Mexico, Central and South America and the West Indies, with a population of 54,000,000, bought from the United States products valued at $86,786,000, while Canada, with only 5,500,000 inhabitants, purchased $86,557,00 worth of United States goods. The United States sold to the Canadians more than $86,000,000 worth of products and bought from them $85,460,000 worth of their produces. In spite of Canada's preferential duties in favor of the Mother Country, British exports to Canada increased only about ten per cent. in 1898, while United States exports to Canada increased over 35 per cent., and during the same period the United States sent to Canada $35,000,000 worth of manufactures, or $6,000,000 more than England sold there. The United States bought from the Canadians only about $5,000,000 worth of their farm products, while the United States supplied them from American farms $15,000,000 worth. Canada bought $40,000,000 worth of products which were entered duty free, and of their products on the same terms the United States took only $14,000,000 worth.

American producers are not only deeply conscious of the value of the Canadian market, but they realize that Canada offers a field which is becoming better with rapid strides. The people in the United States are gradually coming to realize that the Canadians are a progressive English-speaking people who are both prosperous and thrifty, that they are consumers and buyers and that the Filipinos, Latin Americans and such peoples are not to be compared with them as users and traders.

A HITCH IN THE NEGOTIATIONS.

Great Britain Requests Another Modification in Alaska Boundary.

Washington, June 26.—The memorandum handed to Ambassador Choate at London on Friday concerning the modus for a temporary agreement upon the Alaskan boundary was only another step in the negotiations. A modification has been requested by the British Government, which the United States will have to consider. The negotiations had progressed so favorably up to the time of this last memorandum, that the belief was expressed that an agreement would soon be reached. The points of difference between the Governments are not made public, but the modification requested by the British Government does not meet with favor by those who are conducting the negotiations for the United States, as the last proposition submitted by this Government was believed to contain all essential concessions, and to be fair in every respect to the Canadians and to the British Government.

VILLAGE NEARLY WIPED OUT.

Thirty or Forty Houses at St. Raymond Que., Destroyed by Fire.

St. Raymond, Que., June 26.—This village was almost wiped out by a fire which started about 11.30 yesterday morning in a stable belonging to Mrs. Edward Plamondon, and which is believed to have been started by a tramp sleeping there during the night. The fire spread with great rapidity and, there being no fire appliances here, the inhabitants were powerless to stay the progress of the flames. Assistance was telegraphed for to Quebec and five engines were sent by special train from there, a distance of about 35 miles. When the engines arrived here about 30 or 40 houses had been consumed, with several outhouses. The convent caught fire and was damaged in the upper portion to the extent of about $3,000. The loss will amount to fully $100,000, and is well covered by insurance.

AT THE CAPITAL.

British Guiana Trade Commissioners—Jamaican Reciprocity Delegates Ordered to Confer With the Premier.

Ottawa, June 26.—Sir Cavendish Boyle and Mr. E. Dejongh, commissioner from the Government of British Guiana, arrived in Ottawa yesterday morning to confer with the First Minister concerning the extension of Canadian trade with the South American colony. News of the contract between Messrs. Pickford & Black and the Imperial and Canadian Governments was conveyed to the British Guiana commissioners, who to-day will interview Sir Wilfrid Laurier and will impress upon him the desirability of extending our trade with British Guiana. A very strong obstacle will have to be overcome if the negotiations are to be successful, in that British Guiana imposes a particularly high customs tariff on flour, wheat and manufactured articles which Canada would export. It is hoped that some arrangement may be arrived at.

Ordered to Go to Ottawa.

Kingston, Jamaica, June 26.—The Secretary of State for the Colonies, Mr. Joseph Chamberlain, has directed the Governor of Jamaica, Sir Augustus W. L. Hemming, to instruct the reciprocity delegates to proceed immediately from Washington to Ottawa, for the purpose of conferring with the Dominion authorities on the whole project of Jamaica's future relations with Canada. The reason for this step is not known, but many people supposed Mr. Chamberlain doubts the practical results of the American negotiations and desires to hasten the movement for the alternative Canadian annexation.

EFFECT OF FIRMNESS.

Good Results From Britain's Attitude Towards Transvaal.

A FRANCHISE COMPROMISE.

A Bond Counter-Move—It Seeks Milner's Recall From South Africa—A Petition From Members of the Cape Parliament to Her Majesty Queen Victoria—Denial From Joubert.

London, June 26.—The firm attitude of Great Britain appears to be having the desired effect in the Transvaal complications. The latest cablegrams from South Africa talked of various semi-official missions for negotiations between Cape Town, Bloemfontein and Pretoria, aiming to arrange a franchise compromise on a basis of five or six years' past residence.

President Kruger is represented as agreeable to some such arrangement, but is finding considerable difficulty in handling his own conservative element. In a reported interview he is alleged to have said regarding the war rumors that mountains were made out of mole hills, and that he was firmly convinced Queen Victoria would never allow "letting loose the dogs of war" over South Africa.

Buying Guns in Italy.

The Government of the South African Republic, according to a despatch to The Daily Mail from Rome, is ordering large quantities of rifles from Italian firms for immediate shipment.

Milner's Recall Asked For.

London, June 26.—Word has been received here that an address petitioning the Queen to recall Sir Alfred Milner from his post as British high commissioner for South Africa has been forwarded by members of the Cape Parliament.

This petition is a new phase of the trouble in South Africa. The news from Cape Town does not tell why the members of Parliament ask the recall of the commissioner, who is one of the most bland and tactful diplomats of Britain.

Joubert Denies It All.

Pretoria, June 26.—In an interview today Gen. Joubert, the Commander-in-Chief of the Transvaal forces, denied that he had ordered guns from the Krupp's or batteries from the United States, as had been reported.

BRIGANDS KILL RUSSIANS.

Sudden Death of Police Magistrate O'Gara of Ottawa.

The terra cotta works of William Galloway at Philadelphia were entirely destroyed by fire on Saturday. Loss, $100,000; insurance, $75,000.

Eight people were injured, one perhaps fatally, in a wreck on the Pittsburg & Western Railway at Renfrew, 39 miles north of Pittsburg, on Sunday.

The Russian Minister of Marine, Vice-Admiral Tyrtoff, has assigned the sum of eleven million roubles for dredging and the construction of two moles at Port Arthur.

The Shanghai Daily News publishes a despatch from Newchwang, saying two Russian engineers and ten Cossacks have been killed by brigands near Kirin, Manchuria.

News comes from Bitlis, Asiatic Turkey, that two hostile tribes of Kurds, fighting in that district, have killed many Armenians and have burned several of their villages.

Capt. John Williams, for many years gas inspector of the London, Ont., district, died suddenly at his residence on Saturday morning. Capt. Williams served through the Crimean war.

Word has reached Toronto that Bishop Newnham, the head of the Moosonee Anglican Diocese, reached Missanabie safely on Saturday. The party was a week behind scheduled time.

Word has been received at San Diego, Cal., that a party of 20 miners, bound for the Sierra Pintada placers, lost their way in the desert and wandered around a long time, finally dying of thirst.

The German students' memorial procession on Saturday to Bismarck's mausoleum at Friedrichsruhe was a splendid demonstration. Herbert Bismarck and the ladies of the family received the procession at the mausoleum.

Police Magistrate Martin O'Gara of Ottawa died on Sunday. He was attacked with apoplexy on Thursday last and succumbed on Sunday. Deceased was a native of Ireland, born in the County Mayo, and came to Canada in 1857. He was 73 years of age.

Melville Patchett of Toronto Junction, aged 17, went into Kennedy's pond to bathe on Saturday. On trying to touch bottom he sank in 15 feet of water and was drowned. Glenny Matheson, who was with him, was unable to save both. Homer Doyle brought the lifeless body to the front.

OUR OTTAWA LETTER.

Ottawa, June 17.—A very important contribution to the information already in possession of the public anent the Alaskan boundary dispute was made by the Premier the other day when he announced that he had decided to grant no further charters for railway construction in the Yukon Territory until an understanding had been reached on the boundary question. The desire is to take no action which would complicate the situation; and it is the opinion of the Government that the construction of a railway over the Dalton trail for instance leading to the creation of a town of no inconsiderable importance at Pyramid Harbour on the Lynn Canal, within the disputed territory, and the general development of the surrounding country would prejudice the case for Canada. While the effect of such a policy must necessarily be to retard in some measure the immediate development of the country there is no question of its wisdom. The difficulty suggested is a very real one and has already made itself seriously felt in the cases.

Mr. Davin's Little Paper.

"Oh that mine adversary had written a book," exclaimed Job of old, and the present day modification of the phrase might well be, "Oh that my political opponent would start a newspaper." The Liberal and independent papers of the West, are having lots of fun with a little stranger which has recently been born into the journalistic family in Regina, fathered by the Conservative party, and committed to the maternal care of Mr. Nicholas Flood Davin, M.P., with that valuable gentleman as the chief editorial writer in its columns. The leading role so far adopted, appears to be that of, "the friend of the farmer;" not a particularly original character, and one which will require more than classic editorials and glittering generalities to appeal to the intelligence and capture the vote of the western electorate. A high moral tone pervades those editorial columns. The ethics of the infant are beyond reproach but when the member for West Assiniboia undertakes to lecture western supporters of the Government upon their "humiliating position in surrendering themselves unconditionally to the Government," the opportunity offers and is unfeelingly accepted to remind the writer of the innumerable occasions in the past when he laid aside all previous convictions and stultified his own words and actions by blindly supporting his Government every time. It will require all the efforts of the Davin journal to elect its man at the next general election, particularly as he is not likely again to have the benefit of the casting vote of the returning officer.

The Preference is Appreciated.

Among the transient visitors to the Capital this week is Sir James Poole of Liverpool, who in conversation with the newspaper men declared that Canada was now attracting more attention in England than any other colony, more in fact than any other part of the world. British manufacturers he added are delighted with the preference extended to them in the Canadian tariff, and he thinks that next year's business will necessitate an increase of at least 25 per cent. in the numbering of travelling men who come from Britain to Canada. With the local and Federal authorities actively engaged in fostering Canadian trade in Britain and with the British manufacturer awakening to the value of the Canadian market for his goods it is a matter of no surprise that trade is developing by leaps and bounds. But even well-informed journals get mixed up at times as was the case with St. James' Gazette, London, Eng., a couple of weeks ago, when it remarked: "The Canadian budget is one more piece of evidence that when people will work and have good natural resources they can prosper even with injudicious tariffs. But the most interesting thing about it is what it tells of the famous preferential customs.

A Curious Misunderstanding.

"It seems that what has really happened is that Canada has screwed her tariffs up all round, and given reductions to those who treat her fairly, (which in practice means the Mother Country only) still leaves them paying more than they did before. Of course there is still an advantage to those who do not pay the maximum but the tendency of fiscal methods of this kind is not to encourage trade."

The St. James Gazette will find considerable difficulty in producing evidence to prove that this is "what has really happened." To show that this is not the case I will repeat a few lines from the Finance Minister's last budget speech, delivered May 2nd, which will probably be accepted by most as a closer indication of facts than the ill-informed editorial comments of the St. James Gazette. Mr. Fielding said: "As an illustration of the extent and value of this preference I want to give the House of goods imported by one of the large mercantile houses in Canada. The merchant imported 91 packages of dry goods covering a wide range. I will read you a list of the articles: gloves, caps, wool fabrics, lace, wool, cloth, garter elastic, wool yarn, white cotton, tape, ribbons, lace curtains, linens, damask, handkerchiefs, towels. I think we may regard that as a fairly representative statement of a general line of British dry goods. Now, what is the effect of the tariff on that importation? Under the old tariff the duty would have been $3,754 equal to 30.82 per cent. The amount actually paid by the Montreal merchant who imported these goods was $3,059.88 equal to 24.93 per cent. making a reduction in that one importation under the preferential tariff in favour of British goods of $695.12, being equal to 5.69 per cent on the value of the goods."

Canada's Paper Trade.

The promising outlook for the Canadian paper trade is attracting favourable attention in the Old Country. An influential North of England journal in a recent issue observes: "There is every sign that the supply of paper specially available for the huge journals of the United States will shortly give out. Some of the great New York papers use from sixty to one hundred and twenty tons a day, the number of books published in the States is enormous, and paper is now being used for basins, buckets, wheels, roofing and many other things. Spruce wood is the only timber in America which has been found suitable for printers' paper, and there is certainly not more than six or seven years supply left, as the American spruce timber lands are fast disappearing. But as the writer in "Industries and Iron," recently pointed out, this is Canada's opportunity. Spruce pulp can be produced in the Dominion for two dollars a ton or six dollars cheaper than in the States. The Canadian claim that they can manufacture paper cheaper than establishing pulp mills with which any other country, and they are now they hope to secure the European trade, and in time also to capture the markets of the States. Canada has enormous spruce forests, and it is to be hoped that she will seize the opportunity and moreover, that the capital and enterprise of the Dominion and not of the States will be invested in it."

The Apollinaris natural mineral water is known throughout the world; its name is a household word. The spring from which it is drawn and where it is bottled is near Ahrweiler, in Rhenish Prussia, a few miles west of the Rhine. It takes its name from the Apollinaris church situated on the hill at Remagen, a picturesque structure, which attracts the eye of travellers on the Rhine.

In 1851, on the location of the spring was a vineyard, but as it did not thrive the owner consulted a celebrated geologist and chemist, who found that the soil was strongly impregnated with carbonic acid gas. This led to the discovery of the spring, which soon attained a fame that has steadily grown, and now its fillings amount to twenty-three millions of bottles annually.

Chemists and scientists of many countries have lauded it for its great value as a dietic and hygienic agent, so that it has become the foremost table water; but having besides its refreshing and healthful qualities a most agreeable taste, it has become the fashionable water.

SOME MILITARY NEWS.

Mr. Alfred Hayter of Toronto, who founded the first newspaper in Millbrook, known as the Millbrook Messenger, and who continued in the newspaper business in that village for many years, is writing a series of letters to the Millbrook Reporter entitled "Mr. Hayter's Reminiscences." In his last letter he makes reference to the Millbrook company of infantry which went to the front in 1866. The company was in command of Capt. Howden, with Lieut. H. Turner, and Ensign John Hunter. Capt. Howden is now Major Howden of Port Hope, and Lieut. Turner is Surgeon-Col. Turner on the retired list of the 3rd Dragoons. There are a number of members of this company now residents of Peterborough.

Mr. Hayter says: This item taken from my Messenger, March 21st, 1-3 of a century ago—no doubt will be read with interest at the present day: About 9.30 o'clock on Saturday night last, when a telegram was received for the Millbrook Volunteers to go to Cobourg with all possible haste, the bugler's notes rang out loud and clear. Notwithstanding the inclemency of the weather in about ten minutes the most of the company were in the drill shed, in fighting trim, ready to receive the Fenians with, shall we say open arms. After some time spent in exercises, etc., Capt. Howden marched his company to the station and telegraphed for a train. In a short time he received a reply that a train would be sent out to Peterborough for the Companies there and would return through Millbrook at six o'clock in the morning. The men were then marched back to their quarters and at 11.30 o'clock dismissed, to be called again at 5 in the morning.

To judge from the lively spirit of the men they were delighted at the prospect of having a "scrimmage," in fact may of them said they would be bitterly disappointed if they were not gratified in this little matter.

Punctually at 5 o'clock they were again called and quickly assembled at their quarters, where they remained till nine to take the train from Peterborough. They were accompanied to the station by a large number of the inhabitants. On board the train were the Lakefield and Peterborough Companies. Our boys got aboard and as the train moved off a hearty cheer was given them.

It was only a few days after they returned from camp, when the real invasion occurred, in the beginning of June, when they were again called out. Friday night's train took in the two Peterborough and Lakefield Companies and a special train left on Saturday morning with the Millbrook Company at 9.15, arriving at Port Hope at 9.55, making the run in 40 minutes.

The four Companies already in and the Port Hope Companies were on board the Corinthian waiting for their Millbrook friends, who marched direct from the station to the wharf. In about half an hour the Corinthian, with colours flying and band playing, steamed away from the wharf, the crowds cheering and those on board returning the cheers. Kell's band accompanied the Millbrook boys to the station.

Discovered by a Woman.

Another great discovery has been made, and that, too, by a lady in this country. "Disease fastened its clutches upon her, and for seven years she withstood its severest tests, but her vital organs were undermined and death seemed imminent. For three months she coughed incessantly, and could not sleep. She finally discovered a way to recovery by purchasing of us a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, and was so much relieved on taking the first dose that she slept all night; and with two bottles has been absolutely cured. Her name is Mrs. Luther Lutz." Thus writes W. C. Hamnick & Co., of Shelby, N. C. Trial bottle free at James Lynch's drug store. Regular size, $1 and 50c. Every bottle guaranteed.

A NEW INVENTION!

The Newcombe Piano Has It.

It consists of a Patented Practice CLAVIER or STOP which diminishes the tone when required and saves wear on the Piano; it also does away with the old way of having to press down the pedal with the foot in order to soften the tone when running the scales or practicing. Oftentimes the young pupil on the piano cannot press down on the pedal without throwing themselves out of the proper position when they should sit erect. This invention in the NEWCOMBE PIANO will enable children to begin two years earlier on the piano. In addition to the above, the NEWCOMBE PIANO is the finest made in Canada. Children often complain about practicing; they like it if they have a NEWCOMBE PIANO. 1899 styles are gems of art, containing every late improvement; they possess that beautiful full sweet tone which lights the singer, and so pleases every musical ear. Organs of every description at Wholesale Prices.

Big Bargains now on hand in slightly used. Upright and Square Pianos of the various makes taken in part exchange for the famous NEWCOMBE PIANOS. Every NEWCOMBE PIANO has a new registered scale and the warrant is cast in the plate. Half Sick Half Well

Many persons have their good day and their bad day. Others are about half sick all the time. They have headache, backache, and are restless and nervous. Food does not taste good, and the digestion is poor; the skin is dry and sallow and disfigured with pimples or eruptions; sleep brings no rest and work is a burden.

What is the cause of all this? Impure blood.

And the remedy?

Ayer's Sarsaparilla

It clears out the channels through which poisons are carried from the body. When all impurities are removed from the blood nature takes right hold and completes the cure.

If there is constipation, take Ayer's Pills. They awaken the drowsy action of the liver; they cure biliousness.

THE FRENCH CABINET.

Strong Measures Taken to Preserve the Republic.

A CIRCULAR TO THE PREFECTS.

An Extraordinary Coalition of Socialists, Aristocrats, Republicans and Royalists—Strong Men With Only One Object in View, "To Save the Republic"—Some of the Changes Taken.

Paris, June 26.—The Cabinet has sent a circular to the prefects, saying the new Ministry has been formed to defend the public, and that it puts aside all partisan feeling, which example, it is pointed out, should be followed by the prefects. The latter are urged to promptly inform the Government of all acts affecting respect for established institutions and public order and to be ready in case of need to act promptly on their own responsibility.

The prefects are also warned to let bygones be bygones, and to perform their duties with the utmost precision.

The Minister of War, General the Marquis de Gallifet, has also sent a circular to the generals, as follows:

"My Dear General,—I have been forced, to my great regret, to leave my retreat and assume under the eyes of the country and the Government of the Republic the responsibility for the army. I am greatly honored and in no wise frightened, and I beg you not to forget that I am responsible also for the chiefs of the army, the same as they are responsible to me for all which occurs within their commands. I count, therefore, on you, as you may count on me.—De Gallifet."

Heads Off in Paris.

Paris, June 26.—At the Cabinet Council yesterday, M. Loubet, the President, signed orders making the following changes: M. Bertrand, Procurator General to the Appeal Court, and M. Feuille Ley, Public Prosecutor, are both removed; M. Bulot, Advocate-General, is appointed Public Prosecutor; M. Lombard, whose dismissal on account of the Deroulede trial has been much criticized as unjust, is appointed Advocate-General. M. Bertrand's successor has not yet been appointed. General Hartschmidt, General Hogot, Col. Saxe and Col. Coubertin are transferred to other garrisons.

The Premier, M. Waldeck-Rousseau, read a draft of his speech in Parliament to-day, which will be very brief, merely announcing that the new Ministry has no aim but to follow out the order of the day voted on June 12, on the motion of M. Joseph Ruau, Democratic Radical, representing the Second District of St. Gaudens, which was as follows: "The Chamber is determined to support only a Government resolved to defend vigorously republican institutions, and then secure public order and passes to the order of the day."

A SINGULAR COALITION.

Composition of the New French Cabinet Excites Contrary Feelings.

Paris, June 26.—The Paris correspondent of The New York Sun cables his paper as follows:

"France will easily command the attention of the world during the crisis which the next few days should solve. The Government which has just assumed office is of a composition which excites both alarm and hope; alarm because the peril is so great that a Cabinet designed simply to save the Republic was considered necessary, and hope that the stern, virile policy which has been adopted will prove adequate to the situation.

"The Temps correctly describes Premier Waldeck-Rousseau's Cabinet as such a one as has never been known, except at the end of a war, the outbreak of an insurrection or on the eve of a coup d'etat. It is a Ministry which could not last a day before the Chamber of Deputies under any issue of ordinary legislation. Not even French imagination could have conceived a more incongruous picture than the leader of the Socialists sitting at the same council board with a man who at the cost of thousands of lives put down the Commune. Its members have not a single sentiment in common, save one, namely, the re-establishment of the law and the defance of the Republican form of Government.

"Monday's session of the Chamber of Deputies will solve the big feature of the problem. The third Republic will be in desperate straits if Parliament refuses to allow men of courage and determination to guide it through the most critical days it has yet encountered. If the present Ministry is overthrown there will remain only one man whom Frenchmen regard as possessing sufficient strength and ability to cope with the situation, and he is in Constantinople. Perhaps the rumor is true that M. Constans has been summoned by President Loubet to hold himself in reserve for possible emergency duty.

"The test of the situation will come when the new Government attempts to execute its undoubted intention to remove Gen. Zurlinden from the Military Governorship of Paris. He, more nearly than any other man, ranks as the figurehead of militarism in France at the present moment. His power as the direct commander of the Paris garrison places the civil Government at his mercy if he should choose to abuse his authority and his subordinates should obey his orders.

"The Gallifet of to-day is not the young commander Gallifet of the Commune days, but there can be no doubt as to his manner of dealing with a mutinous subordinate, whatever may be his rank. It is not inappropriate to note the fact that it was the report that Gen. Gallifet was about to be made Minister of War that caused Boulanger to flee to Brussels at the crisis of the latter's career. There could be no better man, old as he is, to deal with Zurlinden or any other officers requiring discipline in this emergency than the veteran who has just taken the War portfolio. The indications are that a single week will settle the immediate fate of militarism in France. If discipline is sternly and relentlessly re-established in the French army within the next seven days, there will be little fear of its connection with the Dreyfus trial or the subsequent developments of the greatest scandal of the century."

Conflicting Reports of Dreyfus.

London, June 26.—The Evening News on Saturday afternoon published a despatch from its correspondent at Rennes, France, which says: "With all reserve I send a report that Dreyfus arrived here at 6 o'clock this morning." Madame Dreyfus and her father arrived there during the same afternoon.

Brest, France, June 26.—The French first-class cruiser Tage put to sea this morning, the official explanation being that she has gone to experiment with carrier pigeons. She is, however, a much larger cruiser than the Sfax, which is bringing Captain Dreyfus, and the despatch of such a big vessel with carrier pigeons is quite unprecedented. Usually, a torpedo boat is sent, and the opinion, therefore, gains ground that the Tage has gone to meet the Sfax and to take Captain Dreyfus aboard. The pigeons can be used to announce the transfer, and the Tage might proceed to another port to land the prisoner.

THE SAMOAN EMBROGLIO.

Germany's Foreign Office Questions the Correctness of Recent News.

Berlin, June 26.—The officials of the German Foreign Office question the correctness of some of the later news from Samoa. They say the abolition of the kingship is entirely acceptable to Germany, which has never espoused the cause of either candidate. While admitting Chief Justice Chambers' competency, the Foreign Office questions the correctness of his decision in the premises and doubts that the commission has decided to leave him in office. They say he should be retired like the others. The return of Mr. E. H. S. Maxse, who was British consul at Apia, gives great dissatisfaction, as the Germans are more incensed against the British than against the American officials in Samoa.

Are Claims of Germans Good?

Berlin, June 26.—The Nueste Nachrichten contends that the recognition by the international commissioners of the decision of Chief Justice Chambers regarding the Kingship in Samoa does not in the least prejudice the claims of Germans to compensation for losses sustained during the recent disturbances.

He Fooled The Surgeons.

All doctors told Renick Hamilton, West Jefferson, Ohio, after suffering 18 months from Rectal Fistula, he would die unless a costly operation was performed; but he cured himself with five boxes of Bucklen's Arnica Salve, the surest pile cure on earth, and the best salve in the world. 25 cents a box. Solld by James Lynch, druggist.

Dates of Election Trials.

The election trial in North Hastings of Edward McPherson against W. J. Allan (Conservative), has been set for June 27 at Belleville.

ITCHING PILES. . .

Dr. A. W. Chase's Ointment is an absolute cure for piles, and has never been known to fail to cure the worst forms of this disease which has baffled medical skill for ages.

This statement may sound rather strong to persons who do not know the superior merits of Dr. A. W. Chase's Ointment, but it is perfectly true, and heartily endorsed by the grateful testimony of thousands of men and women who have been cured by it after years of suffering, and after trying many preparations and consulting the best doctors.

Mr. H. Bull, Belleville, Ont., says: "I take pleasure in stating that after thirty years of suffering with Itching Piles, Dr. Chase's Ointment has completely cured me. I tried every remedy that was advertised, with little or no benefit, but as I have told different persons affected as I was, Dr. Chase's Ointment made a perfect cure."

ARTHUR WIGLE DROWNED.

Popular Farmer of Gosfield Township Lost Life While Bathing.

Kingsville, Ont., June 26.—Saturday evening Arthur Wigle, aged 24, and youngest son of Philip Wigle, farmer, living on the third concession of Gosfield Township, was drowned while bathing in Cedar Creek. Deceased and his two companions, Robert Drake and Mr. Moore, were all good swimmers, but without a word, after diving, deceased made a slight struggle and sank, apparently being seized with cramps or heart failure. His companions rescued the body within a very few minutes, and with the aid of a physician heroic endeavors were made to resuscitate, but in vain. Deceased was very popular and widely known all over Essex County. He was to have been married in one month to a prominent young lady of the township.

Church Struck by Lightning.

Goshen, N.Y., June 26.—Lightning struck the stone steeple on the Presbyterian Church of this place last night about 12 feet from the top. One thousand pounds of stone fell a distance of 185 feet down on the roof of the church and crashed through into the main portion of the edifice. Large quantities of water rushed through the hole in the roof. The building was damaged to the extent of $5,000.

Comes from Dr. D. B. Cargile, of Washita, I. T. He writes, "Four bottles of Electric Bitters cured Mrs. Brewer of scrofula, which had caused her great suffering for years. This shows what thousands have proved—that Electric Bitters is the best blood purifier known. It's the supreme remedy for eczema, tetter, salt rheum, ulcers, boils and running sores. ST. JOHN THE BAPTIST

The Local Masonic Fraternity Attend Divine Service.

SERMON BY REV. BRO. ARMITAGE.

Masonry the Most Ancient of Human Institutions—A Great Power for Righteousness but not a Substitute for the Church—An able Discourse.

The Masonic Festival of the St. John the Baptist was made unusually interesting this year by the local brethren assembling in their lodge room on Sunday afternoon for the purpose of attending divine service in St. John's church at 4 o'clock. Nearly one hundred of the brethren responded to the summons, among whom were a number of visiting brethren from a distance.

Precisely at 4 o'clock the brethren filed out of their hall under the directions of their Master of Ceremonies, W. Bro. W. H. Walkey, and proceeded up Water street to St. John's church, where they took their seats in the centre. Special musical services were prepared for the occasion under the direction of the organist, Mr. Charles J. Rodgers, which was well rendered and highly appreciated by the Masons.

The Sermon

Rev. Bro. W. L. Armitage, Senior Warden of Peterborough Lodge, delivered an appropriate sermon, full of careful research and instructive counsel. His discourse was based on the following words:

"A Wise Master Builder."—I Cor. III; 10.

In opening the speaker welcomed the fraternity on behalf of the rector of St. John's church. He then expressed his gratitude to the craft for the honour done him in being asked to preach at this their Masonic service, for it was especially a privilege for any Christian minister to speak to a large assembly of men. The words of the text applied to Masons as well as to Christians in their several capacities, for they were all fellow builders of the temple of God, and their aim to inspire others to be wise in building that sure character which alone would stand the great last test by leading them by the example of good conduct, level steps and upright intention that they might ascend into the presence

Of the Most High.

The service was to mark St. John the Baptist's day. Formerly lodges were dedicated to King Solomon; but now to St. John the Baptist, and St. John the evangelist, for which the speaker volunteered the opinion, that it took in both the old and the new dispensations; the one looking forward to the coming of Christ, the other, the last of His Apostles. While the objects of the society were similar to those of the Church it is not the Church or a substitute for the Church. No human society however ancient and honourable could take the place of the divine society of the Church. No vows were so binding as those of Baptism, and no privileges so great as those who were members of Christ and one another. The objects of the society were to put the principles of Scripture teaching into more direct practice in reorganising the universal brotherhood of man and by bringing all the things with which we come in contact in daily life to bear upon the upbuilding of character; besides the strong injunctions as to a Mason's duty to the State, and the Soverign is to look to the truest interest of men. The foundation principles are a trust in God openly professed by every newly initiated member; the accepting of the volume of the sacred law as the unerring a belief in the resurrection and immortality of the soul, and of rewards hereafter according to the deeds done in the body.

The history of the society is certainly very ancient, though not in its present form, having been moulded according to the needs of the age, though the necessities of man were such, after leaving the Garden of Eden, as to require suitable places of abode and worship. These were not built under the direction of a society. Under the architects of Tyre there was a fraternity which had the exclusive right of building temples, etc., in Asia Minor, and it was to these that King Solomon had sent for assistance in building the magnificent temple at Jerusalem.

These workmen were known to each other by signs, met in lodges and practiced benevolence to needy brethren. The Ritual of to-day points to incidents and legions of that time. In the middle ages we come to more certain ground, and find amongst the building guilds of that time that Masons held the most honoured place. Their efforts were directed towards the erection of those ecclesiastical structures which are the Pride of Europe.

In England they lost the power to regulate wages and the employment of men about the middle of the 15th century, but continued the more noble labours of charity and benevolence, and hence were known as Free-Masons. Bishops and Archbishops, Kings and Princes have been members of the craft, and all are proud of the Grand Master of England, Albert Edward Prince of Wales—the future King of the Empire.

In applying the text, the speaker urged that the excellent injunction given at every step of Masonic training, be laid to heart by every Mason; that he take the lessons intended by the symbolic teaching of the things of life, from which even our Lord drew some of his profoundest teachings. Let every one be a wise master builder, guided by the dictates of the volume of the sacred law, his steps so true as to show the test of the plumb line of the Great Architect of the Universe, and this compass of labour and love include all men. Thus he would follow up the designs of the of which the many homes and hospitals were monuments. The aged and infirm, the widow and the orphan, were their special care.

The speaker referred to the pleasure of knowing that the offertory would be devoted to the Children's Aid Society, and paid a high tribute to the work done by them.

He concluded by appealing to them to aid one another in being established on that Sure Foundation, an dwith a proper superstructure of life as would enable them to stand hereafter in the presence of God, in that temple not made with hands.

At the conclusion of the service the brethren reformed in parade orde and marched back to the Masonic Hall. A series of resolutions were passed, thanking the preacher for his instructive and thoughtful sermon, and the rector, churchwardens, organ-and choir for their kind offices in connection with the services.

The offertory amounted to $17.06, and is to be devoted to the Children's Aid Society. The public did not appear to understand that they were welcome to enjoy the services, so that the collection was almost wholly contributed by the Masons.

"If you've any alms to give to the poor.
Don't wait till you hear the cry,
Of wan distress in this wilderness,
Lest the one forsook may die.
Oh, hearken to poverty's sad lament,
Be swift her wants to allay;
Don't spurn God's poor from the favoured door,
As you hope for mercy one day."

NAUTICAL TRIBUTE TO OUR CITY WATER.

The Circus People Carry Away With Them 2,000 Gallons of it.

In view of the criticisms that has been passed upon the peculiar taste of our city water, due to the high water in the back lakes, which criticism the critics have been willing to swallow, as they have been glad to swallow city water after the high water and the high taste passed away, it is a pleasure to note that outsiders appreciate our city water. The circus people, who use a very large quantity of water for their animals and cooking, used Peterborough City water during their stay here. They were so well pleased with it that they purchased and took away with them to Toronto on Saturday night three tanks of city water, amounting to about 2,000 gallons. Now the circus people visit all the chief cities, and use their water, and, therefore, know good water when they get it. The fact that the circus people will, to secure good water, go to the trouble of carrying a supply a hundred miles, is a tribute to the good quality of the city water of Peterborough, which they will better appreciate when they try Toronto water, which they may have to do if the supply of aqua pura taken from Peterborough becomes exhausted.

THE THIRD DRAGOONS ATTEND ST. LUKE'S

THEY LISTEN TO THEIR CHAPLAIN REV. H. SYMONDS.

He Congratulated "C" Squadron on its Good Showing at Niagara—An Impressive Sermon.

The local squadron of the 3rd Prince of Wales Canadian Dragoons, attended divine worship at St. Luke's church last night when Rev. Herbert Symonds, Chaplin of the regiment, preached a very impressive sermon to them.

The squadron under command of Capt. Johnston with Lieutenants W. H. Bradburn and Hall marched from the drill shed to the church accompanied by the following staff officers: Lieut.-Col. H. C. Rogers, Major H. S. Greenwood, Adjutant R. A. Cockburn, Surgeon-Major Young, and Veterinary-Lieut. B. R. Poole. The 57th Battalion was represented by Lieut.-Col. Bell, Major Miller, Capt. Mills and Lieut. Cluxton. Lieut. Hayward and Lieut. W. Hall of "B" squadron, sented a fine appearance.

The pulpit was suitably draped with a large Union Jack and the scarlet uniforms of the officers and men presented a grand appearance.

Rev. Mr. Symonds took for his text, the words of Isaiah, "Nation shall not lift up sword against nation, neither shall they learn war anymore." The speaker first explained the true meaning of war which he claimed was not confined to conflicts between people and nations, but between them was the war which at all times being carried on by Christians against, paganism and Mohamadism, etc. While therefore war had always been carried on in the past and while we must always be prepared for such a conflict, he considered this an appropriate occasion to speak on that subject.

War is the means that nations have always resorted to in order to determine which was right, when all means of diplomacy had been exhausted. It was therefore the means of determining the right of nations to exist, which recognition is Scriptural. In our towns and cities and other such municipalities throughout the country we have police and other officers of the law to keep people within certain bounds, and protect their fellow citizens; on much the same principle are the armies of the different countries which of their respective countries. We have, however, in most countries, law courts to settle such disputes and it would be well if something of the same kind of system were adopted amongst the nations of the world. The speaker considered that the present Peace Conference was a step in that direction, and while the Russian delegates may not be anxious for the success of that arbitration the other delegates were.

The speaker disclaimed any desire on his part that nations should rush into war on the least provocation, but we must look upon it as an necessity, for the speaker pointed out that none of us can comprehend the horrors of war, and not the least blessing we have to be thankful for, is living in a country that knows so little about war.

Turning his remarks to the occupation of war, Mr. Symonds declared that no one can follow a degraded profession without being degraded, and the speaker instanced many eminent men both in Church and State, who had followed the occupation of members of armies. A soldier's life is one that by reason of the strict discipline he is subjected to, and it soon develops a system of self-restraint. He took the opportunity of congratulating "C" squadron on receiving the personal congratulations of Major-General Hutton, Commander of the Canadian Militia, who declared it was the best squadron at Niagara camp. He hoped the squadron would always maintain such self-restraint and discipline. How orderly and regular is a soldier's life, the speaker pointed out, and the same degree of regularity and order should be maintained in our ordinary life; but it is not, for the reason that we have no officer to keep us to that standard. We have therefore to be the generals of our own lives. But they had duties to perform as citizens and had souls to be saved and they should therefore be as devoted in ordinary day life as when they are soldiers. There is something more elevating than discipline and makes it more like Christianity. A soldier for his country. Some might say that a soldier has inducement for the risk; that they are getting paid for their duty, but, remarked the speaker, what pay is there for a man's life. No soldier ever became rich in war and whilst once and awhile a great general may be rewarded by great sums of money many died a life of poverty. While many years have passed by since a hostile army has envaded Britain's shores, how many lives have been laid down to gain Britain's peace at home. War has its roots in Christianity, for a man then offers to lay down his life for his country, and the volunteers of this country when called upon to do this had proved themselves fit to brave the hardships. There was a heavenly war, the speaker pointed out, and whilst every one living knows what it is to fight an earthly victory we must consider that the fight to gain the heavenly kingdo mis as great. Ww wrestle not against flesh and blood, but against sin and wickedness. Some day war will cease when there will be no strife on earth, but it is our duty here on earth now to fight on in

Offers His Life

The Noble Cause of

Christianity and be loyal to the captain of our salvation. In conclusion the preacher hoped that at the judgment day they would all be able to say they had fought the good fight.

THE NEW DIOCESE.

Discussion Which Took Place at the Meeting of the Synod in Toronto

At the meeting of the Synod in Toronto last week, Rev. Rural Dean Allan presented the report of the Committee on the increase of the Episcopate. It referred to the meeting held at Lindsay, in which a resolution was passed suggesting to the Synod that no alteration be made in the administration of the diocesan mission fund for five years, in the event of a new eastern diocese being set apart on account of the difficulty the new diocese would experience at the outset in supporting its numerous and extensive missions. Figures were appended showing the amount of the receipts and expenditures of the Mission Board in the territory of the proposed new diocese. He moved: "That in the event of the division of this diocese by the setting apart of the eastern portion thereof to be a new diocese within three years from this date, the diocesan mission fund shall, notwithstanding such division, be collected and administered throughout the whole area included in the present Diocese of Toronto for a period of five years from the date of division, as if such division had not been made."

Mr. Blomfield moved an amendment having the effect of declaring that the Synod take no action in the mater until the proposed new diocese is in a position to administer its own mission affairs.

Rev. Mr. Pearson suggested that the new rector of St. James' when appointed should be the new Bishop, which would overcome the financial difficulty.

His Lordship said playfully that this would be an unequal arrangement. He would be at St. Alban's with no money, while the Bishop of the new diocese would be at St. James', with all the funds.

Mr. A. H. Campbell said he did not like an unknown liability. It would be better to agree to pay the new diocese a fixed sum.

Mr. Cumberland asked if it was proposed to have the co-operation of the new diocese in the administration of the mission funds.

His Lordship said that the report made the deficit of mission receipts in the new diocese, compared with its outgoings about $2,743. He had made an estimate and had found the deficit to be nearly $4,000.

In the afternoon Mr. Davidson proposed that the motion should be amended to provide for joint co-operation of the two dioceses in administering the mission fund.

Mr. Campbell presented a substitute, giving the new diocese a fixed sum of $2,000 a year for five years.

Archdeacon Allen said he would accept the proposal of Mr. Campbell.

Mr. Blomfield then withdrew his amendment. He had moved it because he foresaw that under the proposed arrangement the new diocese would be only one in name.

Mr. Cumberland objected to Mr. Campbell's new proposition on the ground that no notice had been given. The liability suggested was a serious one.

His Lordship overruled the objection.

Mr. Cumberlan dsaid the portion of the Toronto Diocese which would be left behind was already $5,000 in arrears of its engagements for missions. A promissory note in such circumstances would be of doubtful value. Any such proposal should come from the Mission Board.

Mr. Campbell's substitute motion was then carried.

The committee was re-appointed, with the addition of the names of Rev. Mr. Macklem and Messrs. Barlow Cumberland and N. I. Davidson.

June 24th.

Council went into session at 9 o'clock, the warden in the chair, and all the members present.

After routine,

Mr. Anderson, chairman, presented the report of the Committee on Roads and bridges as follows:

The Committee on Roads and Bridges beg leave to report as follows:

1. Your Committee recommend that the report of the County Engineer be received.

2. Your committee recommend that the County Engineer be instructed to make the repairs to the Otonabee Bridge and to the Pigeon Creek Bridge referred to in his report, and also that the Warden and County Engineer be instructed to have the repairs made to the Burleigh Bridge also referred to in the County Engineer's report.

3. Your Committee recommend that the matter of repairing Taylor's Mills Bridges and re-flooring Crow River Bridges be referred to Mr. J. B. Pearce, with power to act.

4. Your Committee recommend that this council assume one-half of the future maintenance of the bridge over the Otonabee River, commonly known as the Bensfort Bridge, the United Counties of Northumberland and Durham having agreed to assume one-half of such future maintenance, and the Township of South Monaghan having agreed to settle the suit of Smith vs. Monaghan, including costs.

5. Your Committee recommend that a special grant of $100 be given towards repairing the Dummer Road, as it runs through the 1st, 2nd and 3rd concessions of the Township of Douro, on condition that the Township of Douro grant $100 for the same purpose, and the Ontario Government grant $100 for the like purpose, or the Warden order payment.

6. Your Committee recommend that Clause 3 of the report of this Committee adopted on the 25th of June, 1899, be rescinded, and that a special grant of $100 be given towards the Round Lake road in the Township of Belmont, between McNicholl's gate and White's Corners, on condition that the united townships of Belmont and Methuen grant $100 for the same purpose—Mr. J. B. Pearce to be commissioner for the expenditure of the same, he to furnish a detailed statement of the manner in which such moneys are expended.

7. That a special grant of $25 be given to each of the united townships of Galway, Cavendish and Chandos, the united townships of Burleigh and Anstruther, Harvey and Methuen for repair of roads and that Mr. Eastland be commissioner for expenditure of the same in Burleigh, Anstruther and Chandos, Mr. Shaw in Galway, Harvey and Cavendish, and Mr. Pearce in Methuen, they to furnish a statement in detail of the manner in which such moneys are expended.

8. That a special grant of $400 be given to the Township of Otonabee towards repair of the Norwood road, and that Mr. Anderson be commissioner for the expenditure of the same, he to furnish a statement in detail of the manner in which such moneys are expended.

9. That a special grant of $50 be given towards the repair of the road at James Tully's hill on the second concession of the township of Smith provided that the Township of Smith grant $50 for the same purpose, Mr. Fitzgerald to be Commissioner for the expenditure of the same, he to furnish a statement in detail of the manner in which such moneys are expended.

10. Your committee recommend that this County make a special grant to the Township of Harvey of one-half of the cost of repairing the Harvey approach to the Gannon's Narrows ferry, the total cost of such work not to exceed $20, the grant not to be taken as incurring any liability for future maintenance.

11. Your Committee acknowledge receipt of a letter from the County of Victoria informing this Council that Mr. Wm. C. Switzer was appointed to represent their council in all matters relating to the Pigeon Creek bridge.

12. Your committee recommend that Mr. Western B. Kelly be paid $25 for opening and closing swing in the Mud Lake bridge, and that the deduction made from his account for 1898 of $30 be paid. The above payment of $25 does not include the caretaking of the Mud lake bridge.

13. Your committee recommend that this council concur in the appointment made by the council of the United Counties of Northumberland and Durham of Wm. Smith as caretaker of the Bensfort Bridge, at a yearly salary of $60, and that this council pay one-half of such salary.

14. Your committee recommend that this council grant $150 towards repairing the boundary road between Cavan and Monaghan, provided the United Counties of Northumberland and Durham grant a like sum for the same purpose, and the Township of Cavan grant $50 for the same purpose, and that Mr. Foster be commissioner for the expenditure of the same, he to furnish a statement in detail of the manner in which said moneys are expended.

15. Your committee recommend that a special grant of $50 be given for repairing the road on the boundary between Asphodel and Dummer, on condition that the Township of Asphodel and Dummer grant $50 each for the same purpose, and that Mr. Buck be commissioner for the expenditure of the same, he to furnish a statement in detail of the manner in which said money is expended.

16. Your committee recommend that a new bridge, part filled and part floating, be constructed according to plans and specifications of the County Engineer, over Mud Lake at the Island site, about 1000 feet easterly on the Smith side, and about 700 feet easterly on the Ennismore side, from the site of the present bridge, according to the plan of proposed sites for the Mud Lake bridge prepared by the County Engineer, on condition that the town of Peterborough grants $200 a year for 20 years for the purpose of assisting in paying for the construction thereof; or the town of Peterborough pay three-tenths of the cost of the construction of the bridge over and above Government grants, and also three-tenths of the cost of the future maintenance thereof, and on

MUD LAKE BRIDGE TO BE REBUILT.

A New, Shorter and Cheaper Site Selected—The New Bridge to be Part Filled and Part Pontoon.

As appears by the report of the proceedings in another column, the county council conditionally decided to erect a new floating bridge at Chemong upon a new site.

The proposed new site is east of the present structure about a thousand feet easterly on the Smith shore and seven hundred feet easterly on the Ennismore shore.

The entire stretch of the new bridge will be a trifle over 3400 feet of which 800 feet will be earth filled and the remainder float or pontoon. The fill on the Smith shore begins east of Kelly's mills and the conditions are extremely favourable, the water being for a long distance, shallow—some six to eight feet and the bottom hard in contrast to the deep oozy mud that carpets the bottom of the lake elsewhere to the depth of many feet and gives the lake its name.

An opportune isolated ledge of solid limestone rock, shoulders its way into the air at low water—in fact it may be seen now partly submerged, in the line of bridge at the end of the proposed fill, and forms a splendid foundation for the pivot pier of the swing which on account of the happy occurrence of the lucky rock will be placed at this point.

The advantages claimed for the new site is its shorter length and consequently smaller cost, the saving being estimated at about $1800 as against the cost of a new bridge at the present site. The total estimated cost is in the neighbourhood of between $18,000 and $21,000 according to site selected. Besides the new site admitting of a greater length filling, will have an important influence upon the cost of maintenance. The filling once in places will cost nothing for future maintenance.

The floating portion of the new bridge will be the same as the old bridge, timber floats or pontoons. Experience has proven that this material is the cheapest and most serviceable. Some of the floats in the present bridge—in fact a large part of them—have been in the water for thirty years, and are still doing good service, a circumstance which has excited the surprise of Civil Engineers. So much was this the case that the late Allan Macdougal, C.E., who prepared excellent plans (unfortunately departed from in some instances in practice) for our system of sewerage, read a paper upon the Mud Lake floating bridge before the Institute of Civil Engineers, in London, England, and Sir Sanford Fleming, who has frequently visited the bridge, spoke in the discussion that followed upon the presentation of the paper.

It will be observed by reference to the report that the building of the bridge is conditional upon the town assuming a payment of $200 a year for twenty years, or pay three-tenths of the cost of construction, over and above Government grants. The town council in its conference with the county council on Thursday, agreed to this, and there is, therefore, it would appear, no obstacle to the progress of the work of constructing the new bridge, that is provided Ennismore, which she probably will do, pay the cost of constructing the road leading to the approach to the bridge on that side.

The $10,000 granted by the Dominion Government is given on the stipulation that it be expended on work of a permanent character in connection with the new bridge.

Energy Easily Earned.

DR. WARD'S BLOOD & NERVE PILLS

Wasted energy must be made up or the body will weaken and perhaps perish.

For a long time prior to taking Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills my nerve system was greatly deranged and I was terribly nervous, so much so that in my business (Lineman of the Kingston Electric Light Co.,) my extreme nervousness naturally made the following of my business extremely hazardous. Before taking Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills my kidneys had been affected for some time. I had constant soreness and stiffness across my loins and the small of my back. My appetite was variable and very poor. I also suffered greatly with constant headaches. I am glad to be able to inform you that Dr. Ward's Pills completely cured me of all the above ailments and made me a well man. I have found no medicine like Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills, although I have tried many different kinds. They acted quickly and effectually on my nerve system, making my nerves strong and removing all indications of nervousness. These valuable pills also removed all kidney and back trouble and restored to me a healthy vigorous appetite. I have had no headache since five months ago and feel justified in saying that they are a wonderful remedy. They not only removed nervousness, but gave me healthy kidneys, removed all soreness and stiffness from my back and loins, cured me of headache and gave me a good appetite, consequently I am highly pleased. I know of no medicine that equals Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills for nervousness, chronic headache, sore kidneys and back and loss of appetite. Yours truly, John McCutcheon, 522 Princess St., Kingston, Ont.

THE HORSE IN BATTLE.

Even When Mortally Wounded He Will Try to Remain Standing.

A veteran cavalry horse partakes of the hopes and fears of battle just the same as his rider. As the column swings into line and waits the horse grows nervous over the waiting. If the wait is spun out, he will tremble and sweat and grow apprehensive. If he has been six months in service, he knows every bugle call. As the call comes to advance, the rider can feel him working at the bit with his tongue to get it between his teeth. As he moves out, he will either seek to get on faster than he should or bolt. He cannot bolt, however. The lines will carry him forward, and after a minute he will grip, lay back his ears, and one can feel his sudden resolve to brave the worst and have done with it as soon as possible.

A man seldom cries out when hit in the turmoil of battle. It is the same with a horse. Five troopers out of six, when struck with a bullet, are out of their saddles within a minute. If hit in the breast or shoulder, up go their hands, and they get a heavy fall; if in the leg or foot or arm, they fall forward and roll off.

Even with a foot cut off by a jagged piece of shell a horse will not drop. It is only when shot through the head or heart that he comes down. He may be fatally wounded, but hobbles out of the fight to right or left and stands, with drooping head, until the loss of blood brings him down.

The horse that loses his rider and is unwounded himself will continue to run with his set of fours until some movement throws him out. Then he goes galloping here and there, neighing with fear and alarm, but he will not leave the field. In his racing about he may get among the dead and wounded, but he will dodge them, if possible, and in any case leap over them. When he has come upon three or four other riderless steeds, they fall in and keep together as if for mutual protection, and the "rally" of the bugle may bring the whole of them into ranks in a body.—Public Opinion.

Nineteenth Century Folly.

The greatest piece of folly of the nineteenth century is to suffer the tortures of rheumatism when a permanent cure can be obtained by using Dr. Hall's Rheumatic Cure. Mr. C. W. Trotter, Cushendall, Ont., suffered with Muscular Rheumatism for three years. One bottle of Dr. Hall's Rheumatic Cure completely cured him. He has not had a pain or ache since. This preparation is used internally. One bottle contains ten days' treatment, price 50 cents. For sale at all drug stores.

He Was Acquitted.

Here the voice of counsel for the defense thrilled with emotion.

"Gentlemen of the jury," he cried, "you cannot believe the prisoner to be the cool, calculating villain the prosecution would make him out to be! Were he cool and calculating would he have murdered his wife, as he is accused of doing? Would he not rather have spared her in order that she might be here at this trial to weep for him and influence your verdict with her tears?"

BONNER'S UNIQUE AD.

HOW THE GREAT PUBLISHER SOLD HIS COUNTRY HOUSE.

A Statement That Created Much Talk and Effected a Satisfactory Sale. Horace Greeley's Blunt Views on Newspaper Advertisements.

In the course of 350 years advertising has developed into an art, but it doubtless has many new and surprising features held in reserve for the future.

Some intelligent people profess a singular ignorance of the nature of an advertisement, and they are all the time urging newspapers to publish, free of charge, reading matter which plainly serves the private interests of those who hand it in or request its preparation.

This sort of thing used to make old Horace Greeley mad and it drew from him the following pertinent advice:

"When you want an article inserted to subserve some purpose other than the public good, you should offer to pay for it. It is not just that you should solicit the use of columns not your own to promote your own or your friends' private interests without offering to pay for them. The fact that you are a subscriber gives you no right in this respect; if the paper is not worth its price, don't take it. If you wish to use the columns of any journal to promote your own or some other person's private interests, offer to pay for it; there is no other honest way."

When Swain published the Philadelphia Public Ledger, he held Greeley's views about advertising.

On one occasion a gentleman asked him to insert without charge an advertisement for a poor widow.

"Can't do it," said Swain; "business is business, and charity is charity."

"Won't you reduce your price?" asked the gentleman.

"No, sir. You will have to pay the regular charge, $2."

With great reluctance the other handed over the money and was about to leave when Swain took a $10 bill from his vest pocket.

"Please give this to the widow," he said, "and I hope it will help her."

For many years ingenious advertisers have filled the papers with business notices which open with the announcement of some important event and conclude with a few lines about a patent medicine or a sewing machine.

This style of advertising is very old. More than 50 years ago Henry J. Raymond was engaged to write every day a fancy advertisement of some vegetable pills, and his contract made it necessary for him to connect the pills with some leading event of the day in order to attract the attention of his readers. Raymond did this work with the same ability and energy which he afterward displayed as the editor of a great paper.

The story of how Bonner sold his country residence may be of interest. He wanted to dispose of the place, and, having no confidence in ordinary real estate advertisements, he published the following in several daily papers:

"I hereby offer for sale my country residence, near Melrose station, where I have lived for the past three summers, but do not think I could live much longer. I have heard that people desiring to purchase a country home could never find one where they had chills and fever; it is always a mile or two off, but never right there, at the place that is for sale. Now, I offer for sale a curiosity, something rare, the precise, exact spot where you will find chills and fever. I will warrant it to be there. Three of my children have it; my gardener has it; my groom has the premonitory symptoms, and I have a touch of it myself. Any doctor with a large family who has a sure cure for fever and ague would find this a most eligible situation. The neighborhood is full of the disease, and if he could keep it out of his own family it would give him a reputation that would insure his fortune. Besides the fever and ague, the estate consists of a fine double house, with all the modern conveniences, and two acres of land, with a good barn and stable. It is really a beautiful place. The grounds are handsomely laid out, with choice trees and shrubbery. These trees afford not only a delightful shelter, but a harbor for mosquitoes. The mosquitoes thus far have not been so much affected by fever and ague as to prevent their biting—in fact, it is a good place for mosquitoes. I bought it to please my wife and shall leave it to please the whole family. Terms, cash. I am afraid any security would get the fever and ague and become shaky. The town authorities are improving the adjoining streets, and if they drain the place as thoroughly as they do the pockets of the landowners it may become healthy."

This remarkable advertisement was talked about and copied, and thousands of people made inquiries about Melrose station and the Bonner place. The fact came out that it suffered no more from fever and ague and mosquitoes than other localities in that region, and the result was that it was sold for a very satisfactory price.

The New York Herald once got some profitable advertising in a queer way.

It seems that The Herald refused to print the advertisements of the Marotzek opera and Barnum's museum. The theatrical managers of the city held a meeting and withdrew their patronage from the paper. But they made the mistake of announcing in the other dailies and on their posters the fact that they did not advertise in The Herald. This attracted attention to that paper, and its independent course made it so popular that, before many months, the theatrical managers were glad to return to it.

Of course a good newspaper is always the best advertising medium.

Signs painted on rocks and fences, fancy wagons and balloons, and circulars and pamphlets can never do the work of a popular journal.

Henry Ward Beecher once said:

"In the United States every worthy citizen reads a newspaper and owns it. A newspaper is a window through which men look out on all that is going on in the world. Without a newspaper, a man is shut up in a small room and knows little or nothing of what is happening outside of himself. A good newspaper will keep a man in sympathy with the world's current history. It is an ever unfolding encyclopedia, an unbound book, forever issuing and never finished."—Wallace P. Reed in Atlanta Constitution.

THAT VITAL SPOT.

The prize fighter always aims for the vital spot in the body. When he reaches it, as Fitzsimmons did with Corbett, the other man is knocked out. To protect the vital points of the body is the first care of the fighter.

The stomach is the vital spot to be protected against the deadly blows of that universal pugilist called consumption.

If it is permitted to get out of order—if the blood becomes full of impurities, if the system is allowed to run-down—it won't be long until consumption will find the "opening" and deal its fatal blow. Protect yourself with Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, the non-alcoholic remedy for the stomach, blood and nerves. Take it for lingering coughs, colds, bronchitis, weak and bleeding lungs. It has cured so many thousands that it will also cure you. Don't under any circumstances permit the medicine dealer to induce you to take some other remedy. There are many substitutes on the market, but none of them possess the power to cure like "Golden Medical Discovery."

"After using about five bottles of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery my boy seems to be all right," writes Mr. J. W. Price, of Ozark, Monroe Co., Ohio. "He was very bad when I commenced to give him the 'Golden Medical Discovery.' The doctors claimed he had consumption and we doctored with them until he was past walking. It has been ten months since he stopped taking your medicine and he is still in good health."

To knock out constipation and biliousness, take Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets.

THE ROYAL BOX.

Queen Victoria's dressmakers' bills would be modest for a woman in ordinary circumstances.

The Prince of Wales has largely become a great student of civil government and is at present giving much attention to that of this country.

King Oscar of Sweden and Norway is spending considerable time at Pau, where his grandfather, Jean Baptiste Bernadotte, afterward Charles XIV, first saw the light on Jan. 21, 1764.

Prince Charles of Denmark, who married Princess Maude of Wales, has little chance now of ultimately succeeding to the throne, as the wife of his elder brother, Prince Christian, gave birth to a son recently.

The Crown Princess Marie of Roumania, who was Princess Marie of Edinburgh, has a queer fad of collecting scent bottles, which she probably inherits from her grandmother, the late empress of Russia, who had a collection valued at $35,000.

The Dance in Barocoa.

The guitar, the kettledrum, the gourd rattle and the scratch gourd struck up the queer, barbaric music of the Cuban "danzon"—a round dance something like a waltz, but with greater irregularity of movement and with a peculiar, voluptuous swaying of the body suggestive of the "hoochee coochee" and other oriental dances of the Midway Plaisance. As sometimes executed, this Cuban "danzon" is immodest, not to say indecent, and at balls in the larger Cuban towns it is often danced in a way that would be startling, if not shocking, to the most hardened frequenter of the annual French balls in New York, but in Baracoa I saw nothing about it that was particularly objectionable. It seemed to be nothing more than an awkward, irregular two step waltz to the accompaniment of extremely wild and peculiar music. Both in the music and in the movements of the "danzon" it is easy to trace the influence that the negro, in Cuba, has had over the Spaniard.—George Kennan in Outlook.

PLAINT OF A MILLIONAIRE.

He Fun In Life For a Man Who Has Acquired Enormous Wealth.

What is the smallest income on which a man may live in New York? was the question I asked today of a noted banker, whose income cannot be less than $100,000 a year. "Well," he replied, "my household expenses alone amount to $25,000 a year, and I do not see how I possibly could live on less than that.' Then a reminiscent smile began to cross his countenance, and, heaving a little sigh, he said: "But the happiest time of my life was when my wife and I and two children lived here on $2,500 a year. After all, happiness doesn't depend on the amount of a man's income.

"I was quite intimate with William H. Vanderbilt when he was considered the richest man in the country I met him one day in Fifth avenue and said to him that he ought to be the happiest man in the world. 'I am not,' the great millionaire replied. 'My health is shattered, and all the money I possess cannot restore it. I cannot even drive one of my fine horses. It is painful for me to sit down. My only possible exercise is for me to walk down the avenue. I receive threatening letters daily, and my nerves are so unstrung that I am constantly afraid that some assassin will waylay me I am overrun with people who want to get money. I am the most wretched man in New York, and I tell you that after a person has accumulated enough to secure him against poverty and gratify his reasonable wants every dollar in addition is a burden and weighs him down.' "—Philadelphia Ledger

A PRESSMAN'S STORY.

Mr. Parnham Tells How Dodd's Kidney Pills Cured His Lumbago.

Toronto, June 19.—The story of the escape of the Globe pressman, Mr. Jno. H. Parnham, from the agonies of Lumbago, by using Dodd's Kidney Pills, is unusually interesting.

Mr. Parnham writes to the Dodd's Medicine Co., Limited, thus: "I am proud to testify to the wonderful efficacy of Dodd's Kidney Pills. About eight months ago I was attacked by severe pains in my back. I consulted an eminent physician, who said I had Lumbago, and told me to take Turkish baths. These did me no good.

"A friend advised me to try Dodd's Kidney Pills. I did so, and one box cured me. My back has never troubled me since."

Enjoyable.

"Did you have a nice time at the concert last night?"

"Splendid! Sue Dallington told me of a lovely new dressmaker that she has found."

Rarely indeed is a wealthy Turk seen at his wife's dinner table. He usually dines in a part of the house remote from that occupied by his connubial partner or partners.

Roast monkey is said to be quite a dainty dish. Its flavor is a sort of compromise between pheasant and hare.

TWO NERVY LOSERS.

EACH DROPPED A FORTUNE AND SEEMED TO ENJOY THE LOSS.

One Lighted a Cigar and Calmly Went Back to Sheep Herding and the Other Smilingly Started In Anew and Made Half a Million.

"There's no way of telling in advance how a man is going to take his complete wiping out in a game of chance," said the ex-mayor of a Colorado city when the talk at the club drifted around to the subject of hard losers and the other kind. "There's no rule about it. I've seen men of long tested gameness go all to pieces after big losings; seen them suddenly struck speechless, as weak as children, with their lips trembling like those of women who are about to cry. On the other hand, I've seen chaps with low foreheads and weak chins, and reputations for crawfishing and backing water in tight places, stand four square to the finishing wrenches of long runs of fearful luck and take their bitter medicine with hearts apparently as brave as their faces were weak. Probably the best educated and the most highly organized men are the hardest losers.

"The gamest loser I ever saw was a sheep herder who didn't look to have enough character to him to stuff a gnat pelt. He was bunching sheep on the Idaho sage ranges for $35 a month and his grub when an aunt in Connecticut whom he had scarcely ever heard of, much less seen, died and left him $18,000. He didn't have to come east to get the money; a lawyer handed it to him in a bundle in Pocatello. He went to Jim Hosford's faro bank and told Jim that he wanted to make a few thousand dollar bets. Hosford told him that he'd better hang on to his money. The herder told Jim that he wanted action on his money, and that if he couldn't get it at Hosford's layout, why, there were others. So Hosford dealt them from the box himself, with a $1,000 limit. I saw the whole play. It only lasted 45 minutes. The herder wasn't in it at any stage of the game. Copped or open, he couldn't land right. It was the fiercest run of evil luck I ever saw a man have at faro. When the herder had lost $18,000 Hosford said to him:

" 'You'd better pinch out that remaining $5,000. Ombrey; give yourself a chance.'

" 'You hand me out another boxful,' replied the herder. 'When I get enough, I'll quit.'

"The man was perfectly cool and collected, and he laid down his last five $1,000 bills without a tremor. He picked four straight losers. By that time the box was out, and Hosford riffled 'em and started another one. The herder watched them slip out for a minute, and then he put his last $1,000 on the high card. That kind of long shot playing don't do for cinch work, and the bet trimmed him out. There wasn't a particle of contraction to his features when he struck a match and coolly lit a cigar. I think those who saw the play felt a good deal sorrier for him than he did for himself.

" 'Bud,' said Hosford to the herder, 'I'm no hog. I'll just split the difference with you,' and he began to count out half of the money he had won from the sheep man.

" 'No, you won't,' replied the herder, 'but you can give me a drink and a bottle to put in my pocket.'

" 'Better take a couple of thousand and run to Frisco or Denver and have a whirl out of it, anyhow,' persisted Hosford.

" 'I've had my whirl,' was the man's reply. He wasn't sulky at all, and he didn't try to look abused. He was simply all man and all game.

" 'Where are you bound for now?' asked Hosford after settling for the drinks.

" 'Back to the old G—8,' said the herder, and he started for the ranch an hour later He had bought three blue flannel shirts, a pair of top boots and a poncho, and he took these things along with him in a bundle. They were all he got out of his $18,000. He was found frozen stiff on the south bank of the Snake river the next winter.

"Tom Vanbrugh, who in the late seventies ran the two biggest layouts on the Pacific coast, one in San Francisco and the other in Portland, and who died a few years ago in Melbourne, Australia, was another splendid loser. His rival in San Francisco was Byron McGregor. McGregor had a big faro layout on Kearny street. The two men didn't particularly fancy each other. McGregor went up to Portland in the summer of 1878 and busted Vanbrugh's bank there to a standstill. Vanbrugh closed the Portland place. Then McGregor brought his winnings down to Vanbrugh's San Francisco bank, and, with an almost unprecedented run of luck, lasting for more than a week, he closed Vanbrugh out. Vanbrugh realised $60,000 on his California investments and took the bunch to McGregor's Kearny street place. McGregor dealt himself. Vanbrugh's luck seemed to have deserted him, and he lost every dollar of his money. He was broke.

" 'Vanbrugh,' said McGregor to him, after the last turn out of the box, 'I'll give you $20,000 a year and a percentage if you'll run a No. 9 game here for me.'

" 'Much obliged,' said Vanbrugh, 'but I've worked too long for myself to be tractable in another man's employ. I'm going to take a sail, anyhow.'

" 'Would $25,000, say, be of any use to you to make a start?' McGregor asked him. The two men, as I say, weren't particularly fond of each other, but they were very square and generous chaps.

" 'Not giving you a short answer, Mac, we haven't been on good enough terms for that,' replied Vanbrugh, and he walked out. An hour later he was the most genial and collected man in his party out at the Cliff House. A lot of his friends offered to start him going again in San Francisco, but he snullingly asked them not to talk business during hours of diversion. The next day he was on board the steamer bound for Australia, and he never returned to San Francisco. His estate was inventoried at $500,000 when he died.—Chicago Inter Ocean.

A ST. THOMAS CASE.

The Entire Population Talking of the Dodd's Kidney Pills Cures.

St. Thomas, June 12.—The great wave has reached St. Thomas. The cures wrought by Dodd's Kidney Pills are numbered by hundreds here, and the entire population, almost, is talking of them.

Michael Holleran, a farmer living near here, told our reporter, "Dodd's Kidney Pills saved me from an untimely grave." He was cured of Diabetes, of an aggravated type by a few boxes, after his doctors had failed to even relieve him.

So it goes. Everyone who has used Dodd's Kidney Pills has been cured. Bright's Disease, Diabetes, Paralysis, all diseases of the kidneys and the blood yield to their power. They never fail to cure these ailments.

DR. GAUTHIER ENDORSES

The statement that Mr. Major owes his life to . . . . DR. CHASE'S Kidney Liver Pills

Dr. J. T. A. Gauthier, of Valleyfield, Que., writes: "I, the undersigned, certify that the contents of this letter, in regard to the cure of Mr. Isadore Major, by the use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, is correct."

Here is Mr. Major's letter: "After 20 years of suffering from backache and kidney disease I owe my life to Dr. A. W. Chase. I had tried an endless variety of remedies to no avail, and on the recommendation of a friend began the use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. Two pills that night and two next morning gave great relief, and I continued their use until now I am completely cured. My friends are surprised and pleased to see me well again, for I spent hundreds of dollars in vain trying to get cured. Before using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills my back ached so I could not put on my shoes and couldn't lift 20 lbs. My shoulders were sore, I had headaches and a bad taste in the mouth. These troubles are now entirely gone and what I say I am ready to prove. I have told my friends of my wonderful cure, and many have been greatly benefited by using these pills."

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills are the greatest kidney cure the world has ever known. One pill a dose, 25c. a box at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

Preserving Wood.

A curious byproduct of zinc is chloride or salts of zinc, which formerly went to waste, but now is used as a wood preservative by railroads, bridge builders and dock builders, and for the protection of shingles, clapboards, pillars and any other wood that is exposed to moisture or influences that cause decay. The salts of zinc, in solution, by hydraulic pressure are forced into the pores of the wood, which is then soaked in a strong solution of tannin and glue. The ties and piling now used on the Santa Fe and Southern Pacific and other western roads are treated in this manner. The railway companies named use from 3,000,000 to 4,000,000 pounds a year each. With this treatment a pine tie, which is the only kind that can be found out in the mountain country, will last three times as long as one of oak. —Chicago Record.

to paint anything, a hitching post or a house, a barn door or a parlor floor, see that you have the right paint for that particular purpose. No paint has ever been made equally good for painting everything—buggies and houses and furniture. The greatest triumph of modern paint-making is the making of a different paint that looks best and wears best for each class of painting. It has taken years to find out just what ingredients and what proportions are needed for each. Each must be ground and mixed by special machinery with the utmost skill and accuracy. CANADIAN PATRIOTIC NATIONAL SONG.

By A. McKILLOP.

(Air—"God Save the Queen.")

Hail! bright Colonial Star,
Free from the alarm of war,
Be thy blest shore.
Most peaceful land on earth,
Great realm of wealth and worth,
Light up the Golden North
For evermore.

Hark! Hark! the Nation's call—
One song—a song for all,
One sweet refrain.
Loud, loud, the anthem raise,
Great Canada we praise;
How bright her golden rays
From main to main.

The British Lion's tones
Resound through all the zones,
To guide the world,
Till tyranny shall cease.
When knowledge shall increase
The great white flag of peace
Shall be unfurled.

Join, join, ye loyal join.
Ye patriots all combine,
Both near and far—
By mansion, cot and grove,
Sing in the land we love
All other lands above,
God bless our Star.

Long, long, this Northern Light,
So brilliant and so bright,
Has loyal been.
And still the Band of Fame,
To [illegible] time,
Shouts forth the glad anthem
'God Save the Queen.'

The New French Cabinet Scores in Both Houses.

THE PREMIER'S STATEMENT.

M. Waldeck-Rousseau Refers to Certain Delusions That Must Be Effaced, and the Necessity for the Co-Operation of Parliament With the Ministry—Text of the Speech.

Paris, June 27.—The new Cabinet Ministry presented themselves to the Chambers yesterday afternoon.

The Chamber was thronged and there was great animation at the opening of the session when it became known that two alleged hostile groups, the Socialist-Radicals and the Democratic Left, had decided to vote in favor of the Government, and that M. Paul de Cassagnac had withdrawn his interpellation.

The Premier's Statement.

Identical statements were read in the Chamber of Deputies by the Premier, M. Waldeck-Rousseau, and in the Senate by the Minister of Justice, M. Monis.

They were as follows: "The Chamber of Deputies, in expressing itself resolved not to support any Government but one determined to defend energetically Republican institutions and assure public order, has defined the task imposed upon the new Cabinet. The Ministry has no other ambition than to accomplish it.

"Then, to accomplish it, in order to bring about the pacification of the country, and to maintain intact our common inheritance, it seemed to us that existing delusions should be effaced, and that the work we are about to undertake required the co-operation of all Republicans. When the aim is definite, though varying according to the methods of different schools, accord becomes easier, and controversies are lost in the presence of the one duty to perform. To end the agitation pursued under disguises easy to penetrate, against the regime which has been sanctioned, and will be upheld by universal suffrage, and to require from all the services loyal assistance and courageous assumption of responsibility, such is necessarily the first duty of the Government. It is resolved to have all judicial decisions respected, and if the first wish of the country is to listen to the voice of justice it will maintain silence and respect while its decisions are prepared.

"In the front rank of the important interests of the country, bound up with the conservation of the dignity of the nation, we place the interests of the army, which the republic has constructed on a stronger basis, and which is synonymous with the republic's security, and is the pride of France. We think, with the army's most illustrious and surest guides, that inviolable attachment of discipline is the first and essential guarantee of the army's own greatness. We intend to defend it with the same energy against the attacks and solicitations which constitute the most undeserved of insults. We desire, above all, that appeasement may be accomplished, and it will come quickly, if everyone will give up being a law unto himself, and bow to the law of the land.

"To accomplish the work which has devolved upon us, we have need of the co-operation of Parliament, and its whole confidence. We ask the widest mandate. We take the fullest responsibility. We ask for a truce of the irritating discussion, hurtful to the interests of the country, and that you will vote without delay a law necessary to the good working of the public service. If our efforts are not sterile, disunion among Republicans will vanish, and the republic will soon resume the path of economic and social progress."

At the opening of the session the extreme Leftists shouted, "Vive la Commune," and the Socialists frequently interrupted the proceedings, but M. Waldeck-Rousseau's statement was much applauded by the Leftists and Centrists.

M. Ernest Roche, Socialist, interpellated the Government regarding the policy and composition of the Ministry. He declared it was a Government of war and defiance, and violently attacked the Minister of War, General the Marquis de Gallifet. Other speakers followed in a similar vein, and eight orders of the day were moved, only two of them approving the Ministerial statement.

M. Waldeck-Rousseau accepted an order of the day moved by M. Jules Perillier, Radical Socialist, reading as follows: "The Chamber, approving the declarations and acts of the Government, passes the order of the day."

Approved by Both Houses.

The Chamber adopted M. Perillier's motion by a vote of 268 to 237. An indescribable scene of excitement followed in the lobbies.

The Senate by a vote of 187 to 85 approved the declaration of the Government.

M. Waldeck-Rousseau replied to the various interpellations, explaining the motives animating the formation of a Cabinet of somewhat divergent views, one of the main objects being to re-unite all Republicans. He added that the Ministers had already assumed some responsibility, but he thought the backing of the Chamber was necessary for further steps, and asked what Ministry could for a moment tolerate acts seeming to create the belief that the army desired to constitute itself the judge of its policy. He further expressed the hope that it would not be necessary to take more severe measures, and said he thought it easy to demonstrate whence came the attacks upon the courts. Explaining the inclusion of General the Marquis de Gallifet in the Cabinet as Minister of War, he said it was because no other general had so spontaneously supported the constitution, and it was thought the necessary punishment of certain military men could be somewhat relaxed if emanating from such a trusted authority as Gen. Gallifet. In conclusion the Premier said: "Our task is heavy. Whatever course the Chamber may pursue, I have done my duty."

NEWS FROM HENLEY.

Good Practice by the Argonauts and a Beat-Out by Goldman.

Henley-on-Thames, June 27.—The Argonauts have engaged Fred. Plaisted, the American oarsman, who comes from Maine, to train them. Ned Hanlan rowed Plaisted on the Toronto Bay some years ago. Yesterday morning the eight occupied their time in sprinting. In the eight's trial they did the distance to Fawley Court in 3 minutes and 44 seconds, and finished the course in 7 minutes and 35 seconds, feeling fresh. The strokes averaged 34 to the minute.

Goldman did half of the course in a trial yesterday morning in 4 minutes and 14 seconds, beating out Fox, one of his competitors in the Diamond Sculls. A head wind was unfavorable to a good practice. In the Diamond Sculls, Ashe of the Thames Rowing Club, Blackstaffe of the Vesta Rowing Club, Fox of Pembroke College, Gaudin of the Thames Rowing Club, Goldman of the Toronto Argonauts, Hemmerdi of the Leander Rowing Club, and Howell of the Thames Rowing Club, are entered

MENACE TO BRITAIN.

Four Times on the Verge of War With the Transvaal.

MR. CHAMBERLAIN'S SPEECH.

Hopes That Efforts Now Being Made Will Lead to an Amicable Arrangement, But When Moral Pressure Becomes a Farce Britons Will Find Other Means to a Settlement.

Birmingham, Eng., June 27.—Mr. Joseph Chamberlain, Secretary of State for the Colonies, addressing the Unionists of this city yesterday afternoon, reviewed carefully the Transvaal question.

After denouncing in the strongest terms the attitude and actions of the Boers, Mr. Chamberlain, with great deliberation and emphasis, added: "The Transvaal's enormous secret service fund has procured it friends and advocates in every country. The way the British subject there is treated is not only a menace to them, but interferes with our prestige among the natives, who now regard the Boers, and not the British, as the paramount power. Besides the breaches of the London Convention, the Transvaal is flagrantly violating the equality that convention was intended to secure. Its misgovernment is a festering sore, poisoning the whole atmosphere of South Africa. The Dutch in Cape Colony and Natal would be in the happiest condition, but so long as the disease of hatred and suspicion prevails in the Transvaal, it is impossible to stop the contagion.

"Four times since independence was granted we have been on the verge of war with the Transvaal. It is erroneous to say the British Government wants war; but it is equally erroneous to say that the Government will draw back, now that it has put its hand to the plow. We hope the efforts that are now being made will lead to an amicable arrangement, for Great Britain only desires justice; but there comes a time when patience can hardly be distinguished from weakness, and when moral pressure becomes a farce, that cannot be continued without loss of self-respect. I trust that time may never come in this instance; but, if it does, Britons will insist upon finding the means to secure a result essential to the peace of South Africa."

The speech was warmly applauded.

GERMANY WILL NOT GO IN.

A Smashing Blow to the Russian Idea of Disarmament.

The Hague, June 27.—The first committee examined yesterday the Russian proposals relating to military effectives and budgets. Col. Gross von Scharzhoff of the German legation declared that Germany could not enter into any engagement not to increase her naval and military effectives.

A Smashing Blow.

London, June 27.—The correspondent of The Daily News at The Hague says: "The German delegates yesterday privately informed their colleagues that they had received instructions to accept the principle of a permanent tribunal of arbitration, as outlined in the Anglo-American plans. This and the speech of Col. Gross von Schwarshoff, plainly intimates that Germany had made up her mind against the Russian idea of disarmament."

Paty de Clam Wants to Die.

Paris, June 26.—It is reported Lieut.-Col. Paty de Clam, a prisoner in the City Prison, charged with forgery in connection with the Dreyfus case, has several times attempted to commit suicide. The watchfulness of his guards prevented him from being successful. Every instrument or means whereby the man could take his life have been removed. De Clam is kept in strict solitary confinement and neither his wife nor his lawyer is allowed to see him.

The Flower of Britain's Army.

London, June 27.—Her Majesty the Queen, the Duke of Cambridge, the Prince of Wales, the Duke of York, Grand Duke Michael of Russia, the Duke of Connaught, General Lord Wolseley, commander-in-chief of the army, and many princes and princesses were present on the famous plains of Aldershot yesterday to witness a review of over 18,000 of the best troops in the Kingdom.

Canada's Money Received.

London, June 27.—General Lord Kitchener of Khartoum, Governor-General of the Soudan, has received £1,640 from the Earl of Minto, Governor-General of Canada, on behalf of the Canadians, for the endowment fund of the Gordon memorial college at Khartoum.

Vatican Party on Top.

Rome, June 27.—For the first time since 1870 the Vatican party has obtained a majority in Rome in the municipal elections, and the fronts of the churches are fantastically illuminated nightly in honor of the success.

A New Russian Princess.

St. Petersburg, June 27.—The Czarina gave birth to a daughter here yesterday afternoon. She was named Maria.

POLITICS IN BRITAIN.

There is a possibility of a change of government in Great Britain at the next general elections, if one is to judge by the result of recent bye-elections. The Liberals are very much heartened by the gains shown in the Edinburgh elections. South Edinburgh has turned a Conservative majority of 97 into a Liberal majority of 931, and East Edinburgh has raised a Liberal majority of 449 to 1,980. Moreover, there is every prospect of the Liberal candidate winning the important Conservative seat of Oldham Lancashire, made vacant by death. Government, to the stupefaction of their supporters, have perpetrated an extraordinary technical blunder by the introduction of the Tithe Rent Charges Bill. This probably needs some words of explanation to Canadian readers. Tithe means tenth, and was the proportion of the produce of the land assigned for the support of the church. In 1836 tithes in produce were commuted into money payment, which varies with the average price of corn during seven years, but is calculated upon the fixed valuation of the land or rent charge, As part of the clergyman's income it is rated like the rest of his income. The present bill proposes to pay one-half this rate out of imperial funds, that is, after presenting one dole to agricultural landlords and another to sectarian schools, a third dole amounting to £87,000 yearly, until 1902, is to be presented to the members of what Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman justly calls the richest church in the world. Of course the Liberals are hotly opposed to the bill, and popular feeling is likely to go with them, for tithes are notoriously unpopular, and many Conservatives have little enthusiasm for the measure, if, indeed, they are not strongly opposed to it. The British elector is not emotional, and when he feels that his rights are invaded his political convictions do not figure very prominently in the process of marking his ballot. Therefore, if the obnoxious bill be persisted in, trouble to the party in power may easily ensue.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Mr. Whitney, the leader of the Ontario Opposition, is very wordy in condemning political corruption. If Mr. Whitney is honestly in earnest, the Brantford Expositor invites him to show it in the approaching bye-election in South Ontario. The Liberal candidate, Hon. John Dryden, refused to accept the nomination of his party, save upon the positive assurance that there would be strict compliance with the laws of the land and of common morals. No such condition was imposed by Mr. Calder, the Conservative candidate, despite the fact that he had been, like Mr. Dryden, unseated for corrupt practices by agents. Let Mr. Whitney take charge of the campaign for his own party in this riding, and join hands with Mr. Dryden in seeing that there is an honest election. This would be a very practical way of showing his sincerity, and there should be no hesitation on his part in adopting it.

The steamer Gallia, which recently grounded in the St. Lawrence, has been floated. Investigation shows that her grounding is not due to shallowness of channel, but to careless navigation. It is important that the river outlet to the sea should be sufficiently deep and clear, but it is hardly the thing to spend large sums of public money in deepening a channel which is safe for careful navigation, especially when there are far more important uses to which public money can be put.

The Michigan lumbermen claim that having bought Ontario timber limits in good faith, the value of their purchase has been depreciated by the law requiring all logs cut on Crown lands in Ontario to be manufactured in this province and that they are entitled to compensation or a repeal of the law. They should remember that limits were purchased subject to change in the regulations. The change has been made, and it is boy business for them to "squeal" because they get a little of the small end of the bargain. Ontario is bound to uphold its position, which is effect, is to give Ontario the largest share of the benefits from the exploitation of her timber areas. We cannot be expected to turn over our timber to build up the United States and to give them a free hand with it in the face of a hostile and burdensome tax on Canadian lumber exported to the United States. We have, as the Globe points out, offered them reciprocity; if they will not trade fairly they cannot expect that we will be imposed upon. If the present law should be declared unconstitutional or ultra vires we will enact something that will not be challenged. The present law is unanimously endorsed by public opinion; the Liberals enacted the law and the Conservatives have emphatically declared in favour of it. And that law or something equivalent to it must be kept on our statute books.

WHEN A MAN'S OUT OF A JOB.

SAM WALTER FOSS.

All nature is sick from her heels to her hair,
W'en a feller is out of a job;
She is all out of kilter an' out of repair
W'en a feller is out of a job.
Ain't no juice in the earth an' no salt in the sea,
Ain't no ginger in life in this land of the free,
An' the universe ain't what it's cracked up to be
W'en a feller is out of a job.

W'at's the good of blue skies an' of blossomin trees
W'en a feller is out of a job?
W'en yer boy hez large patches on both of his knees,
An' a feller is out of a job?
Them patches, I say, look so big to your eye
That they shut out lan'scape an' cover the sky,
An' the sun can't shine through 'em the best it can try
W'en a feller is out of a job.

W'en a man has no part in the work of the earth,
W'en a feller is out of a job,
He feels the whole blund'rin' mistake of his birth,
W'en a feller is out of a job;
He feels he's no share in the whole of the plan
That he's got the mitten from natur's own han',
That he's a rejected and left over man,
W'en a feller is out of a job.

For you've just lost yer holt with the rest of the crowd,
W'en a feller is out of a job;
An' you feel like a dead man with nary a shroud,
W'en a feller is out of a job;
You are crawlin' aroun,' but yer out of the game;
You may bustle about, but yer dead, just the same—
Yer dead, with no tombstones to puff up yer name,
W'en a feller is out of a job.

MR. Brown's Opinion of Paine's Celery Compound

IT RESTORED HIM TO NEW HEALTH WHEN ALL OTHER MEDICINES FAILED.

It is everywhere admitted that the people who testify to the health-giving and restoring virtues of Paine's Celery Compound are men and women who are respected and well known in the towns and cities where they reside.

The high standing of Paine's Celery Compound with the most prominent medical men, and its world wide popularity, is due to the fact that the great medicine accomplishes just what it promises. It saves life after all other medicines fail; it cures when doctors pronounce the patient incurable.

Mr. John H. Brown, Truro, N.S., writes as follows:

"I am truly thankful for the good results I have obtained from the use of Paine's Celery Compound. For a long time I have been a sufferer from general debility and indigestion and have made use of many medicines, but none have given me the grand results, as far as improved health is concerned, as has your wonderful Paine's Celery Compound. It has done wonders for me, and though I am 65 years old I have been able to do light work for the past six months, and have not lost a day. I give your medicine all the credit for my restoration."

NEGLECTED CHILDREN.

HOW ONTARIO PROVIDES FOR THEIR CARE.

Valuable Hints for our Philanthropists

(Montreal Witness.)

There is no greater menace to the peace and happiness of a community than a neglected child. This is a big name to give the pitiful atom of humanity clothed in rags and dirt, who stands on the curb and holds out a grimy little hand for 'charity. But think a minute. In a few years that child will be a man. And for his manhood's duties, what preparation is he getting? He is not being taught cleanly habits and by-and-by we shall see a man who considers it his inalienable right to be dirty if he wants to. He is not being educated, and so he will soon grow to add another to the already full ranks of the untaught. If well disposed he may plod along in the ranks of unskilled labour, while some over-wrought employer of higher labour suffers for lack of the help this man should have been trained to give—just another man in the world whose share of the world's work goes undone.

And if he is not by nature well disposed? Then down, he goes lower still. It is from such as he that our criminals are recruited. He has never been trained to work and so the working part of the community may just work on a little harder to earn a little more money to pay a few more policemen to chase down a few more of his rapidly-increasing kind, and then work a little harder still to provide him with sufficiently attractive jail quarters to suit the finnicky amateur philanthropists. Or the super-conscientious slummer will drag weary limbs half the length of the city to bring down a bouquet to cheer the barrenness of his criminal cell.

And what of the little girl waif? She does not so often beg. The working instinct is strong in the woman of the tenderest age. You seldom hear of strikes among women wage earners. The woman who is suffering from lack of work would prove the the fortune of a Barnum. The little girl waif goes out with a basket of trinkets for sale, or stands on the street corners with a bunch of evening papers. Her appeal touches a larger class. These say: 'I will not not give to a beggar, but I can buy something from the poor little woman and help her along.' So the tender-hearted business man, hurrying down to his day's work—a grind far harder than that of the so-called labour—stops and buys something he does not want and cannot use, and thinks—if he has time five minutes after to think of it at all—that he has helped the poor child a little anyway.

Has she? May be! But more likely he has only helped above a little farther down those whom nature intended should help her. The coin that he slipped into her hand may not go to get her dinner, but only to buy a drink for her parent or guardian. Let him follow her home and what will he find? The 'poor but honest' poverty we are fond of talking about? Possibly. But more than probably it will be a case of father or mother, or both, drunken, or lazy, or improvident, or all three, feeling no responsibility towards the child, who never asked to be brought into the world, but calm in the assurance that 'now the child is old enough to be of some use to them.'

Or suppose matters become still worse, and the parents, one or both, are arrested and the children are left to the tender mercies of anyone who happens along. Perhaps some benevolent person will take them in charge and see that they are cared for in some institution. They may be there a few days, or weeks or even months, properly fed and cared for at the expense of the benevolent friends of the institution. But soon, all too soon, the jail term of their natural guardians expires and then the children are demanded. These people may be no more fit to have charge of their children than they were before, rather less, but the law has no power to interfere between children and their parents, and so the little unfortunates are thrust back to their doom.

This lack of law wise men and women in Montreal are now working to amend. These and others interested will find information of much value in the last annual report of the Department of Neglected and Dependent Children of Ontario. The provincial superintendent, Mr. J. J. Kelso, is an enthusiast in his work, and has reduced the matter to a science. The department, indeed, is chiefly his creation.

Another great discovery has been made, and that, too, by a lady in this country. "Disease fastened its clutches upon her, and for seven years she withstood its severest tests, but her vital organs were undermined and death seemed imminent. For three months she coughed incessantly, and could not sleep. She finally discovered a way to recovery by purchasing of us a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, and was so much relieved on taking the first dose that she slept all night; and with two bottles has been absolutely cured. The Souvenir Range With Aerated Ovens.

In "Souvenir" Stoves and Ranges the Fresh air is taken over the oven doors (see cut) and passes through a circulating-flue underneath a plate which is attached to the top oven plate, thus becoming heated, after which it is discharged into the oven.

The heated fresh air then creates a literal whirlwind in rotating from the top to bottom of oven, carrying all the impure air out of the oven, at the exit provided, and replacing it continually with heated fresh air.

The air being heated before entering the oven, the temperature is not lowered. The vitiated air passes off into the flues' carrying with it all odors and gases given off by the cooking food.

We carry a large stock of "Souvenir" and "Happy Thought" Ranges—the best stoves in Canada.

A NEW INVENTION!

The Newcombe Piano Has It.

It consists of a Patented Practice CLAVIER or STOP which diminishes the tone when required and saves wear on the Piano; it also does away with the old way of having to press down the pedal with the foot in order to soften the tone when running the scales or practising. Oftentimes the young pupil on the piano cannot press down on the pedal without throwing themselves out of the proper position when they should sit erect. This invention in the NEWCOMBE PIANO will enable children to begin two years earlier on the piano. In addition to the above, the NEWCOOMBE PIANO is the finest made in Canada. Children often complain about practising; they like it if they have a NEWCOMBE PIANO. 1899 styles are gems of art, containing every late improvement; they possess that beautiful full sweet tone which lights the singer, and so pleases every musical ear. Organs of every description at Wholesale Prices.

Big Bargains now on hand in slightly used Upright and Square Pianos of the various makes taken in part exchange for the famous NEWCOOMBE PIANOS. Every NEWCOOMBE PIANO has a new registered scale and the warranty is cast in the plate. For correct and full information regarding the new invention and NEWCOOMBE PIANOS write to our Direct Representative. Easy Prices. Liberal Terms.

Half Sick Half Well

Many persons have their good day and their bad day. Others are about half sick all the time. They have headache, backache, and are restless and nervous. Food does not taste good, and the digestion is poor; the skin is dry and sallow and disfigured with pimples or eruptions; sleep brings no rest and work is a burden.

What is the cause of all this? Impure blood.

And the remedy?

Ayer's Sarsaparilla

It clears out the channels through which poisons are carried from the body. When all impurities are removed from the blood nature takes right hold and completes the cure.

If there is constipation, take Ayer's Pills. They awaken the drowsy action of the liver; they cure biliousness.

VERY ABSURD CANARD

Latest Attack on the Intercolonial Extension Bargain.

MR. BLAIR'S STRONG DENIAL.

Minister of Railways Says There Is No Foundation for the Statement That the Agreement With the G.T.R. Leaves That Road Master of the Intercolonial—House Proceedings.

Ottawa, June 27.—The report published in several of the Conservative papers, to the effect that the agreement with the G.T.R. for running powers for the Intercolonial into Montreal practically left the G.T.R. masters of the situation so far as the Intercolonial lines are concerned, is the subject of much amusing comment here. The Minister of Railways denies emphatically that there is any foundation for the statement, which, owing to the peculiar circumstances under which it was made, is regarded as a political canard circulated with a view to discrediting an excellent bargain made by the Government, a bargain which was criticised a short time ago by the Conservatives in the House as erring in exactly the opposite respect. In this connection it is interesting to note that the negotiations carried on by the Government with the Canada Atlantic Railway Company have been successful, and that already the advantages are being appreciated of a through Intercolonial palace car from Ottawa to Halifax.

HOUSE OF COMMONS.

Questions and Answers—Mr. Davin's Motion of Want of Faith in the Government—Mr. Richardson's Bill.

Ottawa, June 27.—A petition was presented to the House yesterday by Mr. Belcourt, asking for leave to present a petition for a private bill to incorporate the Yukon River & Atlin Lake Improvement Company. The petition is signed by James Shelby Williams of Paris, Texas; T. A. Darby of Wilmington, N.C.; D. D. McMillan of Winnipeg and H. A. Bate and W. J. Poupore of Ottawa. The time for receiving petitions for private bills expired more than two months ago.

Questions and Answers.

Mr. Fielding informed Mr. Foster that the amount expended to June 23 on account of the prohibition plebiscite was $192,541.01 and that about $1,000 more would cover the whole expense.

Mr. Prior was informed by the Premier that the Government was aware that a number of statutes passed by the Local Legislature of British Columbia contain a clause prohibiting the employment of Chinese and Japanese labor. These statutes were now under the consideration of the Department of Justice and no report on them had yet been made.

Hon. Dr. Borden, in reply to a question put for Mr. Clarke by Mr. Davin, said that 11,078 applications for the Canadian general service medals and clasps have been received, 4,291 of which have been passed upon by the medal claim board for approval. In 159 cases a decision has been reserved by the board pending the receipt of additional particulars. All applications, with the exception of 441 received during the last few days, have been investigated and classified and awarded for consideration by the board. The question of how and when the distribution shall take place has not yet been decided.

The order paper was then run through and 15 unopposed motions for papers carried.

Mr. Davin on Deck Again.

Mr. Davin moved that, in the opinion of this House, faith has not been kept with the farmers of the west, since duties have not been reduced on agricultural implements and have been increased on the cheaper cottons, and that the ⅓ per cent. preference on goods of English manufacture has, in the case of many staples of which all the people are consumers, been rendered delusive by raising the duty above that levied under the tariff of 1894-5.

In support of his motion Mr. Davin reviewed at considerable length the course of the Government since June 23, 1896, when the Liberal party succeeded to power, contending that the success of the party at the polls was almost entirely attributable to the promises made to the farmers of the Northwest that agricultural and other implements used by them should be put on the free list.

The Premier said the resolution should have been introduced when the budget speech was delivered and announcement made that there would be no tariff changes.

The debate was continued by Messrs. McMullen, Davies and Davin until 6 o'clock.

After recess the bill respecting the Northern Commercial Telegraph Company was read a third time and passed.

Mr. Richardson's Bill.

The House then went into committee on Mr. Richardson's bill "respecting the attachment of salaries of public officials and employes of the Government."

Mr. Ball (Pictou) agreed to support the bill after Mr. Richardson had consented that the bill should only apply to debts incurred after the passage of the bill.

Sir Louis Davies objected to the section defining "salaries" to include fees, emoluments, moneys, allowances, etc., claiming that it complicated the bill. He further said he had opposed the bill last year, and should oppose it again. There was no question about the power of Parliament to declare that the salaries of civil servants should be liable to seizure, but the mode of collection should be left to the provinces.

After some discussion, Mr. Richardson proposed an amendment to the effect that only salaries and wages could be seized, which was agreed to, but the discussion continued until 11 o'clock, when Sir Louis Davies moved that the committee rise and report progress.

Mr. Richardson opposed this, as he said it would virtually kill the bill, but the motion was carried on a count of 26 for to 17 against, and the committee rose and reported progress and the House adjourned at 11.15.

Dry Dock Subsidies.

Mr. Fielding gives notice of a resolution that it is expedient to amend the Dock Subsidy Act of 1883 by providing that if any approved incorporated company enters into agreement to construct and equip a dry-dock, in such places and in such manner as Government approve, the Governor-in-Council may authorize payment of two per cent. per annum for 20 years on cost of work, such subsidy not to exceed $20,000 a year; also any such company entering into agreement to enlarge and extend any existing dock may be paid by Government two per cent. for 20 years on outlay, provided, however, that such subsidy shall not exceed $10,000 a year.

The British Guiana Deputation.

Ottawa, June 27.—The British Guiana deputation to the United States—Sir Cavendish Boyle and Mr. J. H. De Jonge—who arrived here on Sunday, were entertained by the Premier at luncheon yesterday in the Rideau Club. The other guests present were: Sir Charles Tupper, Hon. W. S. Fielding, Hon. George E. Foster, Hon. A. G. Blair, Hon. R. R. Dobell, Mr. A. McNeill, M.P., Mr. James Sutherland, M.P., and Captain H. A. Bate.

The commissioners had an interview yesterday morning with Mr. Fielding, but Sir Cavendish Boyle said that any matters talked over at present with respect to improved trade relations between Canada and British Guiana must, of course, be confidential, and he could, therefore, not make any statement for publication.

A Jury of Women.

Who have tested the merits of Dr. A. W. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills return the verdict that for the backache and kidney disorders there is no preparation in any way equal to this great discovery of Dr. A. W. Chase, America's greatest physician. This great kidney cure is sold by all dealers at 25c a box, and has proved most effectual as a remedy for the many ills to which woman is subject.

All Wrong, of Course.

Montreal, June 27.—The president of the Canadian Pacific Railway yesterday morning gave an emphatic denial to the report that the Canadian Pacific and Great Northern Railways had arrived at an agreement whereby a joint line will be laid to connect the famous Boundary Creek mining camp of British Columbia with the equally famous Washington camp. Mr. Shaughnessy added that he knew absolutely nothing concerning the reported agreement.

T. H. & B. R. Smash.

Hamilton, June 27.—About 7 o'clock yesterday morning a freight train on the T., H. & B. Railway broke in two on the heavy grade west of Dundas. The train was ascending at the time, and the rear half came back at a terrible rate. These cars dashed into a work train and made a bad wreck. The men on the work train saw the runaway cars coming and jumped. No person was hurt.

AN OLD FIRM NIPPED.

Customs Officer Seizes a Wholesale Liquor Store in Halifax.

Halifax, N. S., June 27.—Customs Officer Jones yesterday seized the wholesale liquor establishment of A. McDougall & Co., one of the oldest in the city, on the charge of violating the customs laws. On visiting the bonded warehouse in McDougall's building he found that puncheons of liquor had been tampered with, the fire water being removed and colored water substituted. The seizure followed and officers were placed in charge.

ANTIQUITY OF SAWS.

They Were In Use Centuries Before the Christian Era.

Saws were used by the ancient Egyptians. One that was discovered with several other carpenter's tools in a private tomb at Thebes is now preserved in the British museum. The blade, which appears to be of brass, is 10¾ inches long and 1¼ inches broad at the widest part. The teeth are irregular and appear to have been formed by striking a blunt edged instrument against the edge of the plate, the bur or rough shoulder thus produced not being removed.

A painting copied in Rosellini's work on Egyptian antiquities represents a man using a similar saw, the piece of wood which he is cutting being held between two upright posts. In other representations the timber is bound with ropes to a single post, and in one, also copied by Rosellini, the workman is engaged in tightening the rope, having left the saw sticking in the cut. In an engraving given in the third volume of Wilkinson's "Manners and Customs of the Ancient Egyptians" a saw is represented of much larger dimensions, its length being by comparison with the man not less than three or four feet. It does not appear that the Egyptians used saws worked by two men.

The invention of saws was variously attributed by the Greeks to two or three individuals, who are supposed to have taken the idea from the jawbone of a snake or the backbone of a fish. There is a very curious picture among the remains discovered in the ruins of Herculaneum, representing the interior of a carpenter's workshop, with two genii cutting a piece of wood with a frame saw, and on an altar preserved in the Capitoline museum at Rome there is a perfect representation of a box saw, exactly resembling, in the form of the frame and the twisted cord for tightening it, those used by modern carpenters. From these remains it is evident that these forms of the instrument were known to the ancients.—London Architect.

An Ink Wiper.

Query—Do all knee breeched public school boys wipe their pens on their stockings? The practice seems startlingly general. Can public opinion carry the fastidious teacher here whither she would?

It is a study hour; an ink well is closed; a notebook pushed aside, down goes a pen to take a turn or two about a stocking leg!

"Garvin, is that a nice thing to do?" This from the teacher, only loud enough to be heard by a selected neighbor or two.

"It don't show" (stolidly). Was there ever a better example from ancient Sparta to modern America of that widespread, deep rooted belief that a crime is not more than half criminal till society's ears have been shocked and aggrieved by its publication?—Teachers' Magazine.

The Ideal Feminine Figure.

The feminine acrobat, trapeze performer and popular danseuse give us some idea of the ideal feminine figure in the bountiful curves and outlines where difference of sex is most marked. If an object lesson is sought to prove that muscular development tends to emphasize the evolution of sex differentiation, it can be found in such shows as Barnum & Bailey's in the beautiful bodies of both male and female acrobats. While if another is needed to demonstrate that want of muscular development produces an approximation to the type masculine, it can be found, alas, all too easily among women who either cannot take exercise (as overworked teachers and seamstresses) or who will not.—Mrs. Ormiston Chant in Nineteenth Century.

Different Papas.

A worth Omaha lad of 7 winters recently committed an offense against the parental rule and was called to account. The little fellow prevaricated about it.

"You should not tell me a story, son," said the fond papa. "That only makes the matter worse. George Washington would not tell a lie, and when he confessed to his papa that he had done wrong his papa forgave him and did not punish him."

"That was all right for George," said the youngster, "but they ain't making no papas now like he had."

The offender was let off with a reprimand.

GAVE HIS LIFE FOR HER.

Heroic Rescue of a Girl From a Railway Trestle Bridge.

Chicago, June 27.—While walking on the tracks of the Chicago Terminal Railroad, John Kotowsky was fatally injured in a remarkable effort to save the life of Agnes Cross. The two were crossing a trestle, the girl a few steps in front, when a switch engine rounded a curve at high speed. Kotowsky sprang forward, and, grasping the girl about the waist, swung himself on one of the iron braces, but the pilot of the locomotive struck him, and with the girl he was hurled 30 feet below. Kotowsky struck the ground first, breaking the girl's fall, but fracturing his skull. The girl escaped with slight injuries.

London, June 27.—Sir Thomas Lipton's cup challenger Shamrock was successfully launched yesterday. The ceremony occurred at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon at Millwall.

Three cheers were then given, and on a signal from Lady Russell the boat and the cradle glided safely into the water.

A LITTLE CHAPTER ON FLOWERS.

A Night-Blooming Cereus, and the W.C.T.U. Floral Distribution.

Mrs. Benjamin Cooney, Stewart street, who is an enthusiastic and successful cultivator of flowers, had the pleasure of entertaining a few friends and neighbours on Sunday with a view of the opening of her night-blooming cereus, which began to expand about six o'clock in the evening. The beautiful petals began to unfold, and opened visibly till completely expanded. It was a most interesting sight; the electric light pouring into the deep calyx seemed to etherialise the green of the pistil and transform the snowy film of the cup with an indescribably beautiful and delicate green. Mrs. Cooney's cereus evidently is not in sympathy with the objects and principles of the Lord's Day Alliance, since it has, for the last five years, selected Sunday as the time for coming into bloom.

Yesterday the W. C. T. U. made their annual distribution of cut flowers and potted plants. Flowers were distributed to the patients in the Nicholl's Hospital, the inmates of the Protestant Home, and to the sick of the town. The guardians of the law who never sleep—on duty—and the moulders of public opinion—the police force and the press—were handsomely remembered. Last year the Examiner was honoured with a beautiful white potted geranium. This year the beneficence of the W. C. T. U. takes the form of a rose-salmon geranium. The thanks of all who benefitted by the delicately expressed generosity of the W. C. T. U. are due and heartily extended to the ladies of that organization. The press has always reason to be glad when W. C. T. U. Decoration Day comes around.

FATAL ACCIDENT IN CAVAN TOWNSHIP.

A LITTLE BOY FALLS FROM A LOAD OF HAY.

His Neck was Broken and Death Ensued Instantly—Was Going to a Picnic.

A very sad accident, which proved fatal, befell Willie, the 14-year old son of Mr. Richard Fallis, (chopper) of Cavan, on Saturday last.

The little fellow accompanied by his sister, was making his way on foot to a school picnic at the Marsh on the boundary between the townships of Cavan and Manvers.

They were not far from their destination when the little fellow attempted to climb upon the rear of a load of hay which was being brought to Millbrook by Mr. Henry Fallis, son of W. A. Fallis, M.P.P.

The driver of the team attached to the load was not aware of what was going on behind him until a shriek from the little girls arrested his attention. Little Willie in his attempt to climb up the chain to the binding pole, by some means lost his hold and fell, breaking his neck.

When he was picked up he was quite dead.

The body was immediately taken to his father's home and interment took place on Sunday.

WEDDING BELLS.

Nuptials of Miss Rose Taylor and Mr. Sidney Mitchell This Afternoon.

Mr. Wm. Taylor's residence was the scene of a very pretty wedding this afternoon, when his second daughter, Miss Rose A. was united in the bonds of holy matrimony to Mr. Sidney H. Mitchell, of the Post Office Department.

The house was tastefully decorated with bride's blossoms and a greenery of palms and ferns. Only the intimate friends of the contracting parties were present to witness the ceremony, which was performed by Rev. D. O. Crossley.

The bride was attired in cream henrietta, trimmed with silk insertion, chiffon and ribbon. The bridesmaid, Miss Maggie Cookson, was also prettily gowned in white organdie, trimmed with Valenciennes lace. They carried bouquets of cream and pink roses respectively. Miss Lillie Stocker, neic eof the bride, was maid of honour. The groom was ably assisted by W. F. Skitch.

After the ceremony and the usual congratulations, the party sat down to a sumptuous wedding breakfast, after which the happy couple took the 4.42 C.P.R. express for a two weeks tour.

Many beautiful and useful presents were received, testifying to the esteem in which the young people are held. Among them was a handsome dinner set from the bride's father, and a beautiful parlour lamp from the groomsman.

The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell will join with the Examiner in extending the heartiest congratulations, coupled with all good wishes.

The New Buildings Completed and the Season Opened—A Plucky Rescue.

Idyl Wild, June 24th, 1899.

Although the opening of the season at this breezy summer resort has been attended by some hurry and incompleteness, on account of the new building operations and furnishings being somewhat delayed, evidences are abundant that this will be the most successful season in the history of the island. The impetus created by the remodelling of the hotel, and the modern features introduced throughout the entire premises and grounds, is already being appreciated. The liberality and enterprise of Mr. Doty, the proprietor, and the genius of Mr. Will Macdonald, the new lessee, have contributed in revolutionizing many of the former out-of-date features of this ideal island summer home.

Among the recent arrivals of guests at the hotel are the following:

Wm Upton, Jas H Doty, Rochester; W Bunton, W J English, C LeBrun, Capt. Calcutt, Peterborough; Dr Murray, Baltimore; D Ewart, Cobourg; Mary E Cruso, New York city; F B Cruso, H B Cruso, Cobourg; Miss Macdonald, Glencoe; Dr D Little, Rochester; W Comstock, Peterborough; G Macdonald, Glencoe; Mr and Mrs J Leonard, Henry Ewing, Warkworth; G T Bickle, James Bulger, Cobourg; J E Servanton, New York city; E A Kemp, Peterborough; Dr Shaw and wife, A D Anderson and wife, Keene; W G Mitchell, Rochester; W L B Reed, R A Robinson, Toronto.

In addition to the regular bustle of business at the hotel, the island has been fairly swarmed with picnic and excursion parties, attended with the most interesting and lively scenes, affording much pleasure to the Americans and other guests.

On the 22nd we had a party of 250 from Warkworth; on the 23rd, a picnic of 400 from Havelock took the island by storm; on the 24th the Free Masons of Keene and their friends were billeted.

The fishing in Rice Lake is excellent, and the guests are feasting every day on fish caught, maskinunge and bass.

A Plucky Rescue.

Mr. W. J. Macdonald, our popular lessee, is the hero of the town. All Rice Lake is talking about his plucky rescue of the poor Indian, who would doubtless have been in his happy hunting ground to-day, had it not been for his presence of mind. Saturday night about 9 o'clock, shortly after the arrival of the boats at Harwood on their return trips from Peterborough with the circus excursionists, Mr. Macdonald rowed across from Idyl Wyld, and on reaching the head of the wharf heard a gutteral noise in the water, which led him to investigate the cause. Springing on to the bow of the steamer, Eclipse, and looking down into the murky waters, he caught sight of the submerged body of the fast-sinking Indian, who was only able to do some faint pounding with his arms to keep himself up. Shouting to the drowning man, Mr. Macdonald threw him a rope, which the Indian managed to secure and hold on firmly. Finding himself unable to haul up the heavy water-soaked load, Mr. Macdonald snubbed his end of the rope, and called loudly for help, which was not long in coming, the fireman of the steamer being on his way to the boat. By the united exertions of both men, the half-drowned Indian was fished up in a very much exhausted condition and swelled with the water he had swallowed. It was a close call, and will likely teach Mr. Indian to be a little more abstemious on circus day in future.

THE ODDFELLOWS' DECORATION DAY.

THE ANNUAL CEREMONY PERFORMED TO-DAY.

A Large Gathering of Oddfellows Unite to Decorate Graves of Departed Brethren—The General Public Join in the Observance of the Occasion.

Beautiful weather favoured the Oddfellows this afternoon, for the observance of Decoration Day and the citizens turned out in large numbers to witness the annual ceremony of the beautifying of the graves of the departed members of the Order. The half holiday proclamation was no doubt the cause of the attendance being so large, although Decoration Day exercises have grown to be very popular.

The cemetery looked especially attractive this afternoon, as the natural beauty of the spot was further enhanced through the fact that during the morning hundreds took advantage of the occasion to lay a tribute on the grave of some dear departed one.

The members of Peterborough and Otonabee Lodges assembled at two o'clock on the Central Park and marshalled by J. W. Miller, N.G., marched to the cemetery, headed by the band. All members marching carried bouquets and on reaching the cemetery they were divided into four parties, each of which visited an allotted number of graves and after placing flowers thereon performed the short but impressive ceremony used on such occasions by the Order.

The graves decorated were as follows:

Bro. Judge J. B. Hall, ex M.P., 1st N. G., Otonabee Lodge.

CHARLOTTE STREET EPWORTH LEAGUE.

An Interesting Meeting Last Night

Last evening was the literary night at the Charlotte street League. This was the second of a series of delightful meetings at which the famous English poets are discussed. The first was Kipling. Last evening the poet considered was Tennyson. After a short service of song an excellent biography was given by Mr. Wm. Elliott. He finished his carefully prepared essay by reciting "Crossing the Bar." The president of the society read the "Lady of Charlotte." At this point in the service a chorus was rendered by the League choir, which was followed by a recitation by Miss C. Whiten. A criticism of Tennyson's works showing deep knowledge of the subject, by Mr. Barrie, closed an interesting and profitable programme. The next library evening will be largely looked forward to by all who attended last night's meeting.

FRASER-REYNOLDS NUPTIALS.

A Brilliant Event in Norwood Last Week.

"Maple Hall," the residence of Mrs. E. M. Reynolds, shone with brilliancy on the morning of Wednesday, June 21st, the event being the marriage of her youngest daughter, Winifred Maude, to Mr. Alexander Fraser.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. John McCamus, under a bower of point lace and orange blossoms. Mendelsshon's "Wedding March" was played by Mrs. D. A. D. Fraser.

The bride was given away by her mother and looked charming in a gown of ivory silk under chiffon. The conventional veil was caught on the hair with a cluster of orange blossoms which well became the sweet face beneath.

The bridesmaid, Miss Ethel Fraser, sister of the groom, was becomingly gowned in figured organdie trimmed with white satin and Valenciennes lace.

The groom was assisted by Mr. W. Spencer of Colborne.

After the ceremony the guests repaired to the spacious dining-room, where a rich dejeuner was served, the bride's table being decorated with carnations and roses. The guests were served by six girls prettily clad in white.

The presents were numerous and costly, being sent from McLouth, Kansas; Groton, S. Dakota; Chicago, Ill.; Sarnia, Peterborough, Belleville, Bracebridge, and numerous other places.

Mr. and Mrs. Fraser took the 7.45 train from Hastings, amid showers of rice and flowers, to points on Muskoka lakes.

The bride's going away gown was green ladies' cloth with silk velvet and hat to match.

LACROSSE.

The Hastings team was too much for the Juniors yesterday afternoon, although the local boys held them down to an even score for over an hour.

Hastings missed the work of Wilcox and Quigley, who were not with the team, and it is no idle joke to say that those same husky Hastings men have a cinch on the junior championship.

The teams yesterday were composed as follows:

Hastings—Welch, Morrison, Scriver, Scriver, Hill, Clapper, McNichol, Dodd, Lynch, Doonan and Randall. Field captain, Tom O'Reilly.

Peterborough — Goal, T. Dineen; point, V. McWilliams; cover point, G. Mein; defence, E. Dillon, J. Comstock and T. Glover; centre, Fred McGrath; home field, H. Overend, F. Whitcroft, H. Mowry; outside home, A. McClellan; inside home, V. Hamilton. Field captain, Alf. Terrill.

The game was refereed by Mr. Lionel King, who had no trouble with the men.

The Juniors seemed to have their fair share of the play but could not work the ball in close enough to the flags to score. The game, however, gave the boys an opportunity of learning a number of points, and they will go to Hastings on July 1st for a return match, when an effort will be made to still beat out Hastings.

The members of both Junior and Senior teams practice every evening this week.

A meeting of the executive is called for to-morrow evening to pick the teams to play on July 1st in Brampton and Hastings.

BASEBALL.

There should be a good attendance at both the morning and afternoon games on July 1st between Cobourg and the Peterborough teams. The local boys have been doing considerable practising, and will be in excellent shape. Dan McCabe will do the twirling in the morning, and Conners will be given a chance in the afternoon.

The members of the Young Shamrock lacrosse team are requested to turn out to practice every night this week to be in condition for the game that is to take place in the picnic grounds on the first of July against the Maple Leafs of Campbellford. The teams are greatly strengthened since their last game on the 24th of May, and a first class exhibition of lacrosse will be given. It will show the people of the town how the Young Shamrocks can play, as this is the first game they play in Peterborough this year.

GOLF.

In the semi-finals of the tournaments in the Ladies' Golf Club, the draws are:

1899 Players.

Miss G. Dennistoun vs. Miss Kempt.
Mrs. R. S. Davidson a bye.
For the Culverwell Trophy.
Miss Boucher vs. Miss L. Hall.
Miss Hamilton vs. Miss G. Dennistoun.

This round is to be played off by Wednesday.

AN EXCELLENT NUMBER.

The July number of the Engineering Magazine opens with a timely article on "English and American Locomotive Building," written by Mr. Charles Rous-Marten, and very fully illustrated with typical engines from both sides of the Atlantic, and discussing the reasons which have led to the placing of extensive orders in the United States for locomotives for British railways.

Dr. H. M. Chance tells, in his paper on "The Increasing Production of Gold," how completely his predictions, made more than three years ago, have been and are being fulfilled, while Chief Engineer Sims and Prof. W. S. Aldrich conclude the account of the "Work of the Repair Ship Vulcan" with a most entertaining narrative of the work upon the sunken Spanish wrecks, and give the true story of the final loss of the Maria Teresa.

Mr. H. M. Wilson shows how the engineering development of Porto Rico may be accomplished by the utilization of the magnificent water-power facilities possessed by the island, and Mr. David A. Louis describes, with many beautiful illustrations, the opening up of the great iron ore beds of Swedish Lapland. The account of the buildings of the coming Paris Exposition, by Prof. Jacques Boyer, is concluded and a further instalment of Mr. Orcutt's remarkable papers on "Machine Shop Management in Europe and America" is given. Papers on the "Evolution and Future of the Gas Engine," by George Lieckfeld, and on "The Efficiencies of Steam Boilers and Furnaces," by Mr. R. S. Hale, help to make up a number of great and varied excellence.

The Review of the Engineering Press, and The Engineering Index, give, as usual, an abstract and key to the technical literature of the world.—The Engineering Magazine, New York.

Dr. A. W. CHASE

DISCOVERED A NEW TREATMENT FOR NERVOUS DISEASES

In his study of diseases of the nerves, Dr. A. W. Chase found that in nearly every case the cause of trouble was improper nourishment. About one-fifth of all the blood in the human body is found in the brain, and unless this blood is rich and pure the nerves cannot obtain proper nourishment, and become worn out and exhausted.

Nervous depression, nervous headache, nervous dyspepsia, loss of sleep and vital force, lack of energy, are symptoms of weak, watery blood and exhausted nerves.

It was as a food for blood and nerves that Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Food was prepared. Its remarkable success in curing all diseases arising from thin blood and impoverished nerves is proof that Dr. Chase's theory of feeding the nerves and blood is the proper one; stimulants only urge on the tired and worn out nervous system until there comes a complete collapse.

Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Food creates new brain and nerve cells, and makes the blood pure and rich. It restores to the exhausted nerves the vigor of perfect health. 50c. a large box, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

DOMINION STEEL CO.

Its Bonds and Common Stock Underwritten Two or Three Times Over.

Montreal, June 26.—The bonds and common stock of the Dominion Steel Company have been underwritten two or three times over. The issue decided upon by the promoters is $6,000,000 in 30-year 5 per cent. gold bonds, of which $5,000,000 will be sold, while the common stock will amount to $15,000,000. The allotment will be made at a meeting to be held in Boston in the near future, but Canada will be given at least $6,000,000, and in fact the capitalists of the Dominion were ready to take the whole issue. The Merchants' Bank of Halifax has applied for an interest that extends up to $1,200,000. Mr. H. M. Whitney, the president, also wants a million, while Toronto has applied for about a million and a quarter, the Queen City being represented on the board of directors by Senator Cox and Elias Rogers.

In order that the tremendous proportions of this enterprise may be appreciated, it is only necessary to say that the Ritter-Connolly Company of Pittsburg have a contract for the furnaces, the amount involved being $2,500,000, the same to be completed within 17 months. The steel works will also mean an expenditure of $1,500,000 more and in addition to this 500 coke ovens will be built, costing $1,500 each.

COUNCIL OF WOMEN.

Countess Aberdeen's Address at the International Convention in London.

London, June 27.—The International Council of Women opened yesterday in the convocation hall of the church house, instead of the large hall of Westminster Town Hall, which was found to be too small to accommodate the delegates.

The Countess of Aberdeen, president of the Council, in her address, after cordial words of welcome, sketched the duties of the Council. She said international arbitration should ever be placed foremost in its program, advocated the establishment of an international bureau of information regarding all that affects women, and warned women against arrogating to themselves alone the duties of curing all evils, saying: "It may be well to have unions of mothers, but do the fathers count so little in the home that their counsel is not needed? The redemption of the race can only be compassed by men and women joining hands and making common cause in every department of life."

In conclusion, the Countess deprecated the idea usually formed about women's congresses, that they were bent upon devising plans whereby women might be emancipated from home duties, saying: "This congress holds fast to the belief that woman's first mission must be her home."

Failure of Tin Plate Workers' Negotiations With the Companies.

Pittsburg, Pa., June 27.—All the tin plate works in the country will probably be closed down at midnight on Friday as a result of the failure to settle the wage scale at the conference in Chicago. Fully 50,000 persons will be made idle by the shut down. The conference, which opened in Chicago on Tuesday morning, closed Saturday evening without arriving at an agreement. The Workers' wage committee, acting under instructions received from the annual conference held in Detroit last month, made a demand for an increase of 20 per cent. The present wage scale expires on June 30, and members of the amalgamated association are not permitted to work after that date unless the new scale is signed.

ALL HEADACHES

[illegible] cured in half an hour by Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain (HEADACHE POWDER)

10 cents and 25 cents at all druggists.

No joy or pleasure on this earth quite equals that which comes into the home when baby arrives. Who can describe the happiness of man and woman, joined in wedlock, as they look upon the fragile, delicate mite that is blood of their blood and flesh of their flesh? And who can depict the hopelessness and dejection that hover about the home where the wife is incapable of becoming a mother? Barrenness proceeds from some derangement of the distinctly feminine organs. Many of the common ailments known as "female troubles" cause it. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription overcomes barrenness by stamping out diseases of women, and by healing and curing ulceration. It tones up the system, stops drains, and restores strength. During gestation it modifies morning sickness, gives elasticity to the overstrained parts concerned, makes the hour of baby's coming short and almost painless, and gives wonderful recuperative power to the patient. By making the mother strong and cheerful, it makes the little one healthy, vigorous and good natured. Insist upon the medicine dealer giving you Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription when you ask for it. Substitutes are often dangerous.

Mrs. James W. Blacker, of 60 Catherine St., Syracuse, N. Y., writes: "Your medicines have done wonders for me. For years my health was very poor; I had four miscarriages, but since taking Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and 'Favorite Prescription' I have much better health, and now I have a fine healthy baby."

For 31 one-cent stamps to cover cost of customs and mailing only, you can get a free copy of that celebrated doctor book, the Common Sense Medical Adviser, 1008 pages, illustrated. Cloth-bound, 50 stamps. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

International Council of Women.

London, June 26.—The pressure of applications for admission to the International Council of Women, which opens to-day and lasts until July 5, has been so great that it was found necessary to change the place of meeting to the large convocation hall of the church house. An interesting feature will be the attendance of Chinese delegates. The Countess of Aberdeen, the president of the council, has been notified by the Chinese minister of the appointment of the wife of Shen, an attache of the Chinese legation, as an official delegate. She will be accompanied by an interpreter and two other Chinese ladies, and will be attended by Dr. Kang, who took a medical degree in America, and Miss Kang. A crowd of American women of all professions will be in attendance. Baroness von Suttner, who has taken an active part in the work of the council, has arrived from The Hague.

The writer distinctly says that no sort of censure was conveyed by the replies to questions respecting the matter in the House of Commons on April 27.

SOME RASH BETS.

How Fortunes Were Lost and Won by Old Time Sports.

During the close of the eighteenth century the craze for gambling rose to an extreme. At certain notorious clubs every incident was made the subject of a wager, and thousands changed hands over the veriest trifle. George Selwyn, who knew something about the business, used to declare that there was nothing in the heavens above or in the earth below or in the waters under the earth upon which these men could not contrive to bet, and this craze led many a noble family to ruin. Bath bets were quite common at this time.

On one occasion a man dropped down at the door of White's, a famous club, and he was carried into the house. Was he dead or not? Betting commenced, and the odds were taken for and against. Some, who had staked hundreds on the man being dead, protested when their opponents desired to bleed the unconscious object of these wagers. They argued that the use of a lance would affect the fairness of the bet. Thus these gentlemen gravely argued the pros and cons affecting these foolish wagers.

A certain Mr. Blake made himself notorious by betting £1,500 that a man could live 12 hours under water! He hired a daring fellow, and, purchasing an old ship, they were sunk together by way of settling the bet. Neither ship nor man reappeared, so Mr. Blake had to pay up. The famous Earl of Carlisle once staked £5,000 on a single card at faro, perhaps the greatest sum that ever covered a card. Newmarket was once the scene of a curious race. Geese were the contestants, and they decided a bet between the Marquis of Rockingham and Lord Oxford.

On one occasion at Brookes', another noted gambling club, Lord Robert Spencer lost the last shilling of the fortune which he had obtained from his brother, the Duke of Marlborough, and General Fitzpatrick was in the same condition. The twain combined, and, borrowing a sum of money, they opened a faro bank. They had a run of luck, and Lord Spencer's share of the proceeds came to £100,000. He pocketed this cash and never gambled again.

Trickery was often resorted to in those days, and loaded dice were commonly used by individuals called "gentlemen." The Duke of Norfolk once lost £70,000 in a gaming house in St. James street. Suspecting foul play, he pocketed the dice and went off to bed in the house. The blacklegs were afraid that they would be discovered, but one of them undertook to enter the duke's room, armed with a brace of pistols and a pair of dice, and either shoot the nobleman or change the dice in his pocket if his associates gave him £5,000. This was agreed to, and the knave entered the bedroom and succeeded in carrying off the loaded dice without awakening the duke. In the morning the nobleman had the dice in his pocket broken, and, finding them good, he had no other alternative than to pay up. The Duke of Bedford was once tricked in this way also.—Scottish Nights.

A Queer Ohio River Fish.

Not many persons know what a spoonbill is, but all those who do know that every spring this fish is the especial prey of Shippingport fishermen, who catch them in great numbers below the falls.

The spoonbill is probably the largest fish that swims the Ohio river. He is anywhere from a foot long to six feet, but also half of him is bill. The bill is spoon shaped, but is a single one. The lower lip is short, the bill being used much like a spade. The spoonbill has no scales, but is covered with a tough hide. Altogether he is an uncanny object and far from a delicacy in appearance. He is also called by some "shovel-nose cat."

Every spring spoonbills in schools visit the falls of the Ohio. It is a tradition that they come up all the way from the gulf of Mexico every spring to spawn at the falls, but more credit is given the theory that they live scattered in the river right along and only congregate in the spawning season.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

THOUGHT HE WAS A MARSHAL.

Amusing Mistake Made by Johnnie Hand Over Mr. Field's Name.

For years Marshall Field has had an ardent admirer in Professor Johnnie Hand, the musician, and Johnnie has flattered himself that Mr. Field has entertained a most friendly feeling for him. Whenever Mr. Field chanced to be at a function where Johnnie led the music, he always smiled as he passed the band leader and said pleasantly, "How do you do, professor?" and the professor, beaming most delightedly, always made a profound salute and replied, "How do you do, marshal?"

Johnnie noticed on numerous occasions that Mr. Field's friends looked astonished when the courtesies were exchanged and that Mr. Field always smiled. But he supposed it was due to surprise at finding the two titled people knew each other and to kindness of disposition on Mr. Field's part.

This was the state of affairs for several years. Each time the men met the salute was the same. Finally one day, a few weeks ago, Johnnie Hand and a friend were walking down State stret togother, when they passed Mr. Field getting out of his carriage.

"How do you do, professor?" said Mr. Field.

"How do you do, marshal," said Professor Hand.

"Great Scott," exclaimed Johnnie's friend as Mr. Field got by. "Don't you know that's Marshall Field you just spoke to?"

"To be sure," replied the professor.

"But, good heavens, man, you called him by his first name!"

"First name!" gasped the astonished bandmaster. "First name! I t'ought it vas his teetle!"

His friend laughed long and loudly, but Johnnie's misery was sad to behold. He refused to be comforted, and went home figuring out how he could apologize best. The next day Mr. Field received a note containing a most elaborate apology from his friend, the professor, who explained how he had become mixed between a first name and a title. In due course of time a reply reached Johnnie. It was kind in the extreme. In it Mr. Field asked that Johnnie continue to address him as Marshall. Mr. Field said it reminded him of his youth, and that few of his childhood friends were left to use it. A substantial check for Professor Hand's band concerts in the parks was inclosed.

When feeling good, Johnnie delights to tell the story. "But yust t'ink of mein ignorance," he always adds, "I t'out sure it vas his teetle."

Squall Caused Death.

New York, June 26.—Two lives were lost yesterday at the 29th annual regatta of the Seawanhaka Corinthian Yacht Club at Oyster Bay. The men were lost off C. T. Pierce's cat boat Dot, during a squall which came out of the northeast, causing all the flyers to take down their sails. One of the men was a Mr. Lockwood of Inglewood, N.J., a friend of Mr. Pierce's; the other a sailor named Mitchell.

Some cough mixtures smother the cough. But the next breeze fans it into life again.

Better put the cough out.

That is, better go deeper and smother the fires of inflammation. Troches cannot do this. Neither can plain cod-liver oil.

But Scott's Emulsion can. The glycerine soothes and makes comfortable; the hypophosphites give power and stability to the nerves; and the oil feeds and strengthens the weakened tissues.

No Use For Clocks.

A traveler in Alsace relates that one day he came by chance to the little village of Kirchberg. As he approached the church he glanced up to see the time of day, but there was no clock to be seen. So he went to the village in and asked the time, but the landlord had no clock or timepiece of any kind. "You see," he said, "we have no use for clocks. In the morning we go by the smoke rising from the chimney at the parsonage up on the hill. The parsonage people are very regular. We dine when dinner is ready. At 4 p. m. the whistle of the train coming from Massmunster tells us that the time has come for another meal, and at night we know that it is time to go to bed when it is dark. On Sundays we go to church when the bell rings. Our parson is a very easy going man He doesn't mind beginning half an hour sooner or later."

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOUR CONVENTION.

It Will be Held in Montreal on October 5 to 9, 1899.

Three years ago at Ottawa during the joint convention of Ontario and Quebec Provincial Christian Endeavour Unions, a Canadian Council of Christian Endeavour was formed, and it was arranged that the first National Convention should be held under its auspices in 1899 in the City of Montreal.

The annual Provincial Conventions of Quebec and Ontario have been withdrawn this year from which fact the success of the Montreal meeting may be regarded as assured, so far as attendance is concerned; while delegates in considerable numbers are expected from all parts of the country.

A large contingent from "down by the sea" is looked for, since there is to be but one C. E. Convention in the Maritime Provinces, instead of the three annual events. A single fare rate has been secured on all railways. As far as possible the delegates will be billeted in the Christian homes in the city. The price for these billets has been limited by the local committee to 50c per day for a room, and 25c for each meal. Suitable accommodation will also be secured in hotels and boarding houses, at such rates as the delegates may wish to pay, so that all who come are promised comfortable homes at a cost within their means.

The Dominion Convention will be held in the magnificent and capacious St. James Methodist church, Montreal, beginning Thursday, October 5th, and closing Monday, the 9th. The programme and general arrangements are in the hands of the Canadian Council.

Among the prominent speakers already secured, whom all will be eager to hear, are the Rev. Dr. Wilbur Chapman of Philadelphia, and J. Willis Baer, of Boston, Secretary of the United Society.

A social reception to delegates in Erskine Presbyteriann Church on Sherbrooke street, is proposed for the first night of the Convention, and and a grand junior Endeavour Rally with a specially attractive programme is being arranged for Saturday afternoon. Saturday morning it is expected that Provincial rallies will be held.

CHURCH CHIMES.

CHARLOTTE STREET CHURCH.

The anthem at the Charlotte street Methodist Church Sunday morning was "Saviour, Blessed Saviour." The offertory hymn was "Lead, Kindly Light," rendered by Messrs. Rines Bros.

In the evening the anthem was "Sovereign, Ruler, Lord of All." During the offertory a quartette entitled "Hark! There comes a Whisper," was rendered by Misses Hall and Stephens and Messrs. Squires and Skitch.

ST. ANDREW'S CHURCH.

Rev. Dr. Smith of Kingston, preached the morning sermon at St. Andrew's church, taking as his subject the Jewish Passover. In the evening the Rines Bros. assisted in the service of praise. "Are You Drifting?" and "Can a Boy Forget His Mother?" were sung as duets, while Mr. Bert Rines gave an exceedingly effective rendering of the solos "A Dream of Paradise," and "One Sweetly Solemn Thought."

In the evening the pastor, Rev. J. G. Potter, spoke on the Martyrdom of St. Stephen, and in closing referred to the late hours to which the clerks were compelled to work on Saturday evening in the stores. This he said was not the fault of the employers, but of the public, who refused, for no reason at all, to do their shopping earlier.

GEORGE STREET CHURCH.

At the George street Methodist church Sunday evening the anthem was "God is Love," the baritone solos being taken admirably by Mr. G. W. Mulligan.

During the offertory in the George street church, a quartette entitled, "Rock of Ages," was rendered by Messrs. Mulligan, Brown, Goldey and Walden. The voices blended harmoniously and the effect was very pleasing.

ST. LUKE'S CHURCH.

At Sunday morning's service Rev. H. Symonds alluded to the work of the session of the Synod just closed. He explained the present position of the question of the division of the Diocese, pointing out that the resolution that was passed was satisfactory to the promoters of division. He also referred to the state of the mission fund. The offerings made by St. Luke's had been over $100 in excess of the previous year. Each parish in the diocese had been asked for a certain sum of money, and St. Luke's had given $15 more than the amount of their assessment. For this satisfactory state of things he warmly thanked the congregation and trusted they would continue heartily to support these important funds.

There was a very large congregation in St. Luke's on Sunday evening when Rev. H. Symonds preached to "C" Squadron of the Prince of Wales Canadian Dragoons. The officers of the regiment were present, as well as the officers of the 57th. The service was very heartily entered into by all present. The sermon was on the subject of war and the text was Isaiah ii, verses 4 and following. In the course of his address Mr. Symonds—who is Chaplain to the Dragoons—warmly congratulated them upon the excellent reports of the conduct and discipline of the regiment in camp, and referred to the fact that General Hutton had spoken in the highest terms of "C" Squadron.

The pulpit was draped with the Union Jack, and after the benediction the National Anthem was sung.

The Squadron which is under the command of Captain Johnston, presented a fine appearance.

This Tuesday evening a garden party will be held in Mr. Strickland's beautiful grounds. No pains are being spared by the young ladies in charge to make this event enjoyable for all. The band of the 57th have prepared a special programme of music for the occasion. Admission 10 cents.

A PRESSMAN'S STORY.

Mr Parnham Tells How Dodd's Kidney Pills Cured His Lumbago.

Toronto, June 19.—The story of the escape of the Globe pressman, Mr. Jno. H. Parnham, from the agonies of Lumbago, by using Dodd's Kidney Pills, is unusually interesting.

Mr. Parnham writes to the Dodd's Medicine Co., Limited, thus: "I am proud to testify to the wonderful efficacy of Dodd's Kidney Pills. About eight months ago I was attacked by severe pains in my back. I consulted an eminent physician, who said I had Lumbago, and told me to take Turkish baths. These did me no good.

"A friend advised me to try Dodd's Kidney Pills. I did so, and one box cured me. My back has never troubled me since."

SALVATION ARMY FARM.

Commander Booth Tucker's Experiment Promising Well.

Commander Booth-Tucker's Salvation Army farm colony in Colorado is just getting nicely started. Practical farmers in the neighbourhood say it promises well.

Commander Booth-Tucker has made a contract with the Great Plains Water Company for as much land as he needs, with perpetual water rights for $22.50 an acre, upon easy terms. Only 960 acres have been purchased.

Thirty families moved to the colony under the direction of Col. Thomas Holland. They came from all parts of the country, and most of the men had worked as motormen, clerks, masons and labourers. Only two were farmers, but they set to work with a will building their houses and getting in crops. Each family has an allotment of ten acres, which under irrigation, will yield a considerable income. They are to repay in eleven years the cost of their farms and equipments.

The tract is so laid out that the houses are near together. It is the wish of the organisers to avoid the loneliness that makes farm life so objectionable to most people from the towns and cities. And exactly in the middle of the square mile is the prettiest school house in all the region. The teacher also acts as librarian and the school house serves on Sunday as a church.

The colonists have horses, cows, chickens and pigs. They have planted fruit trees and are raising berries. Each alternate ten-acre lot has been reserved, with the idea that each family will soon be able to handle twenty acres.

SMITH'S

Indian Cough Syrup and Grippe Killer

Has long been known to the Indians of the far north. Very few Indians have consumption; they always have a remedy to hand for all diseases which they produce from Roots, Bark, Seeds and Flowers. Nature's own remedy, and thousands of testimonials testify to the powerful curative powers. Among the many diseases which war on the Throat and Lungs, not one has as yet, withstood the marmervellous effects of this remedy. A large number of cures attest to the worth of this preparation. When taken as soon as the first symptoms of Consumption show themselves, its early and cautious use will effect a sure and radical cure in the majority of cases.

One of the most remarkable properties is that it destroys the Microbe or Germ of one of the most dreadful of diseases. In cases of ordinary Cough, Cold or Grippe a few doses will suffice to eradicate the Disease and restore the pateint to health, and thus is a day or two persons who are troubled with Coughing at night will find that by taking a dose on going to bed it will allay that irritation of the Throat and Lungs, and the Cough will atop and the pateint will sleep all night without coughing.

For children it acts as a soothing syrup and is indispensable. No family should be without it.

OTONABEE.

(From our own Correspondsht.)

Meeting of the Otonabee Council, all the members present.

The following communications were received from Wm. O'Brien, clerk of Douro, requesting the Otonabee Council to appoint a deputation to meet a deputation appointed by the Douro council, presenting statements showing the number of days of statute labour and amount of money expended on the boundary between Otonabee and Douro, during the last five years. Councillor Grady and clerk Drummond were appointed to meet the Douro deputation at Morgan's hotel, on the 24th. From Wm. Doherty, pathmaster, requesting that steps be taken to have the fences removed off the road opposite lots 31 and 32 as he wishes to have the road made in the proper place. Councillor Grady was appointed to look into the matter. In the absence of Reeve Johnston from the afternoon session, who is going out with the volunteers to Niagara camp, Councillor Lancaster was voted to the chair. Jeremiah Fitzgerald was present asking what steps should be taken to have Whitlaw's creek cleared of obstacles and the ditch deepened and widened to enable him to drain his land. He was instructed to have the parties whose lands will be affected, notified to meet and endeavour to agree as to their respective portion of the work.

Robert Evans was appointed pathmaster instead of John Gainer, who declined to act.

The following accounts were passed: John Renwick, for removing culvert planks, from edge of creek, on base line, to prevent them floating away, $1.00; Wm. Drury, gravel, $4.10.

The Council adjourned to meet on the 27th of July as a Court of Revision.

A Reminder Addressed to International Women's Council.

AN ANTI-SUFFRAGIST PAPER.

An Unfriendly Reception and an Appeal for Greater Tolerance by the Chair—The Council's Five Sections Now Down to Earnest Work—Papers Read—A Great Arbitration Meeting.

London, June 28.—The International Council of Women, which assembled yesterday in the Convocation Hall of Church House, Westminster, is divided into five sections, or meetings, which are all crowded. Great interest is taken in the political section, which discussed the "Parliamentary Enfranchisement of Women," the vice-president of the council, Mrs. Kay Wright Sewall of the United States, presiding.

A Storm Was Raised.

Miss Susan B. Anthony, one of the American delegates, detailed the progress of the movement in America, and the announcement that a paper would be read in behalf of an American woman's society opposing female franchise was met by a storm of hisses.

Mrs. Sewall protested against this intolerance, pointing out that no one was obliged to remain, but that it was their duty, if present, to listen courteously to all speakers.

The paper was then read, punctuated by ironical cheers and derisive laughter. It was written by Mrs. Frances Scott of Massachusetts.

In the professional section Madame Antoinette Stirling created some excitement by declaring with much emotion that she thought the speakers were too hard on the men, and adding that women only realized the full value of a husband when the latter was lost.

Factories in Ontario.

In the legislative section Mrs. Kelly read a paper on the condition of tenement labor in New York, and Mrs. Harty described the operations of the Factory and Shop Acts in Ontario and Quebec.

Miss Octavia Bates of Detroit deplored the fact that the profession of barrister was not open to women. Yet women, she pointed out, were the natural confidants of their sisters. In America, the speaker continued, medicine and the church were open to women, but public opinion, she claimed, was not sufficiently advanced to favor women lawyers, though the law colleges were open to both sexes, and many women, like Miss Helen Gould, who desired to manage their own estates, qualified. There was great need of the development of the public conscience, and women with knowledge of the law would give the feminine side of marriage and divorce, "now only treated from man's standpoint."

The Prisons Section.

The Duchess of Bedford presided at the meeting of the prisons and reformatories section, where Mrs. Johnson of Washington described the success of women's reformatories in Massachusetts, advocating a system of trades whereby women might regain their self-respect.

At the International Council of Women yesterday afternoon Mrs. Boomer of Canada read a paper on "Paternal Responsibility," and Mrs. Maria Weeks of the United States one on "Education as a Preparation for Life."

An Arbitration Proposal.

An immense meeting, attended by more than 2,000 persons, was held in Queen's Hall last evening for the discussion of a resolution, proposed by Baroness von Suttner of Austria, calling upon the International Council of Women to do all in its power to advance the interests of international arbitration. Archbishop Ireland was introduced and spoke strongly in favor of the resolution.

RUMPUS AT BRUSSELS.

Marseillaise Sung and Vive la Republique Shouted in the Chamber.

Brussels, June 28.—Stormy scenes were witnessed in the Chamber of Deputies yesterday in connection with the debate on the electoral law introduced by the Government. The Socialists accused the Questors of bringing legal officers of the Crown to the Chamber for the purpose of taking notes of the proceedings. The Questors hotly protested, and an inconceivable tumult ensued. The sitting was eventually suspended. The Socialist Deputy, Furimont, sang portions of the "Marseillaise," and all the Socialists joined in the chorus. Shouts of "Vive la Republique" were also raised.

The Chamber later voted, by 88 to 16, to debate the Franchise bill July 5, and the House adjourned amid a terrific uproar.

AUSTRALIAN FEDERATION.

Chamberlain Expects a Bill to Provide for It Next Session.

London, June 28.—Replying to a question in the House of Commons yesterday the Secretary of State for the Colonies, Mr. Joseph Chamberlain, said he hoped a bill providing for the federation of the Australian commonwealth would be introduced in the House of Commons early next session.

The Bill in Victoria.

Melbourne, Victoria, June 28.—In the Legislative Assembly yesterday the Federal Enabling Act passed its first reading.

Rioting in Spain.

Madrid, June 28.—At Valencia riots occurred throughout the entire day yesterday. The gendarmes charged the mob, and two of the rioters were wounded. Disturbances also took place at Murcia.

At Saragossa the riots continued after the state of siege had been declared, and Gen. Borbon was wounded.

Saragossa, Spain, June 28.—Many people were injured during the rioting here yesterday. Seventeen persons received dangerous wounds. The troops were obliged to fire on the people. Martial law has been declared at Valencia and fighting has occurred at Grenada.

Rigo Still on Deck.

Cairo, June 28.—The story of the birth of twins to the former Princess of Caramon-Chimay, and the death from bubonic plague of her Tzigane husband, is pure invention. Both the Princess and her gypsy are still in Cairo, and both are in health.

ARTILLERY SCHOOL.

Major-General Hutton Says One Will Be Established at Kingston.

Niagara, June 28.—Major-General Hutton carefully inspected the artillery brigade yesterday afternoon. In speaking after the inspection Major-General Hutton said that the practical drill was as good as it could be, the organization of the camp was excellent; but he hoped soon to see the theoretical part of artillery tactics greatly improved. To this end he prophesied that an instructional school for artillery would be founded in Kingston before 18 months were passed, with Col. Stone at the head. There was no such school in Canada and one was needed badly if Canada was to do her part as a noticeable force in the Imperial idea.

The artillery fight will take place on Friday and will reach to Queenston Heights. On Thursday the men hang away at the floating buoys in the lake, and on Saturday take part in the grand review.

Iroquois Waterworks Burned.

Iroquois, Ont., June 28. — Monday night about midnight the Waterworks Company's building was seen to be on fire. It was found impossible to stay the ravages of the flames, and the building and machinery were soon a heap of ruins. The loss to the Waterworks Company is estimated at $6,000, $1,500 of which was covered by insurance. In addition, about $2,000 worth of electric plant belonging to Mr. Keefe, that was stored in the building, was destroyed. This also was insured for $1,500.

Reciprocity With Bermuda.

Washington, June 28.—A reciprocity treaty relating to the British West Indies colony of Bermuda has been concluded and the Bermuda commission has left for home with a draft of the treaty, which is to be submitted to the Bermuda Legislature before being finally signed on behalf of the two Governments, by Commissioner Kasson and Mr. Tower, the British charge. Fair progress is being made on the Jamaican treaty, but the negotiations will not be concluded this week.

Yellow Fever at Havana.

Havana, June 28.—There have been 18 cases of yellow fever in Havana this year. Of this number five were fatal and eight recovered.

THE DALTON TRAIL.

Another Story of Impossible Canadian Demands.

ALASKAN BOUNDARY AGAIN.

Washington Officials Apprehensive That Our Latest Alleged Demands Will Jeopardize a Successful Outcome; Indeed, That Unless There Is an Abatement, the Commission Will Not Again Meet.

London, June 28.—The United States Ambassador, Mr. Joseph H. Choate, had a conference at the Foreign Office yesterday morning with the Marquis of Salisbury in regard to the objection raised by Canada on Friday to the suggested modus vivendi in connection with the Alaskan boundary dispute.

Feeling at Washington.

Washington, June 28.—The negotiations for a modus vivendi regulating the Alaskan boundary have fallen into a state that jeopardizes a successful outcome and causes apprehension among officials. Nothing has been heard from Ambassador Choate as to the results of the conference he had yesterday with Lord Salisbury on this subject, but the last phase of the case was that the Canadians had come back with a counter proposal, in place of accepting the definite American proposition, which had been carefully drawn with the sole purpose of preventing any future controversy over the points already agreed upon by Hon. Mr. Choate and Lord Salisbury. Instead of following the lines of the American proposal, and confining the counter proposal to a plain statement of the points already roughly indicated as marking the boundary, this last issue proposed a radical change in the line on the Dalton Trail, and was of a character wholly unacceptable to the American side, involving, as it did, the transfer into Canadian jurisdiction of the fortunes and claims of many American miners. Unless there is a decided abatement on one side or the other of the demands, the desired modus vivendi will be as unlikely of attainment as a permanent agreement on the boundary question, and the chances for a reassembling of the joint high commission will fade away entirely.

THE HAGUE CONFERENCE.

A Record Being Made of the Work Already Accomplished.

The Hague, June 28.—For the next few days the members of the special drafting committee, who are preparing a record of the work already accomplished, will be the only peace conference delegates occupied. The question of a permanent arbitration board and Germany's relation thereto—the German delegates having received instructions to accept the principle of a permanent tribunal of arbitration, as outlined in the Anglo-American plans—will be discussed Monday.

DREYFUS NOT YET IN SIGHT.

Brest and Its People Are in a State of Great Suspense.

Brest, June 28.—The delay in the arrival here of the French cruiser Sfax, which left the waters of French Guiana June 10, with Capt. Alfred Dreyfus on board, increases the interest in the landing of the famous prisoner. All sorts of reports and suppositions are current.

The authorities continue refusing to furnish the slightest information regarding Dreyfus to the regular army of newspaper men of all nationalities now gathered here, anxiously seeking news of the Sfax.

A St. James' Gazette Scare.

London, June 28.—The St. James' Gazette, which has been remarkable for its utterances on the subject of the Transvaal, capped the climax yesterday by earnestly appealing to the British Admiralty to "Take immediate steps to counteract the plans of the Clan-na-Gael, from the United States, who are now at Pretoria with a view of obtaining authority to start a fleet of privateers under the Transvaal flag with the object of looting Cape liners."

Michigan Man Accused as a Traitor.

Marquette, Mich., June 28.—Richard Nicholl, a former Marquette County miner, was arrested May 15 at Johannesburg, South Africa, and placed in jail in Pretoria on a charge of high treason against the Transvaal Government. Nicholl has written to County Clerk W. Ross for copies of his own and his father's naturalization papers, through which he seeks to establish his American citizenship. He will probably fail in this, as reference to the records show that neither father nor son had anything more than first papers.

Banditti in Cuba.

Havana, June 28.—Owing to the murders, robberies and depredations in the vicinity of Guanajay, the peasants are sending their families to town. Several arrests have been made, including a major named Sanz, suspected of complicity in recent robberies. Last night the police captured three supposed bandits. Pedro Nunes, said to be the ringleader, was taken, but he escaped, threatening to shoot an unarmed inspector of police if he were followed. Many dangerous men are leaving the town, and the citizens feel better satisfied, now that the authorities are taking active measures. Orders have been issued for the arrest of ten Cuban officers and two Spanish former guerillas, all of whom are believed to be guilty of serious offences.

Harnessers of Lightning.

Hamilton, June 28.—The ninth annual convention of the Canadian Electrical Association will open in the convention hall of the New Royal Hotel to-day. The convention will last three days, and about 150 delegates are expected.

Grand Trunk Earnings.

Toronto, June 28.—For the week ending June 21, the earnings of the Grand Trunk Railway amount to $497,819, against $429,811 for the corresponding period of last year. There is an increase of $38,008.

OILED ROADS.

The Department of Agriculture at Washington is devoting a great deal of attention to the subject of good roads, the importance, from the economic standpoint, of their maintenance being fully appreciated. A report which might, with advantage, be reprinted and distributed in Canada, has just been issued bearing upon some experiments of a rather instructive character, recently made in California and Florida, in order to test the effect of petroleum on roadways. It is shown that in Los Angeles County, Cal., the results have been marvellous, roads which had been "oiled" some time ago being found in admirable condition, notwithstanding heavy traffic. It is recored that in one case a mile of road "oiled" but once a year ago, had no dust, and riding over it is described as "like riding on rubber." In Florida the experiments were in Dural County, where roads made of shell rock had been greatly damaged by heavy travel, which ground the surface fine, the wind blowing it away. A section of new shell road at Jacksonville was sprinkled with oil six weeks ago. At first there was a noticable odour, but this soon passed away. The surface was united in a solid mass, which became more compact with travel; the road was smooth and crowned, and rain and moisture did not penetrate but ran off, forming no mud. Sun heat had no effect on it, and where the oil was applied less thickly, the surface was slightly ground up, but remained on top without blowing away. It is now proposed to cover one mile of road with oil, at a cost of $276 for twenty-five foot width. There has been for some time a good deal of discussion as to the theory of making roads with coal oil, but the recent experiments in the States are probably the first attempts to put the matter to a practical test. Judging from the report of the Washington department, the success of the experiment is not be questioned. Our Good Roads association and municipal authorities should follow the example set across the border and treat certain portions of the roads in the manner described.

OTTAWA EXHIBITION.

The Central Canada Fair this year will undoubtedly be the best ever given in Eastern Canada. Having decided, at the request of patrons, to extend the Fair for two weeks, the directors are sparing no expense to make the Fair equal to any held in Canada. With this object in view there has been large expenditures on new buildings and improvements, the prize lists have been increased while an unusually excellent lot of specialities is being secured.

A feature of the show this year will be the art exhibit, for which a new building has been secured. All the leading artists in Ontario will show pictures, and the display will equal any ever made in Canada. In the Ladies' department the directors have made separate classes for professionals and amateurs, so that a pupil will not be obliged to compete against his or her teacher as heretofore. Moreover a class for children under thirteen years has been added.

A new horticultural hall has been erected with a running fountain in the centre, and electric light effects on the falling spray will make this building one of the most attractive of the Fair.

The exhibit in the dairy department will likely be the largest and best ever seen in Canada, for the directors have not only increased the prize list but have made arrangements to place all cheese and butter exhibited and remaining unsold at the close of the fair in cold storage until disposed off by association at seller's own price.

In the horse department special classes, open to farmers only, for carriage horses and heavy draught horses, have been added to the prize list, and also a class for French Canadian horses. There will doubtless be a very large display of horses.

A special prize for Canadian bred Shropshire Down sheep has been put in the premium list in the sheep department.

The main hall is being re-arranged, now that a separate building has been erected for ladies' work and prospective exhibitors say that they will make the display the finest that has been.

The specialties will include trotting and running races, for which $3,000 in prizes will be given.

A large lake is being constructed in the lacrosse field in front of the grand stand and there will be several grand water specialities, including a log rolling competition, for which large money prizes are being offered.

Already one sensational attraction has been secured for the Fair. Miss Ida Le Roy, balloonist, will ascend in a common balloon, from which she is fired and makes a parachute descent.

As usual there will be a night spectacular, and the one selected for this year, "The Bombardment of Pekin," is said to be the finest ever produced by Messrs. Hand & Teale, of Hamilton, who have so successfully staged such productions in the past. It is a sea and lake spectacular and the lake in front of the grand stand, which will be 200 feet long, 50 feet wide and three feet deep, will be utilised in the production of the piece. Several hundred soldiers of the Capital will take part in the representation of the scenery, which will be exceptionally fine. An unusually grand display of fireworks will take place each evening directly in front and on the lake, and the night undoubtedly will be most beautiful.

Another feature will be military exercises by Ottawa's school cadets.

An addition is being made to the grand stand, and when completed the stand will accommodate 15,000 people.

The directors further announce that this year all who buy a ticket to the grounds after 7 o'clock in the evening will get a ticket to the grand stand free of charge.

The Central Canada Fair will open this year on Sept. 11th and close on the 23rd.

Mr. Ed. McMahon, the secretary, will supply all information required.

THE FRENCH SHORE FIGHT.

Crew of a French Fishing Vessel Threw the Customs Officer Into a Boat and Escape—Columbine Chasing Her.

St. John's, Nfld., June 26.—The French fishing vessel Nouvelle Ecosse, from the Grand Banks, arrived at Cape Broyle, on the southern coast of Newfoundland, yesterday, in quest of herring bait. She was seized by the customs officials for a violation of the fishery laws. An officer was given the custody of the ship and crew, but the latter attacked him, got the ship to sea, threw him into a boat and left the coast. The British special service vessel Columbine was ordered to chase and seize the Nouvelle Ecosse, which has no register, that being in the hands of the customs officials. Serious complications are expected to result from this affair. The French admiral is coming here to undertake an investigation.

FALL WHEAT INJURED.

Forecasts of the Harvest From All Over the Province.

Toronto, June 26.—Reports upon the condition of the crops throughout Ontario have been received here. The most noticeable feature of the reports is the large amount of fall wheat which has been winter-killed. As a result, it has been very generally ploughed under, and spring crops have been planted on top of it. The general lack of rain has delayed several of the spring crops, particularly in the west. In the east there has been an over-abundance of rain. Generally speaking, the spring crops are good, the roots especially being well advanced.

She finally discovered a way to recovery by purchasing of us a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, and was so much relieved on taking the first dose that she slept all night; and with two bottles has been absolutely cured. Her name is Mrs. Luther Lutz." Thus writes W. C. Hamnick & Co., of Shelby, N. C. Trial bottle free at James Lynch's drug store. Regular size, $1 and 50c. Every bottle guaranteed.

The Souvenir Range

With Aerated Ovens.

In "Souvenir" Stoves and Ranges the Fresh air is taken over the oven doors (see cut) and passes through a circulating-flue underneath a plate which is attached to the top oven plate, thus becoming heated, after which it is discharged into the oven.

The heated fresh air then creates a literal whirlwind in rotating from the top to bottom of oven, carrying all the impure air out of the oven, at the exit provided, and replacing it continually with heated fresh air.

The air being heated before entering the oven, the temperature is not lowered. The vitiated air passes off into the flues' carrying with it all odors and gases given off by the cooking food.

A NEW INVENTION!

The Newcombe Piano Has It.

It consists of a Patented Practice CLAVIER or STOP which diminishes the tone when required and moves over on the Piano; it also does away with the old way of having to press down the pedal with the foot in order to soften the tone when running the scales or practising. Oftentimes the young pupil on the piano cannot press down on the pedal without throwing themselves out of the proper position when they should sit erect. This invention in the NEWCOMBE PIANO will enable children to begin two years earlier on the piano. In addition to the above, the NEWCOMBE PIANO is the finest made in Canada. Children often complain about practising; they like it if they have a NEWCOMBE PIANO. 1899 styles are gems of art, containing every late improvement; they possess that beautiful full sweet tone which lights the singer, and so pleases every musical ear. Organs of every description at Wholesale Prices.

Big Bargains now on hand in slightly used Upright and Square Pianos of the various makes taken in part exchange for the famous NEWCOMBE PIANOS. Every NEWCOMBE PIANO has a new registered scale and the warranty is cast in the plate. For correct and full information regarding the new invention and NEWCOMBE PIANOS write to our Direct Representative. Easy Prices. Liberal Terms.

THE STRIKE SITUATION.

Chicago Stock Yard Men Have Gone Back to Work, But in Other Lines Men Went Out.

Chicago, June 28.—The demands of the unskilled Stock Yards workmen in several departments have been met and the men returned to work yesterday, but in other departments the workmen went out during the forenoon to enforce their demands.

Several hundred painters, who demand an increase of 2½ cents an hour, joined the strikers' ranks yesterday. Another conference was held between representatives of the packing firms in regard to arranging a settlement of the troubles. Most of the packers were in favor of granting the demands of the men. It was believed that an amicable agreement would be reached before night, and that by to-day all the strikers will have returned to work. The strikers claim that they have 1,900 men out.

OUTBREAKS AT CLEVELAND.

Non-Union Street Car Men Stoned and Driven Off.

Cleveland, Ohio, June 28.—The riotous outbreaks of Monday were repeated yesterday in several quarters of the city, non-union men on big consolidated lines being stoned and forced to abandon their cars. Only two cars were operated by non-union men on the Broadway line, and those were repeatedly stoned, every window being broken, and the conductors and motormen being repeatedly struck. At Axtell avenue a mob, several hundred strong, was broken up by the police. The non-union car men took to their heels, pursued by the crowd, but made their escape. The abandoned cars were wrecked by the mob. Similar scenes were enacted at noon at Denison and Rhodes avenues, and Burton and Clark avenues. The exodus of non-union men from the city continues.

All Belgian Workmen Will Strike.

Brussels, June 28.—The committee of the Federation of Labor party held a meeting in this city last night and decided upon a general strike of Brussels workmen, as a protest against the Government's electoral bill. The strike will begin on July 15, the day when the debate on the measure opens in the Chamber of Deputies.

Buffalo Strike Off.

Buffalo, June 28.—The strike of the freight handlers along the docks that has been in progress for several weeks was declared off last night, and the new men will return to work this morning. This was decided upon at a meeting of the strikers held last night. The men go back to work unconditionally.

THE YUKON CHARGES.

Sir Hibbert Tupper Begins a Second Speech Thereon.

TAKES A MODIFIED ATTITUDE.

The Officials Not So Black as Formerly Painted—Reasons Why the Ogilvie Investigation Is Condemned—Employment of Detectives and Protection of Witnesses — A Motion for an Enquiry.

Ottawa, June 28.—Although Sir Hibbert Tupper spoke for seven hours or more yesterday, he had scarcely at the conclusion of his remarks finished the preliminary part of his case. In his former speech some weeks ago he accused the Yukon officials of numerous crimes and misdemeanors, and appeared to have no doubt of their guilt. Yesterday he modified that attitude. He says now that he does not consider that the officials are absolutely guilty of malfeasance and so forth, but that he is merely making out a prima facie case that will justify or rather compel the Government to order a judicial inquiry. The Ogilvie investigation and its results he considers worthless for various reasons. First, Mr. Ogilvie is related by marriage to Mr. Sifton, and was, therefore, not a fit or proper person to conduct an investigation of charges affecting the officials of Mr. Sifton's department. To this it may be answered that Mr. Ogilvie was in the public service years before Mr. Sifton became Minister of the Interior; that when Major Walsh was appointed administrator of the Yukon the Opposition press attacked him for not having appointed Mr. Ogilvie, who had, so to speak, discovered the country; that when on Major Walsh's retirement Mr. Ogilvie was appointed to succeed him the appointment was universally commended, and that when Mr. Ogilvie was given a royal commission to inquire into the miners' charges it was generally believed on both sides of politics that a better commissioner could not well have been selected.

Mr. Ogilvie's Investigation.

Sir Hibbert finds fault also with Mr. Ogilvie's inquiry on the ground that Mr. Sifton did not supply counsel to those bringing charges, as he had done in the case of an inquiry involving the reputation of a Government official at New Westminster. In the New Westminster case specific charges had been brought against a certain officer. The hearing of the charges, with the determination of his guilt or innocence, was a comparatively easy matter.

Detectives Were Employed.

In the Yukon case the charges which Mr. Ogilvie had to investigate were not specified, but vague and general; no officials were accused by name. It followed that an inquiry, whether undertaken by Mr. Ogilvie or by anyone else, would have to be in the nature of a fishing expedition. As a matter of fact, Mr. Ogilvie employed detectives at Dawson in order to discover evidence in support of the charges, and from the beginning of the inquiry to the end carried on an elastic inquisition, and he himself played the part of counsel and inquisitor both. He had been instructed by a telegram from Mr. Sifton that he had a free hand, that he was to get at the truth and see that the public service was put on a sound footing.

Protection of Witnesses.

Sir Hibbert objects, further, that the persons summoned before Mr. Ogilvie were not told in advance by him that by the terms of his commission they would be pardoned by the Crown if they gave evidence incriminating themselves. Chapter 31, 52 Victoria, expressly provides that when such commission as this are issued and inquiry held, no evidence given by a witness shall be admissible against him in any criminal proceedings. Sir Hibbert did not appear to be aware that chapter 114 of the revised statutes of 1886 had been amended in this particular in 1893.

The Time Limit.

As to Sir Hibbert's point that Mr. Ogilvie did not inquire into any charges of a later date than August 25, 1898, it should be remembered that the miners' petition, which first brought the floating accusations to the notice of the Government in a formal way, was dated August 25. There were no other charges before the Government when the commission was issued except newspaper charges, which were vague and impalpable enough. Moreover, an inquiry into matters occurring after August 25 by Mr. Ogilvie would to a certainty have been denounced by Sir Hibbert and the Opposition, for the simple reason that Mr. Ogilvie arrived at Dawson City to succeed Major Walsh as administrator of the Yukon on Sept. 5, 1898, so that if he had been instructed to investigate matters taking place after August 25 it would have been said, with considerable truth, that he was really investigating himself. No new charges were made by Sir Hibbert. He did little more than exaggerate the importance of some of the petty boodling unearthed by Mr. Ogilvie.

His Resolution.

He concluded by submitting a resolution which it took him an hour to read, formulating his charges and asking for a Royal commission of two or more judges. He offered his services gratuitously to the Attorney-General for Canada to assist the commission in probing the matter to the bottom, and said that he was prepared to abide by the result of the commission, and to consider that by failure to substantiate the charges made he would have forfeited his right to sit in Parliament or to hold any office in the gift of the Crown.

Don't Want Bubonic Plague.

In reply to a question by Col. Prior, the Minister of Agriculture said that his attention had been called to newspaper reports that the bubonic plague had reached Honolulu, and instructions had been given by Dr. Montizambert, director-general of quarantine, to prevent the landing of any cases in Canada.

House adjourned 11.45.

After routine business yesterday, a resolution cheering on The Hague peace conference was unanimously passed.

The Engineer Was Killed.

Bedham, Mass., June 28.—The northbound New London freight train collided with a work train a little south of the Bedham Road station, on the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad, at 8.30 o'clock yesterday, both trains being thrown into a ditch. The engineer of the freight train, P. S. Jones of Boston, was killed, and his fireman, J. A. Hobart, was badly scalded and received internal injuries.

Too Much Melon.

Cunningham, Ala., June 28.—John Davis, William Turner, George Alex, Dick Thomas and Asa Stephens, negro laborers at the Easley furnace, after working hard all day Sunday, purchased ten large ripe watermelons at night and each ate two. Then they spent the night on the damp ground in the woods. Colic followed and by noon all five were dead.

Tried to Steal the Strong Box.

Havana, June 28.—An unconfirmed report from Puerto Principe says a mob of insurgents, after surrendering their arms, attempted to overpower the paymaster's guard and capture the money chest. The American soldiers, the report says, fired into the mob, killing nine and wounding many more. Those members of the mob who escaped injury then fled.

Glorious News

Comes from Dr. D. B. Cargile, of Washita, I. T. He writes, "Four bottles of Electric Bitters cured Mrs. Brewer of scrofula, which had caused her great suffering for years. Terrible sores would break out on her head and face and the best doctors could give no help, but her cure is complete and her health is excellent." This shows what thousands have proved—that Electric Bitters is the best blood purifier known. It's the supreme remedy for eczema, tetter, salt rheum, ulcers, boils and running sores. It stimulates the liver, kidneys and bowels, expels poisons, helps digestion and builds up the system. Only 50 cents. Sold by James Lynch, Druggist. Guaranteed.

TORONTO VETERANS VISIT PETERBOROUGH.

MAYOR DAVIS WELCOMES THE VISITORS.

The Weather was Unfavourable and the Sports Were Called Off.

The annual outing of the Army and Navy Veterans of Toronto, which this year took place to Peterborough, was marred by disagreeable weather, which, no doubt, prevented many from taking in the trip. The wet weather, however, did not in any way dampen the enthusiasm of the visitors from Toronto, nor the enthusiasm of those who had charge of the arrangements here.

The local Veterans, to the number of twenty-five or more, assembled in the drill shed, and in charge of A. P. Poussette, Q. C., President of the local society, and Sergt.-Major Irwin, and marched to the railway station to meet the Veterans, who were to have arrived at 10.30 a. m. It was about 11 when the excursion train came rolling along, and the local Vets received the command to fall in. This was done with perhaps not the same degree of alertness as in days of yore. A hearty welcome was then accorded the visitors.

A procession was formed as follows: Sergeant-Major Irwin, Drum Major Bowne, Army and Navy Veterans Band, local Veterans, Toronto Army and Navy Veterans. The procession, with banners waying, made it way through the rain up George street, such mottoes as "Welcome to our Visitors," catching the eye of the excursionists. In the market hall a formal welcome was extended to the visitors.

On the platform were Messrs. A. P. Poussette, President of the local Vets., Mayor Davis, J. B. McWilliams, Wm. Langford, Col. H. C. Rogers and John Corkery.

Mayor Davis

read the following address of welcome tot the visitors:

To the Officers and Members of the Army and Navy Veterans' Association:

Gentlemen—It is with a great deal of pleasure, indeed, that I welcome you to Peterborough to-day. Every word in the name of your association — Army, Navy, Veterans, —is one that commands a welcome from every loyal heart and awakens enthusiasm in the mind of every Briton. The flag of Britain floats in every corner of the world, and gives freedom to so large a portion of the world's population, including ourselves, because the men who carried that flag forward and defended it from every assault, were soldiers and sailors who knew not fear or fatigue. They fought and died, or they fought and conquered, but they did not leave the field of battle except as victors. We have a grand heritage— not merely in lands and homes, but more especially in freedom and security, a heritage for which our best gratitude is due to the veterans of the army and navy of Great Britain. In the making and defending of this great Empire you had a share, for before me are men who helped to fight our battles in the Crimea, in India and in Africa, and, not less important men who shouldered their weapons to beat back ruthless invaders from our own beloved Canadian shores. Your Association, which brings together comrades of the battle field, and by which you assist each other to the comforts of life in your declining days, is a commendable one, and I voice the sentiments of the whole people of Peterborough when I tell you that you are most heartily welcome. We would fain hope that the war drum will be heard no longer, and that the battle flag will be furled, and the fact that the great nations of the world can even meet and discuss ways of keeping the peace of the world other than by arming most of its able-bodied inhabitants, shows that civilization is beating back the spirit of war, and that the dream of a time when war shall be no longer may yet be realized. But that time has not yet come. There are nations that are not restrained by the views and feelings that hold back the sword in the hands of a Briton until it must be used to avert a greater evil, and until these nations are more advanced, and have been more strongly influenced by the civilization of which Great Britain am is the foremost representative, Britons must not forget how to wield the sword or sail a man-of-war. It is therefore most gratifying to you and us to know that while you have retired with well earned laurels from the active service of arms, your successors can, as they so nobly did at Omdurman, uphold the honour of the British navy and the British flag. Canadians must, as well as all others, be prepared to do their part in the defence of home and native land, and it is a pleasant thing to cherish that we must not be supplementary because our [illegible] cousins in the States, but should the struggle that all Europe fears [illegible] break out we may feel that we are [illegible] the honour of the [illegible]

God bless the Kangaroos.
God bless our lands, our Empire bold,
Which range from sea to sea,
God bless the loyal Britishier,
Wherever he may be.
God bless the grand old Union Jack,
That floats so proud above,
God bless the patriotic heart,
That beats with loyal love.

J. R. GRAY,
Secretary Army and Navy Veterans.

This concluded the speech making and after singing God Save the Queen, the Mayor was introduced to the visiting Veterans personally.

The disagreeable weather continued all afternoon, and the programme of sports which was to have taken place had to be declared off.

About three hundred excursionists in all came down but the number would have been much larger had the weather been favourable.

ST. LUKE'S GARDEN PARTY.

It was Held in Mr. H. T. Strickland's Grounds and was a Great Success.

The Young Women's Chapter of St. Luke's Guild have every reason to be congratulated on the success which attended their efforts in connection with the garden party held in Mr. H. T. Strickland's grounds last night. The weather was all that could be desired, and by 8.30 a large company, including members of the congregation and their friends, were present.

The grounds are beautifully situated, just above the Little Lake. Mr. Strickland thoroughly understands Canadian forestry, and no finer trees of the evergreen type are to be found than those growing in his lawn. His cedar hedges are remarkably fine, and many last night expressed the opinion that these by themselves were worth the cost of the admission charged.

When darkness fell, Chinese lanterns were revealed in the topmost boughs of the lofty spruce and balsam trees, and round the verandah. The French windows of the drawing room were thrown open, and everyone was made to feel perfectly at home by Mr. and Mrs. Strickland.

The band of the 57th Battalion occupied a beautiful knoll overlooking Little Lake. The beauty of the scene and the large and sociable company present, served to inspire them to put forth their best efforts. Seldom has a Peterborough audience listened to a finer concert than that to which Mr. Gliddon treated them last night. There was no stint to the programme, and it was nearly half past ten when "God Save the Queen" was played.

In addition to the band, a short programme as follows was rendered from the verandah:

Song ....Mr. Brown
Recitation .... Miss Cook
Song .... Mrs. Wallis
Song ....Mrs. Parker
Song ....Miss Macdonald

Refreshments, flowers and candies were dispensed from various booths, and so great was the demand that by ten o'clock everything was sold. The proceeds will be devoted to the furnishings required for the new vestry, which is to be fitted up as a church parlour, and a very substantial sum was realized for the purpose last night.

TO-NIGHT'S BAND CONCERT.

The 57th Batt. and the Toronto Army and Navy Veteran's Band Will Play Together

SPEECHES MADE ON DECORATION DAY.

THE CLOSING CEREMONIES AT THE CEMETARY.

Remarks By a Number of Local Ministers Concerning the Observance of the Day.

After completing the decoration of the graves yesterday, as related in yesterday's issue of the Examiner, the Oddfellows and citizens assembled around a platform which had been temporarily erected at the foot of the little hill in the rear of the chapel.

A number of the local clergy occupied seats on the platform and delivered short addresses upon being introduced by Mr. M. W. Matchett, N. G., of Peterborough Lodge, who occupied the chair.

In a few preliminary remarks, Mr. Matchett explained that the interesting ceremony just concluded, had been instituted by Durham Lodge of Port Hope some years ago, and as the result Decoration Day was now universally recognized among the Oddfellows of Ontario and honoured by all classes of the community. He was pleased to see so many present and to observe that a large number of graves other than those of the deceased members of the Order were decorated. The Oddfellows felt grateful to the citizens for their efforts in assisting to make the day one to be remembered. The simple act of grave decorating constituted a tribute of respect and showed that the dead were not forgotten but lived in our memories and still claimed our sympathies.

Rev. J. C. Davidson,

Rector of St. John's stated that if he remembered correctly it was ten years since the privilege had been accorded him of speaking on Decoration Day and since that time he had noticed that the observance of the day had becoem a most important public function, owing to the efforts put forth by the Oddfellows. Three thoughts should be in the minds of all present, viz., (1) That they were assembled for the purpose of commemorating the day and paying respect to those who had gone before, (2) To realize our present connection with them and (3) To look forward into the future and remember that we would ourselves lie with them some day. Of those at rest in the quiet cemetery none forgot those men and women who, during their lives, had rendered valued service to the town and if a public roll of honour were possessed many names would be inscribed thereon for faithful service to the community. Such a roll of honour, however existed in another sense and all realized it to-day. It was not only meet to commemorate those who had done their duty but we should remember our connection with them. We believe that they are not dead but live in a paradise of God. They live and we live and we regard them simply as we regard friends gone to another land and should look forward to the time when our own bodies would be lying in this beautiful resting place, whilst our souls had gone above. In closing Mr. Davidson stated that he felt that he voiced the feelings of all in congratulating Mr. Foord and the directors on the beautiful condition in which the cemetery was kept.

Rev. D. O. Crossley, pastor of the Charlotte street Methodist church, was the next speaker. He stated that this was the first time he had been present on such an occasion, but he had been deeply impressed with the importance of the day, as effecting everyone. It was a good thing to recall the lives, forms and features of those who had gone to the silent home. In days to come the memory of the occasion would be valuable to us, making us better men and women. Many lessons could be learned by standing beside a grave and seeing it decorated with flowers. The thought was strong in his mind of what a lovely spot the Little Lake Cemetery would be on the morning of the Resurrection. His eloquent word pictures of the scenes which would be enacted on that day were thrillingly drawn.

Rev. O. C. Elliott,

pastor of the Park street Baptist church, opened his address by congratulating the members of an Order which has instituted such a custom as decorating the graves of the dead on a stated day in each year. It was a labour of love to come and lay a tribute on the grave of a departed friend. There was no hope of a gain from it. It was a labour in which our Heavenly Father would delight. The power of human friendship could not be more beautifully expressed than in the ceremonies just completed. They were also reminiscent of the fact that we could go with our friends so far and no farther. With our realization of the limitations of our human friendships, there comes the desire for a greater friendship. It would be a sad thing if we came to the grave with nothing more than human fiendship to lean upon. How glad we should be to have the assurance of a lasting friendship from God, Himself. His friendship extends through this life and the life to come. Jesus Christ laid down His life in proving a greater friendship than man can give. To Him therefore should we look for a friendship that will mean our salvation.

Rev. J. E. Moore,

of the Mark street Methodist church, Ashburnham, prefaced a few remarks by the request that those present join with him in singing the hymn "Think of a Home Over There." At the conclusion of the hymn, Mr. Moore went on to say that in looking around the town he had come to the conclusion that Peterborough was a most beautiful place, but of all the beautiful spots in it the Little Lake Cemetery was to him the most lovely. In fact, he could go further and say that he had never seen a more beautiful spot anywhere. Two thoughts should always be kept before us—"Love to God and Love to Man." These two ideas should permeate us and lead us to the discharge of the obligations that are before us. Proceeding to dilate on the love of God, the climax, the speaker thought, was the gift of His only Son. To-day we have been visiting the graves of departed brethren. They are not lost, but gone before, and we rejoice in the fact that Jesus Christ went down into the grave and robbed it of its gloom. Life is passing—let us make the most of it in doing what our hands can find to benefit humanity. When life is over we are just beginning to [illegible] knowledge.

Rev. J. Bastow,

pastor of the Murray street Baptist church, stated that the day reminded him of the decoration of the graves of the soldiers of the United States who fell in the Civil War of 1861-65. He had on more than one occasion seen the manifestation of the tender recollection of the noble services performed for their country by these men. He was delighted to see the Oddfellows adopting a similar ceremony. It should be a degree of friendship far ahead of any of the ordinary associations formed amongst men. The creed of the Oddfellows was a noble creed. Their creed is to visit the sick and bury the dead, also keeping their memory green and tender. One of the requirements of a member was to believe in God as a Creator of all things. They were always found loyal to their creed. He was pleased to see that the Order continued its good offices to the brethren after they were dead. It showed the character of their friendship, but he would be disloyal if he did not on this occasion urge the brethren to put their faith in a Friend, who would be with them through the Valley of the Shadow of Death.

Rev. Mr. Kilgour briefly drew attention to the thought that whilst all other religions were hopeless, it was different with us. Our hopes did not end with the grave, beautiful though its surroundings might be. Whilst we enjoyed the privilege of living upon earth we should see that our characters were being built to fit us to join those others who had gone on before.

In bringing the ceremonies to a close the chairman thanked those in attendance, as well as the speakers during the afternoon.

LACROSSE.

Lacrosse practice every evening this week.

Lindsay wants the Juniors for another game and a match may be arranged for next week.

The Hastings Star says: On Monday morning our lacrosse team drove to Peterborough and played their first league game with the IInds of that place, defeating them by a score of 5 goals to 2. The game was fast although it could easily be seen that Hastings had a cinch on the game. Hastings played 11 men to 12 but although this somewhat weakened the home the combination work could not have been better. The defence, although weakened by three of the usual players, played a good game and watched themselves in always placing the ball.

Peterborough has a good team, their home playing a very effective combination while their defence play a strong game but allow themselves to be drawn out at times.

The Seniors leave for Brampton via the Grand Trunk on Saturday morning, Dominion Day, at 8.05 o'clock, arriving in Toronto at 11.30 a.m. and taking dinner there. They leave Toronto at 1 p.m., and arrive in Brampton 50 minutes later. Returning the team leaves Brampton at 6.54 p.m., arriving in Toronto at 7.45 p.m., and remaining in the city until 9.30, when they leave for home via Port Hope from which latter point they take a special for Peterborough arriving in town at midnight. If a sufficient number accompany the boys to Brampton a special car will be set aside for them. The friends of the lacrosse club are therefore asked to journey with the players. A rate of $2.95 has been secured.

Port Hope's lacrosse team is about to reorganize and promises to be stronger than ever. A couple of fast men from Toronto who are living in Cobourg will figure on the twelve.

GOLF.

The Cobourg Golf Club sends a representative team to-morrow to play Peterborough on the links of the latter. As Cobourg is a golf centre and has a large number of visitors to draw upon, the members of the team play good golf. Capt. Miles Hamilton has chosen his team as follows: J. H. Burnham, R. M. Dennistoun, Napier, Francis, Campbell, Fred Hall, W. D. Parker, Helis, Ritchie and R. M. Hamilton.

BASEBALL.

The Cobourg World has this to say concerning Billy Muldrew, who is known to the baseball men of this district—"We are pleased to note that Mr. W. H. Muldrew passed a most creditable examination at the Toronto University, and won the degree of Doctor of Pedagogy, that is, of the science and art of education. At present there are only three other educators in Ontario enjoying this distinction. Mr. Muldrew has many friends in Cobourg who will be pleased to hear of his success. In 1893 he was a valuable member of the Cobourg champion baseball club, and will be recalled by many who were interested in the game."

The management of the Lindsay Baseball Club has completed arrangements with the Argyles of Toronto for a game in Lindsay, on Saturday next. The boys there are making great preparations for the event and are confident of winning. The Argyles are the same team that were to put in an appearance in Peterborough some time ago, but failed to do so notwithstanding that every arrangement had been made. Don't be too sure of your game with the Argyles, Lindsay.

Secretary Hay has written to Lindsay and Uxbridge for games on July 7 and 8.

CANOEING.

The Wm. English Canoe Co. will ship to-morrow, per G.T.R., a racing war canoe built specially for the Kingston Yacht Club. The dimensions of the canoe are, length 30 feet, depth 20 inches, breadth 49 inches. The canoe is finished off in a beautiful scarlet, the yacht club burgee and the name "Cataraqui" being painted on the prow. The craft is designed on the fastest lines of any of the war canoes, yet turned out from the Wm. English Canoe factory and all the Kingston boys will have to do is to furnish a fast crew and the race is theirs.

THE WHEEL.

The Chief of Police and Mr. J. W. Butcher furnished a lot of amusement for the wheelmen at the Nicholls Park track on Monday evening. After wrestling with their new bicycles in their respective back yards for a few months both felt prepared to brave the public gaze. They did very well on the quiet streets in the North End and made bold by success ventured out on the Park track. The swirl of the many riders here, however, caused the two novices to lose their nerve. The track was cleared for them, cleared quickly, but it was no use and they had to retire discomfited. After another month's practice it is understood that the Park track will be again invaded. The chief denies the rumour that he and Mr. Butcher were up at the Park after dark last night leading their bicycles around the track to get the wheels used to the place. He does not think that the wheels were nervous but lays the blame on Mr. Butcher.

A WOMAN'S PLUCK WINS.

How a Drunken Husband Was Made a Sober Man by a Determined Wife.

She writes: "I had for a long time been thinking of trying the Samaria Prescription treatment on my husband for his drinking habits, but I was afraid that he would discover that I was giving him medicine, and the thought unnerved me. I hesitated for nearly a week, but one day when he came home very much intoxicated, and his week's salary nearly all spent, I threw off all fear and determined to make an effort to save our home from the ruin I saw coming, at all hazards. I sent for your Samaria Prescription and put it in his coffee as directed, next morning, and watched and prayed for the result. At noon I gave him more, and also at supper. He never suspected a thing, and I then boldly kept right on giving it regularly, as I had discovered something that set every nerve in my body tingling with hope and happiness, and I could see a bright future set out before me—a peaceful, happy home, a share in the good things of life, an attentive and loving husband, comforts and everything else dear to a woman's heart, for my husband had told me that whiskey was vile stuff, and he was taking a dislike to it. It was only too true, for before I had given him the full course he had stopped drinking altogether, but I kept giving him the medicine till it was gone, and then kept for another lot to have on hand if he should relapse, as he had done from his promise before. He never has, and I am writing you this letter to tell you how thankful I am. I honestly believe it will cure the worst cases.

We will send our pamphlet free, giving testimonials and full information, with directions how to take or administer Samaria Prescription. Correspondence considered sacredly confidential. Address, The Samaria Remedy Co., Jordan street, Toronto, Ont.

MINE MULES.

One Man Who Thinks They Are Wise Beyond Their Generation.

Jim Smiley has studied the character and idiosyncrasies of the coal mine. Jim believes an old mine mule has more than horse sense and in some cases is gifted with second sight. Jim drove a white mule for Captain W. B. Rodgers of the Tide Coal company that had this faculty, and owing to his exercise of it Jim is able to relate some of his wondrous experiences with mine mules. The mule, Jim says, has Scriptural authority for seeing things that his drivers cannot see, and cites the story of Balaam and the mule ancestor, in corroboration of his theory.

The particular mule that Captain Rodgers owned was noted for his light heeled proclivities and his general objection to going the way he was directed. One morning Jim Smiley was taking a trip of cars into a cross entry that had some of the pillars "ribbed." This slightly weakened the roof, and, although timbers had been put in to support the roof, it had begun to "creep." Jim shouted a few "cuss" words at the mule, and, calling him by an opprobrious name, invited him to "gwan." He started off in good style until the cross entry was reached. Here he stopped. Jim insisted that the mule proceed. The mule switched his tail. Jim applied his black snake whip, which he unwound from his shoulders for the purpose.

Force and persuasion were unavailing. Jim got behind the mine car and pushed it against the mule. The animal held back. Jim pushed harder, and the mule toppled over into the car. Jim could not get the mule out of the car and was forced to get another mule and pull the wise mule to the side track, where it was high enough to jump him out of the pit car.

Jim took the borrowed mule and went back into the cross entry, and when he arrived at the point where the wise mule had stopped he found that a fall of roof had occurred in his absence, completely closing the entry. Had Jim succeeded in driving the mule beyond the place of the "hold up" both he and the mule would have been entombed. Jim says no man knows as much as a pit mule, and they don't talk so much either.—Pittsburg News.

A TORONTO WITNESS.

Benjamin Bacon of 225 North Lisgar Street Questioned Concerning Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Toronto, June 26.—Among the many who have been cured of lame back, (the commonest symptoms of Kidney Disease) in the Queen City is Mr. Benjamin Bacon of 225 North Lisgar St. He was asked by letter recently whether his cure by Dodd's Kidney Pills was entirely satisfactory.

Here is Mr. Bacon's reply:

Toronto, June 2.

Dear Sir,—I am in receipt of your letter in reference to my cure by Dodd's Kidney Pills. I had a severe pain in the back, was recommended to try Dodd's Kidney Pills, did, and got instant relief.

The Canadian Porcupine.

Under any and all circumstances he is clumsy. Ungainliness with him seems to be a virtue. He can walk, even to galloping a bit in a painful, impotent endeavor to escape insults, but it is merely an effort to turn tail against his pursuer, and, this accomplished, he is content to hunch up and fall around and over himself and sigh and moan like a very Falstaff because he can get no farther. A northern porcupine never seems to have any faith in his outdoor surroundings. Catch one up a tree, and ten to one he begins to back down right into your arms if you dare to receive him in that fashion. And what a back down it is! Tail thrashing from side to side as if it would oust its owner loose; long claws deeply scratching the tree trunk; snorts and pauses and quill raisings as one foot deviously follows the other, and as a grand finale a tumble of two or three feet to the ground where he flounders about like a great ball of quills.

If you catch one on the ground and his den among the rocks be not near, he is sure to reverse proceedings and make for a tree, perhaps the very one he seemed so anxious to forsake when you chanced to find him in it. Cut him off, and, most likely, he will put his head down and, quills erect, charge for that special tree with fixed bayonets. It takes a sharp whack on the nose to turn him under such conditions. The groan which follows such a rebuff is pitiful in its human-like tone of helplessness.—Forest and Stream.

WEST ELGIN AGAIN VACANT.

Election of Mr. Macnish Voided With Costs Against the Sheriff.

St. Thomas, June 27.—The election trial against the return of Donald Macnish as representative of West Elgin in the Ontario Legislature commenced in the Duncombe Opera House at 9 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Justice Osler and Justice R. Meredith presided. The petitioner for the Conservatives is J. G. Nunn. There are 388 paragraphs in the petition, representing about the same number of charges. The seat is claimed for Finlay G. MacDiarmid.

The first charge proceeded with was the appointment of deputy returning officers. It was shown that in several divisions the right persons did not act, and Justice Osler voided the election, with costs on the returning officer, Sheriff Brown, Justice Meredith concurred in the judgment. Both of the judges said gross irregularities had taken place and there was no excuse for the returning officer's conduct. The trial only lasted one hour and twenty minutes.

ALL HEADACHES

Wake Up! You are an energetic man—an ambitious one. But it is hard to get up in the morning. You feel that you could take just one more nap, and one more and still more. Your head is heavy. You hate to get up. Your mouth tastes bad. Your breakfast does not suit, and you are irritable. When you go to work you don't feel like it. You fight the feeling all day, and a couple of hours before closing time you turn in and work like a good fellow. When it's time to stop, you are just warmed up for a six day's go-as-you-please. But it is too late, and the next morning it is the same thing over again.

That isn't laziness—it's sickness—real, serious sickness. And later it will develop into something worse—liver trouble, consumption, blood disease, or nervous prostration. There is a remedy that will put you on your feet—Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It will wake up your stomach, give you an appetite, and put vim in your blood. It will make a new man of you. It contains no alcohol and will not create appetite for stimulants.

Mr. Charles Hunwick, of Lenox, Macomb Co., Mich., writes: "I have never felt better in my life than I do now. I have taken Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery right along. I can now walk quite well with a cane and hope to throw even that away before long, and as I have had to use crutches for nearly two years, I think I am doing fine. I do not cough now and I can sleep like a school boy. I have been treated in two hospitals and by three doctors besides, and received no benefit; so I think your medicine is the only medicine for me."

Do not let any one induce you to take a substitute in place of "Golden Medical Discovery." Buy of reliable dealers. With tricky ones, something else that pays them better will probably be offered as "just as good." Perhaps it is for them; but it can't be for you.

J. J. TURNER & SONS,

REAR ADMIRAL WATSON.

Admiral Watson, it is hoped, will not find a thing to do when he reaches the Philippines, and we "haven't a thing" against the admiral either.—Wilkesbarre Record.

Rear Admiral Watson, who succeeds Dewey in the Philippines, was a lieutenant on Farragut's flagship at the battle of Mobile Bay and assisted in lashing the admiral to the rigging of the Hartford before he went to do or die.—Baltimore American.

The selection of Rear Admiral Watson is an excellent one, if his long and creditable career in the service be an index of his worth. The task ahead of him in the Philippines will be the more difficult because he succeeds a man of Dewey's resplendent reputation.—Washington Times.

Rear Admiral Watson, who is appointed to succeed Dewey as commander of the Asiatic station, was an officer who might have achieved distinction in the Spanish war had the opportunity come his way. The navy department always held Watson up its sleeve, as if he were a high trump, yet never played him at a moment opportune for Watson.—Springfield Republican.

He Fooled The Surgeons.

All doctors told Ranick Hamilton, West Jefferson, Ohio, after suffering 18 months from Rectal Fistula, he would die unless a costly operation was performed; but he cured himself with five boxes of Bucklen's Arnica Salve, the surest pile cure on earth, and the best salve in the world. 25 cents a box. Sold by James Lynch, druggist.

"I have a proposition to make to you," said the regular patron as he took the restaurant proprietor off to one side.

"Well!" said the restaurant man.

"I have been coming here for some time, and I have discovered that a tip is necessary if one is to get good service."

"That's the case nearly everywhere."

"Well, what I want to suggest is that I'll pay the salary of my waiter if you will put up the tips. You really ought to be willing to take the more expensive end of the bargain, don't you think?"—Chicago Post.

An odd contrivance is used in China to protect the carrier pigeons from the attacks of birds of prey. Tiny bamboo tubes are fastened under their wings, and as they fly the air passing swiftly through the tubes makes a shrill whistle, which serves to frighten off the other birds.

People who suffer from dyspepsia or indigestion soon lose flesh, become weak and run down. The food they take instead of being converted into blood, bone and flesh, goes undigested through the system, poisoning the body, instead of nourishing it.

Those who desire a permanent cure of dyspepsia—who want their stomach made right so that their food will give them strength, should take Burdock Blood Bitters.

Miss Emily Howard, Port Hope, Ont., writes: "I have used Burdock Blood Bitters for indigestion and it worked with me like a charm.

"Before I started taking it I was thin and run down in health, as I could get little strength from my food.

Two bottles of B.B.B. have completely cured me, and I have gained 20 pounds in weight. I strongly advise any one troubled with indigestion to use B.B.B."

Screamed ... WITH. Agony

From the Terrible Itching, Burning Tortures of ...

Eozema on the Scalp

Some of the cures effected by Dr. Chase's Ointment are more like miracles than anything else. The case recorded here was one of the worst ever brought to the attention of Toronto's best physicians, and when doctors gave up all hope of recovery Dr. Chase's Ointment was successful in producing a perfect cure.

Mr. James Scott, 136 Wright Ave., Toronto, states: "My boy Tom, aged ten, was for nearly three years afflicted with a bad form of Eczema of the scalp, which was very unsightly and resisted all kinds of remedies and doctor's treatment. His head was in a terrible state. We had to keep him from school, and at times his head would bleed, and the child would scream with agony. For two and a half years we battled with it in vain, but at last found a cure in Dr. Chase's Ointment. About five boxes were used. The original sores dried up, leaving the skin in its normal condition. To say it is a pleasure to testify to the wonderful merits of Dr. Chase's Ointment is putting it very mildly."

The Man Who Went to Boss the Hoisting of a Piano.

"It seems to me they don't do anything now in the same way they did a long time ago," said a man who had gone up to his house to boss the job. "I bought an upright piano, and when I had paid for it I told the agent I would be at the house at a stated hour, as I wished to be present when the piano was hoisted. I noticed the agent smile, but he said nothing. I thought no more of it until after I had gone home and noticed the way in which the piano was moved into my apartment on the fourth floor. When the men drove up with their cart, I asked them where the hoisting machine was. One of them whistled, and the other one said it would be there all right, and he winked at the fellow with the puckered mouth.

"Then they opened a kit of tools and began taking that piano to pieces. They first removed the action, and one of the men asked where he would take it, meaning what floor. While he was gone another man unscrewed the legs which supported the keyboard. The third man carried up the legs, and while he was gone the first man returned and took up the keyboard which the man with the screwdriver had taken off. That left the back and sides of the case and the sounding board. They were not taken apart. A fourth man was picked up and given the job of assisting the three in carrying up what remained of the piano. All this was done in about 10 minutes. I had nothing to do except to look on. As the team moved away one of the men called back. 'We'll send that hoisting machine up later.' Twenty years ago my piano was delivered by safe movers. They took half a day to do it."

Toronto, June 19.—The story of the escape of the Globe pressman, Mr. Jno. H. Parnham, from the agonies of Lumbago, by using Dodd's Kidney Pills, is unusually interesting.

Mr. Parnham writes to the Dodd's Medicine Co., Limited, thus: "I am proud to testify to the wonderful efficacy of Dodd's Kidney Pills. About eight months ago I was attacked by severe pains in my back. I consulted an eminent physician, who said I had Lumbago, and told me to take Turkish baths. These did me no good.

"A friend advised me to try Dodd's Kidney Pills. I did so, and one box cured me. My back has never troubled me since."

KIDNAPED BY INDIANS

THRILLING STORY OF A WOMAN'S CAPTURE AND ESCAPE.

Plucky Mrs. Larimer Was the Heroine of an Exciting Adventure With the Bloodthirsty Sioux In Wyoming Territory In 1864.

While in Washington one day I saw come out of the department of justice a woman of attractive appearance. As she paused a moment on the step and looked with bright, observant eyes over at the White House and along Pennsylvania avenue, she presented a picture of comfortable, placid middle age. One of the attorneys from the Indian depredation claims department accompanied her to the door, and after she bade him goodby he said:

"That woman is Mrs. Sarah L. Larimer of Nebraska, and she is making her yearly visit to Washington. When at the capital, she always calls on her friends in the department of justice. The files of Indian depredation claims contain no more romantic and thrilling incidents than those which relate the early life of Mrs. Larimer. Those who meet her now as a woman of the present day, quite abreast of the times in which she lives, interested in all public questions and full of kindly sympathies, can scarcely realize that in her youth she was the heroine of a regular 'dime novel' story of the plains.

"In 1864 Lieutenant Larimer, who had just been honorably discharged from the Union army, left his home in Kansas, accompanied by his young wife and little child, to cross the plains for the restoration of his health, which had given out through hard service in the war. They were in company with several other travelers and had with them valuable personal belongings, consisting of several wagons and horses, expensive clothing, family jewels, a complete photographic outfit and nearly $4,000 in money. When in Wyoming territory, they were surprised by a band of Sioux Indians, who murdered three of the party, wounded two, Lieutenant Larimer being one of the wounded, and captured Mrs. Larimer and her child. The Indians took the woman and child to their camp, about 70 miles from the spot where they had attacked the travelers.

"A day or two after the attack news came to the Eleventh cavalry, stationed at Fort Laramie, Wy., that the Sioux had attacked travelers on the emigrant road and had carried Mrs. Larimer and her child into captivity. Lieutenant Larimer had been found, nearly dead from arrow wounds and distracted at the fate which had befallen his wife and baby. The officers of the Eleventh immediately moved part of their command up the Platte river and obtained further information as to where the raid had taken place. They were about to move against the Indians with a force of two companies when Mrs. Larimer came crawling into camp, carrying her child in her arms. Their condition was deplorable. She and the child were nearly famished. As soon as Mrs. Larimer was able she gave a detailed account of the position of the Indians, their plans and movements, their designs against the command which they knew would be moving against them, their numbers and the ambuscades which they had prepared. Her information was so valuable that the officers were able to thwart the designs of the Indians, not only against the pursuing troops, but against exposed points and trains that were on the emigrant road.

"The officers found the information Mrs. Larimer gave as to the position and movements of the Indians to be exactly as she had said and marveled at the powers of observation and clearness of memory which had endured through the hours of torture she had gone through. The accuracy of her statements was particularly verified by the fact that one of the lieutenants and a few of his men, who had disobeyed orders and followed a trail apart from the command, fell into an ambuscade described by Mrs. Larimer and were killed.

"Mrs. Larimer was never quite clear as to how many hours she had passed with the Indians. From the moment of captivity, when they had started off with her child and herself in their train, she had concentrated every faculty on watching for an opportunity of escape. She had seen her husband struck down by arrows, killed, as she supposed; had seen the wagons fired and her friends killed and wounded. She had read of the tortures inflicted by Indians upon women captives, never imagining that one day she would be their wretched victim. She was determined, if possible, to get herself and child away from their clutches and die in some other way than by their tortures. She had always been a girl of fearless disposition, quick in her movements and very observant. She pretended to be bodily in a languid and almost immovable state. After hours of waiting and watching their dances and listening to their plans for further depredations, when they had ceased to observe her, she found a chance to slip away beyond the fires into the dark bush. For hours and hours, through two days and nights, she struggled on, faint, nearly dead, until she fell exhausted in the camp of the cavalry.

"It was a happy time, of course, when she found her young husband alive. All they had in the world was gone, but after the horrors of their experience had passed away a little and health was in a measure restored they started out afresh. Mrs. Larimer has always been the business manager of the firm. Her husband never had his health completely restored."—Philadelphia Times.

Early Accidents

Cause Lifelong Suffering.

A Case that is Causing Talk.

When a lad about eight years of age I fell into a cellar a distance of ten feet, striking on my head, and causing concussion of the brain. I was taken to a London, Eng., Hospital, the first seven days not recovering consciousness. I am now 35 years old and from the time of my accident until I began taking Dr. Ward's Pills five months ago I had been subject to fainting spells, never being more than two weeks without an attack of fainting. As I grew older these spells became more frequent, lasted longer, and left me with less vitality. I was weak, had no strength or stamina, always very low-spirited and down-hearted; imagined that every thing and every person was going against me, and life only had a dark side for me. My appetite was poor most of the time, but I am now happy to say that, since taking Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills, I have only had one fainting spell, shortly after I began taking them, so I have no hesitation in saying that Dr. Ward's Pills cured me. Before taking these pills I always looked for a fainting spell not more than two weeks apart; now, I would be greatly surprised at a recurrence of these spells. Life is now bright—the constant, morbid, down-hearted feeling is gone, being replaced by a contented, hopeful feeling. I feel like working. My appetite is good, and in every respect I have experienced the health and strength restoring properties of Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills. They certainly have proved a great blessing to me. Yours truly, (Signed), Thomas Stanton, Brighton, Ont.

Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills are sold at 50c. per box, 5 boxes for $2.00 at druggists, or mailed on receipt of price by The Doctor Ward Co., Limited, Toronto.

POPULAR SCIENCE.

Air in its pure state is composed thus: Nitrogen, 77 per cent; oxygen, 21 per cent; other compounds, 2 per cent.

Water is the hardest of all substances to heat, with the single exception of hydrogen gas. The easiest two are mercury and lead, which stand in this respect on nearly the same footing.

Coal smoke contains ethylene, from which alcohol is readily made by simple means, and it is recognised that ere long the smoke of high furnaces, coke ovens and gas works will be utilized in the production of alcohol.

By a new process that very useful commercial compound, celluloid, can now be rendered noninflammable by dissolving ordinary celluloidine in acetine and working these to a paste with magnesium chloride, rendered soluble by alcohol.

When Travelling

Always take with you a bottle of Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry.

The change of food and water to which those who travel are subject, often produces an attack of diarrhœa, which is as unpleasant and discomforting as it may be dangerous.

A bottle of Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry in your grip is a guarantee of safety.

On the first indication of Cramps, Colic, Diarrhœa or Dysentery, a few doses will promptly check the further advance of these diseases.

So, too, it is a specific for sea sickness, relieving the nausea, stopping the vomiting, settling the stomach and bracing up the weakened heart.

Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry is being more widely and shamelessly imitated this year than ever before by unscrupulous pharmaceutical concerns who hope to profit by the high reputation of this remedy. Your safety lies in seeing that the full name, Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry is on every bottle you buy.

DR. JOHNSON'S CONVERSATION.

[I was very assiduous in recording his conversation.—Boswell.]

What Johnson said! How talk would wane,
How mute would every man remain
When he, with utterance loud and slow,
Some truth would teach, some moral show
His weighty words—a ponderous train—
Exploring freely thought's domain
With vigorous wit and wisdom plain,
And none would dare to question low
What Johnson said.

But "Goldy," of distinction vain,
Might interrupt in random strain,
While "Bozzy" listened all aglow,
Resolved his journal soon should know,
To all mankind's enduring gain,
What Johnson said.

Romance of Siam's Great Peaks.

Siam's greatest mountain range is the Sam Roi Yawt, or the 300 peaks. A quaint legend which explains their origin is set forth by the Siamese geologists as follows:

"It appears that one Mong Lai and his wife once inhabited the neighborhood (they were giants), and each promised their daughter in marriage, unknown to the other, to a different suitor. At last the day of the nuptials arrived, and Chao Lai and the Lord of Mleang Chin (China) both arrived to claim the bride. When the horrified father found how matters stood—having a regard for the value of a promise, which is not too common in the east—he cut his daugher in half so that neither suitor should be disappointed.

"Chao Lai in the meantime, on finding that he had a rival, committed suicide, and the peak of Chao Lai is the remains of his body. The unfortunate bride is to be found in the islands off Sam Roi Yawt, the peaks of which are the remains of the gifts which were to be made to the holy man who was to solemnize the wedding, while Kaw Chang and Kaw King, on the east side of the gulf, are the elephant and buffalo cart in which the presents were brought."

Painting and prosperity go together naturally. Paint is the outward sign of prosperity. Paint saves property. Increases its value. Twenty dollars worth of paint often adds two hundred dollars to the market value of a property. All owners reckon with th' strange fact. RUNNING SORE

Solid Sore from Knee to Instep. Thought have to be Amputated. Walked with Crutch. Almost Wild with Pain.

Physician Said "Never could be Cured." Tries CUTICURA. Sleep after First Application. Cured in Eight Weeks.

I was afflicted with a terrible sore leg, caused by a cut. It became so inflamed that it was thought it would have to be amputated. My physician said that "it could never be cured, that it would remain a running sore on account of the poisonous state of my blood." When I got out of bed I could hardly stand the pain, and had to get along with a crutch. I tried all kinds of blood and other medicines without success, my leg getting Worse until it became a solid sore from my knee to instep. Utterly discouraged and almost wild with pain, I gave up in despair, making up my mind that death would be a sweet relief. Casually picking up an old paper, I noticed the description of a man who had been cured by CUTICURA remedies, afflicted like myself. I immediately procured the CUTICURA RESOLVENT, CUTICURA SOAP, and CUTICURA (ointment). The first application of CUTICURA (ointment), after carefully washing my leg with warm water and plenty of the CUTICURA SOAP, gave me so much relief that I was able to sleep over half of the night, and after the third day I rested well every night. I went on improving, and in exactly eight weeks from the time I began the use of CUTICURA remedies I was able to return to my trade (carpentering), well and sound.

CUTICURA

Begins with the Blood and Ends with The Skin and Scalp.

That is to say it purifies the blood and stimulating baths of HUMOR GERMS, and thus removes the cause, while warm baths with CUTICURA SOAP, and gentle anointings with CUTICURA (ointment), greatest of emollient skin cures, cleanse the skin and scalp of crusts and scales, allay itching, burning, and inflammation, soothe and heal. Thus are speedily, permanently, and economically cured the most torturing, disfiguring humors of the skin, scalp and blood, with loss of hair, when the best physicians and all other remedies fail.

LINDSAY CHEESE BOARD.

Over 1700 Boxes Boarded Monday Morning.

The second meeting of the Victoria County Cheese Board for the season was held on Monday. There was a good attendance. President Robertson and the other officers were on hand. The buyers were Messrs. Whitton, Fitzgerald, Flavelle and Moore—the latter, representing Mr. Cluxton, of Peterborough, paying his first visit.

The following factories boarded the number of boxes placed opposite their names:

Star	116
Lorneville	25
Cameron	86
Dunaford	105
Mariposa	70
Derryville	—
Cambray	65
Janetville	60

Very Little Rivalry.

At 11.10 o'clock President Robertson called for bids. Mr. Flavelle was the first to respond, offering 8 1-4c for selections. Mr. Whitton raised the offer to 8 3-8c, and Mr. Fitzgerald sang out 8 7-16c. This was a notch higher than the others cared to go, and Mr. Fitzgerald called Star, Mariposa, North Ops, Bobcaygeon and Reaboro, all accepting. The total was 881 boxes.

Mr. Whitton offered 8 3-8c for further selections, and Omemee, Fenelon Falls, North Verulam, Red Rock, Lorneville, Cameron and Janetville accepted; Maple Leaf, Pine Grove and Dunaford refused. Mr. Whitton's purchases totalled 721 boxes.

Mr. Moore had a bid of 8 3-8c chalked up, but thought better of it, and cancelled.

Mr. Flavelle then offered 8 3-8c for the balance of the board, but all refused. The salesmen were then given permission to sell off the board.

The next meeting will be held on Monday, July 10th.

AN INTERESTING EVENT.

Marriage Ceremony of Miss Minnie Finney to Mr. J. G. Cameron.

A very interesting event occurred at the residence of the bride's mother, No. 104 Dublin street, at noon to-day, when Miss Minnie Finney was united in marriage to Mr. James G. Cameron of Franklin, Penn., and formerly of the Peter Hamilton Mfg. Co., town, the ceremony being performed by Rev. Dr. Torrance of St. Paul's church.

The bride who wore a travelling suit of pearl cloth, was assisted by Miss Clara Sanderson of Smith, whilst Mr. Will Cameron of Norwood acted in a like capacity for the groom.

After the ceremony was over, the newly married couple and a large number of intimate friends and relatives sat down to an excellent wedding supper, after which a pleasant hour or two was spent in social intercourse. The newly married couple left on the 4.45 C.P.R. train for their future home in Franklin, Pa., followed by the good wishes of their numerous Peterborough friends.

The presents to the bride were both numerous and costly, and consisted amongst other things, a beautiful gold watch, the gift of the groom, and an elegant tea set from the staff of Mr. C. W. Moore, George street.

The Subscribers' Directory for 1899 will be delivered this week, and subscribers are asked upon receiving new list to destroy all previous lists.

It will be noticed that a large number of the subscribers' numbers have been changed, and it will be necessary to give the number from new lists so as to avoid mistakes. Operators will not pay any attention to name; numbers must be given in every case.

Subscribers must not allow non-subscribers to use their telephones. It impedes the service, is an injustice to those who pay for their telephones, and is a violation of the contract between subscriber and the company.

OTIS IS SUPPRESSING NEWS.

Statesers Are Beginning to Grumble at His Rigid Press Censorship.

New York, June 28.—An evening paper publishes the following from its Washington correspondent: "The press censorship at Manila is attracting a good deal of attention, not less at Washington than in other parts of the United States.

"General Otis is carrying things, in respect to newspaper correspondence, with a higher hand than any other officer has ventured to in recent years. He does not content himself with forbidding the transmission of certain news by cable from Manila, but goes to the extreme length of saying what shall and what shall not be mailed, under envelope and seal. He has warned the correspondents, also, that any one of them who tries to circumvent his vigilance by sending objectionable matter over for transmission from Hongkong will be treated as if the offence were committed in Manila and might as well pack his trunk for home."

KRUGER IS FOR ARBITRATION.

War Preparations in the Transvaal Still Continue — Orange Free State as a Mediator — A Delagoa Bay Rumor—A Clan-na-Gael Yarn —The Latest From South Africa.

Cape Town, June 29.—A meeting of 4,000 loyalists, under the presidency of the mayor of Cape Town, was held here last evening, and adopted, with the greatest enthusiasm, resolutions supporting Sir Alfred Milner, Governor of the colony and British high commissioner in South Africa, in his recent negotiations with President Kruger, and thanking the Canadians and Australians for their offers of assistance. An immense overflow meeting was also held. The former, at which the Right Hon. Sir John Gordon Sprigg, former Premier of the colony, and numerous other political leaders, were present, was addressed by several Johannesburgers. Sir Gordon Sprigg also addressed the meeting, declaring that unless Sir Alfred Milner was absolutely supported there was danger that the Cape Colony would secede from the Empire. He declared himself convinced that Great Britain was solidly behind the Imperial Secretary of State for the Colonies, Mr. Joseph Chamberlain, whose recent speech before the Unionists of Birmingham, England, dealing with the Transvaal problem, he warmly commended.

Kruger Still for Arbitration.

London, June 29.—The Johannesburg correspondent of The Standard says: President Kruger, it is understood here, persists in his demand for arbitration as an essential condition in any settlement. Awarded to Madame Resal, Whose Husband Was Lost in La Bourgogne Disaster.

Paris, June 29.—The action for damages brought by Madame Resal, as a result of the loss of her husband by the sinking of the French Line steamer La Bourgogne, in collision with the British ship, Cromartyshire, July 4, 1898, off Sable Island, Nova Scotia, has resulted in a verdict against the company of 100,000 francs. The plaintiff at the same time was debarred from claiming any money lost with M. Resal which may hereafter be recovered. The court found the company responsible for the acts of the captain, who was declared to be at fault in not bringing the ship to a standstill after the collision, in losing time in launching the boats, and not furnishing the passengers with lifeboats.

Washington, June 29.—Secretary Alger, Adjutant-General Corbin and Col. Bird, Assistant Quartermaster-General in charge of transportation, had an hour's consultation with the President yesterday relative to the question of reinforcements for General Otis. A definite decision has been reached to continue recruiting men at all the recruiting stations for service in the Philippines, and Secretary Alger said when he left the White House, after a conference, that General Otis would have 40,000 men when the rainy season closed for a resumption of active operations. Arrangements are to be made at once for increasing the transportation necessary to get these additional troops to the Philippines.

Manila, June 29.—General Jaramillos, who is settling Spain's military affairs here, has received a cable message from the Minister of War at Madrid, General Polavieja, announcing that the pay of all soldiers who are in the hands of the insurgents will be continued during their captivity. The families of many of these officers and soldiers are in Manila, without means of support here or on their return to Spain. The new Spanish consul here, Senor Luis Marinas, says his foremost business is to secure the release of the prisoners. The Spaniards are fast leaving Manila. The steamer Isla de Luson sails for Spain soon, taking several hundred persons, civil and military officials and their families. The Spanish commercial men are selling out, and some of the largest interests here will soon pass into the hands of English capitalists.

And Only Given 10 Days in Jail for Killing a Man.

The prisoner's counsel appealed for clemency, stating that Gover's wife, who was filled with remorse, had mortgaged her home to furnish funds for the defence, and hoped to win her husband's pardon.

Judge Van Wart, amid applause, in which the jurymen joined, sentenced Gover to ten days in jail. The trial was one of the most sensational that ever took place in New Brunswick.

FOREST RESERVES.

It is stated that Hon. J. M. Gibson, Commissioner of Crown Lands, who has recently returned from a visit to the Lake Temagami District, has recommended that the Government establishh a national park there, similar to Algonquin Park, set apart and withdrawn from settlement in 1893. The Temagami forest reserve, if decided upon, will include Lake Temagami, and several connected lakes, and the reserve will, doubtless, be on the plan of Algonquin Park, consisting of eighteen townships, which are, as the statute states, "reserved and set apart as a public park and forest reserve, fish and game preserve, health resort and pleasure ground for the benefit, advantage and enjoyment of the people of the province."

In such reserves we have the forest primeval, untouched by the hand of man, summer resorts, which, like Algonquin and, especially, Muskoka, (which, though not reserved is still largely in a state of nature) are great attractions to tourists and sportsmen. Muskoka has its summer visitors by tens of thousands from the cities of Canada and the United States, who are probably a source of more profit than would result from the settling and cultivation of the district. But tourist and sportsman considerations do not, by any means represent the greatest benefits derivable from such forest reserves. These places remain as the sources of our streams and rivers—storehouses, one may say, of the year's fall of rain and snow—where it is kept from time to time, and prevented from evaporation by the deep shade of the original forest, and filtering slowly out, forms the head waters of our rivers, which are kept at a continuously even flow the year round. Thus are prevented floods and freshets, owhich occur in treeless areas from heavy rainfalls, flowing rapidly off the sun-baked ground and forming rushing rivulets, which sweep the humus off hillsides and slopes, into valleys and flats, that thus become unnecessarily fertile at their expense, besides causing great destruction other ways. Moreover, these forest areas have a very sensible climatic effect, forming, as they do, the conditions for a more equable rainfall and for a more even meteorological state. Such reserves, placed and administered under wise regulations as those governing Algonquin park, will be a considerable source of revenue from time to time and, ultimately, when the vandal hand of man, under the spur of what is often miscalled progress, shall have wiped our many forests off the face of the province, will be, as in favorable cases in the desert, [illegible] will rise up and call [illegible] Government which [illegible] ent areas of forest of almost continental proportions, in the condition in which Nature planted and prospered them.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Last year's surplus in the operation of the Suez Canal was $9,757,800 on a total business of $17,581,200—almost as good as a sugar trust, or a patent medicine business.

The forces of the Fillipinos now in the field are said to number only 4,000. Yet there is a call for 100,000 more of Uncle Sam's soldiers to crush one-twenty-fifth of their number of half-naked, half-armed, half-civilized Orientals.

A woman in Missouri was acquitted of murder, and the other women in the place have "cut" her acquaintance. If it had been a man that was so charged, and if he had been convicted the women would have piled his cell with flowers and sent in enough sweets to give him a colossal colic.

A bill is before the Imperial Parliament, making women eligible for election to the Board of Aldermen for the new London municipalities. When lady aspirants for the honour stop and reflect that alderwoman is the good old Anglo-Saxon equivalent for elderwoman, they will not be so anxious to seek the office.

The covilization which the United States have introduced into Cuba—"in the interests of humanity"—is evidently not of the highest type. Recently developed cases of yellow fever, according to General Wood, the military dispenser, on the behalf of the United States, of civilization, originated in a low resort conducted by Americans, called "The Army and Navy Bar," the resort of lewd women and sailors.

USE OF HYPNOTISM.

"The Attitude of the Courts Towards Hypnotism" is the title of a very able and very interesting article in "Suggestions," by Roger Sherman, a well known lawyer in Chicago. Such is the development of this hypnotic power, such the number of persons who appear to be susceptible to its influence, that the question has been asked, Is it not a power with dangerous tendencies when exercised by bad men and in connection with crime? The essayist has done a lot of reading, his references covering every known book or work dealing with the subject. Many authorities are quoted, but only two will be cited here.

Thompson J. Hudson, in "The Law of Psychic Phenomena," declares that "the hypnotic subject will never commit a crime in that state that he would not commit in the normal condition. It is purely a question of moral character. A criminal hypnotist in control of a criminal subject could undoubtedly procure the commission of a crime under exceptionally favourable circumstances; but a criminal hypnotist would simply waste his energies in hypnotizing a criminal subject, for a man of that character could, without doubt, be just as easily manipulated in his normal condition. Be that as it may the fact remains that when a man sets up hypnotism as a defence in a criminal trial he proclaims himself a criminal character."

But Dr. Xavier Suddeth is, "said to have compassed the whole problem and clarified the atmosphere of all doubt and uncertainty." And he concludes that a subject of hypnotism knows well that he is doing the bidding of another, and as long as the suggested acts do not shock his sense of propriety, and come within the bounds of physical possibility, he will attempt their performance, "because he realizes that he is playing a part in an experiment." He is as free a moral agent to follow the dictates of his conscience as he is in the waking state. He objects only in so far as the suggested acts do not antagonize the moral standard he has set up. Any suggestions that seriously affront his moral nature, if persisted in, will cause him to awaken.

Remembering all this one thinks of the subjects who have been performed upon in this place, who have been sent into long sleeps, with exposure in public places, or who have gambolled about the stage and done some very amusing and very silly things at the dictation of the hypnotist. The authorities who have written on the question being accepted, the subjects must be regarded as very accommodating persons, and willing to submit to very hard usage, for the sake of the experiment, or as entering into the spirit of it under circumstances that are calculated to severely test their power of endurance. Mr. Sherman, summing up the evidence in the matter, has reached the conclusion, (1) that "the hypnotised subject will never commit a crime in that state that he would not commit in his normal condition;" (2) that "he is as free a moral agent to follow the dictates of his conscience as he is in the waking state."

And yet the medical profession as a whole are not satisfied that this is the case, and not so long ago Russia, at the instance of its medical council, enacted a law which prevents the use of hypnotism except in the treatments of patients, and then a report of the case must be made to the civil authorities for their use and information. It is, of course, a point in favour of the Sherman contentions, that crime has not yet been traced to hypnotism, but in any event in which it was alleged to have played a part it has not been proven to be the controlling and directing force.

FIGURING THE COST OF IMPERIALISM.

Scottish American:—It must be confessed that public interest here in what is taking place at Philipines is greatly diminishing. The accuracy of the reports received is generally doubted, and the people content themselves with simply knowing that a guerilla warfare is constantly on there, similar to that in Cuba before the war with Spain. There is one thing, however, which people here are not listless about, and that is the enormous cost of the large standing army which the Unites States is now obliged to maintain.

Before the war with Spain the the United States army consisted of 25,000 men, and cost $4,500,000 mouthly; but it is estimated that the army is now costing twenty million dollars per month, exclusive altogether of the navy. The probability is that the army is now really costing far more. Though a return issued last week from Washington estimates the cost at $240,000,000 for the year ending with this month, it confesses that the exact figures cannot be given owing to the return and disbandment of volunteers. All know what that means; it is simply letting the matter down softly; and it may readily be assumed that when the exact figures are shown the cost stated will not be less. Then there will fall to be added to the cost of maintaining the navy, which this year is estimated at about $75,000,000, exclusive of the outlay for the proposed increase. That should show extensionsists, or Imperialists, what a very expensive luxury an empire is. And then it must not be overlooked that the standing army now is a fountain from which additions to the already enormous pension list are continually flowing. The previous experience of this country seemed to demonstrate that pensioners never die, but multiplied daily.

In excuse, or explanation, of the great cost of the United States army now it is said that the creation of an army and navy to police the world's ill-ordered communities, and to reduce thriftless life to order and peace is not to be judged by the same standard as the maintenance of great standing armies for home protection against turbulent neighbours. On the other hand, it should be remembered that a military machine, maintained on the highest scale which strenuous competition may dictate to a burdened nation, is physically and industriously exhausted, and is, through idleness, liable to be socially corrupting and politically mischievious, and that it is quite different to send abroad, on essentially beneficient errands, the surplus adventurous spirits of the nation. The latter are never maintained for this purpose in greater numbers than there is enough serious work for to keep them in fighting trim, and at least out of the mischief which Satan finds for idle hands to do. Still many good, old-fashioned citizens will sigh for the days when the United States was content to dwell within its own proper borders, and did not need any large standing army or powerful navy.

MANY USES FOR CORUNDUM.

For Abrasive Purposes it May Supplant Emery.

There will probable soon be employment for the large deposits of corundum in North Carolina, as uses for that mineral in the arts are being found. This mineral is the crystallized oxide of alumina, and though it is essentially of India, it is found in gem form not only in North Carolina, but to some extent in Georgia, and there are valuable deposits in Ontario. In Nature is an article setting forth the uses and value of corundum, and it appears that it is employed chiefly for abrasive purposes, mostly in the form of corundum wheels, which are said to be twice as effective and durable as emery wheels. Corundum wheels may be regarded as rotary files, the cutting points of which never grow dull. They are rapidly replacing files for cutting down metal surfaces, and taking the place of grindstones for sharpening. We are told that while a file is useless when it has lost five per cent. of its weight, the corundum grains throughout a wheel retain their cutting power so that it can be worked until ninety per cent. of its weight is worn off. Thus while it has been estimated that to remove one pound weight of iron with a file costs 65 cents, the same amount of work can be done with an emery or corundum wheel in about one-eighth of the time and at one-seventh of the cost.

Many People in that Town Being Cured By Doan's Kidney Pills.

There are too many women who are dragging out a life of misery. The pains and aches in the back and sides they endure from day to day are bringing grey hairs and wrinkles, which should not be. Women who are sufferers! Listen to the sensible advice of a St. John, N. B., woman, who lives at 42 Garden avenue. She says that some time ago she was exposed to the cold, and as a result her kidneys were affected. The pain in the back became so severe that she could scarcely stoop, and suffered intensely at every movement.

Hearing that Doan's Kidney Pills were a good remedy for backache and kidney trouble she determined to try them, and procured a box. She considers the results wonderful! The backache quickly disappeared, and now she hasn't a pain anywhere and is in better health than she had been for some time.

Now, isn't it reasonable to suppose that if Doan's Kidney Pills could give Mrs. Brown freedom from pain and build up her health, they can do the same thing for you?

See that it's the genuine Doan's Kidney Pills you get, as imitations never cured anyone.

THE YUKON CHARGES.

Sir Hibbert Tupper Concludes His Long Speech.

THE DEBATE WAS POSTPONED.

His Resolution Took Deputy Speaker Brodeur an Hour and a Quarter to Read—Answers to Questions—Post-office Act Amendments—A Number of Bills Read a Third Time.

Ottawa, June 29.—Sir Hibbert Tupper yesterday brought to a conclusion his speech in support of the resolution for a judicial investigation into the administration of the Yukon. It was 6 o'clock when he concluded his speech, and as the first hour of the evening session was assigned to the consideration of private bills it was within 15 minutes to 9 o'clock before Deputy Speaker Brodeur commenced to read the long resolution. Before this formality was concluded the clock had struck 10, and the Premier moved the adjournment of the debate, in order that some Government bills, which are in charge of the Solicitor-General, who leaves for England in a day or two, might be disposed of.

Answers to Questions.

In reply to a question by Mr. N. Clarke Wallace, Mr. Paterson stated that a basis of valuation has been fixed by the Department of Customs on the importation of binders, mowers and horserakes from the United States, and that in fixing the values the department had taken into account the price of the articles in the country of export and the terms and conditions of sale.

Sir Louis Davies, replying to a question by Mr. Britton, said that the Government has the question of the formation of a naval reserve or naval brigade or a marine militia in Canada under consideration, but that it would not be in position to deal with the matter at this session. There had, he added, been communication with the Imperial naval authorities on the subject, but being of a confidential nature he could not bring it down.

In reply to a question by Mr. Fraser of Lambton, Solicitor-General Fitzpatrick said an action had been entered in the Exchequer Court against the British American Bank Note Company. The contract with the company required that stamps should be printed from steel plates, but instead some of them were printed from lithographic stone. These were 70 per cent. less valuable than those from steel plates and were more easily counterfeited. The Government claimed damages to the extent of $300,000. The defence of the company, in brief, was that the Minister of Inland Revenue had accepted the stamps as being up to the terms of the contract.

The Minister of the Interior informed Mr. Rosamond that he had not yet formulated a scheme for assisting the sons of Ontario farmers to settle in the Northwest on the same terms, and with the same assistance as had been given to the Doukhobors and other foreigners.

Col. Prior's Denial.

Speaking to a motion to adjourn, Col. Prior, after referring to an article in a Victoria paper, denied that he had ever opposed the construction of an all-Canadian telegraph line, but admitted that he did oppose the Government building the telegraph line until the Northern Commercial Telegraph Company had been given an opportunity to carry out the work for which they hold a charter, and which provided for a line which, it was true, passed through American territory.

Sir Hibbert Resumes.

Resuming his speech upon the charges against the Government in connection with the Yukon administration, Sir Hibbert argued that the Government was responsible for the condition of affairs which the evidence showed to exist, and that this condition was brought about partly by the delay of the Government in filling the office of Minister of the Interior at an important crisis, a delay which was caused by the negotiations then being carried on to clear the way for the present Minister of the Interior to the treasury benches. He spoke until recess at 6 o'clock.

Yukon Debate Postponed.

Sir Hibbert Tupper's amendment to the motion to go into supply embracing his Yukon charges was then put, occupying a little over an hour in the reading.

The Premier explained that as the debate could not be concluded last night and as the Solicitor-General was leaving for England to-day, he would ask to have a couple of bills standing in the name of the Governor-General taken up. This was agreed to, and the bill to further amend the jurisdiction of the Exchequer Court as to railway debts was passed through its final stages. The Quebec Harbor Commissioners' bill was also put through its final stage.

Postal Amendments.

Mr. Mulock's bill to amend the Post-office Act was read a second time. He explained that it provides for the carrying of late mail to the trains on payment of a fee, and for the establishment of a system of indemnity for losses of registered mail matter, such indemnity in no case to exceed $25 per article. Another section repeals the provision that no one can be appointed superintendent of mail clerks who has not travelled in a mail car for ten years. This is to meet the case of men who have been taken from the mail service and put in the superintendent's office, and who now could not succeed the superintendent, although specially suited to do so. The act also permits newspapers to send out in sample copies the same notices, etc., as they can send to their regular subscribers.

Mr. Mulock in further explanation of the proposed guarantee of registered postal matter stated that the existing fee for registration is pretty high, and after consultation with the accountant of the department he thought the minimum extra insurance fee for anything under $5 need not be more than one or two cents, perhaps.

Mr. Mulock accepted the suggestion of Dr. Sproule that at least half of the qualifying period of service should be passed as a railway mail clerk, and the clause as amended was adopted.

Mr. E. F. Clarke asked whether the Government had taken any steps towards insuring the lives of railway mail clerks, who ran considerable risk.

Mr. Mulock, in reply pointed out that this step by the Government might result to the advantage of the railway companies, who had been compelled in some cases to pay large sums to railway mail clerks injured in the service. The bill as amended by the Postmaster-General was then given a third reading and passed.

The bill to amend the act respecting the protection of navigable waters was passed through its several stages. In reply to a question by Mr. Clarke Wallace, Sir Louis Davies stated that the period of exemption from penalties for putting sawdust in the Ottawa River has expired, but that it was no more a part of his duty to enforce that law than any other measure upon the statute book. He understood, however, that an experiment for utilising the sawdust had proved successful, and a mill was now in course of construction for the purpose of consuming it.

Bills Advanced.

The following bills passed through committee, and were read a third time and passed after some discussion:

Respecting the jurisdiction of the Exchequer Court as to railway debts—Mr. Fitzpatrick.

Further to amend the act respecting the Protection of Navigable Waters—Sir Louis Davies.

The Senate amendments to the act to amend and consolidate the acts relating to the Quebec harbor commissioners were concurred in, and the House adjourned at 11.50.

One Bill Withdrawn, One Thrown Out.

Ottawa, June 29.—In the banking and commerce committee yesterday morning the bill to authorize the Bank of Nova Scotia to issue sterling notes for circulation in the Island of Jamaica was withdrawn in consequence of the Government bill covering the same ground for all banks.

The Senate railway committee yesterday morning threw out the Portage du Fort & Bristol Railway bill.

SMITH'S

Indian Cough Syrup and Grippe Killer

Has long been known to the Indians of the far north. Very few Indians have consumption; they always have a remedy to hand for all diseases which they produce from Roots, Bark, Seeds and Flowers. Nature's own remedy, and thousands of testimonials testify to the powerful curative powers. Among the many diseases which war on the Throat and Lungs, not one has as yet, withstood the marvellous effects of this remedy. A large number of cures attest to the worth of this preparation. When taken as soon as the first symptoms of Consumption show themselves, its early and cautious use will effect a sure and radical cure in the majority of cases.

One of the most remarkable properties is that it destroys the Microbe or Germ of one of the most dreadful of diseases. In cases of ordinary Cough, Cold or Grippe a few doses will suffice to eradicate the Disease and restore the pateint to health, and thus is a day or two persons who are troubled with Coughing at night will find that by taking a dose on going to bed it will allay that irritation of the Throat and Lungs, and the Cough will stop and the pateint will sleep all night without coughing.

For children it acts as a soothing syrup and is indispensable. No family should be without it.

No Milk Trust Yet.

Toronto, June 29.—The milk dealers of the city have not as yet accepted the offer of the New York syndicate to purchase their milk routes. The syndicate's offer of $1,000 for each eight-gallon can of milk delivered daily is considered by the dealers in a very favorable light, but nothing definite can be done until the association finds out if the syndicate is willing to agree to their conditions.

TO BUILD A GRAND HOTEL.

The Projected New C.P.R. Building at Winnipeg.

Winnipeg, June 29.—Robert Kerr, general passenger traffic manager of the Canadian Pacific Railway, returned from Montreal yesterday. He said yesterday: "Plans are being prepared for a combined C.P.R. station, general offices and hotel. It will certainly be a most magnificent building."

The following resolution was passed unanimously at the Deloraine Liberal convention: "That the Liberals of the constituency of Deloraine, met in convention here to-day, take the opportunity of protesting against any further subsidy being granted to any private individuals or corporation for the building of a road from Winnipeg to Port Arthur for the present, until the country has had an opportunity of endorsing such legislation."

The meeting was the largest of the kind ever held at Deloraine, the hall being crowded.

Hon. G. W. Ross, Minister of Education for Ontario, visited a number of the city schools yesterday morning, including the Collegiate Institute. The Minister and Mrs. Ross left last evening for Ontario.

AWAY BACK IN '95

SAMUEL KERNOHAN'S STORY WAS FIRST MADE KNOWN.

He is Still of the Same Mind—Living at his Home in Gelert, Ont.—His Recent Letter.

Toronto, June 28.—Last week the Canadian papers printed a despatch, giving a short account of the novel scrap-book which a Toronto man has compiled. In it, in the shape of newspaper clippings are thousands of the published cures effected by Dodd's Kidney Pills over diseases of the kidneys, like Bright's Disease, Diabetes, Rheumatism, Heart Failure, Female Complaints, Nervous Troubles, and Disorders of the Bladder and Urinary Organs. The owner of the book has received a large number of replies to the enquiries he sent out to determine whether cures by Dodd's Kidney Pills were lasting or not. Samuel Kernohan, Gelert, Ont., is one of these.

In 1895, Mr. Kernohan's case was published. He had been sick since the December of 1893. He was attended by five doctors, three of them pronounced his case Floating Kidneys, two of them Spinal Disease. All five agreed that it was incurable. When his money was nearly all gone, as a last hope Mr. Kernohan tried Dodd's Kidney Pills. Three boxes put him on his feet, and a continued treatment cured him entirely. Here is his recent letter:

Dear Sir,—In answer to your request I now write. I am much pleased to be able to say that I have been as sound as ever I was till about two weeks ago, since when I have been a little under the weather, but not with the old complaint. I got another letter from London, Canada, from a woman to ask if the cure as was advertised, and I answered it, as I do this one. I have never ceased to thank Dodd's Kidney Pills for my cure. I saw my old doctor the other day and he said my case was something wonderful.

Yours truly,
SAMUEL KERNOHAN.

Dodd's Kidney Pills are for sale at all druggists, fifty cents a box, or will be sent, on receipt of price, by The Dodds Medicine Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

Sir Windham Hornby was born July 23, 1813, and was the eldest son of Rev. Geoffrey Hornby, rector of Bury, Lancashire. His mother was the Hon. Georgina Byng, daughter of Viscount Torrington. His first wife was Augusta, daughter of Sir William Call, Bart., of Whiteford, County Cornwall, and his second Catharine, widow of Capt. Howard, and daughter of the late Charles Tottenham of Ballycurry, County of Wicklow. Deceased was educated at the Royal Naval College, Portsmouth, was made a lieutenant in 1833, commander 1841, captain 1856, rear-admiral 1865, admiral 1877. He was a prison commissioner from 1877 to 1892.

Lively Riot in Brussels.

Brussels, June 29.—The electoral law introduced into the Belgian Parliament is meeting with much popular antagonism. Last night the neighborhood of the Parliament houses and the palace in Brussels was the scene of serious rioting between the mob and the police and soldiers. Several were wounded on both sides, and many windows and street lamps were smashed.

Duel and Hand-Shake.

Paris, June 29.—A duel was fought yesterday morning with swords between M. Berteaux, Socialist, and M. Millevoye, Republican-Nationalist, as a result of the altercation which took place between them in the Chamber of Deputies on Tuesday. After M. Millevoye had wounded M. Berteaux in the left cheek the two Deputies shook hands.

Fell 10,000 Feet.

Vienna, June 29.—Signor Merighi, an Italian aeronaut, ascended yesterday at Graz, Syria, to a height of 10,000 feet, when his balloon burst and fell. When about 40 feet from the ground, the aeronaut leaped from the car, and was picked up unconscious with a broken leg.

Glorious News

Comes from Dr. D. B. Cargile, of Washita, I. T. He writes, "Four bottles of Electric Bitters cured Mrs. Brewer of scrofula, which had caused her great suffering for years. This shows what thousands have proved—that Electric Bitters is the best blood purifier known. It's the supreme remedy for eczema, tetter, salt rheum, ulcers, boils and running sores. It stimulates the liver, kidneys and bowells, expels poisons, helps digestion and builds up the system. Only 50 cents. Sold by James Lynch, Druggist. Guaranteed.

A PRESENTATION.

To Mr. Percy Ownes From the Choir and Congregation of St. John's Church.

A pleasant reunion was enjoyed last evening by the members of St. John's choir. The occasion was a complimentary one to Mr. Percy W. Owens, the late organist of the church, who was present.

A short programme was given by different members of the choir, after which Rev. J. C. Davidson presented Mr. Owens, on behalf of the choir and congregation, with a handsome sum of money as an expression of their warm feeling towards him.

Mr. Owens was entirely taken by surprise. In expressing his thanks he said that in his three years work he could not remember any disagreements in the choir, and he would always look back with pleasant recollections of his association with St. John's church.

The Rector then expressed his appreciation and that of the congregation in regard to the useful and faithful work of the choir. All its members might feel that their services to the church were most important and warmly appreciated. He recalled past members who had done good service in their time, and congratulated the choir upon its harmony and the bright prospects before it.

Refreshments were then served, and the pleasant evening brought to a close.

ST. PAUL'S ORGAN.

It is to be Thoroughly Renovated and and a new Action Substituted for the one now in use.

Appreciating the efforts of Mr. John Crane and the excellent choir he has gathered about him, the managers of St. Paul's church have decided to completely modernize their organ, and the R. S. Williams Co. has been instructed to make a number of improvements.

The key board is to be removed from where it now stands, to a position immediately behind the minister, and in front of the choir, so that the organist will be facing the latter, and can direct them.

The tracker action now in use in the organ is to be done away with, and will be superceded by the action known as the "tubular pneumatic." While these changes are going on the whole organ is to be taken down and thoroughly overhauled and cleaned.

The management is to be congratulated on seeing the necessity of securing an up-to-date action for their organ, which after the proposed changes have been made can be ranked as a first-class instrument in every respect.

WEDDING BELLS.

Nuptials of Miss Effie Faint to W. G. Barrie.

The residence of Mr. Wm. Faint, Ashburnham, was the scene of a pretty event yesterday evening, when his daughter, Miss Effie was united in the holy bonds of matrimony to Mr. Wm. G. Barrie, the ceremony being performed by Rev. S. J. Shorey of the George street Methodist church.

The bride who was handsomely gowned in a blue silk dress with chiffon trimmings, was assisted by her sister, Miss Clara Faint and Mr. J. S. Stanford of Toronto, acted as best man.

The bridesmaid was prettily attired in sick grenadine with trimming of white satin and chiffon.

At the conclusion of the ceremony the wedding party, including about thirty guests sat down to a most appetizing repast, whilst a fireworks display took place on the lawn.

The newly married couple left on the evening train for Toronto and other western points followed by the good wishes of a large circle of friends.

DEMISE OF GORDON WHITE.

The Sad Event Took Place This Morning.

The many friends of Mr. Gordon P. White will regret to learn of his untimely demise, which sad event occurred at the family residence, No. 273 Charlotte street this morning.

Deceased was very popular among his associates, and was, owing to his kindly manner, a general favourite among all. For some time deceased had been ailing and his death therefore was hardly unexpected. He had, however, until about two weeks ago been able to walk around, when he was confined to his bed.

The funeral will take place tomorrow at 3.30 p.m. to Little Lake cemetery.

THE ARMY AND NAVY VETERANS RETURN HOME.

They Enjoy Themselves Notwithstanding the wet Weather.

The rain continued to come down all day yesterday, and the Army and Navy Veteran excursionists from Toronto, were compelled to stay under cover and enjoy themselves by other than outdoor sports. This was done in a most satisfactory way and the various bayonet exercises and other such events which were gone through with were entertaining indeed.

A number of the excursionists left for Toronto on the 4.45, C.P.R., but the great majority of them remained until after the band concert and went by return special at 10.30 o'clock. A few remained over and will return to Toronto to-day.

Among the excursionists were many Veterans who have seen battle in more than one conflict and not a few relics were displayed of by-gone victories. Among these was a sword which was captured at the battle of Alma, from a Russian soldier who had his leg shattered. Mr. George Pierce, who is custodian of this remarkable relic wears the medals of Inkermann, Sabastapool, Balaklava and Alma.

Sergt. Major Martin of Lindsay, was down for the occasion and extended the greetings of the Veterans of that town.

John Nutt, Grand Organiser of the Army and Navy Veterans' Association, was among the excursionists.

A popular visitor to town was Mr. Alex. Jackson, late of the Prince Albert's Own Hussars.

The excursionists state that notwithstanding the disagreeable weather, they had an excellent time and hope to visit Peterborough sometime again. They were loud in their praises of Lem Felcher, for the attentive manner in which he looked after the arrangements here.

Johnston has spent several months in the vicinity of Lakefield and his forced departure from that neighbourhood is much appreciated by the residents there.

Mrs. Piner who has been in custody on remand for over a week on a charge of insanity has been sent to the Mimico Asylum.

Steamer City of Peterborough.

Ladies, Joyful News!

It is not very often that the ladies of Peterborough have an opportunity of having among them Prof. Dorenwend, Toronto, the world-known hair goods artist, whose skill in the manufacture of both ladies' and gent's wigs, toupees, wavey bang fronts, switches, etc., is second to none. He will be at the Snowden House, Peterborough on Saturday, July 8th with a full sample line of hair good styles. Every attention will be given in each case. Ladies having partly or wholly lost their hair should not miss this opportunity to call at the hotel, where private apartments have been secured and proper demonstration will be given free of charge. The proper style of hair plays an important part to refine the face and effect a younger and handsomer appearance.

We have just passed into stock a range of "Belwarp" and "Trafalgar" Serges in Blue and Black. These goods are warranted to be sea and sun proof.

We have one piece of exceptionally light weight for cool suits.

Why not be comfortable during the hot weather when by wearing one of our Skeleton Suits you do not have to sacrifice appearance to be so.

NEW BISHOP OF LONDON.

SHORT SKETCH OF REV. FATHER McEVAY.

Was Formerly Rector of St. Peter's Cathedral in Peterborough—His Appointment Officially Announced.

The Hamilton Times has this to say concerning Rev. Mgr. McEvay, Vicar-General of that city, and formerly Rector of St. Peter's Cathedral here:

Having been informed by the Times that of the three names submitted to the Pope as those of men worthy to be made Bishop of London, Rev. Mgr. McEvay, Vicar General of this city, was ranked as most worthy, it will surprise nobody to learn that his appointment to that high office is officially announced to-day in the Catholic Record. The Roman Bull making the appointment has been received and arrangements will be made for his consecration at an early date in London.

No clergyman who has ever labored in this part of the country is more worthy of promotion and high honours than Mgr. McEvay. The bishop elect of London is a Canadian. He was born near Lindsay in 1854, and is therefore now in his 46th year. He received his classical education in St. Michael's College, Toronto, and graduated with honours in the University of Toronto. He afterwards studied theology in the Grand Seminary at Montreal, and in 1882 was ordained a priest by the late Archbishop Cleary, in Trenton. In addition to his thorough classical and theological training Mgr. McEvay had in early manhood received a most thorough practical business education.

His first duties as priest were performed in Kingston. When the Diocese of Peterborough was established he was transferred there and was placed in charge of the missions of Bobcaygeon, Galway and Fenelon Falls. When Bishop Dowling succeeded the late Bishop Jamot in Peterborough in 1887, Father McEvay was transferred to Peterborough and appointed rector of St. Peter's cathedral. It was mainly through his zeal and energy under Bishop Dowling, that the property for St. Joseph's Hospital at Peterborough was acquired and parochial and episcopal houses purchased. Then he undertook the renovation of the cathedral, and saw the contracts let for the erection of the new hospital on the grounds that had been procured. One story of the building was completed when he was transferred to Hamilton.

His career here is pretty well known. It has been one of hard work, zeal and energy, accompanied by well-earned honours and distinction. For a short time after coming here he was episcopal secretary, and afterwards rector of the cathedral, a position which he has held right up to the present time. In the meantime he has been promoted to the rank of private chamberlain to His Holiness Pope Leo XIII.; then Domestic Prelate and recently Vicar-General of the diocese. He attended to the affairs of administration successfully, and the bishop entrusted him with many works of importance. The present fine presbytery was built under his direction, as was St. Lawrence Church and the Mortuary Chapel at Holy Sepulchre Cemetery. He had charge of the enlargement of St. Joseph's Convent and Loretto Academy, as well as of St. Joseph's Hospital. The great improvement in the city's separate schools was also largely due to his zeal.

As a priest, he was firm, but gentle, and the same fine qualities were seen in all his doings. He enjoyed the utmost confidence of his bishop and the love and respect of every priest and all the people of the diocese.

Bishop-elect McEvay will not be missed more as a priest than as a citizen. For about ten years he has been a broad-minded, progressive Hamiltonian, and this city is now and ever will be the better for having numbered him among its citizens.

In wishing him success and happiness in his new and exalted position the Times but echoes the sentiment of every citizen, regardless of creed or denomination.

A WOMAN'S PLUCK WINS.

How a Drunken Husband Was Made a Sober Man by a Determined Wife.

She writes: "I had for a long time been thinking of trying the Samaria Prescription treatment on my husband for his drinking habits, but I was afraid that he would discover that I was giving him medicine, and the thought unnerved me. I hesitated for nearly a week, but one day when he came home very much intoxicated, and his week's salary nearly all spent, I threw off all fear and determined to make an effort to save our home from the ruin I saw coming, at all hazards. I sent for your Samaria Prescription and put it in his coffee as directed, next morning, and watched and prayed for the result. At noon I gave him more, and also at supper. He never suspected a thing, and I then boldly kept right on giving it regularly, as I had discovered something that set every nerve in my body tingling with hope and happiness, and I could see a bright future set out before me—a peaceful, happy home, a share in the good things of life, an attentive and loving husband, comforts and everything else dear to a woman's heart, for my husband had told me that whiskey was vile stuff, and he was taking a dislike to it. It was only too true, for before I had given him the full course he had stopped drinking altogether, but I kept giving him the medicine till it was gone, and then sent for another lot to have on hand if he should relapse, as he had done from his promise before. He never has, and I am writing you this letter to tell you how thankful I am. I honestly believe it will cure the worst cases.

We will send our pamphlet free, giving testimonials and full information, with directions how to take or administer Samaria Prescription. Correspondence considered sacredly confidential. Address, The Samaria Remedy Co., Jordan street, Toronto, Ont.

LAST NIGHT'S BAND CONCERT.

The Army and Navy Veterans and the 57th Batt. Bands Play Together.

Last night's band concert which which was given by the combined bands of the Army and Navy Veterans of Toronto, and the 57th Batt. of Peterborough, in the Market Hall, was a most successful affair. The attendance was large and consisted of the music-loving people of Peterborough. The visitors from Toronto have certainly a good musical organization under the able leadership of Mr. R. Richardson, and their playing throughout the entire evening was much appreciated by those present.

The entertainment opened by a march, "Canadian Medley," by the combined bands, conducted by Mr. Richardson. The selection was received with much applause.

The local bandsmen then left the platform and the Army and Navy Veterans' band continued the programme. The overture, Bohemian Girl was a very pretty number and showed much delicate execution on the part of the leading members. The medley on popular songs was a nicely arranged number and included the latest of our popular airs.

As the 57th Batt. band returned to the platform to assist in the next number Prof. Glidden was given an ovation which showed how popular he is with the people of Peterborough. He gracefully acknowledged the compliment. The march, Springfield Commandry was a well rendered selection.

The concert Mazurka—Rainbow—the cakewalk, Eliza Skinner, and the Dunlop Commandry were the three last numbers and were well up-to-date.

At the conclusion of the programme Mr. Richardson, the leader of the visiting band, was warmly congratulated on the excellent manner in which his men acquitted themselves.

SPORTING PASTIMES.

Interesting Items of Local and General Interest.

LACROSSE.

The following team has been selected to represent the Peterboroughs in Brampton on Saturday: Dobbin, McWilliams, Jack McCabe, Jim McCabe, King, Lewis, Bogart, Glover, McDonough, Mein and Brown.

The following team of Juniors will journey to Hastings by bus on Dominion Day to play the return match:—Dineen, Mein, Dillon, Comstock, Morgan, McGrath, Whatley, Whitcroft, Mowry, Hamilton, McClelland, Glover.

Both teams practice to-night and run to-morrow night. Every man is expected to be on the field.

The Seniors leave for Brampton via the Grand Trunk on Saturday morning, Dominion Day, at 8.05 o'clock, arriving in Toronto at 11.30 a.m. and taking dinner there. They leave Toronto at 1 p.m., and arrive in Brampton 50 minutes later. Returning the team leaves Brampton at 6.54 p.m., arriving in Toronto at 7.45 p.m., and remaining in the city until 9.30, when they leave for home via Port Hope from which latter point they take a special for Peterborough arriving in town at midnight. If a sufficient number accompany the boys to Brampton a special car will be set aside for them. The friends of the lacrosse club are therefore asked to journey with the players. A rate of $2.95 has been secured.

The Vaticans Lacrosse Club hereby challenge the Junior Peterboroughs to play an exhibition game on the P. A.A.A. grounds within the next two weeks, a Saturday afternoon preferred.

BASEBALL.

A report has been going around to the effect that the Cobourg baseball team is not coming on Saturday next for their games with the local men, as advertised. This is entirely incorrect as Secretary Hay this morning received a telegram from the manager of the Cobourg team, stating that they will be here without fail. Everyone knows that when Cobourg boys say a thing they mean it, and are therefore a different stamp of men from the Argyles of Toronto. The games on the Fires promise to be the fastest seen this season as the local men have been improving considerably of late and will give a good account of themselves. McCabe is a fine form and will in the morning serve up the curves as in days gone by. Connera who is giving much promise in the box will throw to Graham in the afternoon. The personnel of the team will not be changed from the last game.

The Flour Is Analyzed.

All flour is analyzed for Walter Bates' best bread. If it is not nutritious enough it can't be used. What is used has a large percentage of gluten and other healthful ingredients. Telephone 303 for the North End Bakery.

The Huckleberry Crop.

There will be a general move in a short time by all classes of people from every quarter of every township, to the huckleberry plains "away back." The berry is beginning to colour previous to putting on that blue mould which is peculiar to it; and from what we learn from a settler who breathes the pure air where the huckleberry thrives in its greatest beauty, there will be an average crop this year. The plant and the young berry escaped injury from the late frost, and there has been abundance of rain to make healthy growth.

GOOD FISHING AT CHEMONG.

Two American Visitors Have Excellent Luck.

The report that the fishing at Chemong Lake has not been very good of late, does not seem to be well founded. In fact those who have been indulging in that sport in these waters state that the fishing has not been so good in years. Two American gentlemen from Rochester, who have been staying at Chemong Hotel for some time, are loud in their praises of the fishing out there, and they have good reason to be so. In eight days one of these gentlemen landed 21 nice 'lunge, and the other was lucky in landing 15 fish of the same kind in sixteen days. These were all large fish, and many smaller ones were also caught, which speaks well for the fishing at Chemong Lake.

JULY 1ST AT ST. JOSEPH'S

An Excellent Programme of Sports has Been Arranged.

The first of July will soon be here, and many are just now wondering how and where they will spend the day. Of course there is an interesting and varied programme of attractions to choose from, but by no means the least attractive of these will be the annual picnic at St. Joseph's, under the auspices of the congregation of St. Peter's Cathedral. The noble work to which the proceeds of the picnic will be devoted, is sufficient reason why the public should patronize an entertainment of this sort, but the committee which has the arrangements in charge are not asking for money for nothing in return, and have placed before the public a programme which has not been equalled in some time. The fireworks at night will undoubtedly be the grandest that have ever been seen in Peterborough, and they are costing the committee considerable money in procuring same. The fireworks will include the very latest ideas in that line and can be fully enjoyed from St. Joseph's grounds only.

The lacrosse match in the morning between the Maple Leafs of Campbellford, and the Young Shamrocks will be hotly contested. It will be remembered that on May 24th at Lakefield, the local men after a very close game, won from the Campbellford boys, and the latter are determined to reverse the score on Saturday. The list of races, etc., has been arranged, and the prizes are suitable and valuable.

Altogether the picnic at St. Joseph's this year gives promise to eclipse any yet held in point of attractions and attendance.

BRAIN FAG

Is the result of Overwork and an Exhausted Nervous System. Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Food creates New Brain and Nerve Tissue.

Business and professional men, accountants, stenographers, teachers, students and all brain workers know only too well what it means to have the brain so tired out that concentration of thought is almost impossible.

One-fifth of all the blood in the human body is found in the brain, and unless the blood is pure and rich the brain becomes exhausted for want of proper nourishment.

Dr. A. W. Chase's Blood Food creates new brain and nerve tissue, and produces rich red blood, "the vital fluid" of the body.

All brain workers quickly recognise the merits of this great food cure, and after a few doses enter on their work with new energy and ambition.

Brain fag is unknown to persons whose brain and nerve have been invigorated by the use of Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Food, which is for sale by all dealers at 50c. a box.

WHY THE PAPER DIED.

It Was Too Conscientious For This Wicked, Wicked World.

This is a French story—of Louis Blanc, who, as the world knows, was the most uncompromising man in the world and the most conscientious. He spent about half his life in prison because he would say what he thought was right, regardless of consequences to himself. In one of the brief intervals when he was out of prison, and when his popularity ran high, a paper, l'Homme Libre, was started for him. He was made the sole responsible head of it. One day he took the paper up as soon as it came out, and his eye happened to fall on a conspicuous advertisement, which read thus:

"The best pills are X——'s pills."

Blanc called his secretaire de la redaction, who was as near to being a business manager as the paper had, showed him the "ad." and said to him:

"Don't you think we are taking a good deal on ourselves in making that statement?"

"Why, what do you mean, sir?" the man asked puzzled.

"How do you know that X——'s pills are better than anybody's else's pills?" demanded Blanc. "Have you taken them all?"

"No, sir."

"Then what justification have we in attempting to guarantee the superiority of one kind of pills?"

"But it's an advertisement, and all papers do the same."

"What all papers do is no guide to us. Let us make no statement that we are not perfectly sure of. Let this statement not appear again!"

The advertisement did not appear again—nor for that matter did any advertisements appear very long in the paper. Conducted on so careful a basis l'Homme Libre proved too bright and good for human nature's daily food. But it died a beautiful death.

A TORONTO WITNESS.

Benjamin Bacon of 225 North Lisgar Street Questioned Concerning Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Toronto, June 26.—Among the many who have been cured of lame back, (the commonest symptoms of Kidney Disease) in the Queen City is Mr. Benjamin Bacon of 225 North Lisgar St. He was asked by letter recently whether his cure by Dodd's Kidney Pills was entirely satisfactory.

Here is Mr. Bacon's reply:

Toronto, June 2.

Dear Sir,—I am in receipt of your letter in reference to my cure by Dodd's Kidney Pills. I had a severe pain in the back, was recommended to try Dodd's Kidney Pills, did, and got instant relief.

The Argonauts at Henley.

Henley, England, June 28.—The Canadian four went over half the course on a trial yesterday in the London Rowing Club's shell, in 8 minutes 59 seconds, the best time thus far made.

Yesterday morning the Argonauts' eight occupied their time in making spurts of a minute's duration over the course, and generally they succeeded in doing 39 strokes to the minute.

The Argonauts have decided to borrow the four-oared shell of the London Rowing Club, Clasper's being too small.

Standard Must Pay It.

Montreal, June 28.—An important judgment was rendered yesterday by Judge Lemieux, affecting the responsibility of insurance companies. After the execution of Cordelia Viau and Sam Parslow for the murder of the woman's husband, Poirier, the mother of Poirier sued the Standard Insurance Company for the amount of the policy, $2,000, and yesterday the court decided in the plaintiff's favor. The case will probably be appealed.

Another Big Deal.

Montreal, June 28.—There is some prospect of the Dominion Steel & Iron Company of Sydney purchasing the Wellington nickel mines at Sudbury. This mineral deposit, which has the reputation of being the richest nickel mine outside of New Caledonia, has not been worked for several years. The property before the death of Mr. Duncan McIntyre was valued at about $750,000. However, it is thought that at the present time it could be purchased for considerably less.

HORDES OF HUNGRY LEECHES.

How They Mercilessly Attack Travelers in the Himalayas.

There are some experiences related in his book by Major Waddell which no tourist in the Himalayas would like to repeat. We would all fight shy of the leeches in that damp forest of the Teesta valley. When a leech is famishing, he is only as "thick as a knitting needle." In that condition he is the hungry enemy of every two or four footed creature that crosses his path. And leeches were everywhere. They "stood alert on every twig of the brushwood that overhung our track and on every dead leaf on the path, and as we approached they lashed themselves vigorously to and fro, in the wild endeavor to seize hold of us. The instant they touch their victim they fix themselves firmly and then mount nimbly up by a series of rapid somersaults till they reach a vulnerable point, and then they lose not an instant in commencing their surgical operations.

"Our poor servants and coolies who walked barefooted were, of course, badly bitten. From their ankles and legs little streams of blood trickled all day, and at every few steps they had to stop and pick off these horrid little pests, and it was often difficult to dislodge them." Major Waddell and some of his friends took the precaution of dusting their stockings with tobacco snuff and binding their legs from ankle to knee with "puttees." But the leeches got in all the same, "through the eyelets of our boots." Numbers of them, having drunk all they could hold, "crept down into our boots and there got squashed, and all this had happened quite unconsciously to us.

"It was pitiful also to see the poor cattle, ponies and goats in these leech infested forests. Their legs were always bleeding more or less, and these pests lodge in their nostrils and hang from their eyelids and various parts of their body. To dislodge them from the recesses of the nose, the herdsmen, it is said, keep the poor beasts from water for a day or so, and then, when the animal drinks, the leeches show themselves and may be removed. All the Lepchas have their legs covered with the scars of these leech bites, and the actual loss of blood in this way must be very great. I have no doubt that these pests have something to do with the remarkable absence of four footed game in these regions."

GAY FUNERALS IN BRAZIL.

Death Is Not a Solemn Affair With Rio Janeirans.

One of the first things that strike the eye of the stranger in Rio de Janeiro are some odd looking carriages. You think there must be a circus in town, but on inquiring are told "those are hearses." Owing to the climate a corpse cannot be kept over 24 hours, nor will the law allow it, and so many have their clothes made and funeral invitations printed before they are ready to die.

They do not regard death as seriously in Rio as we do in North America, but lay great stress on the outward show. Even infants are put into mourning for their forty-second cousin, poor and rich alike.

I received an invitation to the funeral of a child of a friend. It was printed on white paper having a scarlet border. Scarlet is the color used by the Brazilians for the funeral decorations of the young, white violet is for adults.

The invitation bar not only the names of the parents of the child, but the grandparents, uncles, aunts and cousins. I was supposed to bring a wreath or other emblem of artificial flowers (real ones are seldom used), and drive to the mourners' house. There I was met by an usher, who took the wreath and led me into the "chamber of death," where the mourners and priests were praying for the departed soul. Every article of furniture, pictures, knicknacks, etc., had been removed from the room, and the coffin was placed in the center upon a bier draped with scarlet cloth, around which the wreaths, etc. were put.

When the prayers had been said, the father and brother carried the coffin to the hearse. The hearse was also scarlet and gold, but, oh, so shabby, and so were the two men on the seat, who were dressed from head to foot in the same bright colors and looked more like organ monkeys than men. A closed cab led the procession, in which sat the priest in all his bright robes, then followed the hearse, after which, in open carriages, the male relatives and friends (no women attend any funerals).

Robbed the Grave.

A startling incident, of which Mr. John Oliver of Philadelphia, was the subject, is narrated by him as follows: "I was in a most dreadful condition. My skin was almost yellow, eyes sunken, tongue coated, pain continually in the back and sides, no appetite—gradually growing weaker day by day. Three physicians had given me up. Fortunately, a friend advised trying Eclectric Bitters; and to my great joy and surprise, the first bottle made a decided improvement. I continued their use for three weeks, and am now a well man. I know they saved my life, and robbed the grave of another victim." No one should fail to try them. Only 50c., guaranteed at James Lynch's Drug Store.

40 Million Bushels Wheat.

Winnipeg, June 28.—F. W. Thompson, manager of the Ogilvie Flour Mills, said yesterday that his agents all over the country report the outlook as for a bumper wheat crop in Manitoba and the Territories. Present indications are for a crop of over 40,000,000 bushels, and, allowing for possible set-backs, it will exceed 35,000,000 anyway. Last year's crop, though unusually large, was only about 32,000,000.

ORCHARD AND GARDEN.

The best time to shape the heads of trees is while they are young.

It is not a good plan to plant the strawberries among the raspberries.

Blackberries are readily propagated by root cuttings three inches long.

The price of fruit is usually fixed by the poorest specimens in the package.

Black raspberries should be kept headed down to about four feet all summer.

Strawberry plants should be given a thorough working a week after planting.

Good drainage makes the soil more porous, drier, looser, more pliable and warmer.

Wet feet will soon produce heart disease in the apple tree. Provide good drainage to prevent it.

Quinces are easily grown and under favorable circumstances bear fruit when a few years old.

A WRONG IDEA OF... DYSPEPSIA

Throws all the Blame on the Stomach—The Real Seat of Trouble is the Intestines—The Permanent Cure is Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

It is an old idea long since exploded that digestion is confined to the stomach. No modern scientist denies that by far the greater part of digestion and the more difficult part takes place in the intestines. This explains why dyspepsia is never really cured by preparations which merely aid stomach digestion and act only on the stomach.

This fact also explains why Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills have been so remarkably successful as a cure for the worst forms of dyspepsia and indigestion.

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills act directly on the kidneys, liver and bowels, and give new tone and vigor to the intestines, and make them able to perform their work of digesting the substances on which the stomach has no effect.

Stomach treatment may do well enough for slight indigestion, but if you have chronic indigestion or dyspepsia of a serious nature you can profit by the experience of scores of thousands who have been permanently cured by using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. One pill a dose, 25c. a box, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

BEE BUZZES.

Queenless bees build drone comb.

Strong colonies protect themselves.

Dry and warm is the rule for keeping honey.

Drones do not usually live so long as workers.

Colonies with young queens are less inclined to build drone comb than those with old queens.

Queens reared in good, strong queenless colonies are just as good as any that are reared naturally.

Whenever the bees begin to lead the drones out or pen them off to starve they are of no more good.

The only way to keep drones successively for any length of time is to keep them in queenless colonies.

When the bees are building comb or raising brood, it is essential that they have plenty of water.

Every time a bee hatches it leaves a thin lining in the cell. For this reason the cells gradually get smaller.

Bees improve the fruit trees. Remember this, and if the orchard seems to bear sparingly get a few hives of bees and put them in it.—St. Louis Republic.

Dickens' Characters.

Dickens simply reveled in Mr Pecksniff and in what is perhaps his greatest creation, Mrs Gamp. That admirable lady is worthy of the creator of Dame Quickly, so masterly, so large is the handling, so flowing in her contour, for Sairey in her way has "an outline" which Mr Mantalini desiderated in a person of quality. Near her, but not actually on her level, is the friendly Mr Swiveller, whose Marchioness exhibits right pathos, which does not harrow, being bathed in humor. Mr Swiveller no doubt is a raff and would have been "proud of the title," but a raff of delicacy, with the kindest heart, and in the matter of poetry he finds in it all the consolation and counsel which, in Mr Matthew Arnold's opinion, make poetry an eligible substitute for religion.

One thinks of those enchanted characters down to Miss Walkes and Quilp's boy with an inexpressible affection. Our hearts are simply peopled with those creations which gathered round Dickens when he wrote like amiable spirits summoned by one sweep of a magician's wand. Could there be weariness in the brain which bubbled up, as it were, with these creatures of delight—with Mrs Todgers and Bailey, Jr., the Mantalinis, and Betsey Prig, and Hannibal Chollop, and the Literary Ladies, and Jefferson Brick?—Andrew Lang in Fortnightly Review.

AN HONEST INDIAN.

A Singular Experience With Arapooish, a Chief of the Crows.

Arapooish, chief of the Crow Indians, was a man of wonderful influence. In "Bonneville's Adventures" an incident is related showing his method of restraining the evil propensities of his braves. Mr. Robert Campbell, while a guest in the lodge of Arapooish, had collected a large quantity of furs and, fearful of being plundered, had deposited but a part in the lodge. The rest he buried.

One night Arapooish entered the lodge with a cloudy brow and, turning to Campbell, said:

"You have more furs with you than you have brought to my lodge?"

"I have," replied Campbell.

"Where are they?"

Campbell described the place.

"'Tis well," said Arapooish. "You speak straight. But your cache has been robbed. Go and see how many skins have been taken."

Campbell examined the cache and estimated his loss to be about 150 beaver skins.

Arapooish summoned his people, reproached them for robbing a guest and commanded that the skins should be brought back. For himself, he would not eat or drink till all had been restored.

Soon the skins began to come in. They were laid down in the lodge, and those who brought them departed without a word. Arapooish sat in one corner silent. Above a hundred pelts were brought in, and Campbell expressed himself satisfied. Not so the Crow chieftain. He fasted all night. In the morning more skins were brought in, and one and two at a time they continued to come through the day.

"Is all right now?" demanded Arapooish.

"All is right," replied Campbell.

"Good! Now bring me meat and drink," said the old chief.

WORRY.

What This Foolish, Enervating Habit Does For Mankind.

Worry is forethought gone to seed. Worry is discounting possible future sorrows so that the individual may have present misery. Worry is the father of insomnia. Worry is the traitor in our camp that dampens our powder, weakens our aim. Under the guise of helping us to bear the present and to be ready for the future worry multiplies enemies within our mind to sap our strength.

Worry is the dominance of the mind by a single, vague, restless, unsatisfied, fearing and fearful idea. The mental energy and force that should be concentrated on the successive duties of the day is constantly and surreptitiously abstracted and absorbed by this one fixed idea. The full, rich strength of the unconscious working of the mind, that which produces our best success, that represents our finest activity, is tapped, led away and wasted on worry.

Worry must not be confused with anxiety, though both words agree in meaning originally, a "choking," or a "strangling," referring, of course, to the throttling effect upon individual activity. Anxiety faces large issues of life seriously, calmly, with dignity. Anxiety always suggests hopeful possibility; it is active in being ready and devising measures to meet the outcome. Worry is not one large individual sorrow; it is a colony of petty, vague, insignificant, restless, imps of fear, that become important only from their combination, their constancy, their iteration.—William George Jordan in The Saturday Evening Post.

A PRESSMAN'S STORY.

Mr. Parnham Tells How Dodd's Kidney Pills Cured His Lumbago.

Toronto, June 19.—The story of the escape of the Globe pressman, Mr. Jno. H. Parnham, from the agonies of Lumbago, by using Dodd's Kidney Pills, is unusually interesting.

Mr. Parnham writes to the Dodd's Medicine Co., Limited, thus: "I am proud to testify to the wonderful efficacy of Dodd's Kidney Pills. About eight months ago I was attacked by severe pains in my back. I consulted an eminent physician, who said I had Lumbago, and told me to take Turkish baths. These did me no good. A friend advised me to try Dodd's Kidney Pills. I did so, and one box cured me. My back has never troubled me since."

In 1863-4.

That the president was alarmed at the threatened revolt in the Republican party there can be no doubt, but he never swerved in his course. He was in the habit of saying, "The way to get an office is to deserve it, and if I do not deserve a re-election I will not mourn at the prospect of laying down these burdens."

When differences in the cabinet became dangerous enough to threaten its dissolution, he ceased to call his constitutional advisers together, and for over a year they had no formal cabinet session. Twenty United States senators called upon him in a body, intent on complaining of Stanton's conduct of the war. The president's sense of humor did not desert him, and he told the story about Blondin crossing Niagara.

"Would you," said he, "when certain death waited on a single false step, would you cry out: 'Blondin, stoop a little more! Go a little faster!' Slow up! Lean more to the north! Lean a little more to the south!' No; you would keep your mouth shut.

"Now, we are doing the best we can. We have as big a job on hand as was ever intrusted to mortal hands to manage. The government is carrying an immense weight, so don't badger it. Keep silent, and we will get you safe across."—James M. Scovel in Lippincott's.

PÆANS OF PEACE.

China wants to send a delegate to the czar's disarmament conference, which shows that Peking has a sense of humor.—St. Paul Dispatch.

We trust our representatives at the peace conference will not neglect to call attention to the superior battleships we build and incidentally mention the excellent marksmanship of our gunners.—Washington Post.

The small states of Europe, including Holland itself, are not enthusiastic over the coming peace congress. So long as the great powers are armed against each other the little ones feel fairly safe.—New York Tribune.

Whether successful or not, the peace conference will be one of the notable events of the day, and it is gratifying to our national pride to consider how much greater a figure we will cut than we would have done a year ago.—Louisville Post.

The German representative to the peace conference recently wrote a pamphlet deriding the czar's views and pointing out in particular how impossible it will be for Germany to tolerate the pretensions of intoxicated America. It is very evident that he is not enamored of peace.—San Francisco Chronicle.

How Deep We May Dig.

Mining engineers agree that the limit to which shafts may be sunk into the earth with the present machinery and equipments is 10,000 feet. The deepest shaft ever dug is the one now in existence in one of the copper mines on Lake Superior. It has a sheer depth of 5,000 feet. Dr. A. C. Lane, the assistant geologist for Michigan, in an article in Mineral Industry on "How Deep Can We Mine?" places the probable limit at 10,000 feet. He sees, however, that enormously rich deposits might lead man to dig to 15,000 feet with profit. The element of danger is not considered in these calculations. In conclusion, he says, "The present knowledge cannot foresee reaching a depth of 20,000 feet."

VERY SUCCESSFUL.

Was the Young's Point Garden Party on the 24th Instant.

The garden party held under the auspices of the Church of England Mission, on the 24th inst., at Young's Point was successful from every point of view. It was held on the beautifully situated grounds of Mr. R. Reid, located on the banks of the Otonabee river, and the participants while enjoying social intercourse, and feasting on the many good things provided for them, had the additional pleasure of viewing one of the most charming bits of scenery in the vicinity.

The rushing river in the foreground, a little farther on the picturesque village of Young's Point, surrounded by beautiful foliage, behind all, the splendour of the setting sun. Each and every stand received good patronage, the fancy goods and articles which were so kindly sent from Toronto, going off especially well.

The supper which was a happy success from the point, either of quality or quantity was supplied through the kindness of the ladies and friends of the mission.

After supper a football match took place between Burleigh and Young's Point teams, score being 3 to 1 in favour of Burleigh. There were several good plays on both sides.

On returning from the match an enjoyable and well rendered programme was given. Those included were:

Mr. G. W. Scrimger...Instrumental solo
Mr. Bruce Graham... ... ...Vocal solo
Miss Scrimger... ... ...Vocal solo
Mr. H. Kearney..... ... ...Vocal solo
Selection by the band..... ....
Mrs. Wilson..... ....Ballad
Miss Lefevre..... ....Vocal solo
Mr. Kearney..... ....Comic song
Miss Scrimger... ... . Vocal solo
Selection by the band... ....
Miss Scrimger..... ... ...Vocal solo
God save the Queen.

After the programme the presentation of the silver cup was made by Mrs. Creswick, to the winners of the football match, accompanied by a few appropriate words from Rev. W. Creswick.

The work on the new church in connection with the mission has been completed and will be proceeded with without further delay. The corner stone will be laid some time in August and the building is expected to be finished in the fall.

MR. FLAVELLE'S GIFT.

"That this committee accepts with very great pleasure the magnificent gift to the city from Mr. J. W. Flavelle of a valuable building and eight pair of pheasants as an addition to the collection of animals, etc., in Riverdale Park; that the thanks of this committee be forwarded to Mr. Flavelle for his generous gift, and that the Park Commissioner be instructed to place a tablet upon the building with the following inscription thereon, "This building and the pheasants are the gift of Mr. J. W. Flavelle."

Lem Felcher applied for a space of not less than 100 yards in circumference, to start a Hotchkiss radial bicycle railway for "health-giving amusement" at High Park. Park Commissioner Chambers and Chairman Score will interview Lem thereanent.

COST OF AN AUTOMOBILE.

New York is on the eve of a veritable invasion of automobiles. There are at present three horseless vehicle companies in the city, with several more being organized. It may not be generally known that there are now just seventy-two automobiles in regular operation in New York, and this number is being added to at the rate of two each week.

The horseless carriage is not nearly as expensive a luxury as is commonly supposed. It is actually cheaper in some respects than to keep a carriage, horses and coachman. There are at present some thirty of the horseless vehicles leased for private use. The rental for one of the machines, including the coachman, batteries and all, is $180 per month. Any one renting an automobile is entitled to the use of the carriage for any twelve hours in the twenty-four, and may ride any distance up to twenty-five miles per day. The rental includes the services of a coachman, who is allowed to wear a private livery. A crest or monogram may, if desired, also be placed on the carriage door.

This rental also includes any repairs which may have to be made, as well as the cleaning of the carriage. A new automobile at present costs in New York from $2,000 to $2,500. In comparing this cost with the expense of keeping horses it must be considered that the automobile does the work of two fast carriage horses, and is available, if desired, for longer distances than it would be safe to drive fine horses every day in the week. On the other hand a pair of fine carriage horses and a fashionable carriage might readily cost nearly if not quite as much as this. The ordinary charge for keeping a horse in New York is $30 a month, and the shoeing and doctoring are extra, say on the average from $5 to $15 a month more. A coachman besides usually receives a salary of at least $40 a month and his board and livery also come out of his employer's pocket.

In ordinary hack work the rates are much the same for the automobiles as for the common hacks. The rates for electric cabs taken on the street are 30 cents per mile for one or two persons. For shopping and visiting the charge is $1 an hour. The patrons of the horseless cabs believe that they have every advantage over the ordinary cabs. The automobiles are as a rule larger and more roomy than other cabs, and are better lighted and heated. The pneumatic tires also give them a smooth gliding motion which is especially grateful on New York's stone-paved streets. The doubts of the durability and speed of the automobile which were held at first, have by this time entirely disappeared. The record for the automobile, it may not be generally known, was made in the great race between Paris and Bordeaux, when the winning vehicle ran a distance of 750 miles, carrying four persons, and maintaining a good speed of sixteen miles an hour.

NOTICE TO BELL TELEPHONE CO. SUBSCRIBERS.

The Subscribers' Directory for 1899 will be delivered this week, and subscribers are asked upon receiving new list to destroy all previous lists.

It will be noticed that a large number of the subscribers' numbers have been changed, and it will be necessary to give the number from new lists so as to avoid mistakes. Operators will not pay any attention to name; numbers must be given in every case.

Subscribers must not allow non-subscribers to use their telephones. It impedes the service, is an injustice to those who pay for their telephones, and is a violation of the contract between subscriber and the company.

OTTAWA EXHIBITION.

Will be Held This Year From Sept. 11th to 23rd.

The Central Canada Fair this year will undoubtedly be the best ever given in Eastern Canada. Having decided, at the request of patrons, to extend the Fair for two weeks, the directors are sparing no expense to make the Fair equal to any held in Canada. With this object in view there has been large expenditures on new buildings and improvements, the prize lists have been increased while an unusually excellent lot of specialities is being secured.

A feature of the show this year will be the art exhibit, for which a new building has been secured. All the leading artists in Ontario will show pictures, and the display will equal any ever made in Canada. In the Ladies' department the directors have made separate classes for professionals and amateurs, so that a pupil will not be obliged to compete against his or her teacher as heretofore. Moreover a class for children under thirteen years has been added.

A new horticultural hall has been erected with a running fountain in the centre, and electric light effects on the falling spray will make this building one of the most attractive of the Fair.

The exhibit in the dairy department will likely be the largest and best ever seen in Canada, for the directors have not only increased the prize list but have made arrangements to place all cheese and butter exhibited and remaining unsold at the close of the fair in cold storage until disposed off by association at seller's own price.

In the horse department special classes, open to farmers only, for carriage horses and heavy draught horses, have been added to the prize list, and also a class for French Canadian horses. There will doubtless be a very large display of horses.

A special prize for Canadian bred Shropshire Down sheep has been put in the premium list in the sheep department.

The main hall is being re-arranged, now that a separate building has been erected for ladies' work and prospective exhibitors say that they will make the display the finest that has been.

The specialties will include trotting and running races, for which $3,000 in prizes will be given.

A large lake is being constructed in the lacrosse field in front of the grand stand and there will be several grand water specialties, including a log rolling competition, for which large money prizes are being offered.

Already one sensational attraction has been secured for the Fair. Miss Ida Le Roy, balloonist, will ascend in a common balloon, from which she is fired and makes a parachute descent.

As usual there will be a night spectacular, and the one selected for this year, "The Bombardment of Pekin," is said to be the finest ever produced by Messrs. Hand & Teale, of Hamilton, who have so successfully staged such productions in the past. It is a sea and lake spectacular and the lake in front of the grand stand, which will be 200 feet long, 50 feet wide and three feet deep, will be utilized in the production of the piece. Several hundred soldiers of the Capital will take part in the representation of the scenery, which will be exceptionally fine. An unusually grand display of fireworks will take place each evening directly in front and on the lake, and the sight undoubtedly will be most beautiful.

Another feature will be military exercises by Ottawa's school cadets.

An addition is being made to the grand stand, and when completed the stand will accommodate 15,000 people.

The directors further announce that this year all who buy a ticket to the grounds after 7 o'clock in the evening will get a ticket to the grand stand free of charge.

The Central Canada Fair will open this year on Sept. 11th and close on the 23rd.

Mr. Ed. McMahon, the secretary, will supply all information required.

ALL-BRITISH CABLES.

Monopolists Protest Against State Competition.

THEY GOT LITTLE COMFORT.

The Imperial Secretary of State for the Colonies and the Chancellor of the Exchequer Showed No Sign of Receding From Their Stand on the Pacific Cable Matter.

London, June 30.—The Secretary of State for the Colonies, Mr. Joseph Chamberlain, and the Chancellor of the Exchequer, Sir Michael Hicks-Beach, received yesterday afternoon a deputation for the Eastern Telegraph Company. The Marquis of Tweedale and others expressed objection to the state competition with private enterprise, referring to the proposed Pacific cable, and Sir Michael Hicks-Beach promised to furnish a written reply. In the meantime, he reminded the deputation that the Pacific cable project was not new, and was one the Government had a perfect right to undertake.

Mr. Chamberlain said that while customers justly complained of the existing high rates, it was mainly for the sake of an all-British cable connecting all portions of the Empire that the Government entertained the present project.

RIOTING IN BRUSSELS.

Belgium Rent With Dissension Over the Electoral Law—Tumult in the Chamber of Deputies.

Brussels, June 30.—The storm of verbosity was resumed in the Chamber of Deputies yesterday. The Socialists hurled anathemas at M. J. Van Denpeereboom, who endeavored to explain the action taken by the police on Wednesday, and the Socialists persistently interrupted and insulted the Premier, reproaching him with being responsible for the conflicts between the people and the police. Later it was announced that King Leopold had a long conference with MM. Van Denpeereboom, Bergeron and Beernaert, who has been summoned from The Hague.

It is reported that MM. Van Denpeereboom will resign.

The Liberals, being in a hopeless minority in Parliament, abandoned the idea of fighting the bill by Parliamentary methods, and started a campaign of obstruction.

Yesterday the city wore a completely revolutionary aspect. Tram cars were overturned and used as a barricade. The commander of the Civic Guard asked to be supplied with 15,000 cartridges. Street lamps were smashed, the rioters pricked the horses of the gendarmes with needles, and many of the animals fell with their riders. Several inoffensive onlookers were injured by the swords of the police.

The scene in the Chamber quite beggars description. Van Denpeereboom was dubbed "Murderer," "Bandit" and "Minister of civil war," by the Socialists, who declared that they would appeal to the King.

THERE'S NO RISK

In buying where the "money back" style is lived up to. Nothing could be simpler; nothing could be easier. Pick the goods as carefully as you can. Get every possible help from the salesperson. YOU KNOW that no one has an atom of interest in selling you a single thing that is not

1.—Worth every cent you pay for it.
2.—Likely to satisfy you completely.

Every interest of the store is against selling you goods that will not please you. It would simply mean cost to the store to sell you such things; it might mean loss of your custom. And so the only thought is to give you good money's worth and goods that you will welcome in the "home-quiet" or with friends at your elbow.

It would be folly to charge you too much,
It would be folly to sell you too much.
It would be folly to deceive you in any way, either as to styles, or fitness, or value. The "money back" policy knocks every selfish reason for sharp dealing out of storekeeping. A child can buy in such a store as safely as the sharpest shopper of them all.

Our "Cash Only" method insures the littlest of little prices to us in the markets, and to you at the counters.

TO CIVILIZE CHINA.

Dr. Gilbert Reid's Institute Meets With Great Favor.

London, June 30.—The United States is taking the lead in the foundation of the new international institute at Pekin, which owes its origin to Dr. Gilbert Reid. The object of the institute is to place both the newest inventions of Europe and America, as well as the latest ideas and sciences, within reach of the mandarins and learned classes of Pekin, without any idea of religious proselytism. As far as possible each great power is to have a museum of its own, forming part of the institute, and $100,000 has already been raised for the purpose in this country, $60,000 in Germany, while now Dr. Reid has addressed circulars to the various foreign Governments, appealing for financial support. The circulars are strongly endorsed by each of the foreign envoys in Pekin. Pekin is not only the administrative headquarters of China, but also the intellectual centre of the empire, and it is anticipated that through this international institute the work of civilization will be rapidly extended and fostered throughout China.

TITHES BILL READ TWICE.

House of Commons Put It Through by a Good Majority.

London, June 30.—The House of Commons last evening by a vote of 314 against 176 passed the second reading of the Tithe Rent Charges bill, which relieves the clergy of certain local rates. The bill has been hotly opposed by certain Liberal-Unionists, and the Government's large majority is due to the abstention of the Irish members.

Mr. George Whitele, Conservative member for Stockport since 1898, has resigned his seat as a protest against the bill.

MACHINERY HALL GONE.

Toronto Industrial Exhibition Company's Big Building Destroyed by Fire.

Toronto, June 30.—Machinery Hall at the Toronto Industrial Exhibition grounds was completely destroyed by fire yesterday afternoon.

The blaze was discovered at 4.15 o'clock. In 15 minutes the building which was a frame structure, was completely enveloped in flames, and the firemen found the building almost a total wreck on their arrival. Agricultural Implement Hall was slightly damaged. The shafting, pulleys and an engine in Machinery Hall were also completely wrecked. The origin of the fire is supposed to have been a spark from a passing engine. The wind took the flames along with great rapidity. Machinery Hall was valued at $18,870. The insurance on the building was $6,000, and on the boilers, engines and shafting $3,250. The loss on the latter reaches some $5,000.

BULLET WENT THROUGH THE WALL.

A Tottenham Boy Very Seriously Hurt by the Shot.

Tottenham, Ont., June 30.—A serious, if not fatal, accident took place in this village last evening. A man was practising shooting with a revolver in an old wooden building on Queen street, and one of the bullets went through the wall and struck little George Keogh, son of Francis Keogh of Adjala, who was playing football in an adjoining field. The bullet entered upper the part of the left chest and lodged in the lungs. He was carried into the house of his grandfather, Mr. John Kelly, where he was attended by Dr. Campbell. The result is doubtful. The boy is about 14, and was in the village attending the leaving examinations. Arrests are likely to follow.

The papers of incorporation will be filed in New Jersey within the next week by James H. Hoyt, of this city. This company will be in the nature of a trust, and will embrace all the tug and towing companies between Buffalo and Chicago and Duluth. The headquarters of the company will be here.

FRIDAY, JUNE 30, 1899.

DOMINION DAY.

To-morrow, Saturday, July 1st, is the thirty-second anniversary of Confederation. This day is worthy of commemoration apart from the sentimental consideration of its marking the anniversary, of the unification of the scattered provinces of British North America and converting them into a homogeneous nationality. Those who can remember the condition of the country at the time of of Confederation, who see the growth and advancement or rather development of Canada, will feel a thrill of pride in their country and feel that he has just cause for regarding its national birthday with enthusiasm. The present condition of Canada is in sharp contrast to that of thirty years ago. The country was then in leading strings, simply a colonial dependency, without any national status with hardly a recognizable national spirit and was regarded by the mother country with barely patronizing tolerance and by our nearest neighbour simply as spoil for absorption. Now Canada has her place among the nations, her status is recognized and her sentiments, interests, inclinations and welfare are deferred to in all international negotiations between the mother country and other nations. Where her interests are concerned Canada has a potent voice in diplomatic discussions and "what she says goes." By her own self reliance and by force of real merit she has made herself respected by the mother country in whose regard she holds first place and is treated more as a grown up daughter then, as was the erstwhile way, as a child in leading strings. In the past generation Canada has made solid progress, which is very largely a development; her immense and practically unbounded resources are just entering on the stage of development which their importance demands. Our progress may have been slow, but it has had and possesses now the quality of solidity and permanence. Our population has not increased in proportion to other advances and that is, in a sense, satisfactory. New countries increase in population in two ways, by natural reproduction and by immigration. It has been distinctly to the advantage of the character of the population of Canada that immigration has not progressed with a rapidity beyond the assimilating power of the Anglo Saxons element. The consequence is that we have a more homogenous people, more imbued with the Anglo Saxon spirit, than would have been possible had hordes of foreign immigrants descended upon the country "like the wolf on the fold," introducing a dangerous foreign element too numerous to have the undesirable characteristics of the older lands from which they came, neutralized by contact with our advanced civilization and freer and higher civil and moral conditions. As a result of our slower growth we now have a population, the most law-abiding, the most intelligent, and with the strongest moral fibre of any country in the world. Our national resources are unsurpassed in variety, value and extent. Our civil institutions are above comparison with any other country—the largest liberty, enjoyed with the minimum of abuse, a happy medium between the rigid civil conditions of European monarchies more or less absolute and always tyrannical to a greater or less degree, and the civil and social latitudinarianism of the free-and-easy republic. While for practical purposes we are independent, we rejoice in the tie of affection that unites us by a bond as soft as silk but is strong as steel, to the mother land. We are proud to be a part of the great British Empire, proud of its stainless sovereign, whose birth-day we celebrated a few days ago, and proud that the Canadians as well as children of the empire, we can blend without a discordant jar, the tones of our two-fold relation—loyalty to the empire and patriotic devotion to our native or adopted land, as expressed in the lines:

God Save the Queen and Heaven bless
The Maple Leaf forever.

THE TRAFFIC AGREEMENT WITH THE GRAND TRUNK.

The Dominion Government, in its desire to make the Intercolonial a paying railway is met, not with patriotic cooperation by the Conservative Opposition, but by every obstructive device that partizan malice, and a desire for party advantage at the expense of the country's interests, can suggest. The obstructive element in the Commons could not kill the bill approving of the arrangement in regard to traffic with the Grand Trunk, therefore the "job" has been delegated to the Senate. The grounds upon which objection is taken are that the agreement with the Grand Trunk will give that road and its United States connections "such control of the Intercolonial and its connections as to practically constitute leasing the Government railway to the Grand Trunk for 99 years." As the matter stands, it is part of the agreement between the Government and the Grand Trunk Railway Company that the Grand Trunk shall transfer to the Intercolonial Railway at Montreal all traffic for the Maritime provinces and eastern Quebec, instead of carrying the traffic over its own line from Montreal to Levis, and there transferring it to the Intercolonial. Since the contract was signed with the Government this working freight arrangement has been in actual operation. There was a rumour some weeks ago that as soon as the contract was sanctioned by Parliament the Grand Trunk Railway would terminate this working arrangement and again resume the transportation of freight to Levis over its own line to the loss of the Intercolonial, which would lose the benefit of the long haul upon the traffic delivered it by the Grand Trunk Company. It appears that this arrangement as to the transfer of freight at Montreal instead of Levis was not included in the original contract, but was part of a supplementary agreement. Mr. Foster, greatly struck with the value of the arrangement to the country, thought that to guard against any possible sharp practice on the part of the Grand Trunk Railway Company, this arrangement should be embodied in the original contract. The supplementary agreement, which was not the work of subordinate officials, but of the Minister of Railways, cannot be set aside by the Grand Trunk Railway Company or got over; what Mr. Foster wished to guard against was any surrender by the Government of this advantage, and to this end he wanted these terms placed under the control of Parliament only by including them in the original contract, which Parliament was about to sanction. It will be seen, therefore, that there never was the remotest danger of the Grand Trunk getting control of the Intercolonial Railway under the terms of an agreement made by subordinate officers. The Hamilton Times points out, "Freight despatched from any point on the Intercolonial east of Montreal to any point in Canada west of Montreal is to be transferred to the Grand Trunk at Montreal—unless the shipper indicates that he wants the freight to be handed over to some other road at Montreal. That is exactly what would occur if there was no such clause as the one the Canadian Pacific is presenting as an excuse to justify the Senate's interference with the Government's project to get the Intercolonial extended to Montreal. The shipper has the whole matter in his own hands. He can direct that his goods on arrival at Montreal per the Intercolonial shall be forwarded thence by water, by G. T. R., by C. P. R., or by any of the twenty roads which may be constructed during the next 100 years. But if he is indifferent about it—if he gives no instruction to the Intercolonial Railway who receives his goods—then the goods arriving at the Grand Trunk station in Montreal in an Intercolonial car, will be transferred to a Grand Trunk car in the same Grand Trunk station, and will go forward over the Grand Trunk rails to the point of destination." There is therefore no reason for the opposition shown that will appeal to a desire for a good traffic arrangement with the Grand Trunk Railway, except the wish of a great competing railway corporation to have in its own interests, the bargain nullified by the Senate; and the Opposition, to curry favour with this corporation and to thereby make political capital, and also to secure a negative party advantage by embarrassing the Government, is doing all in its power to bolster up the Senate to the point of defeating the bill. In spite of all party hostility, the arrangement with the Drummond County Railway, as with the Grand Trunk, is a good one and in the interests of the country; and the fact that with the admission of the Government railway into Montreal, a great increase of traffic has resulted, demonstrates the advantgae of the bargain and justifies the action of the Government. The Liberal Government in its management of the Intercolonial has made it pay—a striking contrast to the deficits that prevailed during the Conservative management of eighteen years.

Our evening contemporary, the Review, in common with other rabid Conservative sheets, as is making a great ado about the alleged corruption in West Elgin, which nobody defends and all deplore. The Review and its confreres talk as if this was the first case of political wrong doing. They are expected to turn the circumstances to the best political account but they should not forget—say—the Bribery Plot of 1884 in which the Conservatives conspired to buy up a whole legislature. Corruption en bloc was considered a good deal easier and cheaper than manipulating individual constituencies. Our contemporary had no indignation on tap when the Pulp-tower plot was exposed, any more than it had in the Queens, N.B., seat steal, the Caron and Langevin cases, the Manitoba election frauds in the Conservative interest, the North Ontario ballot stuffing of 1893, the Calder case in South Ontario and a score of other "precedents" of Conservative corruption. The modern political Pharisees are as gruesomely shameless in "thanking God that they are not as other men are" as were their prototypes, so scathingly rebuked by the Divine Man.

A CHILD'S SUFFERING.

MR. WM. McKAY, CLIFFORD, N. S., TELLS OF HIS DAUGHTER'S CURE.

She was First Attacked with Acute Rheumatism, Followed by St Vitus' Dance in a Severe Form—Her Parents Thought She Could Not Recover.

Wm. McKay, Esq., a well known and much respected farmer and mill man at Clifford, Lunenburg, Co., N.S., relates the following wonderful cure effected in his family by the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills: "About three years ago, my little daughter Ella, then a child of ten years, was attacked with acute rheumatism. It was a terribly bad case; for over a month she was confined to her bed, and during most of the time was utterly helpless, being unable to turn in bed, or in fact to move at all without help. She could not even hold anything in her hand. All power or use of her limbs had entirely gone and the pain she suffered was fearful. By constant attention after a month or so she began to gain a little strength, and after a while improved enough to be taken out of bed and even walked around a bit after a fashion by means of a support. But now she was seized with a worse ailment than the rheumatism. Her nervous system gave way, appeared completely shattered. She shook violently all the time, would tumble down in trying to walk. In attempting to drink from a cup hand shook so as to spill the contents all over herself. She was a pitiable object. The doctors were called to her again and said she had St. Vitus' dance in the worst form. She took the medicine prescribed and followed the instructions of her physician for some time, but without apparent benefit. She wasted away almost to a skeleton and we gave her up for lost. About this time I read in a paper an account of a great cure of nervousness effected by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and resolved to try them. I bought six boxes and the little girl began using them. The good effects of the first box were quite apparent and when four boxes were used, she seemed so much improved, that the pills were discontinued. She kept on improving and after a few weeks was as well as ever. We were told that the cold would not last, that it was only some powerful ingredient in the pills which was deceiving us and after a time the child would be worse than ever. All this has proved false, for now nearly three years she has had unbroken good health, nerves as strong as they are made, and stands school work and household work as well as a mature person. We have no doubt about Dr. Williams' Pink Pills restoring to us our little girl, whom we looked upon as doomed to an early grave."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are a specific for diseases arising from an impoverished condition of the blood or shattered nerves, such as St. Vitus dance, locomotor ataxia, rheumatism, paralysis, sciatica, the after effects of la grippe, headache, dizziness, erysipelas, scrofula, etc. They are also a specific for the troubles peculiar to the female system, building anew the blood and restoring the glow of health to pale and sallow cheeks. Protect yourself against imitations by insisting that every box bears the full name Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. If your dealer does not have them they will be sent, post paid, at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50, by addressing the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

THE CASE IS SMASHED

Mr. Sifton Deals With Sir Hibbert Tupper's Charges.

THE OLD STORY REPEATED.

Nearly All the Allegations Were Served Up and Answered in the Former Debate on the Subject—The Philip Leases Were Never Granted—A Tremendous Scene in the House.

Ottawa, June 30.—In the House yesterday afternoon Mr. Fielding introduced the following bills from the Senate, which were given first readings: An act respecting loan companies, and an act to further amend the winding-up act.

Yukon Telegraph Line.

In reply to a question by Mr. Foster, the Minister of Finance stated that the order-in-council authorizing the construction of the Government telegraph line into the Yukon was signed on March 13, 1899; that $15,000 was advanced to Mr. Charleson on his departure to commence the work of construction of the line, and not $13,000, as stated in error the other day; that the amount would be accounted for by duly certified vouchers; also that tenders for the wire were invited, and that of W. T. Charleson of Ottawa, being the lowest, was accepted, other supplies being purchased by the department without tender.

Drydock Construction.

Mr. Fielding finally moved the resolution providing for an amendment to the act to encourage the construction of drydocks, so that the amount of assistance given by the Government may be increased.

CRUSHING REPLY BY MR. SIFTON.

A Dramatic Scene as He Smashes Sir Hibbert's Case.

Of Mr. Sifton it may freely be said that he repeated his work of three months ago when he annihilated the charges in Sir Hibbert's indictment. The Minister of the Interior is no profligate user of time at any juncture; yesterday afternoon, in place of frittering away nine hours, as did Sir Hibbert, he used but two hours and a quarter in his work of dismembering and destroying Sir Hibbert's statements, misstatements, instructions, innuendoes, and gusses.

The Only Personal Charge.

It will be remembered that the only charge of a personal nature brought against the Ministry by Sir Hibbert was the charge that Mr. Sifton had been "guilty of favoritism and partiality in the administration of the laws and regulations of the Yukon." By way of establishing this Sir Hibbert in his formal motion set forth that Mr. Sifton had granted a number of dredging leases, etc., to his former partners, A. E. Philip and A. D. Cameron, and proceeded to copy from a public return (No. 83) the description of the mining areas so leased. It was upon this evidence that he charged a Minister of the Crown with maladministration. Sir Hibbert had jumped at the conclusion that because in this public return these applications stood in the name of Mr. Sifton's former partners, the Minister must have granted them; whereas the return sets forth, as shown in each and every case, that the applications had been unsuccessful, and that Mr. Sifton's old partners had got nothing from him or from the department. Holding Sir Hibbert's motion in one hand, and return No. 83 in the other, Mr. Sifton made a dramatic and crushing denial of this, the only charge which Sir Hibbert had levelled at the personal honor of the Minister. Lest anyone might suppose that the compiler of the return had blundered, Mr. Sifton read a letter from Mr. Ryley, chief clerk of the mines branch, showing that the records of the department agreed with the return, or rather that the return agreed with the records, so that Sir Hibbert had elaborately brought a grave personal accusation against Mr. Sifton which the public document upon which he had based it absolutely disproved.

An Extraordinary Blunder.

Both sides of the House were astonished that Sir Hibbert should have fallen into this extraordinary blunder. The Opposition, it could be seen on their faces, felt that Sir Hibbert's arraignment of the Government had been seriously discredited by this exposure of his surprising carelessness.

The Scene in the House.

It is no exaggeration to say that such a scene as that which occurred when Mr. Sifton, at one blow, so to speak, smashed his accuser, has not been witnessed in the Canadian Parliament. There was tremendous cheering on the Liberal side, not pounding on desks merely, but genuine cheers, while it is putting it mildly to say that the Opposition were embarrassed. They looked toward Sir Hibbert, apparently expecting an explanation, but he had none to make. The return speaks for itself. He had spotted the applications standing in the names of Mr. Sifton's old partners, and, without taking the trouble to examine the column of the page, which shows that the applications had been refused, concluded that they had got everything they wanted from Mr. Sifton.

Mr. Sifton commenced by saying that in all the length of his speech, and in the long resolution he had introduced, Sir Hibbert had not made one charge of personal dishonesty against him (Sifton) or any official in the Yukon. He challenged the member for Pictou (Tupper) to rise in his place and on his responsibility as a member of Parliament make a charge of personal wrongdoing against him (Sifton), and pledged himself that if this was done the matter would be referred to the committee on privileges and elections in less than 15 minutes. (Government cheers.) He criticised Sir Hibbert's speech and resolution at great length, stating that there was nothing whatever in them but a rehash of the newspaper yarns which had appeared last summer. He ridiculed some of the charges, such as Major Walsh being connected in any way with a claim located by his cook, and commented severely on the vague and indefinite nature of the so-called charges. He defended the investigation made by Mr. Ogilvie, of whom he spoke in the highest terms of praise. He said that all of the evidence had not been received, and that when it was, it would be carefully examined, pledging himself that if anything was found to show any necessity for further investigation, further investigation would be had. He held that the attack on him was a political one, and ridiculed the idea of questions of governmental policy or departmental administration being referred to a commission of judges.

Tribute to a Brave Man.

Continuing, he paid a high tribute to Major Walsh, who, he didn't believe, had done anything that was corrupt or improper. As to his private character he (Mr. Sifton) didn't want to go into that, but thanked God his position was that of defending a brave man rather than to traduce his character and follow him into private life. (Continued cheers.) The hon. member had cited the case of the Pacific Railway commission, but that was a commission appointed by Sir John Macdonald to investigate the conduct of his opponents. He had cited, too, the case of the Curran bridge, but in that case the Minister just sent down an officer of his own department to investigate, and that was what the Government was doing in the case of the Yukon. But there was no investigation into the attempts of Tory friends to steal the half-breeds' homesteads, which led to the Northwest rebellion, nor to investigate the plundering and robbery by some of the men who were sent up to put down the rebellion, or when a Minister admitted he took $35,000 from a railway subsidy to corrupt electors with. What involved the fair name of Canada, which the hon. gentleman had talked so much about, was the character of her public men, not whether an Indian dog driver took in Dawson City, or a cook got a mining claim. "The fair name of Canada," said Mr. Sifton, in conclusion, "has never suffered when a Liberal administration was in power, and if there is no change of Government, it will not be likely to suffer again." (Prolonged cheers.)

Mr. Wallace.

Mr. Clarke Wallace said that in the whole history of Parliament no more serious charges had ever been made against Ministers than those formulated by the member for Pictou (Sir C. H. Tupper) against the Minister of the Interior, the Postmaster-General and the Minister of Customs. He severely criticised the light and airy manner in which the Minister of the Interior had dealt with the very grave charges of wrongdoing in the Yukon, which had been so clearly set forth in the resolution, and claimed that the Government had shown the utmost recklessness in the administration of the Yukon and an utter disregard for everything except a railway scheme, behind which was hidden the most disgraceful piece of robbery that had ever scandalised the history of Canada.

The Premier's Reply.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier said that Mr. Sifton had made a full and complete answer to the charges made in the resolution, and argued that with reference to the allegations against Judge Dugas, Sir Hibbert Tupper had acted improperly in introducing his name at all, unless he was prepared to impeach him. Major Walsh, he said, was no longer in the service of the Government, and he characterized the allegations that that officer had been guilty of intemperance and immorality as wanton cruelty. He said that if, when the full report on the investigation by Mr. Ogilvie was received, it was considered by the Government to be insufficient, or unsatisfactory, a further investigation would be held. As to the personal charges against Mr. Sifton, the only one of any account was that he had been guilty of favoritism and partiality, and he did not think that very serious. He denied that Philip was a partner of the Minister of the Interior in a dredging lease, and said that if anyone could show that Philip had obtained dredging leases in collusion with the Minister of the Interior, a committee of investigation would be appointed without a moment's hesitation.

Mr. Foster's Remarks.

Hon. Mr. Foster said the Government pretended to want more facts, but had not attempted to disprove those adduced by the member for Pictou. The statement had been made that the investigation would not stop until every allegation of mismanagement and misconduct had been probed to the bottom, and if that was acted up to, he thought the Government had a pretty long and tough job ahead of it. The whole subject of Yukon maladministration, he claimed, should be thoroughly examined into, and this could only be done by an independent and impartial tribunal, with full authority, such as was proposed by the member for Pictou.

Sir Louis Davies.

Sir Louis Davies followed at considerable length in a general defence of himself and his colleagues, stating that no wrongdoing had been shown, and that the charges made were vague and groundless.

The debate was continued by Mr. McNeill, Mr. Paterson and Mr. Powell, who was speaking at 2 o'clock. Messrs. Davin, Sproule and one or two others are expected to speak, so that it will be 4 o'clock before a division is reached.

A Champion for Dugas.

Montreal, June 30.—Lawrence A. Wilson is on the rampage. He has his accepted cheque for $5,000 and will summon Sir Charles Hibbert Tupper to put up or shut up. He will write a letter to the press and say if it can be proved that Judge Dugas has committed one illegal act he will forfeit the cheque in question.

A PRESSMAN'S STORY.

Mr. Parnham Tells How Dodd's Kidney Pills Cured His Lumbago.

Toronto, June 19.—The story of the escape of the Globe pressman, Mr. Jno. H. Parnham, from the agonies of Lumbago, by using Dodd's Kidney Pills, is unusually interesting.

Mr. Parnham writes to the Dodd's Medicine Co., Limited, thus: "I am proud to testify to the wonderful efficacy of Dodd's Kidney Pills. About eight months ago I was attacked by severe pains in my back. I consulted an eminent physician, who said I had Lumbago, and told me to take Turkish baths. These did me no good.

"A friend advised me to try Dodd's Kidney Pills. I did so, and one box cured me. My back has never troubled me since."

Buy Shares in the Hornblende Gold Mine

WHY?

BECAUSE the Company owns six claims in the heart of the famous Michipicoten District. These claims lie between the rich claims "Mackay" and "Jubilee." For one-half interest in the latter $100,000.00 in cash was offered.

BECAUSE the ore is free milling and easy to treat and will not need to be shipped, the Company having already purchased a stamp mill and will crush the ore taken from the shaft and use the proceeds for further development. In this way it is expected to make the mine almost self supporting even while being developed.

BECAUSE the veins widen out as the shaft goes deeper, disclosing more ore and better values. The assays gave $17.50 at the surface, $25 at six feet and $30 at ten feet.

BECAUSE the Directorate is a strong and honest one and shareholders may rely on getting all the mine produces. This is a very important point. Read the names of Directors below. These Directors will get no pay for their services until the mine is on a dividend paying basis.

BECAUSE abundant provision has been made in shares for Treasury purposes. The mine and expenses so far are all paid for and there remain in the Treasury 250,000 shares.

BECAUSE while this limited amount of stock lasts, which will be only a few days, the price will be 25c. Allotment will be made in the order in which applications come in. If you want a block while it is going, do not delay, but send in your application at once.

5 RELIABLE PEOPLE ENDORSE

MRS. C. B. JONES, OF 423 1-2 WELLINGTON STREET, LONDON, ONT., writes:

"I have long been troubled with extreme weakness of the nerves and general debility. I had frequent severe pains in my head, and was so nervous that I would almost scream if anyone came near me suddenly. My nerves were so shattered and unstrung that it was almost impossible for me to sleep at night. Rest I could not obtain.

"I was in a state of nervous and physical prostration when I commenced taking Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, which I got from W. T. Strong, our well-known druggist, in November last.

"I began to gain strength of body and nerve force from the time I commenced their use. They have restored my nerves to a healthy condition. They enable me to sleep well and get rest, building up my entire system.

"Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills are a splendid restorative for weakness and physical exhaustion, and as such I heartily recommend them."

MR. A. D. WILSON, OF CLEARWATER, MAN., is emphatic in his statement regarding this remedy. It has cured him completely, and he does not hesitate to give a history of his case for the benefit of fellow-sufferers. This is what he says:

"I can recommend Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills as the best thing I know of for weak and nervous people. When I first commenced taking them I was nervous and easily startled, sometimes I would start in my sleep and it would be a long time before I could get to sleep again. Shortness of breath and dizzy spells would come over me at times and often I thought my end was near.

"Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills have changed all that. They have strengthened my nerves and built up my health so that I am a new man.

"I consider them simply wonderful, and never fail to recommend them to my friends and neighbours who are in need of a remedy to strengthen their heart and nerves, tone up their system and enrich and purify their blood."

MRS. E. JAMES, 36 ARCADE ST., MONTREAL, QUE., is one of those who found Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills an effectual remedy for heart weakness and nervous troubles, and this is what she says:

"For several years I have been troubled with my heart and nerves. My heart would palpitate terribly, and when it did so I could not mount the stairs. I would have severe attacks of despondency, and got so bad at last that for two weeks I could not go upstairs to my room. My blood became weak and impoverished, which I believe was due to an attack of la grippe. I would have a dull heavy pain in my heart together with terrible headaches, and took remedy after remedy, but without avail.

"Then I heard of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, and started taking them. From the very first I gained rapidly, and am now better than I have been for years. My heart and nerves are all right, and my whole system thoroughly toned and invigorated. The distressing symptoms from which I suffered have completely left me."

MR. S. DOBIE, 77 OXFORD ST., TORONTO, ONT., ex-manager of the envelope department of the W. J. Gage Co., says:

"Prior to January last, when I first commenced taking Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, I had for a long time been in a state of almost complete physical and nervous prostration, combined with frequent palpitation of the heart, shortness of breath, weakness and general ill-health, all of which was caused by too close application to my work.

"But from the time I began taking Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills I improved in health and strength rapidly. I continued their use, taking three boxes in all, and I am now pleased to say that not only did they cure me perfectly at the time, but the cure has been permanent. I have not had the slightest recurrence of the trouble. The cure made in my case is only one of the many which have been effected by this marvellous medicine, and I do not hesitate to recommend them to all suffering as I did from weak nerves and ill-health."

MR. A. STERLING McFARLANE, FREDERICTON, N. B., Principal of the Charlotte street school in that city, recently wrote the following account of his restoration to health through the use of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills:

"I have much pleasure in recommending Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills. I am Principal of the Charlotte street public school here, and through nervous prostration and run down condition of the system, it would fire me out to walk from my house to the school, and I had to rest before proceeding with the work of the day.

"As soon as I started taking Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills I realized that they had a calming, soothing, yet invigorating effect on the nervous system, and by the time I had used one box I was completely cured.

"I can now walk home to my dinner and back again to school easily, without the slightest fatigue, and my health is splendid.

"You need not hesitate to publish this in the papers, as I hope it may be of benefit to suffering humanity."

BRUTAL ASSAULT AT HAVELOCK VILLAGE.

A STRANGE WOMAN AND HER SON MEET WITH VIOLENCE.

The Men Who Committed the Act are Known in Havelock but Have Since Left.

The village of Havelock has been in a state of excitement for the last few days over the brutal assault which was made on Monday evening last on a woman of about 50 years of age and her 24 year old son. Both mother and son were strangers to the village, and the villains who committed the dastardly act are well known characters of Havelock.

Mary Kelley and her son were on their way from Quebec to Toronto, and falling short of funds at Havelock, and being too independent to beg, they decided to walk the rest of the distance, notwithstanding that the old lady was suffering from an injured ankle. It was about 7 o'clock when they arrived at Havelock, and after getting some refreshments at Graham's Hotel they started to walk on their westwaard journey, little thinking that they would be molested by a gang of ruffians. When about half a mile out of the village, however, they were assailed by three tough looking characters who, despite the frantic attempts of the boy to avoid such, brutally beat his mother. The screams of the terrified woman attracted the attention of the people near by, and the assailants made their escape. The night watchman of the C.P.R., who was on duty only a short distance away, was among the first to arrive, and says the attack was most brutal. The woman was brought to the village where Dr. Jeffs, a local physician, attended her, and found the victim suffering from a terribly bruised ankle and a severe nervous shock.

Acting Magistrate Wm. Matheson took the two strangers into his care, kept them over night, and came up to Peterborough with them next morning, when warrants for the arrest of the cowardly villains were issued.

Every effort has since that time been made to execute the warrants, but no trace of the individuals can be found, and it is most likely they have left for parts unknown.

The affair has naturally caused much excitement around Havelock, and every effort is being made to hunt down the men who committed the crime.

The cow quite naturally made for the Paris green and was dead when Mr. Lang put in an appearance next morning. The animal was an exceptionally good one and Mr. Lang feels quite sore over his loss.

SUNDAY PARADE.

Members of the 57th to Attend Church Sunday Afternoon.

It has been determined that the 57th Battalion church parade on Sunday shall be of a purely military character and accordingly the service itself will be closed to the public generally. It is important that every officer and man in the regiment shall be present as the regiment being now under its full strength no one can be spared from duty. The pioneers and ambulance corps will attend, as well as both bands. "C" company of the Dragoons has accepted an invitation to be present and it is possible that Capt. Johnston's Co., of the 46th may also join in the parade. They are expected to reach home from Niagara on Saturday evening.

The parade has been called for 3 o'clock and the service will begin at four p.m.

WHERE TO GO ON SATURDAY

St. Joseph's Picnic will be a Big Attraction

The First of July will be with us to-morrow, and with it the annual pic-nic of St. Joseph's, under the auspices of the congregation of St. Peter's Cathedral. No better place can be selected at which to spend the day, and judging from the long and varied list of attractions which will be presented, no one will be disappointed when the event is over. St. Joseph's picnics have always been noted for their good list of sports, and the efficient manner in which everything is carried out, but from all appearances the picnic of 1899 is going to eclipse any yet held. This is certainly so in regard to the attractions at night, and no small sum of money is being expended in procuring the latest novelties in the line of fireworks. Every person enjoys an exhibition of fireworks and perhaps nothing is so pleasing to the eye, so that the crowd at St. Joseph's on Saturday night ought to be a big one. The attractions during the day are in keeping with those of the evening, and include races, lacrosse match and other such events. Visitors to St. Joseph's can be accommodated all day, as the meals which will be served on the grounds, and which will be under the supervision of the ladies, will not be the least inviting number on the day's programme.

PRAISE FOR PETERBOROUGH UNDERWEAR.

Product of a Peterborough Industry Highly Appreciated.

Mr. R. H. Kells, manager of the Peterborough Underwear Co., to-day received the following most flattering letter from a former Ontario dry-goods firm now doing business in the Northwest:

"The sample of underwear you sent me a few weeks since is simply the best I have ever seen and your price seems very cheap for such goods. I will have to get you to make me some special to fit, as they are just the goods for this country. I have never seen anything like them at the price. The question arises, are they not lower than you can sell them and have a fair profit for your company, if not, I think you will soon have to add to your capacity and increase your capital, as they are beyond comparison the best goods I have ever seen."

Retiring from Business.

As the Misses Cassidy are retiring from the millinery business, the stock will be sold at greatly reduced prices. Trimmed and untrimmed hats and bonnets, flowers, feathers, ribbons, laces, veilings, and numerous other articles, will be sold at half price. This is a rare chance for ladies to secure bargains, as the sale will only last for a few weeks. 12d148-2w

We have just passed into stock a range of "Belwarp" and "Trafalgar" Serges in Blue and Black. These goods are warranted to be sea and sun proof.

We have one piece of exceptionally light weight for cool suits.

Why not be comfortable during the hot weather when by wearing one of our Skeleton Suits you do not have to sacrifice appearance to be so.

GEORGE ST. CHOIR.

An Outing on Stony Lake in the Staunch Little "Molly"—Vote of Thanks Passed to the Owners.

The members of the George street choir and a limited number of friends enjoyed a most pleasant outing yesterday on Stony Lake.

Leaving Peterborough in the morning by busses they boarded the private launch, "Molly" at Lakefield, the latter being kindly placed at their disposal by the owners, Messrs. Stratton, McBain and Nugent.

All the points of interest on the lake were visited and lunch was partaken of at the pavilion, Juniper Island. Here row and sailing boats were provided for the party and several took advantage of the opportunity to have a pleasant sail before the party again boarded the "Molly" and proceeded to Burleigh. On the return trip "Bear Island was visited where the party were excellently entertained by Mrs. McBain and Mrs. Nugent.

Boychink was then visited, the points of interest along the route being pointed out by Mr. McBain. Luncheon was served at the pavillion on the return trip and partaken of then by the whole party including Mr. and Mrs. McBain and Mr. and Mrs. Nugent, as well as Mr. T. W. Robinson, Supt. of the Sunday school, who extended many kinndesses at Juniper.

A pleasant incident occurred at Young's Point on the way back to Lakefield when cheers were given for Messrs. McBain, Stratton and Nugent, as an evidence of the choir's appreciation of the day's pleasure on the "Molly." Mrs. McBain, Mrs. Nugent and the staunch little yacht were not forgotten either.

On arriving at Lakefield a very hearty vote of thanks was tendered the owners of the yacht and their wives by Mr. R. Chowen, who in a few words expressed the great appreciation of the choir of the kindness extended to them. The motion was seconded by Mr. H. Moore and carried unanimously amidst much applause.

The leader and the choir desire it to be understood that they thoroughly understand and appreciate the favour of which they were the recipients, though having the "Molly" at their entire disposal for a whole day.

Doctors said Incurable

But the Notary, Mr. Lemire, was cured of Kidney Disease in two months by Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

It is only when thoroughly convinced of the superior merit of a remedy that public men will give their sanction.

Mr. E. H. Lemire, Notary Public, 1692 Notre Dame Street, Montreal, tells of his remarkable recovery from a severe attack of kidney disease. When doctors had failed, Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills saved his life. He writes: "I give this statement, first because it is only just that the merit of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills should be made known, and again in order that others may profit by my experience. For years I suffered with kidney disease which doctors pronounced incurable. Thanks to Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, which I have used for two months, I am completely cured. They helped me from the first, and the cure is now perfect."

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills act directly on the kidneys, and through their combined influence on the kidneys and liver, cure the most complicated diseases of these delicate organs. One pill a dose. 25 cents a box at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

CHARLIE'S INFAMY.

The Brute's Appalling Cruelty to His Thoughtless Bride.

There is a certain Chicago bride who recently decided that her husband was an unfeeling brute and went home to mother for a peculiar and unusual reason. The mother was awakened just before dawn one morning last week by a sound of sobbing and weeping outside her own sleeping room door. Her horror and astonishment at discovering her only daughter in the depths of apparent desolation and despair can well be imagined.

"Charlie was cru-u-u-el to me," wailed the bride of a month or thereabouts mournfully, "and so I came home."

"But what did Charlie do—the wretch!" inquired the mother, ready to blame the husband on general principles. To this question, however, the bride returned no answer save bitter weeping. Then the mother, feeling that the case was beyond her, administered a nerve restorative and awoke the bride's father.

"Now, my child," began this individual, speaking with the authority of one who had settled all her difficulties from the time she could walk, "tell me immediately what the wretch of a husband has done and he shall suffer for it whatever it is."

The bride's ardor cooled perceptibly. Her voice was almost steady as she began her story.

"Well," she commenced bitterly, her eyes flashing at the remembrance of her wrongs, "Charlie was out very late last night, and I thought I'd get up and—and—say something to him—when he came home. I had thought that so long as Charlie was going to be so late home I'd—I'd fix up my complexion a little. So, when Charlie got into bed in the spare room, I just forgot everything but him and went in there. And—and"—bitter sobbing again—"I forgot all about the beauty mask I had on and went right in with it upon me. And"—a perfect paroxysm of tears half drowned her words at this point—"Charlie must have thought I was a ghost, and he threw a pillow at me."—Chicago Inter Ocean.

A TORONTO WITNESS.

Benjamin Bacon of 255 North Lisgar Street Questioned Concerning Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Toronto, June 26.—Among the many who have been cured of lame back, (the commonest symptoms of Kidney Disease) in the Queen City is Mr. Benjamin Bacon of 225 North Lisgar St. He was asked by letter recently whether his cure by Dodd's Kidney Pills was entirely satisfactory.

Here is Mr. Bacon's reply:

Toronto, June 2.

Dear Sir,—I am in receipt of your letter in reference to my cure by Dodd's Kidney Pills. I had a severe pain in the back, was recommended to try Dodd's Kidney Pills, did, and got instant relief.

A Whimsical Wager.

A young Austrian nobleman, who had the reputation of being a brilliant talker, made a wager with a club friend that during the first year of his marriage with the daughter of a certain count he would preserve a rigid silence when in her presence, and, in fact, would not speak a single word to her. This resolution he faithfully kept; but, owing to the fact that the wager was not made public, some very curious consequences ensued.

His wife, believing him to be insane, privately sent a brain specialist to examine the taciturn gentleman. He was on the point of being conveyed to a sanatarium when he disclosed the reason of his behavior. When the year was up, he claimed his wager, which was duly paid.

NINE DROWNED.

Steamer Margaret Olwill Goes to the Bottom of Lake Erie in the Storm.

Chicago, June 30.—The steamer Margaret Olwill, owned by L. P. Smith of Cleveland, went down in the storm off Loraine, Lake Erie, last night. Twelve people were lost, including Capt. John Brown, his wife and son, and Miss Baldwin, a passenger. The Olwill, of 554 tons, was bound from Kelley's Island to Cleveland, with limestone, her cargo shifting in the heavy sea, sending her down by the stern. Seaman Coyle was the only man saved. He was picked up by the steamer State of Ohio.

John Smith, mate; Alex. McRae and Engineer Scheneki were picked up by the steamer Sacramento and taken to Loraine. This makes the number of drowned nine.

According to Coyle's story the steamer was caught between two waves and as she was borne along the top of one of them, she rolled over on the side. The cabins were torn loose and floated on the water, while the rest of the ship went to the bottom. Coyle caught hold of part of the after cabin and climbed upon it. Heffron, one of the wheelmen, was clinging to a part of the same cabin. Capt. Willoughby of the steamer State of Ohio sighted the wreckage about 5.15 in the morning, and immediately put into service her lifesaving crew. Coyle was rescued. Heffron was thrown a line, but he was too weak to take hold of it, and went down in the presence of a large crowd on board the steamer.

BETTER THAN SERUM.

Washington Physician Develops a New Treatment for Germ Diseases.

Washington, June 30. — Dr. Oscar Loew, one of the expert vegetable pathologists of the Agricultural Department, has developed to what he believes is a point of practical use a new treatment for germ diseases, which promises to supersede the serum treatment now in use in diphtheria, fevers and many other diseases. The experiments have reached a stage where they can be tested in hospitals. The treatment is similar in some respects to the serum treatment, but depends on a different principle, the basic idea being the presence of a class of ferments known as enzymes, which are produced by the same bacteria that produce the disease. It is because of the production, or rather overproduction, of a certain enzyme that a disease such as typhoid will "run its course," and then die out of the system. The bacteria in this case, it is stated, are simply killed out by the ferment they produce.

The object of the new treatment is to produce a pure enzyme, which, introduced into the human system, will kill the disease germs without injuring the patient.

Robbed the Grave.

A startling incident, of which Mr. John Oliver of Philadelphia, was the subject, is narrated by him as follows: "I was in a most dreadful condition. My skin was almost yellow, eyes sunken, tongue coated, pain continually in the back and sides, no appetite—gradually growing weaker day by day. Three physicians had given me up. Fortunately, a friend advised trying Electric Bitters; and to my great joy and surprise, the first bottle made a decided improvement. I continued their use for three weeks, and am now a well man. I know they saved my life, and robbed the grave of another victim." No one should fail to try them. Only 50c., guaranteed at James Lynch's Drug Store.

Liszt's Agony of Sensitiveness.

"Liszt had already played a great fantasia of his own and Beethoven's twenty-seventh sonata in the former part of the concert. After this latter piece he gasped with emotion as I took his hand and thanked him for the divine energy he had shed forth. At last I had managed to pierce the crowd and I sat in the orchestra. My chair was on the same board as Liszt's piano when the final piece began. It was a duet for two instruments, beginning with Mendelssohn's 'Chants Sans Paroles' and proceeding to a work of Liszt's. We had already passed the delicious chime of the 'Song Written In a Gondola.'

"As the closing strains began I saw Liszt's countenance assume that agony of expression, mingled with radiant smiles of joy, which I never saw on any other human face; only in the paintings of our Saviour by some of the early masters. His hands rushed over the keys, the floor on which I sat shook like a wire, and the whole audience was wrapped in sound; when the hand and frame of the artist gave way; he fainted in the arms of the friend who was turning over for him, and we bore him out in a strong fit of hysterics.

"The effect of this scene was really dreadful. The whole room sat breathless with fear, until Hiller came forward and announced that Liszt was already restored to consciousness and was comparatively well again. As I handed Mme. de Cicourt to her carriage we both trembled like poplar leaves, and I tremble scarcely less as I write."—Pittsburg Dispatch

Wonderful Feats of Shooting.

M. Bordeverry, a Frenchman, can give most of the crack rifle shots of the world several large pointers about their art. His accuracy and rapidity of aim are simply astonishing. At a distance of 30 feet he can cut a piece of cardboard through the edge as it is poised upon the head of an assistant. At a similar distance, leaping himself flat on his back over the seat of a chair, with a pistol in his hand, he can send spinning a threepenny piece which rests, half hidden, upon his assistant's head. He will knock the ash off your cigar at a distance of 30 feet or light your wax vesta for you, if you care to hold it. At ten yards he can cut a swinging thread, and at the same distance, with three successive shots, he will pick off three small trifles balanced one upon the other upon the head of his assistant.

Did you ever notice how some women break down after marriage? As the family increases, the poor mothers lose their graceful, symmetrical forms, their faces are full of lines and no vestige of youth remains. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription works wonders for such women. A woman need never lose her shape or beauty. If she will take "Favorite Prescription" during gestation, she will not be worried. Morning sickness will be almost wholly unknown. Nervousness will be prevented. When baby comes, there will be little or no pain, and the ordeal will be shortened. Recovery will be rapid, and the patient will emerge with her old-time attractiveness of face and figure. The mother who takes this wonderful medicine can keep her health and youthful looks, even though a half-dozen children play about her knees. No other women's remedy is its equal. Never allow the medicine dealer to substitute something else.

This remedy contains no trace of alcohol, nor opium, nor any of the dangerous drugs which enter so largely into many advertised "compounds," recommended for the cure of invalid women. It will not create craving for stimulants.

"For five years my wife was in an almost helpless condition, suffering from female weakness," writes J. S. Everritt, Esq., of Hagerman, Washington Co., Fla. "Last September I decided to try Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. She took several bottles of the medicine and gave birth to a ten pound son on January 31st, 1898. She is now sound and well and doing her housework."

Every family needs a medical guide and instructor. The best ever published is the Common Sense Medical Adviser, 1008 pages. It will be sent free on receipt of 21 one-cent stamps to cover cost of customs and mailing only. This book has been not inaptly termed "The Bible of the Body," for it is to the body what the Bible is to the soul,—the great chart of salvation.

HANGED BY THE NECK.

One Who Underwent the Operation Describes the Sensations.

In The Wide World Magazine Richard Hicks, an old time actor, tells of his narrow escape from being hanged on the stage of the Queen's theater, Dublin. He was playing the part of Achmet, a particularly villainous character, who after a long career of crime is, to the general satisfaction of the audience, captured by two British soldiers and promptly hanged.

"One night, while struggling with my captors, the rope slipped from my shoulders and knotted itself around my neck just as I was being hauled up!" says Mr. Hicks. "Never shall I forget that awful moment. Directly I felt the tug at my neck I gave a convulsive kick and tried to shout 'Stop!' but the word could not escape from my twitching lips. I could only make a gurgling noise. Frantically I kicked and struggled. Pain there was none, strangely enough, beyond a choking, suffocating sensation, and I could hear the tumultuous applause of the audience, who were hugely entertained with what they imagined was my realistic acting.

"Then a terrible sensation, like molten lead rushing down my spine, pervaded my whole body, and I thought my legs were bursting. I gave another mighty struggle and strove—ah! how I strove—to scream. I seemed to behold a mighty rush of green water, and my ears were filled with the roar of a cataract. I have a dim recollection of seeing a great crimson sun shining dimly from behind the waterfall, and I can remember falling indefinitely through space!

"Two days afterward I recovered consciousness, and then I suffered indescribable agony. The suffocating sensation still remained, but it was accompanied by an unquenchable thirst, not to mention fearful pains in my body and limbs."

FIGURES WITH FINGERS.

Origin of the Roman Numeral Method of Counting.

Hold your hands up before you, palms outward, thumbs at an acute angle. Begin on the left. Little finger I; little finger and ring finger II; little finger, ring finger and middle finger III; all the fingers of the left hand IIII; and the hand and thumb at an acute angle form V. In place of the IIII you may use the fourth finger from the left, still holding the thumb at an acute angle, and you have IV.

Now pass to the right hand. Holding the thumb and the hand at the same angle as before we have VI; by using the index and the middle finger we get VII, while the thumb and the three large fingers make VIII.

Now join the two V's made by the thumbs, inverting one, and we have X, or 10. Then use the X with the last little finger before it and it will give IX. The combinations following X are obvious. The forefinger of the left hand, with the thumb at right angles, make a perfect L; the little finger of the left hand curved toward the thumb makes C, the initial of centum (100), and so on with the hundreds. Now join the two thumbs with the forefingers, or two V's inverted, and you have the hieroglyphics complete.—Philadelphia Times

The Danger of PILES

The suffering caused by the intense itching and burning sensations of piles is only one of the horrors of this disease, for there is always great danger of piles developing into fistula, one of the most disgusting diseases imaginable.

But there is no necessity for a surgical operation for piles. Dr. Chase's Ointment is guaranteed to cure any case of piles, no matter of how long standing, or how aggravated the case may be, so long as piles have not become fistula.

It is only by rare chance that internal treatment will cure piles. But it matters not from what cause they arise, Dr. Chase's Ointment will at once stop the itching and burning, and soon effect a perfect cure.

You can use Dr. Chase's Ointment with fullest assurance that what has cured scores of thousands of cases of piles will cure you. For sale by all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

THAT AGREEMENT.

President Shaughnessy of the C.P.R. Delivers a Strong Criticism.

Montreal, June 29.—There will be no renewal in any form of the agreement between the Dominion Government and the Canadian Pacific Railway with regard to running powers or traffic facilities for the company over the Intercolonial Railway between St. John, N.B., and Halifax, N.S. Mr. Shaughnessy, the president of the C.P.R., has returned from Ottawa, where he had a long interview with the Premier on railway matters yesterday. He says the Government have tied their hands forever, by the agreement they have entered into with the Grand Trunk, from entering into traffic arrangements with any company. By one of the clauses of the arrangement in connection with the acquisition and working of the Drummond County Railway, the Grand Trunk have secured for all time the right to every ton of traffic bound for the west that the Intercolonial Railway brings into Montreal. Mr. Shaughnessy thinks that the Government could not have understood the far-reaching consequence of the agreement or they would never have consented to it.

Will Move to Toronto in September.

Hamilton, June 29.—The clerks in the head offices of the Canadian Life Insurance Company have been notified that the office will be removed to Toronto in September, and that if they wish to remain in the employ of the company they will have to go to the Queen City in that month. The wages of the staff have been increased, the increases ranging from $100 to $1,000 a year. It is needless to say the clerks will go with the offices.

"Not a Word of Truth in It."

Ottawa, June 29.—Enquiries of the Government yesterday morning as to the despatch from Washington stating that Canada raised an objection last Friday in the Alaskan negotiations elicits the information that "there is not a word of truth in it," and that "Canada has not budged from the position she has taken from the first."

A Fine Day in Chicago.

This is how a Chicago reporter describes a pleasant day: "Yesterday was inspiring here in Chicago. Fleecy clouds floated athwart a sky of amethyst. The lake was glorious in green, blue, purple and deep violet tints. The sweep of the gulls was majestic. The wind that blew across the velvety lawns in the parks was exhilarating, and one standing at the edge of the clear, cool water at evening saw, if he looked toward the roseate west, a sky line that was magnificently broken and a color scheme that surpassed the most extravagant dream of the artist."

TO GET TRADE.

Americans Somewhat Resentful Concerning Canada and the West Indies.

Washington, June 29.—In official circles the course of Canada in seeking to deal with the British West India commission which have recently been here to negotiate reciprocity treaties is regarded as significant of Canada's desire to enjoy all the trade concessions which this country secures with its British neighbors. The invitation to the several commissions comes from the Canadian Government and not from London, as was at first stated. It was transmitted through the British embassy, and two of the commissions—those of British Guiana and Bermuda—have already accepted it and are in Ottawa conferring with the authorities there. Canada and Bermuda have a convention with a "favored nation" clause, but besides the same rates as are granted to the United States Canada desires further trade arrangements, and doubtless will secure concessions, though the great distance between the ports of Canada and the West Indies is likely to negative these advantages to a large extent.

DOUBLE EVIDENCE.

TWO LETTERS WHICH THROW LIGHT ON THE CASE.

Both From the one Man—Dated Years Apart—But they do not Conflict In Their Testimony.

Toronto, June 30.—In April, 1896, the case of Mr. Charles Gilchrist was reported in the Canadian press. His own statement was printed, and the gentleman referred to in a despatch published last week, has a clipping in his scrap book which describes Mr. Gilchrist's case in his own words.

"I have been a sufferer," he said, "for ten years, with Diabetes and Kidney disorder. At times my urine was of a dark bricky colour, which would cause intense pain in passing. I have tried everything in the way of medicine and about everything in the way of doctors, but could get no help. I was advised to try Dodd's Kidney Pills. I did so and am happy to say was cured."

This was what Mr. Gilchrist had to say about Dodd's Kidney Pills in 1896. In 1899, three years after, his cure still held good. And further he was still grateful for the medicine that brought it about—Dodd's Kidney Pills were first class.

The following letter was lately received from Mr. Gilchrist:

Port Hope, May 26, 1899.

Dear Sir,—Your letter came to hand this morning. I was in a pretty bad state when I first used Dodd's Kidney Pills. I had a fearful pain in my back and was in perfect misery all the time. I am well now and I owe it all to Dodd's Kidney Pills. I have answered fifteen other letters to parties who said they saw my testimonial and a good many people of this town came to me and I told them Dodd's Kidney Pills were first class.

Yours truly,
CHAS. GILCHRIST.

Dodd's Kidney Pills are for sale by all druggists or will be sent on receipt of price by the Dodds Medicine Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

Strike Riots at Bochum Mines.

Berlin, June 29.—Serious strike riots have broke out in the Bochum coal mines. The troops who were called to protect the non-strikers were attacked by the rioters and compelled to use their side arms and firearms. Many persons were injured. The strikers fired on the miners' houses and the gendarmes returned the fire.

Three strikers were killed during the rioting. The number of men wounded is not known, as many of them were spirited away to private houses. Thirty-six arrests were made yesterday and troops to protect the non-union strikers were sent to the scene of the disturbance.

The Souvenir Range With Aerated Ovens.

In "Souvenir" Stoves and Ranges the Fresh air is taken over the oven doors (see cut) and passes through a circulating-flue underneath a plate which is attached to the top oven plate, thus becoming heated, after which it is discharged into the oven.

The heated fresh air then creates a literal whirlwind in rotating from the top to bottom of oven, carrying all the impure air out of the oven, at the exit provided, and replacing it continually with heated fresh air.

The air being heated before entering the oven, the temperature is not lowered. The vitiated air passes off into the flues' carrying with it all odors and gases given off by the cooking food.

We carry a large stock of "Souvenir" and "Happy Thought" Ranges—the best stoves in Canada.

LITTLE BABYS
SCALY BLEEDING SORES

No Rest Day or Night. Sufferings Beyond Description. Dwindled to a Skeleton. All Thought would Die.

Mother Reads of Wonderful Cure by CUTICURA. Father Goes 5 Miles to Get It. Instant and Grateful Relief.

Complete Cure in Nine Weeks, and Not a Sign Left to Tell of His Awful Sufferings.

My baby had a terrible breaking out all over his face and head, extending half way down his back, while his arm became one solid, scaly, bleeding sore. A physician gave me a prescription which I used, but he kept getting worse, and suffered beyond description. The pain became so intense that he had to be put under opiates. We could get no rest, night or day. He dwindled down to a mere skeleton. Everybody who saw him said he would surely die. As a last resort a trip to the country was suggested, that the change of air might do him good. As soon as my mother saw the child she got a copy of an Atlanta paper, in which there was an account of a wonderful cure CUTICURA REMEDIES had wrought on a two-year-old child. My father started to the nearest drug store, which was five miles, and purchased CUTICURA (ointment), CUTICURA SOAP, and CUTICURA RESOLVENT. We applied as per directions putting plenty of the CUTICURA on his head, face, arm, and back. The child slept for over two hours that night, improved daily, and in nine weeks from the time he started on the CUTICURA REMEDIES we were able to discontinue their use, and not a sign is left to tell of his awful sufferings.

EXPLANATORY.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir,—I wish to correct as far as possible a wrong impression which has been made by some, and especially by Citizen's letter of last week headed "Christian Science." The Divine Healing Association of Peterborough was not formed by the Rev. A. B. Simpson at all, but by Rev. Dr. Alex. Dowie, in December of 1890 under the following management: President, Dr. Dowie; Vice-Pres., John Carlisle, Secretary, T. H. Best; Treasurer, D. Smart and a council of ten of whom seven are still active workers in the Association.

Dr. Dowie has no sympathy with the teaching of Rev. A. B. Simpson; but on the contrary denounces him in his paper, (Leaves of Healing) of March last as "the greatest ministerial liar in America," in another issue he says that Rev. Simpson's "training schools are good places to keep out of" also in another that the Christian Alliance "is rotten to the core," charging Rev. Simpson and his associates with gross immorality.

I hope Citizen and others will no longer connect the Divine Healing Association of Peterborough with the questionable teachings of either Mrs. Eddy or Rev. A. B. Simpson, thus bringing contempt upon some of our most respectable citizens.

Thanking your Mr. Editor,
I remain,
Yours truly,
FAIR PLAY.

MEMBERS OF COMMITTEES

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir,—As the season for the big picnics and celebrations at which athletic events figure on the entertainment programmes is now at hand, I would like to make a suggestion to the effect that no member of the different management committees be permitted to compete in any of the events. If they are permitted to compete it is only natural that they will use their influence to have the best prizes offered for the events in which they themselves excel, and the result is manifest, arousing a sense of discontent amongst those interested in the other sports.

It is hard to get good horses entered in the races held in Peterborough, for the simple reason that years ago every member on the committee in charge would be interested in some horse or other, and consequently the outside fancy soon became aware of the fact that they were "up against it" when they came to the town. The sport was completely killed, and is only now beginning to revive.

Let not our picnics and celebrations deserve censure of this kind.

A member of the town council or Board of Education is not permitted to tender for supplies of any kind, as he would certainly have the inside track on outsiders. This same rule appears to me to be applicable to members of sports committees.

Yours truly,
EQUITY.

STONY LAKE BOAT SERVICE.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Sir—As you know we have a beautiful lake behind us with more than 150 cottages. There are a number of steamers that are supposed to run in Stony Lake to accommodate the trade, b t, Sir, if there is any where bad management it is on these boats.

No one can find out when they run and when they don't run. There is no Peterborough agent, no bulletin board, no person who can give information. To-day a party had arranged to go up at noon, had everything packed and ready and at the station, when, after much telephoning they learned that there would be no boat till night. Is that business? The other day a party went up by the 8 a.m. train, and after being dragged to Burleigh and stopping at many islands, the boat tied up at Julian to enable the crew to get dinner—the passengers for the east end of the lake sucking their thumbs till 2 p.m. before reaching their destination. Is that business? Men must eat of course, but can't it be better arranged. Surely the time has come when these steamboat men can meet the requirements of the trade. Speak to the captains, Mr. Editor, do, and oblige, Yours,

COTTAGER.

Ladies, Joyful News!

It is not very often that the ladies of Peterborough have an opportunity of having among them Prof. Doreuwend, Toronto, the world-known hair goods artist, whose skill in the manufacture of both ladies' and gent's wigs, toupees, wavey bang fronts, switches, etc., is second to none. He will be at the Snowden House, Peterborough on Saturday, July 8th with a full sample line of hair good styles. Every attention will be given in each case. Ladies having partly or wholly lost their hair should not miss this opportunity to call at the hotel, where private apartments have been secured and proper demonstration will be given free of charge. The proper style of hair plays an important part to refine the face and effect a younger and handsomer appearance.

THE MAPLE LEAF FOREVER!

In day of yore, from Britain's shore,
Wolfe, the dauntless hero, came
And planted fair Britannia's flag
On Canada's fair domain.
Here may it wave, our boast and pride,
And joined in love together,
The Thistle, Shamrock, Rose entwine,
The Maple Leaf Forever!

At Queenstown's heights and Lundy's Lane,
Our brave fathers side by side
For freedom, homes and loved ones dear
Firmly stood and nobly died.
And those dear rights which they maintained,
We swear to yield them never,
Our watchward ever more shall be
The Maple Leaf Forever!

Our fair Dominion it now extends
From Cape Race to Nootka Sound,
May peace forever be our lot,
And plenteous store abound;
And may these ties of love be ours,
Which discord cannot sever,
And flourish green o'er Freedom's home,
The Maple Leaf Forever!

On Merry England's far-famed land
May kind heaven sweetly smile,
God bless old Scotland evermore,
And Ireland's Emerald Isle;
Then swell the sound both loud and long,
Till rocks and forests quiver,
God save our Queen and Heaven bless
The Maple Leaf Forever?

HYMNE NATIONALE.

This is the song which Sir Wilfrid Laurier, upon the request of the Toronto committee, recently indicated as the most appropriate he knew of to be sung along with "Maple Leaf." It was written in 1829.

Sol Canadien, terre cherie!
Par des braves tu fus peuple;
Ils cherchaient, loin de leur patrie,
Une terre de liberte.
Nos peres sortis de la France,
Etaient l'elite des guerriers,
Et leurs enfants de leur vaillance
Ne fletriront pas les lauriers.

Qu'elles sont belles nos campagnes!
En Canada qu'on vit content,
Salut, o sublimes montagnes,
Bords du superbe Saint-Laurent.
Habitat de cette contree
Que la nature sait embellir,
Tu veux marcher tete levee,
Ton pays doit t'enorgueillir.

Respecte la main protectrice
D'Albion, ton digne soutien;
Mais fais echouer la malice
D'ennemis nourris dans ton sein.
Ne flechis jamais sous l'orage,
Tu n'est pas fait pour l'esclavage,
Albion veille sur tes droits.

Si d'Albion la main cherie
Cesse un jour de te proteger,
Soutiens toi seule, o ma patrie!
Meprise un secours etranger.
Nos peres, sortis de la France,
Etaient l'elite des guerriers,
Et leurs enfants, de leur vaillance
Ne fletriront pas les lauriers.

SPORTING PASTIMES.

Interesting Items of Local and General Interest.

BASEBALL.

To-morrow will see one of the fastest and most exciting games that have been played on the local diamond in many a day, and considerable interest is being shown in the events by the local "fans." The name of Cobourg in connection with baseball is sufficient to inspire enthusiasm into a match that a team from that town is competing in, as every one knows many years of the fastest baseball team in this part of the province. The town has produced many of the fastest men that have graced an amateur diamond, and their team this year is not behind those of former years.

The management should provide the scorers with a table and chair and not have them sitting on the ground near the fence, as has been the case.

The following team will represent the Peterborough baseball team in the game with Cobourg to-morrow morning:

Sheridan, 3b; Parnell, ss; Graham, c; McCabe, p; Melrose, 2b; Thompson, lf; Connors, 1b; D'Russia, rf; Grady, cf; Donovan, spare.

In the afternoon Connors will occupy the box, Thompson will go to first base, and Donovan left field.

With the above team the local men ought to have no trouble in turning down the visitors.

LACROSSE.

The Madoc team is making arrangements to bring the fast Galt team east for a game, and Charlie McDonald wants Peterborough to give the westerners a game on July 17th. There should be no difficulty in arranging such a match.

Perth wants the Peterboroughs for July 12th, but Brampton plays a return match here that day.

If the Seniors play at Brampton as they practiced last evening they will win, and if they win they can own the town.

Jack Mein is out again, and should be a strengthener to the team.

Lewis will play on the home field to-morrow, instead of on the defence.

The Young Shamrocks Lacrosse Team met on Thursday evening and selected the following players to meet the Maple Leafs of Campbellford at the St. Joseph's Hospital Picnic on Dominion Day: Goal, J. Gilman; inside home, D. Simons; outside home, J. Dolan; point, W. Judge; cover, W. Smith; 1st defence, J. Walsh; 2nd, P. Kelly; 3rd, H. Gilman; centre, F. McGrath; 3rd home, J. Mulligan; 2nd, W. O'Brien; 1st, D. White; field capt., M. Galvin. Game called at 10 a. m. sharp. Mr. R. Crowe of Campbellford, will referee the game.

The Juniors will leave on the 8.10 train in the morning for Hastings.

GOLF.

The Cobourg golf team visited Peterborough yesterday and succeeded in defeating the local men by a score of 27 to 5. The score was as follows:

J. H. Burnham 1, Fairbank 0.
R. M. Hamilton 0, Senor Albertina, 13.
R. M. Dennistoun 0, Swan 3.
W. D. Parker 1, Haden 0.
P. Campbell 1, Armstrong 0.
Fred Hall 0, McNaughton 2.
Napier 0, Skeaff 9.
Frances 2, Vivian 0.

THE WHEEL.

Wes. Milburn and Fred Mosier will go down to Port Hope to-morrow, where they will likely give a good account of themselves.

New Members to Pay Higher Rates.

The Grand Camp of the Sons of Scotland at its session on Tuesday discussed the question of increasing the rates. After a lengthy debate it was decided to increase the beneficiary rates for new members only. Those who fought for the increase contending that according to past statistics the organization would, at the present rate of assessment, become extinct in a few years. The increase to the reserve fund last year was but $46,000, while the amounts paid in death benefits was $35,000.

The rates for new members as a result of the decision, will be as follows per $1,000:—At twenty years, from 62c to 80c; at twenty-five years, from 67c to $1; at thirty years, from 73c to $1.10; at thirty-five years from 85c to $1.25; at forty years, from 95c to $1.50; at forty-five years, from $1.03 to $2; at fifty years, from $1.11 to $2.50.

The next meeting of the Grand Camp will be held in Toronto.

AT THE LUNCH COUNTER.

"I'll take some strawberry short-cake," said the man with the brick-coloured complexion, "with whipped cream."

"I'll have a couple of buns," said the sallow-faced man on the next stool.

"Don't you like strawberry short-cake?" asked the ruddy-complexioned man.

"Yes, you bet I do," said the other.

"Why don't you eat it then?"

"I'm afraid to," said the sallow-faced man. "It disagrees with me."

"I wouldn't stop at a little thing like that, if I were you," said the brick complexion.

"You would if you had a stomach like mine," said the sallow-faced individual.

"No, sir," said the other, "I am sorry to contradict you, but I most certainly would not."

"Why not?" asked the sallow-faced specimen.

"well, in the first place, I wouldn't have a stomach like yours long," said the brick-complexioned gentleman. "I'd take a Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablet, one (or two if I was bad) after each meal. They digest whatever you eat, and then you can eat whatever you like. Your stomach takes a holiday, and by and bye it can start work again as good as new."

"You seem to know all about it," said the sallow-faced man.

"I ought to," said the ruddy-faced gentleman, scraping up the remains of the strawberry short cake on his plate. "I take one after each meal, or I'd be as bad as you are."

"And you're sure they work?"

"I eat everything that comes along," asserted the other.

"Give me one and take another piece of strawberry short cake with me," said the sallow-faced man.

"Sure," said his brick-complexioned friend. "But the next drug store you pass you go in and invest 50 cents in a whole box. All druggists sell Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets."

Nuptials of Miss Mary E. Hutchinson and Mr. W. H. Hutchinson.

On the evening of Tuesday, June 27th, the marriage of Mr. W. H. Hutchinson, of South Monaghan, to Miss Mary E. Hutchinson, of Hope, was solemnized by Rev. W. C. Allen, at the home of the bride's parents.

The groom was supported by Mr. W. J. Gardiner of Millbrook, and a similar service was rendered the bride by her sister Miss Tillie Johnston. Only immediate relatives of the contracting parties were invited and some sixty were present.

After the ceremony the company sat down to a splendid dejeuner, the tables arranged to form the letter H. The wedding presents were numerous, costly and useful. In thus setting out in life together the young couple are followed by the respect and best wishes of their host of friends.
